

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. You can search through the full text of this book on the web at <http://books.google.com/>

MEETING OF THE NATIONAL COURSING CLUB.

THE usual meeting of the National Club during the Waterloo week was one of the largest ever held, the following members being present—viz., Lord Sefton (President), Lord Lurgan, Lord Garlies, Hon. W. O. Ellis, Lieut.-Col. Goodlake, Lieut.-Col. Conyngham, Capt. Bruce, Messrs. R. G. Jebb, James Dunlop, S. Mallabey, W. H. Dean, T. Brocklebank, C. Randell, J. Gibson, G. Blanshard, W. Deighton, W. H. Massey, W. Barden, A. Graham, E. Trinder, J. Hay, R. Edleston, T. Neville, R. Paterson, G. W. Wise, and J. Bake (Secretary).

The first business before the Club was "To receive a letter from Mr W. Barden, of Dublin, asking for a decision of the Club relative to his dogs not being guarded in accordance with Rule No. 6, in the St. Leger, at the Leinster Meeting, on Nov. 19 and 20, 1867." Mr Barden had two dogs standing in the last four in the Leinster St. Leger, and, instead of their being guarded, they were ordered to run together. The decision of the Club was that the courses run should be null and void, and the money be equally divided amongst the four left in; also that the cup that was added to the stake should be withheld, and be run for at the next meeting.

Mr Barden then asked "For a decision of the Club as to whether a greyhound put in slips and taken out again, and being disqualified by the stewards, under Rule 9, is to be considered a beaten dog, and bets to go accordingly as against a beaten dog?" In this case the Club decided that the bets were off, as bets on an individual course cannot be won unless the dogs actually run.

The next motion was also by Mr Barden, as follows: "I move that the following words be added to the end of Rule 14—viz., 'And it shall be obligatory on the Secretary to enter on the card of the running the late and present names of such greyhound.'" After a short discussion, it was resolved to add the following words—viz., "Rule 14 having been complied with, the Secretary shall enter on the card the present and late names of such greyhound."

Mr Bake proposed an alteration in Rule 13, beginning at the word "provided," in the eighth line, and to add at the end of the word "puppy," in the tenth line, the following, "Provided always that in sapling stakes only a sapling may be used, and in puppy stakes none older than a puppy, under a penalty of not more than £5, or less than £2, at the discretion of the stewards; but in no case where the bye has been run shall the dog be made to run over again." After a little discussion, it was decided to let the rule stand as it is, so far as "If it is proved to the satisfaction of the stewards that no puppy can be procured, an old dog may be substituted," and to erase the words "In an unexpected bye in the first class."

Now came the Skipaway case, the circular reading thus: "To hear and determine an application by Mr R. Edleston for a rehearing of the case which was brought before the Club at their last meeting, on the following, amongst other grounds: 'That I was taken by surprise.' 'That I had a good answer to the claims on the merits.' 'That the Club had no jurisdiction.' 'That the decision was not in accordance with coursing law.'” The question evoked a long and desultory discussion, it being argued by some that Mr Edleston, having had proper notice, should have attended, and that, having failed to do so, the Club were quite right in judging the case upon the written statement of Mr Edleston, and on that supplied by Mr Hammond and his witnesses. Others contended that Mr Edleston, having been misled by the secretary as to the Club entertaining the case, was fairly entitled to be heard. At length the matter was brought to an issue by Mr Brocklebank moving, and Col. Goodlake seconding, “That the case be not reopened.” This was met by Mr Bake moving, and Mr Paterson seconding, “That the resolution in May last be rescinded.” Another amendment, however, was proposed by Mr Jebb and seconded by Mr Trinder, “That the case be reopened ;” and on this being put to the meeting, it was carried over the original motion by a majority of sixteen to nine.

The next business, according to programme, was “To hear and determine an application by Mr R. Edleston, that Mr W. P. Hammond be ordered to refund the sum of £25, received by him in respect of the running of the saplings, Combermere and Scythian II., at the Sundorne Spring Meeting, 1854, in accordance with Rule 22 of the National Code, on the ground that the slipper, Mr Warwick, was an interested party.” The whole question was now gone into at length. Mr Edleston called witnesses in support of his statement, while Mr Hammond, not having anticipated that the case would be reopened, was unprepared with corroborative evidence. As there appeared no chance of the case being decided upon its merits, Lord Garlies proposed, and Mr Paterson seconded, the following resolution: “That there is so much difficulty in coming to a satisfactory conclusion on the various points that have arisen during the investigation of the matter brought before the meeting by Mr Edleston, owing to so many years having passed since the occurrence, that the Club decline going further into the question than to record their opinion that there is no claim against Mr Edleston for the alleged bet of £10, and that he should be absolved of the charge of being a defaulter.”

Mr Brocklebank then moved that the case be adjourned till the next meeting of the National Club, but upon Mr Bake remarking how few members were present at the summer meeting, Mr Brocklebank altered his amendment, and moved “That the case be adjourned till the next Waterloo meeting, when both parties should have due notice from the Secretary to be prepared with all their witnesses, for the case to be fully gone into.” Col. Goodlake seconded the amendment, which, on being put to the meeting, was carried by a majority of nine to seven.

A vote of thanks was then passed to the noble chairman, and the re-election of Lord Sefton as President, and Mr Bake as Hon. Secretary nem. con., wound up the meeting.

The summer meeting of the National Coursing Club, usually held at St. James's Hall, during the Derby week, did not take place, Mr Bake, the Secretary, having sent round a circular to the effect that there was no business to bring before the committee.

NOTWITHSTANDING the assertions of interested parties to the contrary, it is pleasant to note that the love of coursing in the North is increasing, that we find its patrons becoming more numerous every day, and that to the annual coursing fixtures new ones are being added almost every season. This healthy prosperity also extends to old-established meetings; for in many instances where, in days gone by, we found only one or two stakes, there are now three and four, and there are others, where hitherto only the stakes were run for, at which silver cups and other articles of plate are now added. In no part of Scotland has the love of coursing made more rapid advance amongst the people than in Dumfriesshire, and perhaps at no meeting has it been more demonstratively displayed than at the Ecclefechan gathering. Here two small stakes were all that could be filled at one time, whereas on the present occasion the demand for nominations was so great that, but for the desire to confine the running to one day, the four eight-dog stakes closed might have been, without great exertion, extended to the same number of sixteen-dog stakes. The entry and draw took place at the Bush Hotel, Ecclefechan, on Thursday night last, and upwards of sixty gentlemen sat down to an excellent dinner, Wm. Sharpe, Esq., of Hoddum, in the chair, and Mr R. Ewart, Lockerbie, acting as vice-chairman.

FRIDAY.—The meet this morning was at Hoddum Cross, about a mile from Ecclefechan, and notwithstanding the damp, disagreeable morning, there was a large muster at nine o'clock. The morning was very misty, but shortly before the first pair of dogs were put in the slips the fog rolled away, and the proceedings during the forenoon were of the most agreeable character. The ground on the Hoddum estate is most admirably adapted for coursing, the fields being large, comparatively level or undulating, and in fine weather a full view of the trials is always had by the spectators. The sport was first-class, and the only drawback was the mist, which again overspread the landscape in the afternoon, and rendered a full view of the running extremely difficult. Commenced with the Knockhill Stakes.—Lord Soulis had the pace of Frost and Fire, and scored first turn, serving the bitch, who used her game three times before Lord Soulis got possession for another point; puss broke away, and crossing the road went on to plough, where Frost and Fire followed; but Lord Soulis, missing his fence, only came in at the death, which the bitch accomplished after putting two short points to her credit. A rare good hare jumped up on stubble for Langholm and Fanny Fern; the former, in a nice stretch, showing just in front of the bitch, scored first turn, placing Fanny, who had slightly the best of a straight run for some distance to a hedge; puss dodged down the hedge side, and Langholm, getting through best, went away with a strong lead, and all through a distressing run kept possession and won. Queen Anne drew out four lengths from Gipsy Girl for first turn, and made a shocking example of Mr Rae's bitch, who never got a point of merit in a long course. Mundell was more fancied by the talent than Erlington, but in a good stretch on lea Erlington, on the outer circle, drew past the favourite, turned, served himself, and, running with great resolution, fairly outworked Mundell in a pumping trial.

Barhill Stakes.—Bass was a length faster than Pioneer, turned, kept his position, turned again three times in succession, and served Pioneer, who turned and killed. Uncle Ned was ten lengths faster than Doctor, and beat him hollow in a long run—repeatedly placing and running past him in gallant style. A good hare was driven off plough for Hue and Cry and Blooming Bride, the former, who got best out of slips, leading for a distance by four lengths; but Blooming Bride, in a long stretch, decreased this distance, and would have inevitably made a go-by, but came down a burster, rolling right head over heels; Hue and Cry went on, the fire having seemingly been taken out of the white bitch by her fall, as she could never afterwards join issue with Hue and Cry, who won. Creeping Boy and Second Thoughts ran neck and neck for nearly three hundred yards on a nice stubble slope; but just before reaching the hare Creeping Boy drew past and bore the hare round to Second Thoughts, who returned the favour; a nice trial succeeded, but was imperfectly seen, owing to the mist; I believe that the points were about balanced till the death, which Creeping Boy put to his credit and won.

Hoddon Stakes.—Tibbie Fowler was a length faster than Angola, scored first turn, and placed Angola, who used her game twice; Tibbie again got in off Angola's turn, and added three or four strong points to her score before serving Angola for a turn and the death; the plough was again beat, and a rare hare was driven on to the stubble for the Maid of Powhillon and The Tileman; a gallant struggle in a run of more than a couple of hundred yards resulted in The Tileman getting in front and bearing the hare towards the hill; the Maid got in at a great advantage, and, covering her game well, kept possession during the remainder of the course. Genuine, in a nice stretch to a rattling hare, drew out a length in advance of Moneymusk, and, knocking her game about merrily for a number of very pretty points, put an end to the course and the career of puss by a brilliant flying kill. Hooly and Fairly had a length the best of the pace of Minnie, and secured first turn, placed the bitch, which served the dog; Hooly and Fairly then used his game twice at the side of the hedge, and led out of sight.

Ecclifechan Stakes.—Meg and Nimble: The former was three lengths the fastest, and kept possession for four turns before Nimble got placed on the top of the hill, and led out of sight. I believe Nimble failed to wipe off Meg's score in the latter part of the course. Boswell was several lengths faster than Fanny Sharpe, turned, wrenched, turned again, and placed Fanny on the hill side. The bitch scored one turn, and Boswell again getting possession on the hill top, had the remainder of the work to himself. Messenger showed the foot to Eskdale Lass, and brought the hare round to the bitch, who returned the favour. The hare then broke for the hill, and Messenger again displaying superior speed, reached his game first, and won well at the finish. Era and Emma Snow were slipped wide among some rushes, but when they joined issue on bare pasture, Era assumed the lead, and securing first turn, placed Emma Snow, who, with the exception of one point towards the end, had all the work to herself in a punishing trial.

Knockhill Stakes.—First Tie: Langholm in a good race to the hare was beaten by Frost and Fire a length for first turn, but the dog having got placed next the hare scored three turns in succession before the bitch got in and killed too soon. Erlington had the advantage in a long stretch, and bore the hare round to Queen Anne just as they dipped over the hill out of sight; coming back Queen Anne was in possession, and turned the hare to Erlington, who scored twice and made a beautiful kill.—Deciding Course: Langholm and Erlington divided.

Barhill Stakes.—First Tie: Uncle Ned was fastest on his legs from slips, but Bass, putting on the steam, raced past him and scored several times, when he stumbled; Uncle Ned got in for a point, but Bass, recovering himself, went to the front and kept possession till the finish. Hue and Cry drew out three lengths in advance of Creeping Boy, and, covering his game in good style, never allowed Creeping Boy to get possession in a long trial.—Deciding Course: Bass had the pace of Hue and Cry, and kept possession till puss jumped into some whins, where Hue and Cry had the death.

Hoddon Stakes.—First Tie: Tibbie Fowler led Maid of Powhillon a length and a half, and secured first turn, greatly favoured by the hare, which was killed at the hedge by the Maid of Powhillon; the hat came off. On a second trial Tibbie again went to the front, turned, placed the Maid, raced past her for the next turn, repeated the performance, and killed—a good performance. Genuine made a shocking example of Hooly and Fairly in a long course, the fawn bitch never getting a chance of being next the hare.—Deciding Course: Genuine was decidedly faster than Tibbie Fowler in the run up, and scored first turn, placing Tibbie, who scored three times in succession, and led to covert.

Ecclefechan Stakes.—First Tie: Boswell, on old pasture, was a couple of lengths faster than Meg on the outside, turned, served himself, turned again, and whipped puss up—a meritorious performance. Emma Snow drew out a length in advance of Messenger in a nice stretch on a rising stubble field, and scored first and second turns, when puss dodged down a fence side, where Messenger got one point and Emma Snow other two, and led out of sight.—Deciding Course: Boswell and Emma Snow divided.

THE Ince Blundell Open Meeting closed with four sixteens, two of them being for puppies and two for all ages. Friday (the first day of running) was not a pleasant coursing day, the fog being very heavy indeed for the first three hours, but eventually it cleared up a little. We waited until nearly eleven o'clock before the first brace of dogs were handed over to Wilkinson, and for the first hour little more than the run up could be discerned as a test of merit. The hares were rather scarce to begin with, and beating the ground with the wind, instead of against it, did not tend to mend matters. We arrived at last at the bottom of the card (being once through the four stakes) about four o'clock. The following remarks of the running are as accurate as I could make them, taking into consideration the extremely heavy fog that remained nearly all day.

Blundell Cup.—Knight Errant and Marquis being slipped on fallow, the former led about a length, turned, and, keeping his place, went out of sight. Wauchope and Gentle Mungo ran wide to the hare; Wauchope leading, gained the decision. Nicholson's Gln went first from slips, and reached puss two lengths in advance, turned, wrenched, and led out of sight. Betty showed in front, but drawing up at a gate, Sea Twist went past, and reaching her game three lengths in advance, turned when Betty made a cross kill. Mountain Buck was first up by two lengths, and bringing his game round, Kelspring rushed in inside and put the hare to Mountain Buck, who took her to a drain, where they lost. Architect and Batavia were slipped to a hare that looked good enough, but proved a bad runner; as it was, however, it was sufficient to show the superiority of Architect, who went fastest from slips, and on the outside secured the first turn, and in a scrambling affair won rather easily, doing all his work on the outside. Blue Violet and Happy Jane ran two undecided courses, in each of which Happy Jane was the fastest, and Blue Violet the most clever. In the third trial they raced together for some distance, when Happy Jane drew out about a length, and on nearing the hare made a determined attempt to kill; this effort gave a good lead to Blue Violet, who wrenched thrice, and slipping up, Happy Jane was placed; they then exchanged points, and the hare was chopped between them at a gateway; a very near thing. Trumpeter led Halsall Lass, in a long slip, about two lengths, and, in a course of considerable length, it was difficult to say which was the worst greyhound of the two; Trumpeter, having the pace, got the decision in his favour.

Hightown Stakes.—Mayflower took a lead of a good length and served herself, when puss, going to the right over an embankment, placed Helenus, who led out of sight; they reappeared with Mayflower in possession, and ran for some distance on the top of the embankment, then disappeared on the other side again, Mayflower getting unsighted at last. Broad Oak and Hearty Fellow ran an excellent race to the hare, which the former gained, assisted a little by puss favouring him, and, in an excellent trial, won cleverly. Neat Jenny and Just Going ran wide from slips, and the former, being better placed, led out of sight; when they reappeared Just Going had the best of it, and killed. Elswick led Tormentor (who started slow and seemed to run stale), and got the first turn and a wrench, when Tormentor, getting possession, just secured the flat by a kill. Sea Sail led Abdul Aziz, and gained first turn, the hare bending a little for her, and, showing more speed, got the decision with ease. Bramble led, and secured first turn, and, as far as I could discern from my position, defeated Fly. Florida, getting out of slips first, obtained a long lead, the black being unsighted; when they did get together, however, Florida won easily enough, the black not making any fight of it, and on inquiring of the slipper I found that Lady Boswell hung back, and would not start, and so paid her own penalty. Jesuitess, going fast and very clever, reached puss three lengths in advance of Johnson's Dictionary, and won unchallenged.

Formby Stakes.—Hermione came away from Friar Tuck, and in a smartly run race defeated him with great ease, running very determinedly. I regret to say that Hermione broke her leg when winning this course, and had to be carried from the field—a great loss to her owner, I should think. Alario and Blush ran an undecided course, the bitch getting a long lead, and Alario being unsighted, but just getting in to equalise the points before the hare souged. When placed again and slipped they seemed to be both unsighted, but not separating, they got on to their game together, when Blush went out to the hare and won well. Jumble and General Butler ran locked together from slips, but on nearing the hare the General made first turn, and wrenching soon killed. Trifle, on fallow, got away with a long lead, and reaching her hare turned and served Sea Treasure, who exchanged points and killed. Jolly Row went first from slips, and, gaining first turn, decisively wrenched twice and led over embankment. Black Jack, led and easily defeated Happy Dick, finishing with a good kill. Kalista just defeated Highflyer in a short trial. Cobnut led slightly and turned; they then exchanged points, when Cobnut went on the outside and killed.

Farmers' Stakes.—Miss Halsall took the lead, and for a succession of points never allowed Bettelheim next the hare until coming to a gateway, where she fell in jumping, and Bettelheim then went away with a long lead, but did little with the hare before she got to covert. Bedford had the foot of Hannah with a short-running hare, and won decisively. Tom Bowling and Kathleen ran an undecided; when slipped again, Kathleen gained the run up (the hare coming to her a little), and wrenching twice, made a clever kill. Sea Serpent won a well-contested course, with not much to spare. Busy Bee reached puss first, and defeated Jem Mace, who tried hard to get in front, and contested the course with great gameness. Whiff led Mrs Lee, and only allowed her one wrench before going to cover. Merry Heart went in front, but puss bending to Alice, she gained the first score and served Merry Heart, who made some short points, when Alice went past and killed. Northern Light, on the inside, made first turn, when Little Grey, getting possession, never left her game till she killed.

SATURDAY.—This day's coursing was much more pleasant, there being less fog, more hares, and better management of the beating. We commenced at twenty minutes after ten, and finished the card about half-past one, three stakes out of the four being divided. The following is an account of the running.

Ince Blundell Cup.—First Tie: Knight Errant and Wauchope were slipped on fallow, when the former, almost immediately taking advantage of the furrow, reached his game two lengths in advance of Wauchope, turned, wrenched twice, and stumbled; Wauchope then wrenched and killed. Sea Twist made first turn on the inside, and, the hare still running in her favour, wrenched and served Nicholson Gin for one point, when blue getting in again won easily, being much favoured by the hare. Architect and Mountain Buck ran together for a little distance, when the former, drawing forward, came away on the outside, took puss over a drain, turned, served himself, and wrenched; the brindle got in for two points, when they went out of sight. Blue Violet and Trumpeter had an undecided, the hare coming round in a circle, and the course soon ending. When slipped again, Blue Violet led three lengths, and drove her game to a drain, where poor puss, making a mistake, jumped in, and suffered death immediately.—Second Ties: Knight Errant, after a little struggle, led, and coming round with his game put her to blue, who killed. Architect was first from slips, but on nearing the hare Blue Violet went past and wrenched, puss being killed immediately.

Hightown Stakes.—First Ties: Mayflower and Broad Oak were held in slips for some time in consequence of the hare not going straight, but Wilkinson, persevering, got behind her and let go, and in a long slip they each led, but on nearing the hare Broad Oak drew out and led out of sight, the hare being almost immediately lost at an old pit working, the bitch getting the decision. The hare, bending at the last moment in the run up, placed Tormentor for two turns and a wrench, when Just Going, getting served, drove the hare away, and secured the next two; they then exchanged, when the fawn got into a drain (the brindle not doing much with her game), but coming again, went past and killed. Sea Snail and Bramble carried collars; the former came away with a decisive lead of about three lengths, and turned. A long give-and-take course ensued (the hare doubling back to covert), which I thought was cleverly won by Sea Snail, who always brought the hare back to the white collar, by whom the short points in the race were made. Jesuitess led, and brought her hare round four lengths in advance of Florida, whom she just defeated, the latter being very busy towards the latter end of the trial.—Second Ties: Mayflower, a little faster than Just Going, managed to get in front, and bringing her game round, the hare died between them. Jesuitess, much the fastest, led and turned, driving her game before her in good style, but meeting with another long course.

Formby Stakes.—First Ties: Blush ran a bye. General Butler led on fallow, and turned, when Trifle raced away for the second point, and, getting on to smoother ground, improved the pace, and won cleverly. Black Jack led in a long slip, but not coming round after turning, the fawn got possession, and won easily. Kalista secured the first turn, the hare favouring her a little, and then, steadying herself, wrenched twice; puss breaking away, she kept her place, and wrenching again put the white collar in, but soon went past and took her game to a cottage garden, where they lost her.—Second Ties: Blush secured the first turn, and served Trifle, who wrenched and killed. Jolly Row and Kalista were slipped to a travelling hare, both animals running wide, when the former, getting the best place, made the first turn, and, keeping his place, exchanged points, and killed.

Farmers' Stakes.—Second Ties: Miss Halsall and Bedford ran an undecided course, the latter, I thought, having a little the best of it; Bedford was afterwards drawn. Kathleen led, and making a dash to kill let in Sea Serpent, who tripped her game; the hare getting away again for a few yards, the fawn killed and just won by that kill, Mr Warwick being about to take his hat off. Whiff led on plough about a couple of lengths to a drain, which they crossed, but the hare doubling back immediately, was killed at the ditch. Little Grey drew away from Alice, and in a short course was too fast for her, the latter killing.—Second Ties: Miss Halsall gained the run up from Sea Serpent, but in a longish course the latter won, being much cleverer than her opponent. Little Grey took a commanding lead from Whiff, and monopolised three-fourths of the course, the fawn leading out of sight.

Formby Stakes.—Deciding Course: Trifle began the fastest, but the hare bending to the right placed Jolly Row for two turns; as soon, however, as Trifle got on terms with her game she won the course well.

REMARKS.—This meeting passed off pleasantly enough, the first day being rather tedious from the causes enumerated, but improving on the second day. In the Ince Cup, we had Batavia running, who did not sustain her reputation. Blue Violet, from the form she displayed in all her courses, I think would have won, had Knight Errant and she run it off; and it was a judicious draw on the part of Mr Kaye. In the Hightown Stakes for puppies, Broad Oak, who was running very well, had a poor trial; and I am not sure that Mayflower can beat him. Tormentor, a good enough bitch, wants rest; and Sea Sail I certainly thought won her course cleverly. This decision and Broad Oak's were the only two in which I differ from Mr Warwick during the meeting. Jesuitess went very fast and clever, but was unfortunate in getting long courses. For the Formby Stakes poor Hermione, running very well indeed, had the misfortune to break her leg. Black Jack has a good deal of pace, but ran slovenly when he met Jolly Row. Trifle, the winner, is a neat and clever runner, and well deserved her position. Of the dogs in the Farmers' Stakes, Bettelheim has lived and learnt more than her backers liked to see, and in the two poorish trials Bedford had previous to being drawn, I was disposed to think well of him. Poor old Jam Mace showed us what Father Time will and can do to the bravest, and Little Gray, by dividing, added another stake to her master's credit. ALPHA.

The Hon. E. C. Leigh vs NANCY and Mr G. Darlinson's DANISH PATENT divided.

THIS popular Midland meeting is always looked forward to with a great deal of pleasure, as, the ground coursed over being situated in Lord Leigh's beautiful park at Stoneleigh, and the running all grass, there is but little chance of any postponement through the weather. In addition to the above advantages, the head-quarters at Kenilworth are within an easy distance of the meet, and the drive through the park and the beautiful domain of Stoneleigh Abbey alone repays a visit. The entry and draw took place as usual at Mr Bursell's, King's Arms Hotel, Kenilworth, but, owing to the heavy calls made of late on the different leading kennels, only two out of the five stakes advertised received their full complement. The dinner party on Monday evening was largely attended, and on the list being read over some betting took place, but not to any great amount, as a majority of the dogs running had appeared but little in public.

TUESDAY.—Met at the kennels. A lovely morning brought together a large and fashionable company, who enjoyed one of the best day's sport ever seen at Kenilworth. Shortly after ten o'clock we commenced as usual by driving the long belt of plantation, and from thence worked round the park to Stoneleigh Abbey. Hares being numerous, we ran thirty-eight courses before leaving the park for the arable land, and a good day's sport was brought to a satisfactory conclusion on Mr Harris's farm, King's Wood, by 3.30. Owing to there being plenty of herbage, the frost, which was rather severe over night, caused no delay in the start; and we were enabled to get twice through the Stoneleigh and Kenilworth Stakes, the total number of trials run during the day being forty-two.

Stoneleigh Stakes.—Shakespeare had a great advantage in the run up by having the inner circle, but as soon as puss doubled back from the turn Solomon took possession, and, lying close to the sent, drove his hare for a succession of strong wrenches and whipped her up. In a long struggle to the hare Gabrielle ran head and head with Gaudy Poll for the first eighty yards, then, drawing out a length, turned; still keeping her place, she scored several points in succession before letting in Gaudy Poll, who, owing to the covert being close handy, was unable to do much before puss escaped. A short-running hare got up for Hearty Lass and Hookey Walker; the latter showed the pace in the run up, and although he, as well as his opponent, ran very shifty, Dr. Hosford's dog, in a dodging course back to covert, pulled through cleverly. Achievement, although slightly unsighted in the run-up, passed Young Monarch for first turn, then keeping her place for the two next, served her opponent; a good trial to the plantation followed, still in favour of Achievement, who left off a very meritorious winner. Huckaback was two lengths faster than Bachelor in the run up, and coming well round with his hare scored several strong points before letting in the latter; Mr Booth's dog, in possession, then began to be busy, but on nearing covert Huckaback again raced to the front, and on puss escaping had won easily. Marquis came away with a clear lead from David II., and flying a sunken fence in good style, kept his place on landing, then scored a succession of strong points, until puss went over the brow out of sight, winning all one way.—First Ties: In a rattling race to a good hare, Solomon had the foot of Gabrielle, and afterwards, showing a shade more pace in the racing stretches, had the best of a fine trial across the park, winning very meritoriously. Hookey Walker, after running a short distance, drew away several lengths from Achievement, turned, and led over the hill; the remainder of a course of good length was only seen by the judge, who gave it that Hookey Walker was well and deservedly beaten. Huckaback and Marquis were slipped across some fallow, and the former, leading several lengths up the hill, won, I understand, very easily.

Kenilworth Stakes.—Enterprise, as soon as the hare went straight, raced past Stuart for first turn, and keeping his place scored the next two points; after an exchange, puss broke for a sunken fence, then in a fine stretch Enterprise scored a go-by, and afterwards beat his opponent decisively, the blue running very slack at the finish. Red Tape was a good length and a half faster than Glenkorick for the first and second turns, but as the hare broke for covert the black raced past and went wide; a working course followed to the next clump, Glenkorick showing almost as much pace as his opponent, but not working so closely, and Red Tape consequently pulled through a clever winner. Guinness's Stout, on the outside, was showing the pace until the hare came round to Borealis, who turned and led over the brow; the remainder of the trial was run out of sight, Borealis, I understand, winning easily. Mr Randell was so pleased with the winner's performance that he offered her owner £60 for the bitch, "all in," which was refused. Sir Bobby, going in good form, raced away several lengths for the first and second turns, then losing his place, Traffic put in three smart points in succession; as the hare broke, Sir Bobby raced to the front, and when the course terminated at the post and rail fence, had won easily. Before being taken up, Sir Bobby got on to a fresh hare and was run to a standstill. Polished Steel had the inside for first turn, and puss bending to her for the next, she then served Breda; a short working course followed, the flat in favour of Polished Steel, who won without much to spare. Highland Bride made a sorry example of The Hero, as, taking the lead, she maintained selfish possession throughout a trial of average length. Father Gad ran his bye with Traffic in good style, and made it short by quickly killing.—First Ties: Red Tape raced away several lengths from Enterprise, and from what little could be seen of the course the latter was not of much use to Mr Randell's dog, who, going in good style, won pretty well all one way to the fence. Sir Bobby, who was evidently suffering from his previous gruelling, was fortunate, after being led several lengths by Borealis, in making a tie of it. An arrangement was afterwards come to, and Sir Bobby was drawn. Father Gad led, and beat Polished Steel very easily. Highland Bride ran a short bye with her kennel companion Breda, puss being quickly killed.

Coventry Stakes.—Bessie came away with a clear lead of four lengths from Bounce, and drove her hare to covert. Nautilus and Sir Arthur had a short no-go, the former if anything having the best of it. Next time Sir Arthur had the pace, but did not work so closely as his opponent, and got beat in consequence, there was, however, little to choose at the finish between the pair. Lapworth was three lengths faster than Harold, and bringing her hare round, the latter shot past inside for the second turn; Lapworth then wrenched and killed. Treasure Trove was four lengths first to the hare, and, keeping his place for the next point, exchanged, then took the hare from Plutus, and led to covert; a smart performance of the winners. Purity got very much the best of the slip, but as soon as Spectator was fairly placed he outworked his opponent, and in a course of short length to covert won cleverly. Upton, who broke out of his kennel overnight, and was only found half an hour before it was time to go into slips, was led a dozen lengths to the hare, and easily beaten by Rocket. Sir Joseph and Jupiter were no sooner slipped than they separated after two hares, and got courses of equal length. Next time Sir Joseph raced away half a dozen lengths, turned, kept his place, and won all one way to covert. Nice Ale drew away three lengths from Draco, turned, and then served herself twice, letting in her opponent, who, after an exchange, again lost the lead, and Nice Ale, wrenching smartly, ended the course by racing into her hare.

Warwick Stakes.—Restless Wave, although not so fast as Redcap, ran much truer than her opponent, and, in a short working trial, beat him cleverly; at the finish Redcap shot across and killed. In a very long slip, Harry was several lengths faster than Rook, who was a bad second all through a course of short length to covert. Playaway II., running the outer circle, was if anything a shade faster than Right at Last, but puss coming to Mr Randall's bitch, she cleverly outworked her opponent in a short spin to covert. Whirlpool showed in front to some hurdles, where he hesitated, and the Lady of Lyons, well placed, scored thrice; after an exchange, Mr Trevor's bitch scored a go-by, and won very easily to covert. A good hare was started on the meadow for Selina and Artist; the former came away with a clear lead, and dusting puss about to some hurdles, flew them in good style, and won all one way to covert. Nancy and Father Tuck were slipped to a hare started from the round plantation at the edge of the meadow; puss, on being reached, immediately dodged back for her home, and Nancy, having the most pace, won very easily. Tiger and Merry Maid had a short undecided to covert, but again getting on to the same hare, a working course resulted in the victory of Merry Maid, who had all the latter part of a long course. After a short undecided, Precept again showed the pace over Waverley, and won easily to covert.

County Stakes.—Holdfast, going in good form, drew away four lengths from Little Lady, turned, kept his place, and drove his hare over the hill out of sight. Prize got a long way the best of the slip by being inside, and puss coming twice to her during a short course, she beat Dolan; the latter ran very unfortunate, and it was really a piece of hard luck his being put out. Norma raced away several lengths, and made mincemeat of Oscar, who in a short merry course never had a chance. Danish Patent went off a cracker from slips, and, bringing his hare round, scored several strong points in succession; on reaching the carriage drive Leonora got in, and was fast equalising the score when Danish Patent, seeing an opening, raced up and knocked puss off her legs. Nancy came away with a strong lead from Nice Girl who, outpaced, was only once in during a trial of fair length to covert.

The dinner party in the evening was again numerously attended, and some brisk betting took place on the list being read over.

WEDNESDAY.—A sharp frost delayed our start, and it was not till after eleven o'clock that proceedings could be commenced. The first brace, as yesterday, were handed to Heritage at the Kennel plantation, from which two courses were obtained. We then worked across the park, the same ground being gone over as the day before; and by the time the lawn in front of Stoneleigh Abbey was reached, thirteen courses had been decided. A move was next made to Mr J. Lee's farm, at Stairton, where some large meadows produced a few splendid trials; but fur being rather scarce, we retraced our steps to the park, where, after three courses had been run, darkness set in, and the deciding course in the Warwick Stakes could not be run off. At the conclusion of the day's sports three hearty cheers were given for Lord Leigh, who so kindly allows the meeting to take place over his beautiful estate. Commenced with the

Coventry Stakes.—First Tie: Bessie, to a fast hare driven from covert, went away with a strong lead from Nautilus, turned, and served herself; for a short time the dogs were out of my sight, but on their reappearance Nautilus held possession, and scored several points to covert: undecided. Bessie, on being taken up, was found to have lamed herself, and she was afterwards drawn by arrangement. A rattling hare was driven from covert for Lapworth and Treasure Trove; puss, being one of the right sort, headed straight across the park, and Lapworth, drawing away three lengths, turned, serving Treasure Trove, who went wide; Lapworth, again in possession, then drove puss over the knoll out of sight, and the course, which was one of great length, could afterwards only be seen by the spectators at intervals; the flat was in favour of Treasure Trove, who, I understand, won well at the finish. Rocket got much the best of the run up by being inside and keeping his place at the turn, drew away from Spectator, who, as far as I could see, never had a chance; puss escaped to covert. Nice Ale changed sides in the run up, and although she was then on the outside, her superior speed placed her three lengths in front of Sir Joseph to the hare; after Mr Hicks had scored four points, Sir Joseph wrenched once, and led into covert.—Second Tie: Treasure Trove and Nautilus were slipped to a very weak hare, and the result was a no-course. Their next essay was also a short scrambling trial, which ended in the cap coming off; Nautilus was then drawn. Nice Ale in a pretty stretch drew out a length from Rocket, and scored the first and third turns; a working course followed to the gate, greatly in favour of

Nice Ale, who was both faster and cleverer than her opponent, and when the hare went through into the next field she had won handsomely ; of the remainder of the course I saw nothing, owing to the hedge being between me and the dogs, but Rocket, from the short time that elapsed when the award was given in his favour, must have been desperately busy to have rubbed off his opponent's score.—Deciding Course: It was nearly dark when Treasure Trove and Rocket were slipped to a rattling hare; the former showed the pace, and for a time had the best of the trial, but tiring from his previous severe course, Rocket, who ran with great gameness, took possession at the road, and running up a long score, had won handsomely as puss escaped to covert.

Warwick Stakes.—First Tie: In a straight slip from covert to covert, Harry drew away on the inside, three lengths from Restless Wave, swerved puss at the plantation fence, and received the award. This was a wretchedly bad trial for the loser, but nevertheless Mr Spafford was perfectly right in deciding. The Lady of Lyons had the foot of Right at Last, and striking at her hare missed killing, and stumbled; Mr Randall's bitch then shot past, but before she could do anything with her hare puss escaped. This was another bad trial for the loser, who was deserving of a better fate. Selina, in a straight slip, drew away three lengths from Nancy, turned, and served herself twice; as her opponent was going on with her hare, Selina raced past, wrenched, and killed; a grand performance of the winner. Merry Maid and Precept ran their course entirely out of my sight, the former, I understand, showing the pace and winning all one way.—Second Tie: Harry and The Lady of Lyons had an undecided, caused by the latter falling head over heels at the turn; Harry, after scoring, lost his hare at the hedge. Next time The Lady of Lyons drew away three lengths, turned, came smartly round for the next, wrenched twice, and led through the fence. Selina and Merry Maid ran a smartly contested working course, the former always showing a superiority of pace, and winning cleverly.—Deciding Course: The Lady of Lyons and Selina were placed in slips, but it became so dark that Mr Spafford declared it impossible to judge the course; the stake was consequently divided.

County Stakes.—First Tie: Holdfast, two lengths faster than Prize, made first turn, and cleverly kept his position for the two next, and served the black, who had no sooner got well placed than she slipped up on her side; Holdfast immediately raced past, turned, and let in Prize, who wrenched strongly several times, but puss dodged into covert too soon for her chance. Norma and Danish Patent were slipped a short distance from covert; the latter showed two lengths in front, and bearing his hare round, Norma jumped on the wrong side of a sunken fence as puss dodged back; the black then went on and again turned, when Norma, joining in, put in three or four smart points under the wood side, and caused the cap to come off. Next time a trimming hare was started from the side of the river Avon; in a rattling race across the park Danish Patent drew away several lengths, turned, and, until crossing the carriage drive, had much the best of the course; Norma then got in and was beginning to be busy, but breasting an iron hurdle she was placed hors de combat, and Danish Patent going on with a strong lead won cleverly. Nancy ran her bye with a sapling, who was never once in front.—Second Tie: Holdfast and Nancy were no sooner slipped than the hare made for the hedge; puss, however, was turned back by the crowd and a rattling trial followed, Nancy having the beginning and end, and winning handsomely. An arrangement was then come to, which saved Danish Patent running his bye, and the stake was divided.

Stonleigh Stakes.—Second Tie: Solomon, in a straight slip, drew away a length and a half, turned, wrenched strongly, and served Achievement, who turned; they then took point and point alternately until the hare broke away, when Solomon raced up well in front, wrenched, and killed: a good performance of the winner. Huckaback ran his bye with Restless Wave, and had a good trial, the blue showing the pace.—Deciding Course: Solomon and Huckaback went rather wide to the hare, the latter having the run-up; puss then dodged back to Solomon, who dusted her about a few times, and killed cleverly. This course was bad to see, owing to its being so dark, but there is no doubt Solomon won fairly enough.

Kenilworth Stakes.—Second Tie: Red Tape, on leaving slips, immediately showed in front, and, increasing his lead to two lengths, turned; maintaining his position throughout a rattling trial, he beat Borealis most decisively, the latter only scoring a few short points during the course, which was of good length. A rattling hare was driven from fallow on to a large grass meadow for Father Gad and Highland Bride; this course was an exact counterpart of the last, as Father Gad led, and beat his opponent just as easily.—Deciding Course: In a very long slip to a trimming hare, Red Tape raced away several lengths from Father Gad, and, driving puss before him in good style, won, as far as I could see, all one way.

REMARKS.—The above meeting, when favoured by fine weather, is always an enjoyable one, and it was the general remark that two better days' sport have seldom been seen in Lord Leigh's beautiful park. It is with pleasure we have to record the success of the Hon. E. C. Leigh's representative in the County Stakes, and this being the first time that any of the house party have ever run a dog at the meeting, we hope this result may encourage the youthful lord—who, as well as the Hon. E. C. Leigh, was on the ground during the proceedings—to run a dog of his own next year. Mr Knight, the head keeper, whose courtesy and general wish to show sport are well known to all frequenters of Kenilworth, conducted the beat with his usual ability, and hares never ran stronger nor better than on the present occasion, several of the courses in the park being of great length. As regards the dogs running at the meeting, I do not recollect attending any gathering of late years where so many dark ones were entered, the pedigrees of both all ages and puppies in a great many instances being entirely unknown to fame. Among the puppies running at the meeting, Red Tape, I recollect, showed fair pace at the Altcar Club meeting, where he was put out by Maharajah in a scrambling trial; in running through this stake I should fancy Red Tape agreeably surprised his owner, for he effectually disposed of Borealis, whom Mr Randall offered £60 for after winning one course; and several good offers were made for Father Gad, another puppy. Father Gad, the runner up, is a June puppy, and I understand had only got over the distemper a few weeks; from the exhausted state the dog was in after running his two last courses, it bears out the above statement, and it is quite on the cards that, with care and proper training, Father Gad will turn out a useful greyhound. Both the third and fourth in this stake, Highland Bride and Borealis, showed prominently until meeting their superiors, and there was no fluking when they went down, as both were beaten on their merits. The first round saw the easy defeat of Guinness's Stout, who has a turn of speed, and when that is said there is nothing else to recommend him. Sir Bobby was unlucky, as usual; he had to be drawn, having been run to a standstill his first course. This dog has a good turn of speed, and with a fast hare I shall expect him to render a good account of himself on some future occasion. In the Warwick Stakes, for puppies, the winner and runner up were deservedly entitled to their forward positions, and in Selina Mr G. Stretton has a smart and clever bitch. The Lady of Lyons was a present from Mr Trevor, who bred her, to a neighbour; she is a late May puppy, and looks like growing into a useful greyhound. Right at last was put out in a bad trial, and Playaway, whom she defeated, ran her so closely that in a good course it is hard to say which would win. Merry Maid was beaten easily by her sister Selina, she having previously shown a fair turn of speed in her course with Precept. Among the others Restless Wave is deserving of mention. In turning to the all ages Solomon, the winner of the Stoneleigh Stakes, is, I understand, a fourth-season dog, and, considering his age, his performance was A 1. Huckaback, the runner up, showed plenty of pace, but hardly runs so steadily as he might do. Gandy Pell once more showed in public; but her day is past, and the same may be said of Hooky Walker, whose defeat by Achievement was not at all relished by the Doctor. Marquis, at one time the property of Mr Strachan, who ran him in the Waterloo Cup, was beaten in his second course by Huckaback. In the Coventry Stakes Nice Ale went fast, and handled her hare in better style than any of the others; how she was beaten by Rocket I cannot understand, but there is no question that the latter is a game, honest-running dog, who will stand any amount of hard work. Since the meeting a match for £25, the best of three courses, has been made, to test the respective merits of these dogs, with Mr Warwick as judge. Strange to say, Treasure Trove met with two clinking hares, and both courses were run to and from the same coverts. Had Mr Trevor's dog met Rocket on equal terms, I think there is no doubt the tables would have been turned. Lapworth showed plenty of pace, but lacks staying powers. In the County Stakes Danish Patent showed a fine turn of speed, and his course with Norma was one of the finest trials of the meeting. In conclusion, I may state that Mr Bursell was most attentive to the wants of his guests, and the large party who dined each evening at the King's Arms fully appreciated the dinners provided and the reasonable charges made. Mr Spafford as judge, and Heritage as slipper, performed their duties efficiently.

THE appearance of the weather in the South held out but little hopes of the Border meeting taking place at the time fixed, but in Cumberland a rapid thaw set in early on Saturday morning, and as we journeyed down to Carlisle on Monday, there was not the slightest vestige of either frost or snow. This popular northern reunion has always a large amount of interest attached to it, as being likely to furnish several Waterloo candidates, and the winner and the runner up in the Netherby Cup have often produced a warm favourite for the great event in February—to wit, Meg, the runner up with Johnny Cope, and afterwards the winner of the blue ribbon. The programme on the present occasion had a new feature, the Moastroopers' Plate, in lieu of the Consolation Stake, which was a decided improvement. There is also some talk of making the Netherby Cup into a sixty-four dog stake, and extending the meeting to three days. The demand for nominations during the last few years has been so great that on the present occasion only one nomination was granted; consequently there was no guarding, and such was the inquiry that Mr Tinning had to refuse endless applications. From the quality of the dogs arrived to run for the Cup, it promised to be quite as interesting an event as in any previous years, and, as usual, several were on their trial as representatives for the great event in February. Lancaster, who had been backed outright at the Victoria Club in London last week at 100 to 3, was reported fit and well, as was also Royal Seal, who had beaten Marionette in a private trial last week. Gownsmen was sent all the way from Newmarket to represent Mr Hutton's nomination, and Michael, Mexican Ranger, Crown Imperial, Dalby, Lisette, No Idea, Hearty Lass, Flying Mist, Belle of Scotland, El Soudan, &c., made up a very formidable list from which to pick the winner. The Tenants' Purse had Jane Ann engaged, winner of the Bothal St. Leger (64 runners) and Lowther Cup at Askham; this bitch, at the time of my writing, has never been beaten. Besides the crack, we had Lady Isabella, Spoilt Boy, Right Idea, Belle of the Village, Briefless Barrister, and Fleuron, all good performers. There were several reported flyers among the dark division, and as last year the bookmakers missed laying against the winner (Flying Mist) on the night of the draw, any backer could support his fancy to win a good stake.

The dinner and draw took place as usual at the Graham Arms Inn, Longtown, and was largely attended, the chair being occupied by Mr Gibbons, of Burnfoot. The usual loyal toasts being got through, Mr W. Wilson kindly read over the list, and some heavy betting took place, Flying Mist and Royal Seal carrying the most money. The following will show the state of the market, both on the individual courses as well as for the event:

Tenants' Purse.—Individual Courses: 2 to 1 on Right Idea v. Timothy, 7 to 4 on Falling Spray v. Duke of Edinburgh, 2 to 1 on Jane Anne v. Spoilt Boy, 5 to 4 on Irving Lass v. Dan M'Cann, 3 to 2 on Modesty v. Safrano, even on Flag Steward v. Elzivir, 5 to 4 on the Belle of the Village v. Tundergarth, 6 to 4 on Zarah v. Blue Jacket, 5 to 4 on Prioress v. Briefless Barrister, 2 to 1 on Fleuron v. Berkeley.—Long Odds: 9 to 1 agst Jane Ann, 12 to 1 agst Fleuron, 14 to 1 agst Bit o' Blue, 15 to 1 agst Belle of the Village, 15 to 1 agst Falling Spray, 16 to 1 agst Modesty, 16 to 1 agst Zarah, 16 to 1 agst Prioress, 18 to 1 agst Right Idea, 18 to 1 agst Lady Isabella, 20 to 1 agst Cashier, 20 to 1 agst Camelia, 20 to 1 agst Ask Mamma, 20 to 1 agst Initials, 20 to 1 agst Rosebud, 20 to 1 agst Briefless Barrister, 20 to 1 agst Blue Jacket, 22 to 1 agst Spoilt Boy, 23 to 1 agst Dan M'Cann, 25 to 1 agst Duke of Edinburgh, 25 to 1 agst Frank Forest, 25 to 1 agst Irving Lass, 25 to 1 agst Warlock, 25 to 1 agst Flag Steward, 25 to 1 agst Elzevir, 25 to 1 agst Tundergarth, and 30 to 1 agst any other.

Netherby Cup.—Individual Courses: 2 to 1 on Lancaster v. Rollo, 3 to 1 on Blooming Maid v. Brightness, 6 to 4 on Lizette v. El Soudan, 6 to 4 on Fanatic v. Spendthrift, 6 to 4 on Michaels v. Wild Charlie, 6 to 4 on Belle of Scotland v. Fusilier, even on Lochinvar v. Skylark, 13 to 8 on Edenside v. Countess Bismark, even on Baronet v. Crown Imperial, 2 to 1 on Royal Seal v. Clown, 2 to 1 on No Idea v. Cornelia, 3 to 2 on Dalby v. Hearty Lass, 2 to 1 on Gownman v. Pickle Fanny, 2 to 1 on Flying Mist v. Yellow Boy.—Long Odds: 8 to 1 agst Flying Mist, 10 to 1 agst Lancaster, 13 to 1 agst Royal Seal, 14 to 1 agst No Idea, 15 to 1 agst Fanatic, 15 to 1 agst Belle of Scotland, 16 to 1 agst Skylark, 16 to 1 agst Lochinvar, 16 to 1 agst Lisette, 18 to 1 agst Gownman, 20 to 1 agst Dalby, 20 to 1 agst Mabel Smith, 20 to 1 agst Spendthrift, 25 to 1 agst Fusilier, 25 to 1 agst Hearty Lass, from 30 to 50 to 1 agst others.

TUESDAY.—Met at Gretna, and commenced in the large grass pasture situated between the railway and the seabank of the Solway Frith. Owing to Raper missing the train, the company were kept waiting for fully an hour. At last Tom appeared, and a start was made by driving the fallows on to grass, and before crossing the railroad twelve rattling trials were run off. The land on the other side lay exceedingly well for coursing; but unfortunately, hares were scarce, a great number having been shot during the last few weeks. Our progress was consequently slow, so much so that it was with the greatest difficulty the card was run through. Thirty-seven courses are but a small day's sport for Longtown, but, as Sir Frederick Graham was present during the proceedings, he will no doubt have this rectified by the next meeting. The weather was of a most enjoyable description, and it was computed there were over 3000 persons on the ground during the day. The Cumbrians, as usual, behaved extremely well, and the officials had little or no difficulty in keeping excellent order throughout the running. The majority of the trials in the puppy stakes were of good length, affording in each instance a fair test of merit, and it was only towards the latter part of the day that the trials began to fall off, four undecideds following one another in the Netherby Cup. This I attribute to the hares being driven for a long distance across some plough before they reached the grass, thereby causing them to run weak and double back from the fence. A great many old and new favourites were running during the day, and the defeat of Michael, Dalby, Blooming Maid, and one or two others, caused a good deal of money to change hands. The three great pots, Royal Seal, Flying Mist, and No Idea (the last two winning with difficulty), landed their backers, thereby making the fielders losers on the day. Commenced with the Tenants' Purse.—A hare was driven on to grass for Right Idea and Timothy; this course, as seen by those standing on the railway embankment, was an easy win for the blue, but, as the dogs were running directly towards the company, it was difficult to tell which of the two was leading; the crowd on the hill saw the course in the same light as Mr Warwick, who decided in favour of Right Idea, puss escaping at a sough. Falling Spray showed in front from slips, when Duke of Edinburgh spurted past, turned, served himself, and slipped up on his side; this mishap let up Falling Spray, who, well placed, dusted puss about so merrily that Edinburgh had no chance for some time; the blue then raced past, and had the best of a couple of exchanges, but on the hare reaching the corner of the field Falling Spray drew away, put in three or four strong points, and, after an exchange, raced up well in front, wrenched, and killed. Jane Ann, in a grand struggle, had to run the outer circle to the hare, and, keeping possession through the railway bridge, turned in the next field; still maintaining her position, the fawn ran up a succession of fine points before letting in Spoilt Boy; the latter in command began to be busy, but on reaching the hedge an exchange took place, and puss escaped, Jane Ann winning easily. A trimming hare came away for Lady Isabella and Frank Forest; the latter led nearly a length, and, bringing puss round, wrenched and served his opponent; from this point Frank Forest's fate was sealed, as Lady Isabella, taking possession, drove her hare for a succession of brilliant points until nearing the hedge; here she let in the red, but immediately raced past, wrenched twice, and led through the fence. Dan M'Cann drew out a length and a half, turned, and served himself, letting in Irving Lass; from this point the course was a repetition of the last, as Irving Lass, handling her game very cleverly, never afterwards gave her opponent a squeak, winning most decisively. Safrano, going a good pace, got the inside turn from Modesty, and, bringing her hare round, kept selfish possession all through a trial of good length, Modesty, who was a warm favourite, cutting up very indifferently. After some time a good hare came away; Cashier ran head and head with Warlock for the first fifty yards, then shot away three lengths in front; notwithstanding he went wide for the second and third turns, his superior speed enabled him to continually go first to the hare, and towards the middle of the course, steadying down, he scored every point to the hedge; here Warlock was thrown out, and his opponent for a long time had the hare to himself; Mr Walker's dog at last joined in, but only scored a few short points at the finish. A clinker came away for Flag Steward and Elzevir, to which the latter immediately drew out, and, bringing his hare round two lengths in front, turned; coming well round for the second, the hare went right to Flag Steward; after an exchange a fine racing go-by was scored by Elzevir, who, steadying down to his work, ran much faster and more cleverly during the remainder of a long pumping trial, beating Flag Steward most handsomely; the course was of distressing length, and terminated at the seabank. Belle o' the Village and Tundergarth had a very long slip to a traveller; the former led through a gap in the fence, and had much the best of the early points in a short working course, winning cleverly. Zarah, notwithstanding the hare went from him, gained the turn, letting in Blue Jacket, who took the next point, and then wrenched; as the hare broke for the hedge Zarah got well placed, and, handling his game very cleverly, ran up a succession of fine points, until puss threw him at the ditch side; Blue Jacket then got in and scored thrice, when, as puss attempted to souse, Zarah shot past and legged his hare. Prioress went off a cracker to a good hare, and, bringing her round four lengths in front, kept her place for seven or eight points in succession; she then lost it at a bank; after Briefless Barrister had been in possession a short time, Prioress again went to the front, and left off a very easy winner. Fleuron and Berkley ran a long and punishing trial, the former, from what I could see of the course, showing the pace, and winning easily. Some little time was now lost in changing ground to the other side of the railway, where a large level piece of stubble afforded half a dozen excellent trials. Rosebud, in a long stretch, went up on outside ground from Initials for first turn, the latter scoring the next point; as the hare broke away Rosebud raced up to the front, and led from my view, winning easily. Bit o' Blue and Barren King falling together, and belonging to the same owner, the latter was drawn, and Bit o' Blue ran a bye of moderate length. Ask Mamma had the pace in the run-up from Belle o' Petteril, but went wide; the latter then, running much the cleverest, outworked her opponent in a smartly-run trial, which she ended with a good kill. In a very long race to the hare Camellia gained the turn by two lengths, and, keeping her place across a knoll, scored seven or eight points in succession; nearing the hedge Little Dorrit got in, but when the course terminated Camellia had won very cleverly.

Netherby Cup.—In a good race up, Lancaster gradually drew away two lengths and turned, and then swerving his hare to Rollo, the next point was against Mr M'Haffie's dog; after an exchange in favour of Lancaster, the latter lost his place, and Rollo began to be so desperately busy that the layers of the odds looked unutterable things; at the fence Lancaster got best through, but after using his hare stumbled; this again let up Rollo, who, however, before he could do much with his hare, suffered a go-by, and Lancaster, towards the close running more steadily, left off a rather clever winner with a fine kill. Brightness, in a grand struggle, gained the turn a length in front of Blooming Maid, and, keeping her place for the three next points, served Mr Irving's bitch, who wrenched strongly twice; Brightness then raced up well in front, and left off a very meritorious winner with a fine kill: this was a great performance of Lord Binning's old bitch, who ran her course as true as a puppy. Hare Gills, going in rare style, gradually drew away from Mexican Ranger three lengths for first and second turn; then, notwithstanding he slipped on his head, the next point was also placed to his credit; still keeping his position, he ran up point after point until reaching a post and rail fence, where the Ranger drew past and killed. A good hare was started for Lisette and El Soudan, and, from what I could see of the course, the former had the pace; the trial was one of good length, and I understand Lisette won easily. Wild Charley and Michael had a grand race to the hare, the former, who got best away from slips, just gaining the turn; Michael then whipped cleverly across for the next, but the hare would not have Mr Mould's dog; Wild Charley then had the best of some short work to a gateway, and, leading through, kept possession to Black Bank covert. Belle of Scotland and Fusileer had a short and very properly given undecided. Next time, in a good straight slip of fair length, Fusileer showed in front a length for first turn, letting in Belle of Scotland, who immediately set to work, quickly equalised the points, killed, and won. Mabel Smith, in a fair race up, was a length and a half faster than Queen o' Lyne, who, out-paced throughout a course of fair length to covert, never had a chance; this course was exceedingly well run by the winner. Fanatic and Spendthrift ran a magnificent race to the hare, just gained inside by the latter, who, after an exchange, wrenched twice; a good trial followed, Spendthrift showing the most cleverness by twice taking her hare, inside, from her opponent, and though the latter was equally busy all through the course, still Spendthrift won cleverly; Fanatic killed. Skylark and Lochinvar were slipped to a wretchedly bad hare; the latter, after a long struggle, just drew in front, turned, and slipped up on his side; Skylark then went on with the lead, turned, and also stumbled, which again placing Lochinvar in a good position, he raced up and killed; a win, but a bad trial for the loser. Edenside and Countess Bismark ran their course a long distance from where I was standing, the former always showing the pace in the racing stretches. Crown Imperial went away in good style, and, drawing out two lengths in front of Baronet, turned, the latter taking the next; puss then broke for the fence, and Crown Imperial, going to the front, scored twice, and afterwards, from what I could see of the course, won very easily. Royal Seal, going in her very best style, raced away half a dozen lengths from Clown, turned, and for a long time never gave her opponent a chance; at last the black began to tire, and the Clown, drawing away, turned, then, after an exchange, raced past and killed. No Idea and Cornelia had a short no-go, the former leading up. In their final spin No Idea had too much pace to begin with, and then at the finish heled through the hedge, wrenched twice, and raced into his hare. Two short undecideds took place between Dalby and Hearty Lass; their final was a wretched trial, as Hearty Lass, gaining the run up on the inside, slightly swerved her hare and picked her up—a very bad trial for the loser. No-goes being just now the order of the day, owing to so many weak hares being slipped at, Gownsmen and Fickle Fanny caused the cap to come off. When slipped, Fickle Fanny showed the pace, but in a short trial was outworked by Gownsmen. Yellow Boy led, but was cleverly outworked by Flying Mist, who had a hard matter to land the odds of 2 to 1 laid on her.

There was again a large party to dinner; Mr Gibbons in the chair. Before reading over the list, the Moss Trooper Stake was drawn, but, on being called over, produced little or no speculation. The Tenants' Purse was productive of some heavy speculation, Jane Ann, Prioress, Zarah, Elzevir, and Belle o' Petteril coming in for the largest amount of support. In the Cup, Lisette, Belle of Scotland, Edenside, No Idea, and Flying Mist were heavily backed. At the long odds Royal Seal would have been backed at anything over 5 to 1, but layers were shy.

Tenants' Purse.—Individual Courses: 6 to 4 on Right Idea v. Falling Star, 7 to 4 on Jane Ann v. Lady Isabella, 7 to 4 on Safrano v. Irving Lass, 5 to 4 on Elzevir v. Cashier, 6 to 4 on Zarah v. Belle of the Village, even on Prioress v. Fleuron, 5 to 4 on Rosebud v. Bit of Blue, and 5½ to 5 on Belle o' Petteril v. Camellia.—Long Odds: 6 to 1 agst Jane Ann, 7 to 1 agst Prioress, 7 to 1 agst Fleuron, 8 to 1 agst Zarah, 8 to 1 agst Safrano, 10 to 1 agst Belle of the Village, 10 to 1 agst Camellia, 10 to 1 agst Belle o' Petteril, 10 to 1 agst Rosebud, 10 to 1 agst Right Idea, and 12 to 1 agst any other.

Netherby Cup.—Individual Courses: 5 to 4 on Lancaster v. Brightness, 5 to 4 on Lisette v. Hare Gills, 6 to 4 on Belle of Scotland v. Wild Charley, 10 to 8 on Spandthrift v. Mabel Smith, 6 to 4 on Edenside v. Loohinvar, 2 to 1 on Royal Seal v. Crown Imperial (off), 5 to 2 on No Idea v. Hearty Lass (off), and 6½ to 4 on Flying Mist v. Yellow Boy.—Long Odds: 5 to 1 agst Royal Seal (off), 6 to 1 agst No Idea (off), 8 to 1 agst Lancaster (off), 8 to 1 agst Flying Mist (t), 10 to 1 agst Belle of Scotland, 12 to 1 agst Edenside, 12 to 1 agst Lisette, and 15 to 1 to 20 to 1 agst others.

WEDNESDAY.—Met at Longtown railway station and proceeded to Sandbed, from thence to the adjoining farm at Oakbank. At both places hares were plentiful, and we ran off fifteen courses in a very short time. Our next move was to a big pasture field, where half a dozen clinking hares, driven from fallow, afforded as many first-class trials. The meadow land lying between the railway and river afforded a succession of beautiful courses, and this highly successful meeting was brought to a termination at the bush on Eske Farm at 3.30. The weather being delightfully fine, there was again a large attendance, and Sir Frederick Graham, who was early on the ground, stayed until the card was run through.

Tenants' Purse.—First Ties: Right Idea and Falling Spray no sooner left slips than they became unsighted; the former, running on, led through the fence, and bringing his hare round in a large wheat-field, dusted puss about for a long time before Falling Spray joined in; when together the latter soon took possession, and led through the fence; a long course followed, run entirely out of sight of the spectators, Right Idea, I understand, winning cleverly. Jane Ann and Lady Isabella were slipped across a knolly field, and the former, quickest away, came on with a commanding lead from her opponent, who was twice unsighted in the run up; as puss broke from the fence Jane Ann raced straight past the Lady, turned, then scored the two following points; after an exchange Lady Isabella got well placed, and was fast scoring as puss fenced; Jane Ann, the first through, went on with a long lead, and received the award. In this course Lady Isabella was running under considerable disadvantage, having broken a claw. Irving Lass and Safrano had a short and very properly given undecided. In their next slip a rattling hare was driven from fallow on to seeds, to which Safrano raced up a length and a half, wrenched strongly twice, and turned; after an exchange Safrano drew away well in front, and secured three or four smart points; a couple of exchanges followed in favour of Irving Lass, until puss broke away, when Safrano put on the steam, raced past, and whipped up her hare: a well-run course on the part of the winner. Cashier, going a good pace, drew out a length from Elzevir, turned, and went wide; the latter scored the next point, when Cashier again drew to the fore, and, the hare running in the centre of the pair, they alternately swerved her from one to the other until she fenced; a long course followed, entirely out of sight of the spectators, the fiat in favour of Elzevir. I understand Cashier lost many lengths at the fence out of the road, which materially contributed to his losing the course. Belle o' the Village had the inside run, and turned to Zarah, who scored; then, after a scrambling exchange, Belle o' the Village led through the hedge, and won cleverly. A rattling hare got up for Fleuron and Prioress, to which the former led, and for a long time had the course pretty well to himself; as the hare broke back from the crowd, Prioress assumed the command, and, handling her hare in grand style, never left her game until she had made a tie of it; undecided. An arrangement being come to, Fleuron was drawn. Bit o' Blue, on the lower ground, showed in advance from slips, and, reaching her hare a length in front of Rosebud, led through a gateway; after being absent for a short time, Bit o' Blue came back in possession, and then, driving puss through the hedge, killed in the next field. This was a smart and clever performance of the winner, who, on being taken up, was found to have hit her knee so severely that it immediately began to swell. Camellia gained the run up a length in front of Belle o' Petteril, turned, served herself, and let in her opponent; a smartly run trial followed, Camellia, who injured her leg yesterday, tiring very much at the finish, and being easily beaten.—Second Ties: Right Idea had a considerable advantage by being inside, but before he could do anything with his hare Jane Ann crossed inside and turned; a couple of exchanges followed, when Mr Warwick's horse got in the way and Jane Ann was momentarily disappointed; after the black had scored two, Jane Ann came right round on the outside and turned, then, following the same tactics in the next stretch, as puss made for the railway she drew clear away and raced into her hare. In a very long slip to a traveller, Safrano, on the inside, was first to the hare, and keeping her place, Elzevir, who was dead lame, never had a chance to the fence. Prioress came away with a clear lead of three lengths from Belle o' the Village, and, bringing her hare round, led across a ditch; on reaching the opposite bank Mr Blackstock's bitch raced up, and put in several smart points so very cleverly, that had she succeeded in killing the course was hers; as the hare broke, the pair scored turn for turn until half-way down the meadow, when Prioress took the hare to herself, and did not again give her opponent a chance, ending the course with a grand kill. Bit o' Blue, in a long slip to a clinking hare, led two lengths, and scored the first and second turns; from this point to the railway, a considerable distance, the course was all one way, Belle o' Petteril, who ran exceedingly close and well, winning in the hollowest style possible.—Third Ties: A hare was driven on to grass for Jane Ann and Safrano; the pair were no sooner slipped than the hare began to run in favour of Jane Ann, who, having the inside as well, gained the turn; cleverly maintaining her position, she then dusted puss about a few times, and whipped her up. This was undoubtedly a clever win, but at the same time an unfortunate trial for the loser, as, had the hare kept straight, Safrano must have gained first turn. Prioress, evidently stiff from her previous severe course, was led and easily beaten by Belle o' Petteril, who won a short and on her part well-run course most decisively. The stake was then divided.

Netherby Cup.—First Ties: A rattling hare came away for Lancaster and Brightness; in a long and exciting struggle the latter gradually drew to the fore and turned, serving the black, who, after an exchange, again lost the lead, and Brightness, running both fast and cleverly, beat the Wigtownshire dog in the grandest style imaginable. Taking into account the many years Lord Binning's bitch has been before the public, it was a great feat of hers to beat Lancaster, a good winner both this and last season. Hare Gills showed slightly in front of Lisette until nearing the hare, when puss going to the latter, she turned; a scrambling exchange followed, and puss was chopped. This was a bad trial for the loser, Hare Gills. After a good struggle, Belle of Scotland drew away from Wild Charley, turned, served herself, and letting in the black, he could only use his hare once before the Belle again assumed the command; as the hare made for the corner of the field, Wild Charley ran dreadfully wide of his hare, and Belle of Scotland, handling puss very cleverly, scored several points in succession, and led from view. Mabel Smith had the foot of Spendthrift in the run up, but afterwards pursuing the same tactics as the loser in the previous course, Mr Lowrey's dog had no difficulty in beating his opponent most decisively. Edenside showed the pace on the outside, until puss went to Lochinvar, who turned, and, keeping his place, struck at his hare and tripped; after a couple of exchanges, Edenside shot out and just missed a wild dash to kill; this appeared to set him all abroad, as Lochinvar made a terrible example of him afterwards, putting him in and repeatedly running past him, the course terminating at Oak Bank stackyard. Crown Imperial for a short distance showed in front, but when fairly in their stride Royal Seal drew clear away and turned; a working course to covert followed, Royal Seal having the pace in the racing stretches, which pulled her through a clever winner. No Idea, who carried a small income, 2 to 1 being laid freely on her, to the consternation of her backers was soon playing second fiddle to Hearty Lass, who, in a nasty dodging trial, out-worked her, and won cleverly. Gownsmen had the foot of Flying Mist for first turn, and, afterwards handling his hare with equal cleverness, won a working course very meritoriously.—Second Tie: In a rattling race up Lisette drew out two lengths from Brightness, turned, kept her place, then went on for a short distance, wrenched, and fell; Brightness then began to be very busy; but, just as she was going to score a point, Lizette came swinging past and made a magnificent kill; this last point won her the course. Belle of Scotland came smartly away from slips, and in a short course to the railway beat Spendthrift most decisively. Royal Seal, in a beautiful run up, led Lochinvar two lengths, and, coming smartly round, scored the next point; the hare then broke for the river bank, and a good working course followed, Lochinvar at the close killing too soon, as at this stage of the course his opponent had only won by the run up. Hearty Lass, in a fine race up, was nearly a length faster than Gownsmen; the latter, in possession, then handled his hare so very cleverly that he never once gave his opponent a chance, the Newmarket dog ending a well-run course on his part with a fine kill.—Third Tie: Belle of Scotland, quickest from slips, was, after running a short distance, leading nearly a length, but on nearing the hare Lisette drew past, turned, and served herself; Belle of Scotland, in possession, then cut her throat by racing into her hare. Royal Seal came away with a clear lead from Gownsmen, and, increasing it at the turn, scored several strong driving points to the hedge; here, puss being brought half round, Gownsmen shot past inside, and the hare was chopped in the dyke.—Deciding Course: Lisette and Royal Seal were slipped across a stubble; the former showed in front for the first fifty yards; Royal Seal then gradually drew past, and was quite clear of her opponent, when puss went from her; Lisette then turned and killed: undecided. The stake was then divided, Mr Clark taking the Cup.

Mosstroopers' Plate.—Apology raced away two lengths from Walnut, and scored several strong points to commence with; running slack in the middle, the black had the best of the course, until Apology, coming again, made a tie of it. In their final spin Apology again showed the pace, and, a fast hare suiting him, he won cleverly. Contractor came away with a commanding lead from Baldoon, who got in towards the close of a working course, but the early points scored by Contractor pulled him through a clever winner. Joseph, going in good style, drew out several lengths from Lizzie Lindsay, who, in a smartly run trial, never had a chance with her opponent. Pendennis, in a beautiful stretch, raced away several lengths from Bismark, and for a considerable distance had much the best of the course; giving way on nearing the fence, Bismark got placed, and as puss broke back into the field he put in a succession of points one after another so very thickly, that the flat terminated in his favour. Another rattling hare came away for Lord Soulis and Bess; a magnificent struggle to the hare was just gained by the latter, who, inside, got the next turn, still keeping her position; Mr Cunningham's bitch ran up a succession of very fine points before giving Lord Soulis a chance; at last the latter got in, and afterwards, running the strongest of the two, he had about equalised the score, but on reaching the hedge refused; Bess going on with her hare scored several points in the next field, and won. Marionette soon showed in front from slips, and, bringing her hare round, for a considerable time she never once let Maggie Lauder next the hare; on nearing the hedge the latter got in for a few exchanges, and the pair going over the fence, Maggie Lauder came back in possession, and killed. The style in which Marionette ran this course, beating a clever bitch like Maggie Lauder, was quite a treat to witness. Corrie Lea and Princess Royal were started after a fast hare, to which the former led three lengths, and scored the first four points; Princess Royal then got in, turned, and wrenched, but puss whipping from her, Corrie Lea again went on with the lead, and bringing his hare round led through the fence. Belle of the Hall was a length faster than Worcester Sauce for the first turn, the latter scoring the next; the hare then broke, and Belle of the Hall, racing up well in front, kept close to the scut for a succession of fine points to the hedge, where Mr Warwick decided.—First Ties: In a long slip on the far side of the meadow, Apology showed in front for a considerable distance; but on nearing the hare Contractor drew past inside and turned; keeping his place, the latter cleverly out-worked Apology, who, although showing quite as much pace as his opponent, did not care to run on the line of his hare. Another clinking hare got up for Joseph and Bismark, to which the former drew out two lengths for first turn; a long heart-breaking course ensued, Joseph, who ran game as a pebble throughout, winning pretty well all one way. A hare was driven from fallow on to grass for Marionette and Bess; the former, quickest away from slips, soon drew clear of her opponent and turned; keeping her place for the two following points, a few exchanges ensued, and Marionette killed. Corrie Lea was a length faster than Belle of the Hall for first turn, but going wide, Mr Blackstock's bitch took possession, and never afterwards gave her opponent a chance in a short working course to the fence.—Second Ties: Joseph, as might be expected after the tying-up he got in his last course, was led two lengths by Contractor, who, serving his opponent, raced past for the next, and led through the hedge; after being out of sight for a few seconds, puss came back into the field, and each dog scored a point; Contractor then drove puss through the hedge, winning easily. Marionette and Belle of the Hall had a short undecided, the former showing a shade more pace than her opponent; an arrangement being come to, Marionette was drawn.—Deciding Course: A good hare came away for Belle of the Hall and Contractor, and the former, in a closely and well-contested trial, beat her opponent very cleverly. This brought this excellent meeting to a close, and a more enjoyable two days' coursing could not be wished for. There was a large number of coursers present from all parts of the country during the two days, and on the ground we noticed Sir F. Graham, Lord Binning, Hon. W. C. Ellis, Messrs R. Graham, E. Hambro, Martin Smith, W. J. M'Haffie, J. Fisher, D. Bateman, J. Ingleby, Walter Graham, M. Thompson, Fawkes, Stocker, B. B. Carruthers, Headley, H. Arnott, J. Irving, A. Foster, Brackenridge, W. Foster, J. Proudfoot, A. Johnstone, Dr Scott, Dr B. Irving, &c.

REMARKS.—So popular has the Border Union Meeting become, that Mr Tinning, the hon. secretary, cannot keep pace with the times, as, notwithstanding that only single nominations were granted this year, over forty applications had to be refused. Favoured with fine weather, there was nothing wanting but a good supply of hares to ensure a successful meeting; but in this we were rather disappointed, as too many have been shot off on the best portion of the coursing ground within the last few weeks, and the consequence was a scarcity of fur on the first day. A large meeting like this, where hares are driven, cannot well have too many, as the numbers that steal away uncoursed are always very great, as proved on the present occasion. The result was, that we had to leave our best ground for some small inclosures, and before the card was run through we had a succession of bad trials. I have no doubt this will be remedied another year, as Sir Frederick Graham was present on Tuesday, and would see for himself the desirability of having the hares thicker on the best ground. In reviewing the performance of the dogs engaged at the meeting I shall commence with the Tenants' Purse for puppies. Jane Ann, by Bonus out of Belle of Eamont, made her début at the Bothal meeting, where I had occasion to speak favourably of her. This is the third time she has appeared in public, having been successful on each occasion, and up to the present time she has won fourteen courses in public. On Tuesday evening Mr Watt sold Jane Ann, to be delivered after the meeting, to Mr C. E. Saunders. Her running weight is 52lb. Belle o' Petteril, own sister to her, I should fancy has not quite as much pace; she is, however, a grand worker, showing wonderful smartness at her turns. From the style in which these two clever bitches acquitted themselves, Bonus, their sire, is deserving of honourable mention, and I have noticed on different occasions several promising youngsters of his get. Safrano ran as well as anything at the meeting, and, had she met with a racing hare when put out, it is quite on the cards that Jane Ann might have reversed positions with her. I shall be very much mistaken if Safrano does not turn out a first-class greyhound. Prioress was greatly fancied by her party, and supported accordingly, but her running was a little in-and-out, and I was not at all surprised to see Belle o' Petteril beat her. Bright Idea showed plenty of pace, and there was no disgrace in being beaten by a clipper like Jane Ann. Lady Isabella I have now seen out twice, and there is no doubt Mr Hutton is possessed of a good and very clever greyhound; she wants, however, a shade more pace to make her A 1. Elzevir ran under great disadvantage, being lame when opposed to Safrano. From the grand course he ran with Cashier—who, it struck me, went at a great pace—I shall expect Mr Ellis's dog to show prominently on his next appearance in public. Belle o' the Village, one of the formidable Hayton Castle kennel, is just now having plenty of exercise; for it was only on Dec. 21 she divided a stake at Hordley and Bagley with Hearty Lass. Considering that this bitch was very hard run at the last-named meeting, her performance here was a good one. Cashier is a big striding dog, who has a very fine turn of speed; he ran much steadier in his second than in his first course, and, if kept quiet until more furnished, he will, I fancy, next season prove himself a good greyhound. Bit o' Blue was one of the unlucky division, as she got badly lamed in her course with Rosebud. This bitch ran in good style, and although defeated she was not disgraced. Camella, another lame one, got an ugly rap on her knee, which must have materially affected her chance. Fleuron I saw make his debut at Sundorne, where he won two courses, and was beaten by Symphony in a scrambling trial, both dogs falling into the canal. Fleuron appeared to show good pace when opposed to Prioress, and it was wise to draw him after the long course the two had. Zarah went well his first course. In running my eye down those that were put out in the first round, I may observe that Modesty was vanquished so easily by Safrano that I can hardly believe it was her true form; her defeat caused a hatful of money to change hands. Initials must have disappointed his owner, as Rosebud beat him very easily. I have now said all that is necessary about the youngsters, who, taking them in a lot, are as good as any I have seen out this season. In the Cup, three of last years' Waterloo representatives were entered, viz., Flying Mist, Belle of Scotland, and Royal Seal. The betting on this stake was heavy, and Flying Mist, winner of the Tenants' Purse last year, was quickly made a warm favourite, the backers tiring out the layers at 9 to 1. Lancaster was the next in demand at 10 to 1, and, strange to say, both favourites, after being nearly put out the first round, went down in the next. With regard to the running, Royal Seal made such an example of Clown that she was afterwards backed to win the stake at 5 to 1; after beating Crown Imperial she met an awkward customer in Lochinvar, who very nearly effected her overthrow. Had the deciding course been run off, I think, from the pace shown by Royal Seal, she would have won. Mr Clark received the cup. Lisette, who divided with the last-named, has won a great number of courses in public, and only suffered defeat on two or three occasions. Mr Temple's bitch showed good pace in each course, and was fully deserving of her forward position. Belle of Scotland had a short bad trial when put out, and it is quite time Mr Blackstock gave her a little rest, as she must be getting stale from the hard running she has had this season. Gownsmen's defeat of the favourite, Flying Mist, was a sore blow to her backers, but this bitch must have lost her pace, as Gownsmen, although a grand worker, was never a flyer. Old Brightness, when opposed to Blooming Maid, ran quite in her puppy form, and her running with Lancaster shows there is plenty of pace and cleverness left in her yet. Lord Binning's bitch made a good fight of it with Lisette, who had the foot of her. Hare Gills, I thought, ran a beautiful course with Mexican Ranger, and when put out by Lisette it was a scrambling affair. Wild Charley, according to his owner's account, was going to walk through the stake; but he ran slack and bad in his course with Belle of Scotland, who beat him handsomely. Crown Imperial stuck well to Royal Seal in his course; but the black had too much for him. Mabel Smith showed good speed, but turned dreadfully wide in his course with Spendthrift. The latter bitch ran well, but unfortunately fell lame after running her first course. Lochinvar upset a great pot on Edenside, and was very near repeating the dose with Royal Seal. This dog ran his course very well. The two puppies No Idea and Harty Lass were very evenly matched; the former, however, would, I think, win with a good hare. Fusilier showed plenty of pace, and it took Belle of Scotland all her time to beat him. Michael, brought forward in grand trim by Archie Coke, ran a very unlucky dog, as he was beaten more by the hare than by his opponent, Wild Charley. Fanatic ran a very closely and well ran course with Spendthrift. If I mention that Yellow Boy was within an ace of upsetting the two to one laid freely on Flying Mist, I have gone through the cup dogs. The Moostroopers' Stake was won by one of Mr Blackstock's formidable kennel, Belle of the Hall having a near squeak with Marionette. The latter bitch is running in her very best style, and she will take some beating on her next appearance in public. Joseph, I think, will turn out a useful greyhound, and the same may be said of Contractor. Mr Husbands, the head keeper, discharged his duties in the field with his usual ability, and the stewards, assisted by Messrs Gibbons and Tinning, left nothing to be desired in their respective departments. Mr Warwick never got through a meeting better, and Raper was quite up to his best form during the two days. ROBIN HOOD.

On arriving at the Imperial Hotel, Cork, at eight o'clock on Tuesday morning, the first sounds that greeted my ears, proceeding from the large coffee room, were the well-known words of the National Anthem. Rather strange words these, I thought, in a city where, at the present time, loyalty to the Sovereign is said to be a scarce commodity, and where forcibly carrying off revolvers from gunsmiths' shops, plundering gunpowder stores, and threatening to blow up military barracks, &c., appear to be the order of the day.

However, coursers as a body, no matter what their political proclivities may be, always receive the "Queen's health" with that enthusiasm and respect which the toast so eminently deserves; and, although disaffection may exist in the county of Cork, the coursers, at all events, of that beautiful and sporting county have shown themselves the same loyal body as heretofore. But I am digressing.

The Coole meeting, next to Lurgan, is considered the most important in Ireland, as regards the quality of the dogs that usually put in an appearance to compete, and the class of sport provided, coupled with the management; which latter, I may add, reflects the highest credit on Mr George F. Wise and those associated with him in carrying out the details of the meeting.

The committee this year decided on adding to the programme a sixteen-dog stake for greyhounds beaten in the first round of the Cup, which arrangement seemed to give general satisfaction to the subscribers, so that in future it is likely to remain a fixture. Game was most abundant, and when I state that the preserve is a small one, and situated close to a large and populous city, the difficulties with which Mr Wise has had to contend in keeping up the stock of hares will become at once apparent. That his efforts have been crowned with success, the éclat with which the meeting just concluded passed off sufficiently proves; and that his liberality in keeping up such a fine preserve solely at his own expense is estimated at its proper value by his brother coursers and the general public was clearly shown at the termination of the sport on Thursday, by the cheers and congratulations with which Mr Wise's victory was received.

The draw took place on Tuesday, at three o'clock, at the Imperial Hotel, and the dinner party in the evening numbered about sixty, the chair being occupied by W. H. Massy, Esq., and the vice by the worthy secretary, "the Major." Amongst those present were Messrs Wise, Galway, Payne, Puttam, Swinburne, Neville, Alexander, Taylor, Devlin, Drinan, Burgly, Low, G. Fitzmaurice, Sandes, Fitzgerald, Mahony, Harvey, Russell, Fosberry, M'Swiny, Duggan, Harris, Goulding, Dr Fitzmaurice, &c.

The reading of the card produced a good deal of speculation, although not of so heavy a nature as I have seen here on former occasions. The following is a list of the prices laid:

(off), 15 to 1 agst Wee Bob (t), 20 to 1 agst Lifeboat (off), 20 to 1 agst M.P. (t). Several appropriate songs, tastefully sung by some of the local gentlemen present, brought the evening's proceedings to a close, and the company separated about eleven o'clock, the place of meeting being fixed at Mr Wise's farm house at ten o'clock on the following morning.

The Owp.—Soon after the appointed time Skewball and Colleen Bawn were placed in slips, and a hare being quickly driven out of the furze brake, the Colleen, on outside ground, obtained first turn two lengths in front, and, keeping her place, scored the next three points before allowing the dog in; Skewball then wrenched twice, when puss crossed a ditch; a good deal of work followed out of my sight; decision in favour of Colleen Bawn. Rosy and Lady Beatrice: the latter took a long lead from slips, and turned twice; Rosy, getting the following turn and going on again, had almost reached her hare, when Lady Beatrice raced past on the outside, but puss going from her, Rosy again scored; an opening now presenting itself, Lady Beatrice rushed in, and, knocking her hare about a few times, won an average trial easily. No. 1 raced away four good lengths for first turn, and, serving herself, placed the next to her credit; an exchange took place, when No. 1 went to the front, and won an average trial easily enough. Ruthene led from slips, but was passed in the run-up by Colleen Dhuv, who placed the first two turns to her credit; then, putting the hare to Ruthene, the latter wrenched strongly twice, and, making a drive to kill, sent the hare to the black, who turned, and Ruthene killed. Gorsoon was a couple of lengths faster for first turn than Will Forgive, and, coming quickly round, made the next three points before letting in his opponent, who, in a good course, was both outpaced and outworked by the fawn, the latter having a good balance in hand at the end. Lady Minnie showed first from slips, but had not gone far when No. 2 raced past and turned, putting the hare to the black, who quickly sent it back again; then, cutting in behind No. 2, again got placed, and monopolised all the strong points of a good trial to covert; the red, who appeared to tire, only coming in for a point or two of little merit before the hare escaped. The Lubber, from three to four lengths faster than Flirtation, obtained first turn, and coming smartly round again, got placed, and made the next three points to a ditch, where the hare was killed. Lady Meta, from six to eight lengths faster than Tantalus, turned twice, and, making a drive to kill, furred her hare, when Tantalus, getting in, turned, and putting the hare to the bitch, she wrenched twice and killed: a very clever performance. Mallet, a couple of lengths faster than Maximilian, raced into a weak hare, the blue and white never getting a chance. Blue Eye and What's the Odds had two undecideds, in both of which the dog showed the pace, and the bitch the cleverness; in the deciding spin Blue Eye again led over a ditch, and I lost sight. What's the Tip, a couple of lengths faster than her opponent, led over a fence to a rattling hare; on appearing again, What's the Tip was still in possession, and, knocking her hare about a few times, won easily. Castle Dee, whilst the hare went straight, was a couple of lengths faster than My Cat, but puss bending to the latter, she got first turn, after which they left my view, a long course ending in favour of My Cat. Abbeyfeale showed first from slips, but was passed in the run up by Frank, who, in an average course, ran much the stouter, the bitch seeming to tire. Mountain Chief, half a dozen lengths faster than Diamond, scored three times before allowing the latter in. A very long course followed, in which Mountain Chief, working fearfully wide, was easily beaten. Wee Bob, on outside ground, raced round Charles I., and effected a brilliant kill: short and sweet. Lifeboat raced away half a dozen lengths for first turn, and scored the next two before M. P. got placed; the latter, however, in a long course, completely outworked Sir Capel Molyneux's dog, who, although exhibiting fine pace, seemed unable to come round from his turns.—First Ties: Colleen Bawn and Lady Beatrice: the former on the inside led to a ditch, and puss, falling in going over, was chopped between them: undecided. Next time of asking Lady Beatrice appeared first from slips, but was passed by the white, who before reaching the hare was again deprived of the lead, Lady Beatrice obtaining first and second turns; a number of exchanges very evenly balanced ensued, when Lady Beatrice shot to the front, and won a good trial with not much to spare: this was one of the best contested courses of the meeting, there being not much to choose between the two bitches for pace. No. 1 was much faster than Colleen Dhuv, and scored the first three points, when the latter, getting possession near the crowd, quickly equalised matters, and going on in possession wrenched once; a second hare now starting, they separated, and the judge immediately decided in favour of the black. This was an unfortunate trial for the loser, as her superior pace must have carried her through, had not the hare kept continually going from her. The greater part of the following course between Gorsoon and Lady Minnie I was prevented seeing; what I did see was in favour of the black. Lady Meta and The Lubber had a long and very closely contested undecided, the former being much the faster, and The Lubber the closer worker. When slipped again, Lady Meta led, and brought her hare round three lengths in front, after which The Lubber got placed, and completely outworked her, in an average trial, to covert. What's the Odds was a couple of lengths faster than Mallet, but the hare coming right round to the latter, he got first turn, and, being much the fresher, he won a good trial. What's the Odds evidently feeling the effects of her undecideds in the previous round. What's the Tip went to the front five lengths in advance for first turn, and, keeping selfish possession of her hare throughout a good course, never once allowed her opponent to score in my sight. Frank, immediately on leaving slips, appeared a couple of lengths in advance, then increasing his lead as he went on, brought the hare round half a dozen lengths ahead, and serving himself, made the three following points, after which I saw no more, but understand the course was never once in doubt, Frank winning easily. Wee Bob, running with great fire, took a long lead from slips and brought puss half round, then steadying himself he wrenched slightly and killed: an exceedingly smart performance, and one, too, which I thought at the time must materially assist in carrying him through a winner, for, whilst the other dogs left in hand had good average courses, he had run little over two hundred yards, making mincemeat of his opponents in each instance. We now commenced with the first round of the Consolation Stakes.—Skewball, quickest from slips, obtained first turn, Rosy the next, the blue and white leading to covert. Adare was faster than Ruthene, but the hare favouring the latter, she got first turn, and, running remarkably clever and close, never allowed the black to score in a short trial. Will Forgive, the hare bending to him, had first turn, and afterwards, in a moderate trial, easily beat No. 2. Flirtation was faster than Tantalus, and in a long trial easily beat him. Maximilian led Blue Eye, who rushed very much, and got well beaten in a good trial. Slipaway and Castle Dee had two long undecideds, the latter the faster; but Slipaway, sticking to the scout of her hare in the deciding spin, won with a good deal to spare. Abbey-feale was much too close a worker for Mountain Chief, who seems to have lost all form. Lifeboat's superior pace carried him through with Charles I.

This course brought to a conclusion one of the best days' coursing I have seen this season. The weather was delightfully fine, and the hares running remarkably stoutly, the result was a succession of good trials. Considering the nearness of the ground to the city of Cork, the attendance, as might be expected, was very numerous, and I must say, for such a large crowd, they behaved themselves admirably. Occasionally, on the victory or defeat of a favourite, there was some slight disorder, but this was soon remedied by the intervention of the field stewards. In the evening a party of about thirty dined together at the Imperial Hotel, under the presidency of W. H. Massy, Esq. The reading of the card produced a good deal of speculation at the following prices:—Cup: Individual Courses—Even on Lady Beatrice v. Colleen Dhuv, 3 to 2 on The Lubber v. Gorsoon, 2 to 1 on What's the Tip v. Mallet, and 2 to 1 on Wee Bob v. Frank (off).—Event: 6 to 1 agst Lady Beatrice (t), 6 to 1 agst The Lubber (t), 5 to 1 agst What's the Tip (t), 3 to 1 agst Wee Bob (t). Consolation Stakes.—Evens on Skewball v. Ruthene, 3 to 2 on Flirtation v. Will Forgive, evens on Maximilian v. Slipaway (afterwards 30 to 20 on Maximilian), evens on Abbeyfeale v. Lifeboat.

We commenced on Thursday morning at half-past ten o'clock, about a mile nearer to the city of Cork than on the previous day. On leaving Cork the morning looked charming, and everything gave promise of a most enjoyable day. But on arriving at the place of meet the sky became suddenly overcast, and matters for a time bore a very threatening aspect; but after a few drops of rain had fallen it cleared up, and continued beautifully fine throughout the entire day.

Cup.—Second Tie: Lady Beatrice and Colleen Dhuv being placed in slips, a hare was quickly driven from plough on to pasture, and a good slip effected; Lady Beatrice, half a dozen lengths the fastest, placed the first two turns to her credit, when Colleen Dhuv, getting possession, and working very close, soon equalised the score, and looked like winning; but Lady Beatrice, on the outside, raced past, and the hare going from her Colleen Dhuv again got placed, wrenched, and killed; undecided. When next slipped Lady Beatrice went away half a dozen lengths in advance, turned, and, keeping well over her hare, wrenched and killed, never giving her opponent an opening. Mallet, I thought, had the heels of What's the Tip when they crossed a ditch out of my sight, and a long course followed, the latter gaining the flat. Frank and Wee Bob: the latter, going a cracker from slips, raced away from six to eight lengths in advance for first turn, and, making a rush, tried to repeat his previous performances; but puss, by a dexterous move, just escaped, and a smart course followed, in which Frank was of little assistance to Mr Wise's dog, who ran with great fire, and left off the easiest of winners.—Third Tie: Lady Beatrice and What's the Tip were slipped at a rattling hare, which the former reached four lengths in front, and turned, placing What's the Tip, who wrenched pussy twice to a ditch; Lady Beatrice, getting best over, used her hare three or four times, and looked all over a winner, but the red again getting possession, and the hare living long enough, she won with plenty to spare, the black not being able to make an effort towards the end. Wee Bob immediately on leaving slips showed in front a couple of lengths, but before he had gone far The Lubber reduced the distance to a bare half length, and seemed as if he was about to deprive Mr Wise's dog of the lead; the latter, however, on nearing the hare shot out two lengths ahead, turned, and, coming smartly round, wrenched and killed. This course was run amidst the greatest possible excitement, which was increased tenfold as The Lubber was seen to collar (for a moment only) the local crack, who certainly has proved himself, over this land at all events, invincible. Mr Wise having two left in, the stake was divided.

Consolation Stakes.—First Tie: Skewball and Ruthene: the latter led from slips, but, nearing the hare, Skewball drew past and turned twice, when Ruthene getting possession, and running extremely close and clever, never afterwards allowed the blue and white a point in a good course. Flirtation reached her hare about a length in advance of Will Forgive, and made first four points, when the latter, getting possession, knocked puss off her legs, but failing to hold her, a long course followed in favour of Flirtation. Slipaway was about a length faster than Maximilian, and wrenching her hare three or four times, won an average trial; Mr Massy's dog appearing to be quite out of form—indeed, I believe he had not been more than a fortnight over distemper. Lifeboat, a couple of lengths faster than Abbeyfeale, turned twice, but, working fearfully wide, the latter had well won, when the hare got on to some plough, and the holding ground suiting Lifeboat, he won a long trial with plenty to spare.—Second Ties: Flirtation showed first from slips, but was passed by Ruthene, who obtained first turn, and won a fair average trial with great ease, being much more clever than her opponent. Lifeboat led from eight to ten lengths, but was completely outworked by Slipaway, who, getting badly hurt, was drawn, and Ruthene declared the winner.

REMARKS.—From the foregoing it will be gathered that the present meeting fully sustained the reputation of former reunions held over this now celebrated coursing ground. The greyhounds engaged, taking them as a lot, were, in my opinion, decidedly below the standard of former years, as amongst the puppies entered What's the Tip and Gorsoon were the only two that had previously distinguished themselves, while of the aged dogs there were not over half a dozen who had at any time shown anything approaching first-class form. What's the Tip, the joint winner, is a first season bitch, by Romance out of Wanton, weighing about 54lb. She has been out twice this season—first at Lurgan, where she ran up to Master M'Grath for the Visitors' Cup, being put out in one of the worst trials of the whole meeting, and many good judges at the time maintaining that had she had a good trial, she would have beaten Lord Lurgan's dog. However, with this opinion I do not coincide, as Master M'Grath is unquestionably her superior in pace, and quite as clever. She won all her courses at this meeting by sheer gameness, but did not strike me as having that pace so essential in order to pull through a first-class company. Wee Bob, kennel companion, and joint winner with What's the Tip, is a third-season dog, by Sea Foam out of Wanton, weighing not more, I should think, than 52lb. or 53lb. He commenced his career in November, 1865, by winning the Limerick St. Leger; ran for the Waterloo Cup the following February, and was put out in his second course by Meg, since which he has run with varying success; his best performance being at this same meeting last year, when he placed the Coole Cup to Mr Wise's credit—running through the stake, as on the present occasion, I may say, unchallenged. He is possessed of quite first-class pace, but whether he has the other very necessary quality, namely, stoutness, I had no opportunity of judging, as it is rather singular that this year, as well as last, each of his courses (with the exception of one with Frank, already alluded to) consisted of a run-up, a turn or two, and a kill. This is all the more strange, as the hares at Coole are proverbially stout, a weak one being the exception. Wee Bob will most probably represent Mr Wise's nomination for the forthcoming Waterloo, as I apprehend, when put through the mill with What's the Tip, he will be found the best. The Lubber ran very creditably indeed at this meeting, and, had the hare lived when he met Wee Bob, it would have taken the latter all his time to defeat the blue, who is a thoroughly game 'un, and a rare worker. Mr Neville might "go further and fare worse" in seeking for a representative for his Waterloo nomination. Lady Beatrice, in her second course, met and defeated probably one of the best greyhounds at the meeting in Colleen Bawn. It was really a treat to see these two good bitches struggling for the first turn. In her third course Lady Beatrice also defeated a good greyhound in Colleen Dhuv, and had she not met a rare hare in her course with What's the Tip, she would without doubt have won, as she was considerably faster than the latter during the earlier part of the course. Lady Meta ran very fast in her first course, but The Lubber, getting a hare to suit him, completely outworked her, although she was from three to four lengths the faster. I do not think any of the other dogs engaged deserving of special mention. Mrs Wise was on the field both days in her carriage, dispensing her hospitality with no sparing hand. Indeed, on no coursing field in Ireland is the same amount of attention paid to visitors as at Coole, and when one is asked to partake of Mrs Wise's hospitality, he is made to feel that he is welcome. Mr Westropp, whose health I was glad to see so much improved, judged the meeting in his old style, and gave the most unbounded satisfaction. So close was he to his dogs in every course during the two days that he could not have missed a point made, whilst his judgment as to the merits of two greyhounds I believe to be second to that of no man living. Wilson, too, under adverse circumstances (he was suffering from a very severe cold) performed his part to the complete satisfaction of all interested; and last, but not least, the worthy and obliging hon. secretary was at his post on both days, ever ready to do anything and everything in his power that would tend to promote the success of the meeting. HIBERNIA.

THIS meeting was held on the estate of Lord Ebury at Moor Park, and, unlike many meetings, did not suffer, apparently, in any degree from having been postponed in consequence of frost. The meet was at the farm of Mr Hollingworth, who had a welcome for all, and the brightness of the morning and subsequent fineness of the day rendered the coursing very enjoyable. We commenced punctually at 9.30 with the Grosvener Cup.—Sunbeam had a slight lead through the hare favouring him, when they went through the fence and out of sight. Soapy Sam led some three lengths to the hare, going through the same fences as the previous course, they ran the remainder out of sight of all but the judge, who informed me that Soapy Sam well won. Trounce IV., in a short spin, easily disposed of Cheerful Charley. Mystery, in a short scrambling course, beat Gipsy, finishing with a kill of merit. Wild Weed was both a little too fast and too clever for Satinet; but this course was run principally out of sight of all but the judge. Captain led two lengths to a good hare, and using her two or three times, put her to Counsellor; the hare making for the same home as the former ones, I did not see more of the course. Leonard led up and turned, putting the fawn in possession, who could not keep it; Leonard raced past, wrenched, and killed. Nimble outpaced and outworked Frivolous Idea, and well won an average trial.—First Ties: Soapy Sam led up two lengths and scored points rapidly; but Sunbeam getting well placed, and running with great fire, kept possession, and ran up a long score; Sam again got in, and was doing some clever work; the hare, a regular traveller, breaking away for home, Sunbeam went away from Sam and well won a punishing course. Mystery led Trounce IV. about a length, but got slightly thrown out at the hedge; Trounce busy for a turn or two, but Mystery, again getting in, made a fine kill and well won. Wild Weed and Captain ran an undecided entirely out of my sight; when again put together Wild Weed led about a length to a racing hare, and both did some good work; but the bitch won with something to spare. Nimble, though upon very heavy ground, led Leonard, and, scarcely allowing him a point, won with lots in hand.—Third Ties: Sunbeam and Mystery—this course was run entirely out of my sight, and some who saw it thought it should have been an undecided; the flat was, however, given to Sunbeam. Nimble, upon turf, led Wild Weed two lengths to a moderate hare, and turned to Wild Weed, who killed: undecided. When again together, Nimble won decisively. I did not see either of these courses, and the above description was given to me by a gentleman who was better placed.—Deciding Course: 3 to 2 on Nimble. A hare was found on fallow, which much favoured Sunbeam, who led up by three lengths, and made a clever kill, decisively winning a short and unsatisfactory trial.

Puppy Stakes.—Little Nell was too fast for Shybell, leading her three or four lengths, putting in some good work, and well winning. Sultan had a slight lead of Warlock to the hedge, where he stuck in attempting to mouse, and was never again in the course. Spider beat Defiance at close work, though the latter has the speed. Esau, in a good slip to a racing hare, led Deceiver any number of lengths, but, unfortunately getting hung up in the fence, Deceiver had only to go in and win; a most unfortunate trial for the owner of Esau, as I should think it was any odds on him.—First Ties: Little Nell went very stiff from slips, and it was evident at once that, from some cause or other, she had lost her form, and Warlock, running well, won a long trial.—Deciding Course: Deceiver led Warlock, put in some very pretty work, and won with something to spare.

Bracelet.—Harmony led Stella two lengths to the hedge, and getting stuck in the mouse, Stella got away one hundred yards, turned, and killed; a very unsatisfactory affair. Sweetheart and War Queen: after a no-course the pair got well away, and, racing neck and neck for first turn, which the Queen obtained by favour, Sweetheart could not get placed; the hare would not have her, and continually and vexatiously serving the Queen, she won a long trial. Summer Rose led Meggy two lengths, and bringing puss round, raced past for second turn, and appeared to be winning easily; Moggy, however, getting placed, kept possession, and scored a succession of wrenches, winning a long trial with very little in hand. Honour Bright and Czarina racing away together, Czarina appeared to get first turn from the hare bending to her, and still serving her; Honour Bright, then setting to work in an unmistakable way, put on some pretty work on outside ground, and well won, both being thrown out at the hedge.—First Ties: Stella ran away from War Queen, and ran up a number of good points, when the hare got to the wood. Honour Bright led Moggy fifty yards, and, knocking her game about in a magnificent manner, finished with a splendid kill; Moggy never in: the finest performance of the day.—Deciding Course: Honour Bright led up on outside ground for first turn, putting puss to Stella, who scored a point; Honour, however, going in the same style she had in her previous course, ran round Stella, and scoring rapidly, won with many points in hand.

REMARKS.—It is much to be regretted that this club does not make its appointments more public, as, being so near town, it would in a great measure fill the void caused by the expulsion of the clubs from the Home Park, so far as the coursing-loving public are concerned; but I presume they have very cogent reasons for not doing so. The ground, as might be expected, was very heavy, and all in favour of the big dogs. Some very clever greyhounds put in an appearance on this occasion. The Cup winner, Sunbeam, is a very handsome, racing-like blue dog, by Brewer out of Curfew Bell. He is moderately fast, a splendid worker, and very lasting. Some said his course with Mystery should have been run again; but, from what I heard from a reliable source (not being placed to see it myself), I think the judgment correct. Defiance, the winner of the Puppy Stakes, is a moderate animal, and would have stood no earthly chance with Esau had the latter not got hung in the fence. The winner of the Bracelet, Honour Bright, is own sister to the Cup winner, Sunbeam; she is a very muscular and powerful bitch for a little one; and the way in which she disposed of her antagonists, especially Moggy, should be a caution to owners about meeting her, as I think upon turf she is quite first-class. She is the property of the secretary, and the pleasure expressed by everyone present at the result of Mrs Hailey winning the first bracelet spoke volumes for their popularity. Mystery, Nimble, Little Nell, and Esau struck me as being worthy of special mention. Mr Copeland was most unfortunate in Esau's trial, and also in Little Nell going amiss. The meeting was well managed, hares plentiful, and general satisfaction given by Mr Thomas, excepting as before mentioned. R.

THE weather in the north on the Saturday previous was so severe that there appeared every probability of a repetition of last year's ill fortune, when the January meeting had to be put back until March 14. Sunday, however, saw a great change, and by Monday afternoon all frost and snow had disappeared from the ground. On Tuesday afternoon the club members met, and, in the absence of the Earl of Sefton, T. D. Hornby, Esq., took the chair. The only business done was the adoption of Mr J. Johnstone's proposition, that when brothers, not confederates, are members of the club, their dogs shall be guarded in the first round of each stake, excepting where it interferes with a natural bye. After the meeting the draw took place. The Club was never in a more flourishing condition, and for the first time the Members' Cup has a piece of plate value £100, in place of one value £50, as in previous years. This cup secured an entry of 42, and the Croxteth Stakes for maidens 36 entries. The following are the conditions of the last named stake: "A maiden stake for dogs that have never won a stake in public (except sapling stakes, or stakes of not more than four dogs for beaten dogs only), or divided or run up for a stake of sixteen or more dogs. But a division is not to disqualify a dog unless he shall have won at least three courses, inclusive of byes, in the stake divided." T. D. Hornby, Esq., presided at the dinner in the evening; Jas. Johnstone, Esq., in the vice-chair.

WEDNESDAY.—A fine morning brought together a good company, and, with the exception of a heavy shower that fell before commencing operations, the weather was of a most enjoyable description. We commenced on the usual ground at North-end, where we ran several average trials. The Big Marsh being nearly all under plough, the beat continued on the left-hand side of North-end, where hares were pretty thick; but, as they lay very tickle, our progress was slow. After working down to the Alt Bridge, the venue was changed to Church House meadows, where the day's sport finished shortly after four o'clock. The trials during the day were far below the average, hares running weak, and anything but straight.

Members' Cup.—Justitia soon showed in advance, but, hesitating on reaching the drain, Belted Knight went on with a commanding lead and turned; Justitia, who had rapidly made up her lost ground, scored the next point, and, cleverly keeping her place, turned and served her opponent; a long and distressing trial followed, well and stoutly contested by both, Justitia (always the faster) winning very cleverly. Just Coming, after momentarily showing in front, was passed by Ronald; but, the latter slackening at the drain, Mr Jones's bitch regained the lead, and, reaching her hare a length and a half in advance, turned and served herself; a stretch followed, in which Just Coming showed in front, but, missing a good attempt to kill, Ronald raced up well, turned, and put out his chance by a good kill. Gabrielle and Vanity had a long wild slip, and two or three hares being on foot, the pair separated, Vanity getting off much easier than her opponent. Next time Vanity went away with a very strong lead from Gabrielle, and, coming round, increased it to a dozen lengths, and killed. Squib, was showing in front of Blue Lady, but the hare continually bending from him, the blue gained the turn, Squib the next point; as puss attempted to break away Mr Brundrit's bitch shot up inside, then, handling a short-running hare in grand style, outworked Lord Sefton's dog and killed: this was an unfortunate trial for the Croxteth dog, as the hare would never have him. Jolly Lark and Binocular ran a short and very justly given undecided, the former, who ran very unlucky at the commencement, making a tie of it by racing past and killing. Next time Jolly Lark was quickest on his legs, but puss going from him, Binocular gained the turn by favour, and then, coming smartly round, went up and scored the next; still holding possession, Mr Blanshard's dog scored thrice more before resigning the lead to Jolly Lark; the latter no sooner got well placed than he began to dust puss about in such grand style that on the hare ditching the points were equal; the hare breaking away again, some dodging work took place, turn and turn about being the order of the day until the cap came off. Their third essay met with no better success, Raper giving the pair a fearfully long slip to a fast hare, and as neither reached her, Binocular showing in advance by favour, Mr Warwick was bound to take off his cap. An arrangement was then made for Mr Jones's dog to stand in. The last two undecideds were run after we crossed the road. The Great Marsh, owing to nearly the whole of it being under plough, was not driven, and the beat was continued down to the Alt Bridge, fourteen courses being run off this portion of the estate. In a long slip towards the bank Master Stowell and Jesuitess ran very evenly together until nearing the drain, where the black slackened, and Master Stowell, taking it in his stride, turned; Jesuitess, in possession, then used her hare twice, and led over the bank, receiving the award: an unsatisfactory trial for the loser. Red Tape made a terrible example of Master Nathaniel, who never had a chance with Mr Randell's dog in a long working trial. A precisely similar course, run under the river bank, followed between Midlothian and Fabius, the former leading and winning all one way. Anchor, quickest from slips, showed in advance, and was soon leading two lengths, but on nearing the drain Rollo drew up, puss then bent to the left, and Anchor, best placed, turned and served himself; Rollo then shot up inside and killed: a wretched trial for the loser. After a fine race, No. 5 drew out a length, and bringing puss round, scored the first five points; Laurel, well placed, quickly ran up three, after which the pair ran a very even and well-contested course, Mr Booth's bitch always having her early score to the good, and at the close she put in a couple of wrenches, and knocked puss off her legs; here it appeared as if the course was over, but puss regaining her feet, she stood dusting about a few times, the black still the best, until the death took place. Charming May reached her hare a clear length in front, and wrenched twice; then stumbling on to her head, Belmontine drew in front, wrenched, and killed: undecided. Next time, Charming May led a couple of lengths, turned, and got thrown out; Belmontine then went on, wrenched, and killed, the cap coming off a second time. In their third and final slip, Belmontine led on the inside to the ditch, where for a second the pair were lost to view; on coming in sight, Charming May held possession, and, handling puss in good style, scored four or five strong points, and whipped up her hare. Master Hearn led up outside, but puss bending to the right, Blue Line got the turn; the latter, in possession, then kept close to the scut, and wrenching strongly thrice, killed; Mr Warwick, making allowance for the hare going from Master Hearn, took off his cap. In their next slip Blue Line showed in front two lengths, but overshot himself at the turn; Master Hearn wrenched strongly, and sent puss back to Mr Borron's dog, who, taking command, afterwards won easily to covert. After a no course, in which the hare reached a sough before being turned, Bel Demonio went away very slow from slips, and Leda, obtaining a commanding lead, won pretty well all one way; in this course Mr Borron's dog, from some unaccountable cause, appeared unable to make an effort. Master Ivo gradually drew away inside three lengths for first turn, serving Symphony, who immediately scored the next; keeping her place, she was going on with the lead, when a stumble put out her chance; the Irish dog immediately shot to the front, scored smartly twice, and swerving puss to Symphony, the latter annihilated her chance by a cross kill: this course, although run on fallow, showed Master Ivo to be a clever greyhound. Gelachossa, getting quickest away from slips, soon showed in advance of Saturn, and, leading round some potato mounds, Lord Sefton's dog got thrown out an immense distance; after a time he joined in, but a short working course ended in favour of Mr Gilmour's bitch, who killed. Sea Sail went away with a strong lead from Vincennes, and turned; the latter then rushed to the front, and swerved puss at the road; here a gate caused the black to be thrown out, and Sea Sail, going on with a commanding lead, won easily. After a good race Jolly Green drew away two lengths, and coming smartly round, cleverly kept his place for the first three turns; Lumpy then scored twice, when an exchange followed, and Capt. Jebb's bitch put out whatever chance she might have possessed, by killing. Thalberg, going in his very best form, raced away three lengths for first turn, serving Rash Attempt, whom he instantly deprived of the lead, and scored a second time; a working course followed to the Vicarage covert, greatly in favour of Thalberg, who, when the hare escaped, had a good balance in hand. Morning Cloud, running the outer circle, showed in front nearly two lengths of Friar Tuck, until puss went right from him, letting in Mr Johnstone's dog, who stuck so closely to a short-running hare that he had a good score in his favour before the fawn could get an opening; the latter then destroyed his chance by whipping up his hare. Wolsey drew away several lengths from Black Topsy for the turn, then, keeping his place, wrenched and let in his opponent; as the hare made down the furrow Black Topsy went on in command, and, wrenching strongly several times, drove puss into the drain. There was some demur at the decision, but, as the black was greatly favoured by being in the furrow, the pace shown by Wolsey in the run up justly entitled him to the fiat. In a fair race Cock Robin drew away three lengths from Batavia, and knocked puss off her legs. The poor figure Mr Brocklebank's bitch cut in the run up, shows Batavia's day is past.—First Tie: In a long slip to a clinking hare Justitia gradually left Just Coming in the rear, and, from where I stood on the road, appeared to turn several lengths in front; the hare then broke away, and Mr Jones's bitch, going to the front, scored four; a long and severe course followed, stoutly and well run by both, Just Coming leaving off a clever winner with a race past and kill. Considering the punishing course Justitia had with Belted Knight, it was a great performance of Mr Johnstone's bitch. Blue Lady raced up three lengths in front of Vanity, turned, and served the latter, who kept in front until she killed: undecided. Next time Blue Lady led four lengths, turned, and served Vanity, who, as in the previous course, was very clever, and again caused the cap to come off. The third attempt saw Blue Lady again in front, and Vanity falling head over heels in the run up. Mr Brundrit's bitch won very easily, she ending the course with a flying kill at the mouth of the sough. In a long slip Jesuitess ran clean away from Jolly Lark to the hare, and, bringing her round, wrenched twice, turned, and put puss to Jolly Lark; the latter, apparently but little the worse for his three no-goes, scored three or four points in succession; exchanges followed, still in favour of Mr Jones's dog, who kept taking the inside each time the hare broke, and this cleverness on his part eventually pulled him through a winner, although from the road the course appeared in favour of the black. Midlothian, in a fine stretch, was a good two lengths faster than Red Tape, and having too much pace at the commencement, won a working course cleverly. Anchor drew away four lengths, when No. 5 put on the steam, but her effort to get past was ineffectual, the blue turning two lengths in advance; retaining command for the two next points, he brought puss right round to No. 5, who settled her chance by whipping up her hare. Charming May was slowest from slips, but soon showed in advance, and, clearing the drain the cleverest, turned two lengths in front; keeping her place, she hardly gave Blue Line a chance in a short spin to the sough. Master Ivo went off a good pace, and reaching his hare six lengths in front of Leda, brought puss half way round; then, showing the pace in the two stretches that followed, he finished the course by dashing past and whipping up his hare: a smart performance of the winner. Gelachossa drew away two lengths, and led over the drain, when puss ditched; coming out Gelachossa, who was better placed than Sea Sail, nailed her before she could break clear. Thalberg for a long distance led, but Jolly Green, creeping up inch by inch, eventually passed his opponent for first turn, and keeping his place, drove puss to the sough. Wolsey, after a close race, gained the turn, but Friar Tuck afterwards getting well placed, Mr Jebb's dog, in a short working course, was unable to get in again, the white achieving a very clever victory. Cock Robin ran his bye with Besom Ben, whom he led and beat easily.

Croquet Stakes.—Just Right, in a straight slip, was two lengths faster than Bramble for first turn, and keeping his place for the next, led over the drain; Bramble then twice used her hare before letting in her opponent; a long working course followed, Bramble at one time having the best of it, but Just Right, coming again at the finish, left off an easy winner. Ludicrous was a shade faster than Sea Treasure for the turn, when the latter scored the next and stumbled; as the hare broke, Ludicrous raced to the front, and after scoring a succession of strong points shifted puss to Sea Treasure, who killed. Justification, moving in good style, led two lengths, turned, then setting merrily to work, scored five before giving way; Never Sell Her, after using her game twice, lost the lead; an exchange then took place and from this point a working course followed to the drain, Justification having the best of it, and leaving off a very clever winner. Master Frederick got up inside a good two lengths in front of Helenus, and turned to the latter, who had the next; as puss broke, Master Frederick drew away, and shifting puss to the red and white, the death ensued. After a good race up, No. 1 turned a length in advance, and scored the first three, when Balwer momentarily showed in front, but could not maintain it, for he blundered on to his head, and his opponent scored the two following points; as the hare broke Mr Bayly's dog again drew to the fore, but this time failing in attempting to kill, he afterwards was of little use to his opponent, running wild and unsteadily, and No. 1 won very easily. Morning Dew raced away a good three lengths from Bona Dea, but on coming round with her hare she unfortunately fell headlong into a drain; this mishap left Mr Brayham's bitch with a commanding lead, and, scoring several points to the road, she killed and won: an unfortunate trial for the loser. Versailles went off a cracker from slips, and, reaching her hare several lengths in advance of Besom Ben, scored the second turn; after an exchange, Mr Vyner's bitch again took command, and, rattling puss about in grand style, soon left off a clever winner, killing in the road. Cheap John, after running a short distance on equal terms with Roman, drew away three lengths for first turn, the latter scoring the two following wrenches; after an exchange in favour of Cheap John he shifted puss to Roman, who killed; a short course, but a clever win for Mr Lister's dog. Sea Cable had the pace of Henry the Fifth, and, up to some old post-and-rails, the former had just a shade the best of the course; puss heading for covert, Henry the Fifth drew clear of his opponent, and, driving his hare before him for some considerable distance, killed; this course, from where the crowd stood on the road, appeared a clever win for Mr Hornby's dog. Beechnut, in a good long slip, showed three lengths in front of Jolly Surprise for first turn; but in a working course that followed, the latter part was in favour of Mr Jones's bitch, who won cleverly: Beechnut's chance was not improved by an ugly fall in the middle of the course. Brake, as soon as he left slips, threw up his head as if unsighted, and Maharajah went on with a commanding lead; when together, Mr Brocklebank's dog outworked his opponent, and finished a clever winner, with a rattling kill. Ballyhurst, on the inside, showed in advance, when he fell such an awful purler that he stood motionless, and Syllabub went on alone with her hare, and won. After the trainer had been with the dog a short time, he sufficiently recovered to walk away apparently unhurt. Silver Star, going in good style, gradually drew away four lengths from Morning Ray, and, reaching puss, knocked her up. Go had three lengths the pace of Scrutiny in the lead up, and, serving herself, put in Lord Sefton's bitch, who turned and killed: no-go. Next time Go again showed the pace, and won a course of moderate length easily. Cavendish showed the pace on the outer circle, but Grist of the Mill, getting placed, outworked Mr Lister's dog in a short, dodgy course, and won; Cavendish killed. Luxemburg, to a slow hare, was a length and a half faster than Iconolatri for first turn, when the hare went from him, and his opponent, well placed, began to be very busy; Iconolatri, however, again losing the lead, Luxemburg began to run so merrily that he eventually left off a clever winner. Tornado, after being in the rear for a few strides, drew past Bright Gance, and, shifting puss two lengths in front, made a short spin to the sough, all one way. Ballad Singer drew out a couple of lengths, turned, and, keeping her place for the next, was still going on with the lead, when Belial shot past, but puss instantly gained the sough.

THURSDAY.—Met at Church House, and commenced on the right-hand side of the occupation road leading up the meadows. Hares were very plentiful, and running much straighter and stouter than yesterday, an excellent day's coursing was brought to a conclusion by three o'clock. The day was again very fine, and the attendance large. Among the company present during the two days were: Messrs T. W. Hornby, B. H. Jones, S. Mallabey, T. T. C. and S. C. Lister, J. Johnstone, T. Booth, R. C. Vyner, H. Brougham, J. R. Thompson, G. Robinson, B. Jebb, Marfleet, W. Clarke, Spinks, C. Randell, Bayly, W. W. Brundrit, J. Brundrit, &c.

Croquet Stakes.—First Ties: Just Right, quickest from slips, raced away several lengths in front of Ludicrous, turned, and kept his position for the two next; Mr Legh's dog, after once using his hare, again lost the lead, and, Just Right scoring a couple of smart wrenches, raced into his hare—a clever performance of the winner's. Justification soon showed in advance, but, after running a long distance, Master Frederick gradually drew past for first turn; a long and severe working course followed, the heavy ground suiting the Irish dog, who beat his opponent well at the finish. No. 1 immediately showed in front, and, reaching his hare two lengths in front of Bona Dea, turned and served himself; Bona Dea then shot out and killed. Cheap John strided away several lengths for first turn, then, wrenching strongly, served Versailles; the latter, in possession, had the best of some short scuffling work until Cheap John again got in, and killed: a near thing. Sea Cable went off in front, and at the drain increased his lead to several lengths; leading over, he reached puss a long distance in advance of Jolly Surprise, and killed. Brake was momentarily unsighted, but when fairly in swing he drew out a length for first turn, Syllabub scoring the two next; the latter going wide, Brake again scored, and, after an exchange, raced up in front, wrenched twice, and killed cleverly. Go, to the surprise of the talent, drew away three lengths in front of Silver Star and turned; the latter then went on with the lead, but puss souched before she could score: a bad trial for the loser. A good hare was driven from fallow for Grist to the Mill and Luxemburg; the former, inside, had the advantage in the run up and gained the turn, but, going wide, his opponent scored three strong wrenches in succession; after each had made a couple of points, the hare broke, and a long trial followed, Grist to the Mill always getting the worst of each exchange, owing to Luxemburg continually going up inside, a long trial ending in an easy win for Mr Lister's dog. A clinking hare got up for Tornado and Ballad Singer; the former led up two lengths, but going rather wide, Mr Brocklebank's bitch shot up inside, turned, and wrenched; a long, distressing course followed, the racing points all in favour of Tornado, who made a pretty trial nearly all one way. — Second Tie: Master Frederick drew out three lengths for first turn, but running past his hare, Just Right got well placed, and handling his game very cleverly, scored a succession of strong points until the course ended by puss being chopped. Cheap John came away with a clear lead from No. 1, who, running very slack, was well beaten by Mr Lister's dog in a trial of average length. Sea Cable showed in front from slips, but Brake was first up at the turn, and keeping his place for several strong wrenches, let in the black and white; exchanges followed until the hare broke away, when Sea Cable went to the front, and, running fast and cleverly, wrenched strongly several times, killed, and won. Go drew away a length for first turn, and, setting well to work, ran up a long score before letting in Luxemburg; the latter, well placed, soon began to be very busy, but Go, coming again, had much the best of the remainder of a rattling trial. Tornado ran her bye with Black Topsy, whom she led and beat handsomely.

Sefton Stakes.—Syndic in a good long stretch drew out three lengths from Vincennes, turned, kept his position, and placed six to his credit before letting in the black, who then scored cleverly twice, and put out her chance by killing at the edge of the drain. Clariessa, after being led for some distance, raced right past Baggott for first turn, and a short working course ended in her favour; Mr Brougham's bitch causing the death. Black Topsy gradually left Right at Last for first turn, and wrenched twice, then stumbling, Mr Randall's bitch shot to the front, and afterwards won a short trial cleverly, she ending the course with a fine kill. Satellite soon left Ventre-à-Terre several lengths in the rear, and reaching his hare dusted her about a few times, and killed at the edge of the sough. Setting Sun, in a good race, stole up inside for first turn, and, coming round much more cleverly than Black Currant, scored several strong points in succession, and killed. Rollo showed in front to the ditch; there he was passed by Seltzer, who, reaching his hare four lengths in front, turned, keeping his place for two more points; Rollo got possession, wrenched twice, and puss souched: the loser ran this course very slovenly. Gift took a slight lead from Gratification, and turned; the course immediately terminated by puss souching: a wretched bad trial. Master Price soon drew away a couple of lengths from Leoline, and turned, then wrenching strongly, the latter drew out, and put out her chance by killing. In a circular run up Morning Cloud gained the turn, but going wide, Cavendish got well placed, and, keeping close to the scut, scored several strong points in succession; Morning Cloud then shot across, and put out his chance by racing up his hare. Grampian Chief, showing in advance to the drain, led over, but in a few strides further he was passed by Morning Dew, who, handling her hare very cleverly, ran up six or seven strong driving wrenches to the sough; in this course Grampian Chief ran very slack and badly. A short and merry course took place between Lumpy and Sea Serpent; the former's chance was in some measure put out by her breasting the bank after jumping a ditch, and Sea Serpent won cleverly. Jolly News and Sinbad ran head and head to the first drain, which the former cleared in his stride, and bringing puss round two lengths in front scored three; after

Mr Jones's dog had flected his hare, Sinbad went on, wrenched, and killed.—First Tie: Syndic showed in front from slips, and, bringing puss round three lengths in front of Clarissa, turned twice, and served his opponent; a working course followed, Syndic beating Mr Lister's bitch very decisively. Satellite went away with a strong lead from Right at Last and turned, when the latter took the two next; a long, punishing course followed, Right at Last, quickest from her turns, eventually staying the longest, and winning cleverly; the course terminated by Mr Randall's bitch scoring a go-by, wrench, and kill. Gift showed two clear lengths in front of Setting Sun to the hare, and, running very artistically with her game, won a smartly-run trial most decisively. Master Price cut a most inglorious figure in his course with Seltzer, who, in a trial of good length, beat the Irish dog almost pointlessly. Morning Dew and Cavendish ran their course so far off that I could make nothing of it; it was a very short affair, and the flat in favour of Mr Lister's. Jolly News, in a pretty race, drew away a good length from Sea Serpent, turned, then cleverly served herself, and the course terminated by puss being chopped.

Members' Cup.—Second Tie: Blue Lady and Just Coming ran head and head for a few strides, when the former began to gradually forge ahead, and reached her game some distance in advance; puss whipping to the right, Mr Jones's bitch shot up inside, wrenched, and killed; the flat was in favour of Just Coming, but as the course was run I fully expected the cap to have come off. Midlothian, going in good style, drew away four lengths for first turn, and, coming well round, scored thrice more before letting in Jolly Lark, who wrenched twice to the ditch; here the blue pulled up, and Mr Jones's dog, leading over, wrenched twice and killed; a good performance of Mr Marfleet's dog. Anchor got up first on the inside, and, showing more cleverness than Charming May, with a short, running hare, won easily. Gelachossa showed a shade in advance inside, but Master Ivo gradually drew in front for the turn, at which he went wide; the Scotch bitch then put in three points consecutively, lost her place, and the blue scored twice; after an exchange Master Ivo again went on in front, and, wrenching a few times, legged his hare; puss, however, got away, and lived for some considerable distance before her pursuers, the course terminating by Gelachossa wrenching and killing: undecided. An arrangement being come to, Master Ivo, the best greyhound of the two as the course was run, stood. Cock Robin, in a circular run up, had the inside for the turn, then serving himself, Jolly Green got well placed, and was just about winning, when the white out inside, killed, and won. Friar Tuck ran a short bye.—Third Tie: Midlothian came away in advance, and had drawn two lengths ahead, when Just Coming began to lessen the gap, and eventually struggling past gained the turn; coming well round, the fawn wrenched strongly twice, serving the blue, who put in the next two points; as the hare broke back Just Coming drew in front, wrenched smartly twice, and killed: a grand performance of the winner's. After a circular run up, a short working course between Master Ivo and Anchor resulted in a no-go. Another undecided took place, Master Ivo again showing the pace. At the third attempt Ivo led four lengths, and, dashing wildly at his hare, ran out; after Anchor had shifted puss, Lord Lurgan's dog raced up in front and turned; his opponent, driving puss in front for the next, again served Master Ivo, who wrenched twice, and, after an exchange, knocked puss off her legs: a clever win for Lord Lurgan's dog. Another undecided followed between Cock Robin and Friar Tuck, the former showing the pace. Next time Cock Robin led a long distance, and won a short course most decisively.

Veteran Stakes: Fieldfare led three lengths for first turn, and won two-thirds of a short working course, Harker scoring the death. Shadow, going away in good style, drew away four lengths from Hannah, turned, came smartly round for the next, then wrenched to Hannah, who killed. Rower immediately showed in front from slips, and turned; going rather wide, Little Fury got well placed, but before she could do anything with her hare, Rower shot past and killed. Fallowfinch came on with a strong lead from Syringa, and leading over the ditch raced into her hare. Jam Mace showed in front from slips, but was passed by Triumph to the hare; a short working course ended in the cap coming off. Next time a trimming hare got up, and in a long working course Triumph always had the command of pace in the racing stretches, winning easily.—First Ties: Fieldfare led two lengths for first turn, when Shadow got in, and, running with her accustomed cleverness, won a smartly run trial very cleverly. Rower led three lengths, but was afterwards outworked by Fallowfinch. Triumph ran a bye, which brought the day's sport to a close.

FRIDAY.—With the addition of the Hill House and Molyneux Stakes, the card had quite a formidable appearance. We met, as is customary on the last day, at Hill House; and shortly after ten commenced on the pasture below the Plantation, where we had ten very good trials before crossing the bridge for the Carrs. Here, as usual, hares were scarce, and our progress was so slow that the card was not run through until 2.30. The morning being beautifully fine, the attendance was very good for the last day; but about an hour before the proceedings terminated the weather changed, and heavy rain setting in, a majority of the company beat a hasty retreat before the three last courses were run off. Commenced with the Orosteth Stakes.—Third Ties: Just Right came away with a clear lead from Cheap John for first turn, and the latter, in a fair stretch, drew past for the next; a long working trial followed, in which Mr Jones's dog proved the cleverer worker and won easily. Sea Cable raced up for first turn, but, running against a post and rail, he got thrown out; Tornado then set merrily to work, and, running up a succession of strong points, eventually pulled through a very easy winner. Go ran her bye with Ronald, the latter leading to the hare, and picking her up.—Fourth Ties: The bye fell to Just Right, who had a course of moderate length. Go and Tornado had a short spin, which ended in the cap coming off. Mr Gibson's bitch was immediately picked up, but Tornado got on to a fresh hare, and was run to a standstill. Mr Thompson then wisely drew Tornado, who had been very hard run the day previous in her bye.—Deciding Course: Go, in a fair slip, came away with a clear lead of two lengths from Just Right, who scored the next point; a working course followed in favour of Go, who, handling her hare very artistically, left off a clever winner with a kill of merit.

Sefton Stakes.—Second Ties: Syndic led from slips, and, increasing his advantage to several lengths at the drain, scored the first turn, and kept his place till it looked as if the course was going to be all one way; nearing Hill House covert, however, Right at Last got in, and had the best of some short work until puss escaped; the flat in favour of Syndic, who won cleverly. Seltzer and Gift met with a rattling hare, and had a long give-and-take course, which from the bank appeared in favour of Gift, but the flat was against her. Cavendish went away with a slight lead from Jolly News for first turn; a bad trial with a short-running hare followed, Cavendish pulling through a clever winner. Lord Sefton having two left in, Seltzer was drawn, and the next brace were called for the—Deciding Course: After a short no-go Syndic again showed the pace in the run up, and, working as closely as Cavendish afterwards, he won a well-contested trial very meritoriously.

Molyneux Stakes.—Helenus got up with a long lead from Laurel, who for a time had much the worst of the course; a ditch, however, brought Helenus to grief, and puss just lived long enough for Laurel to pull through a lucky winner. Red Tape, going in rare form, led, and beat Sea Treasure most decisively, the trial being of short length. Charming May ran a smart and cleverly run course with Ventre à Terre, and, after losing the run up through bad luck, finished a very meritorious winner. Saturn went off a cracker from slips, but, sweeping round any number of lengths wide of his hare, let in Little Fury, who scored; Lord Sefton's dog then bungled into a drain, and a course of good length was eventually won by Little Fury, whose cleverness pulled her through.—First Ties: Red Tape went away with a lead of half a dozen lengths from Laurel, and turned; the latter then slightly swerved her hare, but before she could bring her fairly round Red Tape dashed past, and killed: a smart performance of Mr Randell's dog. Little Fury showed in front for some considerable distance, but on nearing the drain Charming May drew past, reached some ploughing two lengths in front, then kept selfish possession for four or five points, and finished with a kill.—Deciding Course: Red Tape and Charming May were slipped to a weak hare, and the former, leading up, made a short course all one way.

Hill House Stakes.—Henry V. and Clarissa ran a short working course, Clarissa, the smartest at her turns, winning cleverly. Sinbad and Right at Last had a very long slip to a fast hare, and they separated before either dogs got to her; this was given a no-course, but, as each got a long single-handed spin, Mr Randell drew Right at Last. Leoline and Thalberg had a short undecided, the latter showing the pace; had Mr Warwick been sufficiently near, I have no doubt Mr Thompson's dog would have been adjudged the winner. Their next slip again saw Thalberg lead up, and, running the fastest throughout a short but smartly run trial, he won very meritoriously. Squib, who led several lengths by favour, shifted his hare half round, when Vincennes shot up inside and killed: undecided. Next time Squib (to the dismay of his numerous backers, who laid 2 to 1 on him) was soon left two lengths in the rear by Vincennes, who, getting well placed at the turn, made an average trial nearly all one way, Mr Vyner's bitch winding up with a good kill.—First Ties: Clarissa, going quite in her old form, had the foot of Sinbad, whom she beat easily in a course of fair length. After an undecided, Thalberg took a clear lead from Vincennes for first turn, and the latter, running slack afterwards, was easily beaten.—Deciding Course: Thalberg, having had two extra courses, was cleverly put out by Clarissa, whose running through this stake showed a marked contrast to that with Syndic, by whom she was signally defeated in the Sefton Stakes on Thursday.

Members' Cup.—Fourth Ties: Just Coming, being slow to begin, was soon left in the rear by Cock Robin, who, striding away, reached his hare two lengths in front, then cleverly keeping his place turned again and wrenched strongly, letting in the fawn; an exchange followed, after which Just Coming took the lead, and, handling puss with her usual cleverness, was fast equalising the points, when she unluckily cut her throat by racing into her hare. Master Ivo ran a bye of short length in anything but good style with his kennel companion Master Stowell.—Deciding Course: In a long slip the hare made down the river bank, Master Ivo having the top side, and showing the pace, to some post-and-rails; here he bungled, which left the lead with his opponent, who was fast scoring when the blue again joined in, and, taking the hare from Cock Robin, wrenched and killed, making a tie of it. Next time Raper was a long time before letting go, but at last, the hare getting well away from the river bank, the pair were started; Master Ivo had not gone many strides before he became unsighted, and Cock Robin was soon an immense distance ahead; after scoring a few times Master Ivo coming with a wet sail joined in, and missed a good attempt to kill; from this point the course was nearly all one way, and although the Irish dog had the hare repeatedly put to him, he rushed so wildly at his turns that Cock Robin in a long trial gave him a most decisive beating.

Veteran Stakes.—Second Ties: Triumph, who had been hard run on the previous day, had no chance, and Shadow, running quite in her puppy form, won most handsomely. Fallowfinch ran a short bye with Fieldfare.—Deciding Course: Fallowfinch got a long lead to the hare, owing to Shadow being unsighted; but the latter soon got in, and quickly made a tie of it. In their final slip Shadow (with 2 to 1 agst her) gradually drew away from Fallowfinch for first turn; a rattling trial followed, old Shadow outworking her opponent in the cleverest manner possible, and ending the course with a rattling kill on the river bank.

REMARKS.—The January meeting of this distinguished club, although devoid of the interest that always attaches to the running of the puppies in November, is undoubtedly looked forward to by the general coursing public with more anxiety, owing to the fact of there always being some dogs running at the meeting who are likely to show for the great event in February. The following nominations in the Waterloo Cup were represented: Mr Legh, Mr Brocklebank, Lord Sefton, Mr Blanshard, Lord Lurgan, Mr Gibson, Mr Jones, Mr Brundrit, Mr Gilmour, Mr Borron, Lord

Grey de Wilton, Mr F. Johnstone, Mr J. Johnstone, Mr Lister, Mr Marfleet, Sir E. Peel, Mr Randell, Mr Spinks, and Mr Vyner. The performance of a majority of the dogs belonging to the above nominators was of a most satisfactory character, and will enable their owners to get a good line in their final selections for the Blue Riband. Last year the meeting was divested of its Waterloo interest through being postponed until March; but on the present occasion the weather was of the most enjoyable description, and, but for a heavy fall of rain before the conclusion of the sport on Friday, three finer days for coursing could not have been wished for. There were several formidable names entered for the Treasurer's Cup, and the meeting, in the first round of Master Ivo and Symphony, Ronald and Just Coming, Justitia and Belted Knight (late Eustace), Gelachossa and Saturn, and Cock Robin and Batavia, caused some heavy speculation. In reviewing the dogs running at the meeting, I shall commence with Cock Robin, the winner of the Treasurer's Cup, who is a fair-sized dog, weighing 60lb.; he has good looks to recommend him, and at the Skipton Show won the silver cup for the best-looking greyhound, beating eighteen others. Cock Robin made his debut at the Wiltshire Champion Meeting, where, in the Beacon Hill Stakes, he was easily put out his first course by Mr Dean's fast dog Desperation (now at the stud), the winner. He next ran in the Sefton Stakes at the November meeting of the Altcar Club, where Spiced Ale led and beat him; the course, however, was very short, Lord Sefton's dog merely leading up and killing. On the present occasion, the first course he ran was with Batavia, whom he led three lengths, and raced into his hare. A bye fell to his share in the next round, in which he easily beat his helpmate Besom Ben. When meeting Jolly Green and Friar Tuck he led each of them, and on Friday, with 6 to 4 against him, he was two lengths faster than Just Coming. After a no-go with Master Ivo, which he had the best of, he won the final spin in the easiest manner possible, showing great cleverness and undoubted staying qualities. Mr Lister informed me that the dog had never been fit until the present occasion, and he certainly showed a vast improvement on his previous running. Master Ivo made his debut at the Scottish National, where he divided the St. Leger with Mr Blanshard's Bab at the Bowster. He next ran at the Altcar Club November Meeting, where, in the second round of the Sefton Stakes, he fell at a drain and ricked himself so severely, that I hardly expected him to show again for some time to come. His injury, however, appears to have been slight; and, acquitting himself very satisfactorily in a private trial a fortnight ago, Lord Lurgan decided on running him for the Treasurer's Cup in place of Master McGrath, who, it is currently reported, is three lengths faster than the blue. If this is the case, Lord Lurgan should have a great chance for the Waterloo. Master Ivo led and very cleverly beat Symphony in the first round; he then put out Leda, who, he led half a dozen lengths, and showed most pace when meeting Gelachossa. Anchor he outpaced each time, and in the undecided with Cock Robin he led, until losing his place at some post and rails. Master Ivo is no doubt a good greyhound, who requires a racing hare, as he at times rushes wildly at his turns. Just Coming was the pick of the talent for the event, and she fully justified the confidence of her friends by getting third. This bitch has been hard run this season, and I was not at all surprised to see her defeated by Cock Robin; it struck me she hardly ran with her accustomed fire when pitted against Midlothian. I have always spoken very highly of Just Coming, and have no occasion to alter my opinion of her. Anchor made a good fight of it with Master Ivo, and also showed great cleverness in his previous courses with Charming May and No. 5. Midlothian, from showing more pace than Red Tape, winner of the Kenilworth Stakes at Kenilworth, also the Molyneux Stakes for beaten dogs at this meeting, is bound to be a good greyhound. I noticed during one part of the course, when opposed to Just Coming, he was desperately busy with his hare, and in his first spin with Fabius he ran clean away from his opponent. Friar Tuck gained his forward position through his wonderful cleverness, and when in possession he is a caution; his course with Wolsey was a perfect masterpiece, as, no doubt, many found out to their cost, 2 to 1 being freely laid on Mr Jebb's

dog. In the third round Gelachossa made it warm for Master Ive, Mr Gil-mour's bitch handling her hare with her accustomed cleverness, and, although she had not quite the pace of the blue, she was the best worker. Jolly Green ran a close and exciting trial with Cock Robin; the latter, having most pace, won. Blue Lady, after showing great merit in her threespins with Vanity, met with hard luck in being put out when she encountered Just Coming, and it was generally expected the cap would have come off; Jolly Lark, considering the severe running he had, ran extremely well. Amongst the dogs that went down in the second round were Jesuitess and Justitia, two very good puppies. The latter I think a really first-class greyhound, and, considering the very unequal terms on which she met Just Coming, she having been run to a standstill in her first course, I reckon Justitia's performance second to none at the meeting, and therefore should not be at all surprised to find her take the place of Joan of Arc as Mr Jas. Johnstone's representative in the Waterloo. Jesuitess, I think, was put out in anything but a satisfactory manner, as explained elsewhere. In the first round Batavia made her appearance for her second outing this season; she has apparently lost that fine turn of speed she possessed last year, and I do not expect her to shine again in public. Binocular ran a fair greyhound, and was drawn after three undecideds with Jolly Lark. Ronald showed plenty of pace, but had to succumb to the cleverness of Just Coming, who cleared the drains in her stride, whereas Ronald hesitated, and in consequence lost several lengths. In the Croxteth Stakes for maidens, Go ran through the stake in grand style, showing fine pace and cleverness. In my remarks on the Scottish National, where Go made her debut, and was put out in a bad trial by Dewy Eve in the first round of the Leger, I said she would be heard of again to advantage, and I am glad to see my prophecy so soon realised. It never rains but it pours, and the recent victories of Ronald and Geargatherer show the Woolmet kennel to be once more in form. Just Right showed plenty of pace in each of his courses, and was justly entitled to his forward position. Tornado, running as well as any bitch at the meeting, got severely punished in her bye, losing a claw as well as being run to a standstill. She was drawn, after an undecided with Go, and Mr Thompson had a good price bid for her—viz., £100—by Mr W. Clarke, which he refused. Mr Booth ran No. 1, a sixth cross between the bulldog and greyhound, but he had no chance with Cheap John in the third round. Grist to the Mill ran green, and appears likely to furnish into a useful dog. Ballyhurst, from what little I could judge of the course, appears to go a good pace; but falling an awful purler in the run up, he stood stock still. I understood that when his trainer got up to him the dog was for a time blind; he recovered, however, and walked away, apparently none the worse. The Sefton Stakes were very appropriately won by Syndic, who led everything he ran with; but his noble owner was not present to see the dog's performance, being on a visit to the Duke of Devonshire, at Holkham. Cavendish and Seltzer both acquitted themselves very creditably. Gift, I consider, was put out in a bad trial; and Master Price shut up in his course with Seltzer, and was well and deservedly beaten. Mr Randell landed the Molyneux Stake easily with Red Tape, but does not think the dog class enough to represent his nomination in the Waterloo Cup. Mr T. T. C. Lister's old favourite Clarissa won the Hill House Stakes very cleverly. As will be seen by the return, the last-named gentleman's kennel was in great form, and the victory of Cock Robin, by King Death out of Chloe, speaks well of King Death as a sire. The Veteran Stakes was won by Shadow, who ran each of her courses as true as a puppy. In conclusion I have only to add that the meeting was a great success, and that both Mr Warwick and Raper got through their arduous duties with great credit.

THIS meeting, which has been twice postponed in consequence of the frost, commenced on Thursday. The meet, instead of taking place in Surrenden Park, was changed to Calehill Park, the beautiful and ancient seat of Major Darrell, situated about six miles from Ashford. There was a great improvement in the manner of conducting the draw on this occasion, and with a little more experience of public coursing the executive will make their meeting an excellent one. The spirit of coursing is very strong in the neighbourhood, and the good ground, the energy with which Sir E. C. Dering, Bart., M.P., and Major Darrell support the meeting, and the plentiful supply of hares on their delightful estates, will be sure to insure good entries for the future. The weather in the early part of the day was anything but favourable for the sport; but, notwithstanding this, we were favoured with the presence of Lord Maidstone, Major Darrell, Mr Dering, Mr Arthur Dering, Miss Dering, Sir C. Honynwood, Mr Tufton, Mr Percy Oxenden, Mr Jones, Mr Denne, Mr Darrell, Mr Bacon, Mr Cheesman, Mr W. B. Foster, Mrs Bridges and party, Mr Keeler, Mr Bayley, Mr Pilch, Mr Saville Pickard, &c. The coursing throughout the day was of a very fair description, extending all round the park and adjacent farms. The card was run through once, leaving exactly the same number of courses for the second day.

Calehill Cup.—Pride ran a bye single-handed, in consequence of the non-arrival of her opponent, Spring; after which the latter arrived and went through the same performance. They were then put together, and a very evenly-contested course was the result, Spring winning with little to spare. Mexican Blue and Munster ran a short, merry undecided. Next time the Mexican Blue took the first five points, and let in Munster; but the red could not keep possession, as the brindle raced past, wrenched two or three times, and killed. Psyche and Peter ran a pretty trial in front of Major Darrell's house; the former was decidedly superior in speed, and scarcely allowed Peter to score a point, the hare, a good one, beating both to a covert that nearly surrounds the house. Cairo went very badly, and was easily beaten by Polestar, the latter not allowing him once to get next his game. Spring had an easy task set him to beat Wilful, which he did in the most easy style, the latter running very badly all through the course until puss neared the covert, when he rushed past and jumped the fence very cleverly. Kentish Queen, in a short, merry spin with L'Etoile du Nord, got best from slips, kept in front, and finished with a pretty kill.

Surrenden and Calehill Stakes.—Munster took a commanding lead from slips to a fence, which he flew, and before Mexican Blue could get in had well won the course, puss escaping. Polly would not be assisted by Comus in any part of a short but pretty trial. Nell and Phillis ran a short undecided, in which the hare was never bent. Next time Phillis led several lengths, and during the time they remained in my sight was always in front. Topsy had all the requisite speed and cleverness to well beat L'Etoile du Nord, and, knocking her hare about in grand style, did not leave it until she had driven puss to Chesnut Plantation. Fan and Puzzle went wide from slips; the latter, upon outside ground, ran round her opponent three or four times, going in rare form with her game, until she effected a clever kill. Brindle was outpaced all the way, as Bounce got off with a long lead, wrenched strongly three or four times, and made short work of it by killing just before reaching the covert. Lady and Fly got a capital slip to a good hare; the latter, leading several lengths and going very determinedly, ran up a long score before Lady could join in; several exchanges then took place, much in favour of Fly, who effected a clever kill. Topsy was completely outpaced by Patty, who was going very smartly with her game, knocking it about in grand style, and ultimately driving it to Chesnut Plantation. Spring and Pay her Way were let go to a weak, dodging hare, which the former reached several lengths first, served himself three or four times, and finished with a meritorious kill. Smut and Daniel ran their byes together, Riot being absent; the former had much the best of the spin.

Surrenden Cup.—Smut, after his previous exertions, could not or would not try, and Brindle, in a scrambling short spin, beat him at all points to the Chesnut Plantation. Mexican Blue, after running in the two previous stakes, could not raise a gallop, and Chance remained in front from beginning to end of an average trial. Topsy and Kentish Fury ran a rather long undecided, in which puss got killed. In their second spin Topsy secured the first five points; exchanges then followed, always in favour of Topsy, who drove her hare to Calehill Plantation. Tamberlik, after securing the first four points, was cleverly outworked by Smoker, who upon the heavy ground stayed much the longest, and finished with a meritorious kill. Sweep, after running two undecideds, was well beaten by Daniel in one of the longest courses of the day, which took place almost in the dark. Gipsy was absent, and Hawk ran a bye by himself, being unable to procure a helpmate. Peter, in a scrambling, unsatisfactory trial, just beat Betty, puss getting chopped at a hedge. Steamer had no difficulty, with a good hare, in beating Spring; the latter was the fourth dog of that name which ran to-day.

FRIDAY.—Met at the Park—the original fixture of the postponed meeting—and, considering the fearful state of the weather, there was a good attendance. We at once proceeded from the centre of the Park to just outside its gates, where the first brace of dogs were put into the slips, and the coursing commenced in some of the finest hop gardens in this or any other part of Kent. The trials on this portion of the estate were of a very fair description, and but for the downpour would have been very enjoyable. After exhausting the gardens and some other grounds in the parish of Pluckly, the next beat was on the Calehill estate, up to the point where we finished the previous day's sport. Here also we had some excellent trials, but being unable to find a hare previous to darkness coming on for Bounce to run off his bye, there was no alternative but to take the dogs out of slips, thus leaving four courses to be run on the Saturday. The weather entirely prevented my taking a note, and a detailed account of the courses is out of the question.

SATURDAY.—We met at the Swan, Little Chart, punctually at ten o'clock, and proceeded to the Thorns at Pluckly, where a large muster had assembled to witness the deciding courses for the three handsome cups. Two of these are given by Sir E. Dering, Bart., M.P., and Major Darell, the third being provided from the funds of the club, which are in a flourishing state, as at the present time no less than 150 names are upon the books. Under such distinguished patronage, and with so enormous a tract of country, a fair supply of hares, and two hard-working secretaries, there is no fear as to its future prosperity. The only drawback at the present meeting was the wretched state of the weather. On Thursday it commenced with a heavy fog, which lasted up to one o'clock, and then turned to rain, which continued up to Friday night, a perfect gale blowing at the same time. Notwithstanding the inclement state of the weather, the field were again honoured with the presence of several of the popular Surrenden House party, also the no less liberal Mr Darell, of Calehill House. After a delay of one hour at Pluckly the first brace of dogs were put into the slips, when the rain again began to come down in torrents and continued all the day.

Surrenden Cup.—Third Tie: Bounce ran his bye with a kennel companion, and well beat him, causing the death of his game. Deciding Course: Bounce was led several lengths by Smut in the run up, and taking the hare right away to himself did not allow his opponent to score a single point in one of the best trials of the meeting, finishing with a meritorious kill. He showed extraordinary savageness with his game, by tearing it all to pieces.

Puppy Stakes.—Deciding Course: Polestar and Kentish Queen were slipped to a weak hare upon some wheat; the former upon the outside reached his game a length in front for first and second turn, and sent puss to Kentish Queen, who used her twice, and turned her to Polestar, who wrenched and killed.

Veteran Stakes.—Deciding Course: Topsy and Peter ran together for a short distance, the former then gradually drew away and reached her hare four lengths in front of Peter for first turn, serving herself three times. Some exchanges ensued, much in favour of Topsy, who wound up with a brilliant kill. The meeting finished in the same field where it was their intention to commence at their first postponement.

The time occupied in running off the four courses was two hours and a half, and the walking was of a very heavy description, being chiefly upon wheat and fallow. The high wind rendered it very difficult to move about at all. Plummer Craft must have had a dreadful time of it during the last two days, as the water fairly ran out of his shoes; in fact, at the finish there were but some half dozen persons left to witness the deciding course between Smut and Bounce. The company very wisely gave in at one time, and returned to the Black Horse at Pluckly, where the Cups were on view. Mr Ronald had the luck to win two out of three with two very useful greyhounds, a brother and sister, by Stockwell out of Fly. Stockwell is by Mr Rose's Raven, one of the best looking dogs that ever went to slips, and worthy of the attention of all breeders. The Puppy Stakes were won by Mr Philbrick's Polestar, a son of Retribution and Merrimac. He won all his courses very cleverly. He is evidently partial to heavy ground, and, like his father, very game. Mr Bolton, with one exception, gave the greatest satisfaction; and in the course alluded to, between Bounce and Patty, it was evident he could not have seen the work done in the middle of the course, as his horse could scarcely move in the frightfully heavy ground; he consequently decided upon what he saw; and, although it was rather annoying to Mr Paine, that gentleman was quite satisfied with the explanation of Mr Bolton, who has won golden opinions with the men of Kent. Craft showed off his extraordinary staying powers to great advantage, and went through his arduous duties with satisfaction to all. There is one thing that I had almost forgotten to mention, namely, the absurdity of entering one dog or bitch in the three stakes, which certainly destroys whatever chance it otherwise would have had; but it was urged that, if the dog gets put out in one stake, he has a chance in the other. However, the meeting, for a first one, must be considered a great success, and it is in contemplation to have another in about three weeks' time.

Lord Garlies's GREAT GO and Earl of Stair's SKYLARK divided.

WHEN the frost set in on the occasion of the Annan Coursing Meeting, it was generally the opinion that it would prevail for some time; but the terrible storms which had just spread over Scotland as well as England completely dissipated the frost, and the fixture of the spring meeting of the Wigtownshire Coursing Club, it was believed, would not be interfered with by that arch-enemy of the leash. Notwithstanding that in many parts of Scotland the frost had again taken a hold of the ground, yet, on account of the general mildness of the climate in the south-west of Galloway, we found the weather on our arrival at Stranraer open, and bidding fair to continue so. It was also a pleasure to find that the great distance of head-quarters from the large kennels of the north of England and south of Scotland had not hindered owners from sending their greyhounds to run, so that both the large stakes were filled, and the sixteen-dog open all-aged stake had secured the full complement of nominations. Nowhere could coursers send their dogs with more confidence than to the Spring Meeting of the Wigtownshire Coursing Club, for not only are all present assured of a kindly and warm welcome by the Earl of Stair, but it is felt that full justice is done to all; and favour shown to none. No lord of the manor is more anxious to promote sport, every effort is used by Lord Stair to secure a good stock of stout hares, and these are so driven that the ground shall prove the merits of all greyhounds alike. The meeting is therefore very popular, and the most influential coursers immediately north and south of the Tweed were either present or represented. So much has been said, from time to time, regarding the fine ground over which the running takes place and its beautiful surroundings, that it would be a work of supererogation for me to make any further comments thereon. The entry took place in the King's Arms Hotel, Stranraer, on Monday afternoon, and the draw was made immediately the stakes were filled. Afterwards a large party sat down to dinner, presided over by Lord Garlies. After dinner the noble chairman read over the card; but, although some spirited betting was made on two or three courses, operations on the whole were very dull, and nothing was done at the long odds.

TUESDAY.—The meet this morning was at Castle Kennedy Station, at nine o'clock, and at that hour two thousand people or more had assembled to witness the sport. The Caledonian Railway Company ran a special train from Stranraer, and by that means of conveyance the majority of the spectators reached the ground. The morning was fresh but raw, and shortly after the meet a heavy fall of hail came on; but the sky cleared, and, the sun breaking through the clouds, the weather was thereafter of the mildest description—in fact, reminding one more of a fine day in May than of January weather. Great coats were discarded, and in the clear balmy air and genial sunlight the beautiful scenery round Castle Kennedy was seen to great advantage. Among the large company present were the Earl of Stair, Viscount Dalrymple, Lord Garlies, Sir William Wallace, Col. M'Dowell of Logan, Mrs M'Dowell and party, Capt. Watson, Capt. Hathorn, of Castlewigg; Miss Stewart, of Crossbie West; W. J. M'Haffie Esq., of Torriesmuir; A. Agnew, Esq., of Barn Burroch; Jas. Agnew, Esq.; John Maitland, Esq., of Balgreggan, &c. At half-past nine o'clock the first pair of dogs were handed to Raper, and a commencement was made in a large ploughed field adjoining the grounds of Castle Kennedy, on the lands of Culhorn. After drawing this field and the neighbouring coverts, we worked eastward to the grass lands and nice undulating stubble fields a short distance from the railway; and when the darkness, which was drawing on, compelled us to give over for the day, upwards of forty courses, including undecideds, had been run. The trials were almost invariably excellent, and altogether the day's outing was most enjoyable.

Castle Kennedy Stakes.—A commencement was made on a large, level ploughed field, overlooked by the castellated towers of Castle Kennedy, and the first slip was made to a rare hare driven from a circular covert. Spinster drew out in a good stretch to the hare four lengths in advance of Go Lucky, and bore the hare round to the dog; in a second stretch Spinster made a racing go-by, turned, kept her position, and, covering her game in capital style, won all the way to covert. Mermaid hung in slips, but in the race to the hare drew past Historian, and, driving her hare, well won all ends up to the covert side, where she killed. Dewy Eve had three lengths the pace of Hope, and scored first turn, placing Capt. Hathorn's dog, who had the next, and served himself, but was passed in the second stretch to the hare by Dewy Eve; the bitch then turned and served Hope, who thereafter covered his game in great style, turning beautifully smart, and wrenching three times before accomplishing the death, when he won. Great Go and Fair Annie were slipped out of my sight: on coming in view, Fair Annie was in possession, and in a nice trial to the covert side, where she killed, never allowed Great Go to get a chance. On Guard led Shamrock so Green, and had all the early points; but half-way up a very steep hill Shamrock got in and drove puss to the top, when the judge decided in favour of On Guard: a most distressing run followed, the best of which was secured by Shamrock so Green. Spoilt Boy drew out a length from Driver for first turn, but Driver, getting possession, beat the favourite well at the death on the hill face, which he accomplished. Red Robin was a dozen lengths faster than Merry Monarch, and scored first two turns, but when Merry Monarch joined, he put in one or two very smart points; Red Robin, however, had the best of a bad trial. The Whaler had the best of the slip, and led for a distance, but the hare bent to Staylace, who secured first and second turns; Whaler then went in for a short point, but the pace of Staylace brought her to the front again, and after scoring twice she made a brilliant flying kill. Apropos ran a bye with Jim Dandie, Mr Errington's nomination being absent. Zarah led, and made a shocking example of Mahomet in a short course on lea. Falcon jumped first from slips, but in the run up Witchery went to the front and reached the hare three lengths in advance of Falcon, turned, placed the white collar, who turned; Witchery then went in, turned, kept her position, turned three times, and led out of sight. Rob Roy led Duke of Edinburgh, scored first turn, and never allowed Mr Hyslop's dog to get a point of merit in a long trial, working in capital style. Bladnoch Lass drew out three lengths in front of Spaniard, turned, kept her position, turned again twice, and served Spaniard, who scored a point, an exchange followed, when Bladnoch Lass rushed in, and had the death. Hunkey Dorum, favoured by the hare on hilly stubble ground, got first turn, when Wounded Pride got in for three points; after a scrambling affair at a hedge-side puss broke for covert, and Hunkey Dorum had in a long run much the best of the points, and won. Fleuron led Countess Bismarck, turned three times, and killed. Slipshod had the pace of Little Boy, and scored first turn, when he stumbled, but recovering himself he kept his position, wrenched, and turned twice before the lot dipped out of sight; coming in view again, Slipshod was in possession, and made a clever kill.

Wigtownshire Stakes.—Langholm drew out nearly a length from Roger, who only got two short points in a nice trial to the wood, where Langholm killed. Flying Butcher had the run up and first and second turns, when Butterfly got placed and led to covert. Cairngorm was unsighted from slips, and Speedwell had a single-handed course; an undecided. On a second attempt Cairngorm had the lead and first two turns, when Speedwell got a point, but being thoroughly pumped in his single-handed course, succumbed to Cairngorm, who turned, and the hare souged. Sprig of Shillelagh drew out a couple of lengths from Lady Hastings, scored first and second turns, when Lady Hastings got a point; but the Sprig went past again, immediately turned twice and the Lady had the death. King Theodore, favoured by the hare, led the first turn, but Haycock getting possession, scored three times in succession; some reciprocal work followed, the clever points in which were secured by Haycock, who won when King Theodore killed. The Knave was six lengths faster than Ringdove, turned, and led out of sight; coming in view again, the Ringdove was next the hare, and got a short point, when The Knave went in right past and won all one way. York, going very fast, reached the hare ten lengths in advance of Cynnet, and beat the last-named hollow. Warlock, going nicely on the line of his hare, which Grey Lass would not have, had all the points in an average length of course, except the death. Fireaway drew out a length from Miss Edith, scored first turn, served himself, had the next, when he placed the bitch, who had a turn; the dog again in, wrenched and killed. Wait a Wee outpaced Wideawake for the first two turns, when the latter got a turn; but Wait a Wee, getting placed again, led out of sight. After a beautifully level stretch to the hare, Pendennis, favoured by the hare, secured first turn, and wrenched twice; First Attempt, getting placed, wrenched twice, and killed: an undecided. First Attempt was afterwards drawn in favour of Pendennis. Humbug beat Duke Archie all the way. Dilemma and Miss Bertha were sent away to a long slip, when the former assumed a lead of three lengths, and turned twice; going into the next field Miss Bertha led out of sight: Dilemma received the award. Mazeppa beat Constantinople hollow. Atalanta won a nice course with Good Cheer, part of which I did not see, owing to the crowd rushing in. Mayflower had the advantage from slips, but Jessie, putting on the steam, went past, and won a pumping course all one way.

Castle Kennedy Stakes.—First Ties: Mermaid, slow from slips, in a nice long run up drew past Spinster, and in an average length of course beat Mr M'Haffie's bitch well. I saw nothing but the run up of the course between Hops and Fair Annie, which Hops put to his credit, and at the finish received the decision. On Guard and Driver ran a beautiful trial, in which the latter showed the pace, but On Guard, running more steadily and covering his game in better style, pulled himself off the winner, notwithstanding his previous pumping. Red Robin thoroughly outpaced and out-worked Staylace in a long course to covert. Zarah led Apropos by three lengths, and secured first two turns, when Apropos went in for a couple; Zarah had the next, and Apropos the next, when the former led out of sight: a no-go. Apropos was afterwards drawn. Rob Roy, in a good stretch to the hare on level lee, drew out a couple of lengths from Witchery, secured first turn, wrenched, and served the bitch, who had the next; Rob Roy again got in, turned, served Witchery, raced past her, and led out of my sight. I believe that Witchery got next the hare in the adjoining field, was very busy for a time, raced past Rob Roy twice, killed, and just won. Bladnoch Lass had the pace of Hunkey Dorum, and in an average length of course beat the last named hollow. Fleuron was vastly superior in speed and also much cleverer than Slipshod, and in a short trial to covert won all one way. Darkness setting in, sport was discontinued for the day.

WEDNESDAY—Late last night a change took place in the direction of the wind, bringing with it frost, so that this morning the ground was quite hard. The meet was at Clendry Bridge, about five miles from Stranraer, at half-past nine; but on arriving at the ground it was found by far too hard for running. An adjournment was made to some fine loam ploughed land, where it was thought the going would be safe; but here, too, it was discovered that it would be absolute cruelty to animals to slip the dogs. After consultation, the stewards postponed the running till half-past twelve o'clock. Meanwhile, a series of athletic sports were organised, under the patronage of Lord Stair, Lord Garlies, and the other noblemen and gentlemen present, and the spare time was very pleasantly spent. The influence of the sun's rays had by one o'clock been so powerful that, on examination, the ground was declared to be perfectly safe going, and a commencement was made on a large lee field on the farm of Kirminnoch. The frost was, however, very keen, and it was determined to run out the Wigtownshire Stakes, and leave the Puppy Stakes and the Culhorn alone, to see what a day might bring forth. The coursing, with the exception of the last four trials, run on the farm of Mark, was on the lands of Kirminnoch. Considering the state of the ground, the sport was very good, and none of the greyhounds were so severely cut as to be disabled.

Wigtownshire Stakes—First Tie.—Flying Butcher went away with a lead of three lengths, and bore the hare round to Langholm, who turned, wrenched, turned, and served the Butcher; after an exchange they dipped out of sight, but coming up the next knoll Langholm was in possession, turned, and killed. Cairngorm had three lengths the pace of Sprig o' Shillelagh, turned, served himself, turned, and killed. Knave was several lengths faster than Haycock, and led out of sight; in view again, Haycock was next the hare, and turned, serving Knave; after an exchange, the latter went past, turned, and drove puss into the wood. York, favoured by the hare, had the first turn, and led out of my view into an adjoining valley. Warlock got in coming up hill, and a beautifully contested course followed, which was finished by Warlock making the death, but the early points scored by York won for him the course. Fireaway, after a nice level stretch to the hare, got the first turn by favour, and, keeping possession, won well, when puss escaped to covert. Humbug, in an average length of course, had rather the pace of Pendennis, and outworked him. Mazeppa made a shocking example of Dilemma in a short course to covert, running round and round Dilemma on soft harrowed ground. Atalanta drew out a couple of lengths from Jessie, turned twice, and pressed puss to a turf fence, where she was lost.—Second Tie: Cairngorm rushed away two lengths in front of Langholm, wrenched, and killed. Knave was three lengths faster than York, wrenched, and pressed puss to covert. Fireaway and Humbug ran a short no-go, mostly out of my sight. On a second trial, Humbug led, and thoroughly beat Fireaway in a long trial to covert. Mazeppa had three lengths the best of the pace of Atalanta, turned, wrenched, turned twice again, and drove the hare to the wood.—Third Tie: Cairngorm, running very smoothly, drew out a couple of lengths on the inside from Knave, turned, and served himself; the hare whipping round, Knave got a wrench and killed: the hat came off. On being slipped again Cairngorm led, and only allowed Knave to get one point in a nice trial, Cairngorm finishing with a beautiful kill at the fence. Mazeppa, going very fresh and true, never gave Humbug a chance in a pumping course.—Deciding Course: Mazeppa, favoured by the hare, scored first turn, served himself, turned, and placed Cairngorm, who put in several short points, and balanced the score, when puss escaped in the wood. A division was afterwards agreed upon.

THURSDAY.—This morning the meet was at the farmhouse of Mark at nine o'clock, and, as there had been no signs of a thaw during the night, there were comparatively few persons present. Of course the ground was too hard for so early a start, and we had to wait till half-past twelve o'clock before running was practicable. Even after that, when the dogs got off the light, sandy, ploughed and harrowed soil on to the bare pasture, they got sadly cut up. The air was, however, milder than yesterday, and the running better. Commenced with

The Cullhorn Cup.—King Victor had the pace of Apology, and scored first and second turns, but going very wildly, he allowed Apology to get on the line of his hare and work it cleverly before effecting the death, by which he won. Great Go drew out a length and a half from Black Boyd, turned twice, wrenched, and placed Black Boyd, who ran very slovenly, and was well beaten at the death. Willie Wylie ran a bye with and beat Warlock hollow; Lancaster drawn. After a nice level stretch for a couple of hundred yards, Clanronald drew out three lengths from Rob Roy, wrenched, turned, placed Rob Roy, and raced past him on the inside, leading out of view; coming up the hill, Rob Roy was in possession, and swerved his hare two or three times before going out of sight; Clanronald got the flat. Gang Hame and Achievement ran their byes together, Haregills and Ringdove being drawn; Gang Hame was three lengths the faster, and scored all the early points, but getting disappointed, Achievement went in and did all the work at the finish. Skylark, on the outside, was a length faster than Spoilt

Boy, turned, wrenched, kept his position, turned again, and pressed puss to covert.

Castle Kennedy Stakes.—Second Ties: Mermaid and Hops ran a short no-go. On a second attempt Hops had the run up and first turn, placing Mermaid, who turned, and led out of sight; coming in view again, Hops was next the hare and scored two points, but Mermaid made a racing go-by on the bare pasture, and thereafter completely outworked Hops. Red Robin was a length faster than On Guard, and, driving his hare in good style, won all one way. Zarah ran a bye with Dilemma, and beat the latter hollow. Bladnoch Lass, favoured by the hare, had the first turn on the inside, and, the hare continuing to bend to the Lass, Fleuron was continually disappointed, and at the finish was handsomely beaten as to the points scored.

Culhorn Cup.—First Ties: Great Go, on the outside, led Apology, scored first turn and the next; Apology got in for a point or two, when the hare doubled back to the plantation, but Lord Garlies's dog, having been served, kept possession, and pressed puss to covert, winning at the finish well. Willie Wylie and Clanronald ran a long undecided, in which the former seemed to have the pace, but Clanronald was a cleverer worker. On a second trial Clanronald got an immense advantage by a wide slip, and, Willie being unsighted, Clanronald retained his advantage to the finish. Gang Hame, on the outer circle, outpaced Achievement in the run up, scored first turn, and throughout a good trial beat Achievement well. Skylark ran a bye with Fair Anne.

Castle Kennedy Stakes.—Third Ties: Mermaid and Red Robin were sent off to a nice slip, the last-named having the pace, and, never allowing Mermaid to get a point in a short course, finished with a dashing kill on the plough. Zarah and Bladnoch Lass were slipped on undulating stubble, but were both unsighted, when puss went into a "dip" in the ground. On being slipped again, Bladnoch Lass had the run up and first turn, and led out of sight; coming in view again, the Lass was in possession, and drove puss to the wood.

Culhorn Cup.—Second Ties: Great Go took a lead of four lengths from Clanronald, and used his game three times before Clanronald got in for a point, but, rushing terribly, Great Go went in again, and after a couple of exchanges killed at the entrance to the plantation. Gang Hame and Skylark ran a long undecided, in which both ran with great fire and resolution. On a second trial Skylark, on the outside, had the first turn, and Great Go getting disappointed, Skylark went in and won cleverly at the death, which he accomplished at the wood side.—Deciding Course: Skylark and Great Go divided.

Castle Kennedy Stakes.—Deciding Course: A gallant struggle took place between Red Robin and Bladnoch Lass in a long stretch to the hare, but before puss was used they dipped out of sight; when in view, Red Robin was in possession, turned, served himself, turned again, and placed the Lass; the latter put in some merry points, and gave a go-bye on the inside, but Red Robin, working more cleverly than the Lass all through, won at the finish.

This brought the meeting to a finish, but, owing to the want of time, I cannot give any extended remarks. Moreover, the running in all the stakes after the first day being so uncertain and "flukey" on account of the hard state of the ground, any legitimate remarks as to the performances could not be made.

BALDOCK on the afternoon of the draw presented an unusual amount of bustle and excitement, and a very large number of dogs being in the town, there was every prospect of a good meeting. Mr T. Inskip had not issued his circular many days before applications began to pour in so fast that the two open stakes (sixteens), with a cup value £15 added to each by the Baldock and Spelthorne Clubs, were immediately filled, and the secretary had to refuse endless applications. The Spelthorne Club, who have been twice disappointed this season through frost from holding their meetings at Amesbury, were invited by Mr Smyth to come and run at Baldock. This amalgamation of the two clubs produced a capital card, consisting of three sixteens, a twelve, and a four dog stake for the first day. The entry and draw took place at the Rose and Crown Hotel, Baldock, where a small party had previously met and dined, Mr Strachan presiding. Among those present were Major Besant, Messrs J. Smyth, H. Smyth, Saxton, Bland, C. F. Allison, Stocken, Dean, Graves, Morgan, T. Smith, Harris, G. Davies, &c.

WEDNESDAY.—The weather was anything but promising when we left Baldock for the usual place of meet on the first day, Bygrave, as rain fell steadily, with every prospect of continuance. The morning was bitterly cold, and, owing to the frost of the day before, the rain had made the fallows unusually heavy and bad going. After some time Mr Warwick, who had been judging the match at Stoneleigh Park on the previous day, made his appearance, and at a quarter past eleven the first brace were handed to Craft, who slipped for the Baldock Club, Metcalfe doing similar duty for the Spelthorne. Owing to the company being compelled to remain on the hill, and the undulating nature of the ground, a majority of the trials could be seen very imperfectly, which will account for my description of them being so brief. Besides this, so many of the trials were all one way, and others were won by dogs showing such "superior knowledge," that a short report of the day's sport will serve to convey all the information that is necessary. The ground coursed over was nearly all fallow, and fearfully heavy going. It was generally expected that hares would, from the sticky nature of the surface, fall an easy prey to their pursuers; but such was not the case, as only nine were killed during the day, and several of the courses, although not of any great length, were quite enough for most of the dogs running. The whole of the trials took place on that portion of the estate situate between Bygrave Wood and the railway, and the beat, as usual, was conducted by Mr James Smyth, assisted by his son and Mr H. Rayner. There was a very fair attendance of our metropolitan coursers on the ground during the day, and hares were exceedingly plentiful; still, the wretched weather put a damper on the proceedings, and spoilt what would otherwise have been a good day's coursing.

Bygrave Stakes.—South-Eastern showed in front from slips, and, having the inside, gained the turn, kept his place for a couple of strong wrenches, and served Sir Bobby, who then took the lead, and, keeping well to the scut, won cleverly to Bygrave Wood. Beattie came away with a clear lead from Horniblow, and, reaching her hare, put in a succession of strong wrenches until nearing covert, where she brought puss round and let in Horniblow, whose only score was a weak wrench as puss escaped to covert. Cousin Belle came on in advance of Daisy Cutter, and scored the first and second turns; a rattling trial followed to Bygrave Plantation, Cousin Belle showing her superiority throughout, and winning very easily. Royal Letters and Dash Along came away very wide from slips; the former, on the line of her hare, gained the turn, kept her place, and never gave Dash Along a chance until nearing covert, when he got in; before he could score Royal Letters gave him a go by, and led into covert—a good performance of Mr Smith's bitch. Melody showed in front from slips; but, before she reached the hare, Hastings raced past and turned; a working course followed to Bygrave Wood, ending in the cap coming off. Hastings, at the end of the course, came into collision with a cart, and hurt his shoulder so severely that he had to be withdrawn. Skeddaddle and Prince ran very evenly together until nearing the hare, when the former drew in front, and took the first and second turns; as Mr Strutton's bitch was going on with the lead, Prince raced past and turned, repeated the dose immediately afterwards, and, keeping possession to the plantation, won cleverly. Impetus No. 2 and Helena were slipped under the hill, the former leading a length, and going out of sight in possession; after a time the pair came in view with Impetus No. 2 still in possession, and holding his own to the wood, he won all one way. Cantatrice, on the inside, gained the turn from Aid de Camp, kept her position, and, from what I could see of the course, was always in front; while puss ran clear away from her pursuers to Bygrave.

Wallington Field Stakes.—A clinking hare got up and made across the fallows for Mitchell Hill covert; Spring drew away for first turn, serving Highlander, who took the next; a rattling trial followed, the middle and end of which were in favour of Spring, who pulled through a meritorious winner. Marquis, in a good stretch, drew away two clear lengths from Trustee, and turned, serving himself; Trustee, after an exchange, showed in front until puss went from him, when Marquis, running the line of his hare much truer than his opponent, won cleverly; at the finish Trustee got in, and made a rattling kill, but too late for his chance. This dog was bought by Colonel Goodlake at a high figure, but, being tried the week before and found wanting, was given away by the gallant colonel before the present meeting. Princess Royal, across some heavy ploughing, led Rioter a length, and turned; the hare then headed for Bygrave, and Rioter, driving her before him, ran up a long score until nearing the road, where Princess Royal shot out and killed; the heavy ground was an effectual stopper for Mr Allison's bitch. Carcajou and Othello were slipped under the hill, and on coming into sight the former held the lead, and scored twice; Othello, in possession, then drove his hare for a succession of strong wrenches to covert: undecided. Next time Othello came on with a clear lead, and won a course of fair length all one way. Desperation had the beginning and end of a fair average course, but was outworked in the middle by Attaché, who received the flat. As the course was seen from the hill, Mr Dean's dog appeared to have the best of it. Pickle, in a good stretch, was several lengths faster than Restitution, who could not get in until nearing covert; she then scored a few points, but the hare escaped too soon for her chance. Champion and Belle of Baldock were slipped under the hill, and on coming into view the latter was leading several lengths; keeping her place, she dusted puss about in grand style to the railway, where, as the hare broke back again into the field, Champion shot out, wrenched, and killed. Clio came away with a lead of several lengths from O' the Toad, and bringing puss half round wrenched strongly several times, and knocked up her hare; here Mr Warwick decided: but the hare starting again, O' the Toad had the best of it until he fell, when Clio drew in front, wrenched a few times, and killed.

Puppy Stakes.—Major, in a good race up on seeds, drew out several lengths for first turn, and wrenched strongly thrice; after Minnie had exchanged points Major raced up in front, and, driving his hare well before him, won easily to covert. Abyssinia came on with a clear lead from Fleet, and, reaching the railway fence half a dozen lengths in front, led through, and Mr Warwick decided. The pair afterwards crossed the line, and had a regular grueller to Mettle Hill covert. Ceres drew away a clear length from Misshap, and, from what could be seen of the course, beat her very cleverly. Emperor, to a fast hare, drew away from Gaza, who in a fair average course was outpaced, and easily beaten to the wood. Bouquet Royal was leading a couple of lengths when the hare went right from her to Adjutant, who secured the first turn; from this point the course was all one way, as Mr Bland's bitch kept selfish possession until the hare reached Bygrave. Stanley and Miss Try ran head and head for a considerable distance until they neared the hare, when Stanley, who was running the outer circle, drew away a good length and a half for first turn, kept his place, and beat Miss Try very easily to covert. Ceres and Peter Simple ran a long working undecided; the former was outpaced to commence with, but, getting in at the finish, made a tie of it; Ceres was afterwards drawn. Another long working course, run a long distance off, took place between Pompey and Allsopp, and again the cap came off. Pompey was left standing.

All-aged Stakes.—Gipsy, on some heavy plough, drew away for first turn, kept her place for three or four strong wrenches, and drove puss to covert, Slighted Idea never having a chance. Dexterous went away on the inside with the lead, and the hare continuing to favour her, Marquis never had a chance in a short spin to covert. Catastrophe led up inside, and as soon as puss went straight gradually left Molly four lengths, and picked up his hare. Explicit, in a very long race up, had the inside and turned; the hare then made for the wood, and Mr East's bitch, retaining the lead, never gave Peter Grey a chance to covert. Mr Allison was so dissatisfied with his dog's running that he had him destroyed. Miranda showed in advance from slips; but before leaving the ploughing for some seeds Big Constable drew past, reached his hare four lengths in front, and drove her well before him to covert. Calista was showing in front, when she fell head over heels; Pirate then raced past, and had the remainder of the course to himself, the hare escaping to covert.

Spelthorne Stakes.—Soprano drew away for first turn, and in a good fair course beat Bolina most decisively. Momus had too much pace for Monarch, who was beaten from beginning to end of a trial of fair length.

THURSDAY.—Met at the Ash Tree on the Royston-road, and commenced on the fallows to the right of the turnpike. After a long beat, blank, a trimming hare got up for the first course of the day; this was between Sir Bobby and Bessie, and was really the only sporting course of the meeting. We next crossed over to Mettle Hill Covert, where the ploughed land and seeds afforded some good trials. Our beat extended to the outside of Mr Rayner's occupation, and back to the little pen farm, where the day's sport concluded at half-past four o'clock. The day was bitterly cold, and to add to our discomfort driving storms of hail occurred at frequent intervals. Notwithstanding the bad weather the day's sport showed a marked improvement over yesterday, the courses, generally speaking, being of good length and hares difficult to kill. Owing to the late departure from Baldock it was past eleven before the first brace were slipped for the Bygrave Stakes.—First Tie: After a long beat, blank, a rattling hare got up for Sir Bobby and Bessie; the latter immediately showed in front from slips, and on crossing the grass road was nearly clear, but on nearing the hare Sir Bobby reduced the gap, and gradually drawing past his opponent, gained the first turn; the hare then broke for the hill, and a rattling trial ensued, Bessie having the best of the work, and winning very cleverly. We now crossed over to Mettle Hill, and a hare was started on the fallow below for Royal Letters and Cousin Belle; the former, although running the outer circle, showed such a superiority of pace over her opponent, that she drew away three lengths, and led into covert. Melody, going a good pace, drew past Prince three lengths for first turn, and keeping her place, scored a succession of strong wrenches to the foot of the hill; here Prince got well placed, and was beginning to be very busy, but on nearing covert, Melody raced past, and as puss escaped, had won cleverly. Cantatrice came on with an immense lead from Impetus No. II., who was never once in front, the hare escaping to Mettle Hill Covert.—Second Tie: Bessie and Royal Letters had a long slip to a fast hare; the former, inside, showed in front, and the hare bearing to her side, she topped the hill with a clear lead, but in a few strides further Royal Letters changed sides, and then having the inner circle gained the turn; keeping her place, the black scored four smart wrenches in succession, then serving Bessie, the latter exchanged points with her opponent until the hare escaped to covert. Melody and Cantatrice met with a rare hare, to which the latter gained the turn by favour; keeping her position, it almost looked as if Mr Smith's bitch was going to walk over; but on nearing the foot of the hill, Melody, running very strong, raced up well in front, and, putting in her opponent, took the hare from her three times consecutively; then, half-way up the hill, Melody also scored a rattling go-by on the extreme outer circle, and won as puss reached covert.

Wallington Field Stakes.—First Tie: Marquis came up the hill with an immense lead from Spring, who, in a long trial, never had a chance with Mr Smyth's dog. Othello gradually left his opponent half a dozen lengths and turned; Rioter then wrenched twice on the hill side and killed: undecided. Rioter was afterwards drawn by arrangement. In a long slip on fallow Pickle and Attaché alternately led one another until nearing the hare, when the former drew out and turned; a long and well-contested course followed to Mettle Hill Covert, the racing stretches always in favour of Pickle, who, although his opponent stuck gamely to him, left off an easy winner. Clio soon showed in front, but the hare going right from her My Belle of Bygrave got well placed, but before she could score Clio drew straight past and killed.—Second Tie: Othello and Marquis had not gone many strides when the former threw up his head as if unsighted, and Marquis, going on with the lead, turned; puss being driven from the hill by the spectators, a scrambling exchange took place, and Othello rushed across and killed. The fiat was against Othello, who run very unluckily. Pickle, in a pretty stretch up the hill, gradually drew away two lengths from Clio, turned, then wrenched strongly; Clio, well placed, ran up a succession of brilliant points, until again letting in Pickle, who immediately put out his chance by a fine kill.

Puppy Stakes.—First Ties: Abyssinia came away from Major with an immense lead, and reaching his hare, dusted puss about very merrily for some distance, and killed; Major, it appears, was lame, but it is difficult to account for his standing still during the time the course was run. Emperor had the foot of Circe to begin with, scoring the early points, but the latter getting in, ran the strongest at the finish, and made a tie of it as puss escaped to covert; Emperor, who shut up at the end of the course, was then drawn by arrangement. Peter Simple, to a good hare, drew away from Bouquet Royal, who, in a fair average course, never had a chance from beginning to end. A precisely similar course followed with Pompey and Stanley, the former leading up and beating his opponent most thoroughly. —Second Ties: Abyssinia running in grand style, came on with a clear lead from Peter Simple, who, for a time, took no part in the course; as the hare bore round for the hill the blue got in, and was so desperately busy that half-way up the brow he had about equalised the score; here Abyssinia put on the steam, and scoring a fine go-by, won to covert. Pompey, in a good long slip, showed in front for the first fifty yards, when Circe gradually collared him, and drawing half a length in front, turned; a long punishing course followed, all one way; Circe, who ran brilliantly, beating her opponent almost pointlessly.

All-aged Stakes.—First Ties: Gipsy got much the best away from slips, and, leading Dexterous several lengths, soon had the hare killed. At the conclusion of this course the judge's horse blundered on to his head, unseating his rider, who fortunately was none the worse for his spill. Catastrophe in a good race up gained the turn from Explicit, which was about all he could do with Mr East's clever bitch, who made a rattling trial nearly all one way, the death also falling to her share. Big Constable and Pirate ran their course over the hill, a short spin ending in an undecided; Pirate was then left in. —Second Ties: Gipsy and Explicit ran their course during a snow storm, the latter winning very meritoriously. Pirate ran a bye of fair length with a puppy, brother to Skedaddle. —Spethorne Stakes.—Deciding Course: Momus, across some heavy fallow, drew away half a dozen lengths from Soprano, and bringing his hare round, never once let his opponent score; he also causing the death close to covert.

FRIDAY.—With five four-dog stakes made up the previous evening, there was every prospect of a fair day's sport; but a sharp frost set in last night, and it being found impossible to course, the stakes were divided. Owing to the heavy running on the first day a good many of the smaller dogs engaged met their bigger opponents with but little chance of success; still, the best greyhounds saw the end of the different stakes, and amongst the lot Royal Letters struck me as being a very useful animal. The weather was greatly against the meeting, but there was a good attendance on both days.

Mr Garlick's BEDFORD beat Mr Holmes ns BELLE OF THE HALL.

THE third South Lancashire (Open) Meeting, notwithstanding the important engagements yet to be decided, secured a fair share of patronage, fifty-three dogs being engaged on the first day's card. The draw took place, as usual, at the Scarisbrick Hotel on Wednesday evening, and was proceeded with immediately after dinner, to which about forty sat down, Mr Saunders occupying the chair, Mr P. Berry doing the honours of vice-chairman. There was nothing in the speculations made when the card was read over calling for special remark, the company breaking up immediately after the dogs had been slipped.

We met at Crossens Marsh, and at ten o'clock the first brace were handed to Wilkinson. There had been a slight frost during the night, and the hares ran very strong indeed, racing from the dogs in several cases, and running them to a standstill. We coursed till half-past one, when we stopped for half an hour's lunch, leaving off at four, with the Talbot Stakes untouched for the second ties.

North Meols Cup.—To a racing hare Knight Errant led three lengths, and, in an average course, never allowed Little Bob a point. Belle of the Hall secured the first score by favour, but, running very unsteadily, suffered an easy defeat. Nimble, on fallow, had a single-handed course as far as John Brown was concerned, who did not seem inclined to exert himself during the race. Little Grey led from slips, but on nearing the hare Hawk went past and scored the first turn three lengths in advance, then wrenching twice, turned, but stumbled on coming round; Little Grey now got in for a few wrenches, when Hawk resumed the command, and soon killed. Betsy led and gained the first turn, when Black Cap scored the next on the outside, and had the major part of the run, finishing with a kill. Favoured by the hare, Bedford scored first, when London Swell raced past for the second point, and well beat Bedford in a good trial.—First Ties: Knight

Errant cleverly defeated Halsall Lass, being both faster and staying better with his game. Hawk led Nimble (not quite a length), when the hare, doubling sharp at right angles, placed Nimble next her game for a turn; but Hawk, soon commencing business again, ran up a heavy score in his favour by meritorious turns with a fast hare, always being first in several long stretches, when Nimble got in at the finish, and, making a few short points, gained the decision. London Swell led Black Cap, and won well; this stake was divided.

Southport Stakes.—Belle of the Lodge, getting a slip in her favour, took a commanding lead to a fast hare, and marked the first two turns in her favour, when blue, being served, scored once; the Belle coming again, however, won easily in a long course. Brandy led on the outside and won all one way; a dog with his clothes on joined, but did not affect the merit of the trial in the least. Silver Star commenced, secured the first two points, and served Daniel Quilp, who made one turn, when Silver Star went past for the next; a severe course followed, Silver Star always having the best of it, the hare beating both to cover. Lynus had the foot of Happy Boy, and beat him rather easily, ending matters with a kill. Ben Bolt led from slips, but the hare bending in favour of the black, Lively Sailor gained the first turn and served his opponent, who, as soon as the hare went straight, showed decided superiority, and won well. May Flower and Sweetheart were slipped to a hare that soon disappeared in a ditch, when both were unsighted; May Flower catching sight first, wrenched, and killed: undecided. In the second slip May Flower led, having much the best position, and reaching her game drove her for two wrenches, then served Sweetheart, who led out of sight for an instant, when May Flower appeared in possession, drove her hare over an embankment, and gained the decision; a severe course followed, still in favour of the award.—First Ties: Brandy, being much the faster to commence with, and up to a certain distance, had won when the judge gave his decision; the race continued, however, for some time after this, and Belle of the Lodge had much the best of it. May Flower led Ben Bolt, and, running very smart and clever, soon killed; not a very satisfactory trial, but well won so far as it went.

Crossens Stakes.—Cobnut led on fallow across the ridges, three lengths over a ditch, when Fly, gaining the furrow, secured the first turn, then serving Cobnut, the latter scored the next two turns; here the red was very busy and had won, when Cobnut, coming again, just pulled it out of the fire I thought, the judge deciding in favour of Fly. A very strong hare jumped up for Shordley and Preceptor, to which the former led two good lengths, and scored three racing turns; Preceptor then went past, and, with a hare that beat them both, rubbed off the score against him and won. Highflyer got the first turn by the hare bending to the right, when a short course ensued, rather in favour of Lucretia I thought, the hare being soon killed. Fluke led, and defeated Saucy Sam very easily, the latter tiring over some heavy fallow. Wild Bee and Belle of Southport ran very evenly, until, the hare bending to the right, the latter went out first, and, coming cleverly round with her game, raced into her. Champion led, and gained the first score, then, keeping on the line of his hare, made a savage strike and fluffed his game; a good trial followed, all in favour of Champion, who ran this course very well, and full of fire; from the commencement of this run another dog joined, having broke away from his trainer, but not interfering with the trial in any way. Rosetta led, and scored the first two turns in her favour (Lady Isabella bungling at a ditch), when the latter, rushing in crosswise, cannoned severely, knocking Rosetta off her legs, who, however, won rather cleverly. Red Rose led two lengths, turned, and scored the following one, when Bullrush, getting in, had the major part of a severe course all to himself.—First Ties: Fly led, and won at all points, Preceptor running for two long stretches on the other side of the ditch to that on which the race was being run. Highflyer and Fluke, carrying collars, had a scrambling run up, but Fluke as the race went on won unmistakably. Belle of Southport and Champion ran an undecided course. When slipped again, Champion (the hare bending slightly in his favour) took the first turn, and, serving himself, put the hare to Belle of Southport, who, however, could not keep her place, the white collar winning easily, but losing the decision.

Talbot Stakes.—Barmaid commenced the best, but was cleverly defeated by Blyth, who made some telling go-byes near the finish of the course. Make-up led three lengths, and won all one way. Santa Anna and Miss Halsall II. had an undecided course, the latter gaining by favour two points, which the former balanced. In the next slip Miss Halsall led and scored the first three points, when Santa Anna getting in, looked like winning, but he stumbled, and Miss Halsall, resuming the lead, went out of sight and gained the decision; a long course followed, Santa Anna having it all to herself. Tiny Betsy had the speed to commence with, and scored the first three turns, when Auld Toun of Ayr got possession, and, lasting the longest, won with a racing hare rather cleverly. Beaufort and Guild Belle had an undecided, the former having the best of it. When slipped again, Beaufort led, and in a scrambling course round some haystacks was always first; he got on to another hare, and had a single-handed course of a distressing character. Annie Lisle and Killarney ran an undecided course; in the next slip Killarney led again, and soon raced into his hare. Lord Raglan ran a bye.

SATURDAY.—Talbot Stakes.—First Ties: The hare slightly favoured Make-up to begin with, but coming round to the left Blyth commenced, and in a short course beat Make-up well, the latter killing when served. Miss Halsall II. beat Auld Toun of Ayr at all points. Lord Raglan, commencing the freshest, won a short trial rather easily, Beaufort being evidently stiff from his severe running. Killarney ran a short bye.—Second Ties: Blyth led, and just won a shortish trial, Miss Halsall II. being a good second. Lord Raglan and Killarney had an undecided course.

Southport Stakes.—Second Ties: Brandy and Lynus ran evenly from slips, but the former soon drew away, and coming round with his hare, having a strong lead, the course ended by the hare sougning. May Flower ran a bye.

Crossens Stakes.—Deciding Course: Fluke cleverly defeated Fly in a moderate trial. Rosetta led Belle of Southport to a drain, where they were lost to view for a second, but reappearing, with Rosetta in, she never left her game till she killed. Killarney, in the final slip with Lord Raglan, being slightly favoured by the hare, took a strong lead, and won a slovenly run course, although stumbling twice, Lord Raglan not being fast enough when in possession to score, and the hare escaping.

Houlgrave Stakes.—Bedford, after a good struggle, got his head in front, and, putting puss round, raced into her. Belle of the Hall had slightly the pace of Lady Isabella, and just won a shortish trial.

Southport Stakes.—Deciding Course: May Flower got first turn by favour, when Brandy got in, and, running steadily, won with a balance in hand, May Flower killing.

Crossens Stakes.—Deciding Course: Very soon after Rosetta and Fluke were slipped for the deciding run the hare bent to the right, and the former, taking advantage of this, ran up a long score in her favour; the hare, however, was a very good one, and Fluke began to show to advantage; as the course progressed he was evidently the stronger and better stayer of the two, and just won, not having much to spare, Rosetta drawing at last and killing.

Talbot Stakes.—Deciding Course: Blyth went first on the outside by two lengths, and did everything in a good trial, winning in a hollow manner.

Houlgrave Stakes.—Bedford, after going a short distance, came away with a strong lead, and, running very smart, won well a shortish course.

REMARKS.—This meeting had a narrow escape from being interrupted by the weather, as the frost on the second day, Friday, was exceedingly severe, and up to four o'clock little hopes could be entertained of its completion; a change took place then, however, resulting in rain, and before morning all the frost had disappeared. With regard to the three dogs who divided the North Meols Cup, I am decidedly of opinion that had Nimble's name been erased and Hawk substituted, the three best would have been left in, according to the running. In the Southport Stakes Brandy well deserved his position, and won handsomely. Ben Bolt had a short trial, but as far as the run went was beaten in the Crossens Stakes. Fluke, the winner, got the decision in his favour when it looked any odds against him, although he certainly deserved noticing for his perseverance in the trial, if he had not got the award. In this stake another mistake was made, as Champion beat Belle of Southport as well as one dog could beat another, the Belle never actually making a point. Rosetta, the runner-up, deserves honourable mention too, as it was odds on her winning the stake at one time. In the Talbot Stakes the winner, Blyth, won without dispute; she is certainly a most handsome animal, weighing 60lb., and very racing in appearance. The judging on the second day pleased everyone on the field, and in one or two instances, when the hat came off, proved decisively that Mr Nightingale can judge a course and give satisfaction.

Mrs Farrant vs GEORGEHAM and Mrs W. P. Warner vs WILD WEED divided.

We journeyed to Shenley on Wednesday morning in anticipation of enjoying not only a good day's coursing, but, what has been rather a novelty of late, a fine day. In neither were we disappointed, for a finer day could not be; and as to the coursing, it was of a very first-rate description, and I had no idea the Watford Club possessed such ground until I saw it. The owner of the estate, T. B. Myers, Esq., being rather short of hares this season, has most generously refrained from shooting them, that the club might not be deprived of the meeting he so kindly allows them. The Porters' Cup (named after the estate), to which the president of the club, Mr Alderman Copeland, had added an eight guinea goblet, was the first event on the card; and the first pair were put in the slips at 9.30.

Porter's Cup.—Tinker was out of slips two or three lengths before Sailor could get on his legs, when he gave Tinker a racing go-by, and, keeping his position, well won, the hare being too good for either. Fancy led Frivolous Idea nine or ten lengths, used her hare, and put it to the white, who, however, could not keep possession, and Fancy won cleverly, the hare escaping to covert. Deceiver led Warlock to the hedge, where both were thrown out, and Mr Thomas could not help giving the course to the bitch: an unsatisfactory trial. Heidelberg led Leonard some three lengths, flying the fence, Leonard missing, Heidelberg in possession and scoring rapidly; Leonard must have got possession and wiped these points off out of my sight, as he got the award. Rieter led Lady Kate a length to a good hare, and in a long course scarcely admitted of any assistance. Swift and Giraffe was also all one way, the red toiling hopelessly in the rear, the hare much too good for both. Sunbeam and Defiance, in a straight run up, ran locked together a short distance, when Sunbeam drew himself a clear length in front of the red, and, killing puss in the lane, well won a short course. Lord Lyon took a slight lead of the veteran Button, and from favour got the first turn, the hare escaping in a lane.—First Tie: Fancy, slipped on grass, led Sailor six lengths to a good hare, and running up a succession of wrenches, drove puss to covert and won with plenty in hand. Deceiver led Leonard some two lengths, and turned; and getting hung in the fence, Mr Thomas very properly judged up to this point, and gave her the course. Rieter and Swift: the latter led Rieter three or four lengths, turned, and keeping possession it seemed any odds on him, Rieter in the meantime running most suspiciously; he, however, thought twice of the matter, and setting to work gave a racing go-by, scored rapidly, finishing with a kill of great merit: altogether, the most curious performance I ever saw. Sunbeam appeared to me to have the run up from Lord Lyon, and to be winning easily; the latter, however, got the award, but the work that entitled him to it must have been done out of my sight.—Second Tie: Fancy led, and turned to Deceiver, who putting the hare again to Fancy, blue retained possession and won a pretty trial. Lord Lyon led Rieter ten lengths, and turned to Rieter, who allowed his lordship to race past him for second turn; puss, however, getting into heavy fallow, Rieter's great strength carried him through; he made three or four strong wrenches, and finished with a very clever kill.

Shenley Stakes.—Marksman, by favour, got first turn and served himself, when the nameless animal, brightening up, gave him a racing go-by; but Marksman, again getting possession, won, puss escaping. Esau was much too fast for Sir Arthur, and well beat him; neither, however, could take any liberties with the game. Warrington led six lengths from slips to a famous hare, and, making a succession of wrenches, well won. Sultan led Gimcrack five or six lengths, and won an average trial at every point.—First Tie: Esau and Marksman: I did not see sufficiently of this course to give a description, but Esau won. Sultan outpaced Warrington from the commencement, and was much too good for him.

Ladies' Bracelet.—Little Nell, first on her legs, led by a length, and, wrenching to serve herself, kept possession, and looked all over a winner; the brindle, however, got in, and in a give and take course just secured the flat. Topsy led Stella, and turned, and on again getting possession came a regular purler in endeavouring to kill; they then ran completely out of sight, and ran themselves almost to a standstill. Wild Weed got a slight lead, and put puss round to Harmony, who cleverly handled her; Wild Weed again got in, and then commenced one of the most beautiful courses I ever saw; I can only describe it by saying that they both handled this rare hare in a style that does one good to witness, Wild Weed making the kill, and just winning, with not half a point to spare. Red Spot led, and, outworking Czarina, won with points in hand.—First Ties: Georgeham led some three lengths, and began to knock her game about in a clever manner, when Topsy, running the stiffness of her previous severe course off, came out, and making a couple of wrenches, Georgeham got in and killed cleverly. Wild Weed outpaced and beat Red Spot at every point, never allowing her to get in. In consequence of darkness coming on the three events were necessarily divided.

REMARKS.—Nothing will speak more highly for the quality of the Shenley hares than the fact that only four were killed during the day. I never saw hares run stronger anywhere, and the country is open, fields large, and, unlike some of the Watford ground, not stony. The attendance was very great, but the most admirable order was kept. With regard to the dogs engaged, they were more than an average lot; I think the pick of the lot would include Fancy, Sunbeam, Lord Lyon, Esau, Sultan, Georgeham, Wild Weed, and Harmony; and, judging from the running of the two latter upon this occasion, two cleverer bitches never ran. They knocked their hare—a regular traveller—about in an unmistakable manner, and finished with a kill, a performance that stamps them as decidedly the two best bitches on the card. I think Fancy would have won the Cup, Esau the Stanley Stakes, and Wild Weed the Bracelet. R.

THIS meeting, which has hitherto contented itself with club and small gatherings, has now, under the able secretaryship of Mr Hetherington, reached the goodly form of three sixteen-dog stakes, with a very nice cup of upwards of £10 added to the Annandale Stakes, and from the support it has received, and the spirit displayed by its promoters, it seems destined to hold a prominent position in future in the coursing world. The entry and draw took place in the Buccleuch Arms, Moffat, on Monday afternoon, and by five o'clock was correctly got through. A company of forty sat down to an excellent dinner, presided over by J. C. Hope Johnstone, Esq., when, after the loyal toasts had been given, the card was read over, but very little business took place.

TUESDAY.—The meet was at Annanbank, about 7 miles from Moffat, and quite at hand to the Wamphray station, where at half past ten (a too late hour to begin at) we commenced operations. The ground coursed over was all arable, and the hares being driven from the fallows, we had very good running. The day was fine, with the exception of many heavy showers of hail and rain.

Annanbank Stakes.—Second Thoughts, favoured in the run up, scored first turn, but on getting properly together Dewdrop went faster, and with equal cleverness, and won a good trial pretty well. Water Cure, in a short undecided trial, showed pace, and made a couple of turns, Pioneer getting in and balancing matters before puss escaped in a garden. In their next slip Pioneer showed the way, and won a short trial all one way, winding up the course with a kill in a drain. In a cross slip Eva reached her hare first, put it round, and knocked it up: a very poor trial for Blue Violet. Belle o' Petteril was superior in pace to Contentment, and throughout a rather long race had it nearly all her own way. Happy Nell outpaced Greek Slave, and made first turn, the black the next, when puss broke away, which served Nell, who won a fast-run course rather cleverly, Greek Slave's trip to Ridgway last week not having done her any good. Hue and Cry outpaced the rather slow Mystery, and wrenched once or twice to covert. Phantom was three or four lengths faster than Falstaff, and made first two turns; Sir John then set to work, and beat her by superior working, but with not a great deal to spare. Rosebud led on the outer circle to a fence, at which Boswell came down a burster, and put out his chance entirely, as the other got away with a long lead, Boswell only getting up and wrenching twice before puss gained covert.

Upper Annandale Cup.—Rob Roy showed considerable pace over Maid of Millburn, and throughout a long and good trial had always the best of it. Flying Mist was faster than Baldoon, and made the early points; the latter, however, got in and was handy for a little, till the Mist drew away, turned, killed, and won. Harry Broome got the advantage by the hare coming to him, and, working very cleverly, scored a number of points before Esther began; when she did the hare had gained the corner of the field, in which a good deal of short work was done by both, Esther doing a little the most, but not, as I thought, nearly balancing the points made by Harry at the commencement of the race. Troublesome, favoured in the run up, led; but before she could reach her game Corrie Lea drew past, turned twice, the black and white once; Corrie a fine kill. To a fast hare Clanronald showed the pace, and throughout a racing trial had it all to himself, Edenside not being able to keep pace with him. Hie-I-Obby got best out of slips, but before he could reach his game Fusilier drew past, flew a fence beautifully, and turned the hare, who fell into a drain, where she was killed. Frost and Fire and Ivie Campbell ran two no-goes, in the first of which Ivie showed the pace, but went very wide; the next was only a lead to covert, in which Ivie again showed pace. At the third time of asking Ivie had still the speedier, and won a moderate length of trial well. Contractor and Ptolemy also ran two no-goes, the first one from being un-sighted, the second from the slips breaking and the latter carrying them during the course. In their final spin, Contractor led and made first turn, Ptolemy then had the best of it for a little, but seemingly tired, as the Contractor went on and finished his work well.

Kinnel Stakes.—Pritchard outpaced Langholm, made first two turns, and in a good course had always the heels of the black dog, and won with considerable ease. Gallant Scotia and Sir James ran a short scrambling no-go amongst some rough ground, Sir James afterwards being drawn. Pretty Polly and Avonmore were unsighted shortly after leaving slips; when they did get on, neither reached their hare before she escaped to covert: no-go. Next slip Pretty Polly was favoured to the hare, and won a scrambling course, in which neither of them showed very great form. Superiority was, on the outer circle, four or five lengths faster than Black Bee, and made first turn, the hare gaining covert before I saw anything more done. Fanny Fern was superior in pace on the outside, and made first turn, then in a good working trial she had considerably the best of an average length of trial. Faloon and Simplicity ran a no-go, in which they both got unsighted, the latter getting on, but the former not joining in, in time to decide on before puss reached covert; Simplicity was afterwards drawn. Bion outpaced King David, and beat him cleverly in a short trial. Grand Deception also outpaced Hooly and Fairly by three or four lengths, turned, followed his game through a fence, wrenched twice, and made a grand kill, which terminated the day's proceedings.

WEDNESDAY.—One of the most disagreeable days that could possibly be—a driving, heavy rain, that made everything uncomfortable; and although the running was carried on under such difficulties, I have no doubt, had the weather been fine, the results in several instances would have been different.

Annanbank Stakes.—First Tie: Pioneer outpaced and beat Dewdrop all through a good trial. Eva, very contrary to expectation, on the outer circle led Belle o' Petteril, and had always the best of the course till the hare gained the welcome shelter of the root of an old tree. Happy Nell, favoured in the run up, got first turn; a scrambling course afterwards took place, in which Nell had the best of it. Rosebud was very superior in pace to Falstaff, and had the course nearly all her own way.—Second Tie: Pioneer, who stood the stormy weather better than little Eva, strode away from her, and, as far as we could see, had always a good balance in hand. Happy Nell could not keep pace with Rosebud, who, in a moderate length of trial, decidedly beat her.—Deciding Course: Mr Proudfoot and Mr Binning being old friends, and having arranged beforehand that if they should come together they would divide, they did so.

Upper Annandale Cup.—First Tie: Rob Roy, favoured by the hare coming to him, reached puss first, and put in a number of points at the back of a stone wall before Flying Mist could begin; when she did she was very clever, as well as lucky, as the strong work done by Rob at the beginning of the race was out of sight of the judge, and he gave her the course; right as far as he saw, but wrong as to what did take place. Corrie Lea was too fast for Esther in a moderate length of trial on rough ground. Fusilier had the pace of Clanronald, but worked wide, and thereby got beaten in not a very long trial. Contractor showed the pace of Ivie Campbell to a farmhouse, which was all I saw of the trial.—Second Tie: I did not see the trial betwixt Corrie Lea and Flying Mist, but understand that the former was the faster, and had a good bit the best of the course. Contractor having got lamed, he was drawn, and Clanronald ran a bye.—Deciding Course: The representatives of Corrie Lea and Clanronald agreed to divide, Mr Jardine (Corrie Lea) taking the cup under a consideration.

Kinnel Stakes.—First Tie: Pritchard was so superior to Gallant Scotia, that he seemed as if paralysed by his deadly mixture. Superiority was most decidedly the faster, but the game little Polly, getting an opening, had outworked and beat him; however, being at a distance, I could not make out distinctly which had won. Faloon and Simplicity ran an undecided last night, in which they were unsighted. It turned out that Faloon had not joined in in the trial sufficiently to constitute a course, and it was ruled by the stewards that he should run a bye; in doing so he seriously injured himself, and had to be destroyed. Fanny Fern therefore ran a bye, which was of moderate length. Bion, in a long trial, was faster, and had much the best of Grand Deception.—Second Ties: Pritchard, on the outer circle, reached his game first, and turned. The plucky Fanny Fern then set to work, and in a tough trial fairly upset Batty's Mixture. Bion had a little the pull of pace over Pretty Polly, and on undulating ground, where only partial glimpses of the course could be seen, he outworked and beat the Pretty Poll.—Deciding Course: This trial I did not see. I understand, however, that Bion was the faster, but Fanny being the cleverer, eventually won.

When the last meeting at Ashdown Park took place in October, hopes were entertained of this once popular South-country gathering recovering some of its prestige. The present meeting, however, shows such a falling off from what we have been in the habit of seeing at Ashdown in former years, that unless something is done before next season, in the shape of infusing more spirit into the management, it is greatly to be feared that Ashdown Park will be unable to hold its own against the many popular meetings now cropping up in all parts of the country. We have a shrewd guess that Tamworth, with a 64 all-aged stake already full, although only in its second year, has prevented many from running dogs here who would otherwise have attended. Then, again, the monster meeting at Southport in March, where the great Scarisbrick Cup of 128 dogs has closed some time, is also certain to have affected in some measure the meeting.

On reaching Lambourne on Monday evening appearances were gloomy enough, and, from the small number of dogs that had arrived, the probability of the stakes not filling became very apparent. The Red Lion Hotel was opened for the occasion by Mr Staples, the confectioner of Newbury, who did all that lay in his power to make his visitors comfortable; but the small attendance at the dinner, under the presidency of Mr Burton (the vice chair being occupied by Mr Bland), only a dozen sitting down, would, I am afraid, entail on Mr Staples a serious loss.

A hard frost set in over night; but soon after we had reached Lambourne Corner on Tuesday morning it rapidly disappeared before a bright sun, and the coursing commenced at the time appointed. The usual well-known beats were taken; but hares were wild, and also scarce in places, which caused it to be nearly dark before the card (twenty-six courses) was run through. Considering that neither Lord Craven nor any of the usual house party was present, there was a very fair general attendance for the first day; but the sport dragged fearfully, and, to add to the general discomfiture, the weather underwent a disagreeable change during the last hour—a drizzling rain falling until we reached Lambourne. Fortunately for the company, Mr Staples had the forethought to come on the ground provided with hot soups, which he dispensed to the company at a very reasonable charge.

TUESDAY.—The Uffington Cup.—Liberty led Idalia three or four lengths and got first turn, when the hare, being closely pressed, deliberately jumped into one of the made ponds used for the cattle, and was drowned—a rather remarkable circumstance in this fine open country. Colonel led Seaweed three lengths to a good hare, and made the first turn, when the latter got possession, and kept it to the end of a fine racing trial, driving her hare in rare style to the Old Warren Plantation. Love Apple was the quickest from slips, but You Can gradually crept up and passed him a couple of lengths for first turn; the hare then bent to Love Apple, who kept close to his game, without altering her course, to covert: undecided. In their next spin You Can again showed the pace and scored the first turn, but, serving Mr Long's dog, he got in possession, maintained his place to the end of an average trial, and puss, being superior to either, made her escape. Solomon was a couple of lengths faster than Anchorite to a good hare, and scored first turn, serving himself two or three times in succession; he then stumbled, letting in the black, who wrenched as the hare was breaking away; Solomon raced past, and used his game two or three times previous to her escape into the Old Warren Plantation. A rare hare was started for Bouquet Royal and Streamer; the latter had the lead and first turn, following it up with a lot of smart, clever work, till Bouquet Royal got well placed, and in a splendid working trial had rubbed off the score; but the hare breaking previous to reaching covert, Streamer raced past and won. Sybil and Alloa Ale had a slip long enough to test the speed of any dogs, but unfortunately the latter for a time became unsighted; when together Mr Allison's bitch was well beaten, both for speed and working abilities, and when they disappeared over the hill the winner had any quantity of points to spare. Leila, on leaving the slips, was unsighted, which caused I Never to go away with a lead of quite ten lengths; but when the former joined in, Mr Smyth's bitch took no further part in a good average trial. Rebecca led Ascot Lass four lengths, and secured the run up, after which she wrenched her game several times, driving puss up the hill, where the Lass got in and did some pretty work, but not sufficient to rub out the early points of Rebecca before the hare escaped to covert. Ceres was much superior in speed, and all through a magnificent trial, was always in front of Allsop; the hare, a good one, escaping for another day. Vision led three or four lengths to a hare from Compton Bottom, and, wrenching strongly several times before they disappeared over the hill by the Rubbing House, well beat Heedless in a rattling course. Heir at Law came to Ashdown with a great reputation, but, after getting well from slips, he was passed by Beverage long before the hare was reached, and the latter won the whole of the course in the hollowest imaginable style. Aggravator, rather faster than Conspiracy, gained the first turn, and going on for four or five beautiful wrenches, again turned; Lord Craven's bitch, well placed, scored rapidly, and nearly equalised the points, but Mr Allison's dog came again, shot past, and had two or three more goes at his hare before she got away, and won. Buttered Gammon led up to a hare from Maddle covert, and throughout a working trial always showed the pace, taking two points to one, and winning a long course very cleverly, Mr W. Long's Leonie being unable to make a good point in any part of it. Miss Hap and Cashbox were slipped upon some fallow at the back of Maddle Farm; the former scored the first half-dozen points, when Cashbox got in and began to be very busy; here Mr Morgan's bitch again got placed, and finished with a good kill. Juvenile Weakness led Earwig to the summit of the hill, where the latter drew past, and during the remainder of an average trial won with a lot to spare, including a kill of merit. Circe and Emperor ran a short undecided, the latter getting unsighted; Circe ran the hare to covert; Emperor was afterwards drawn by arrangement.

Craven Cup.—All Fours obtained the run up and first turn, keeping possession for a couple more wrenches, and then fell, which let in Explicit, and the old bitch, going in rare form, would not again leave the crutch of her game until she had driven it to covert and won the course with a little to spare. Hasty Jane and Big Constable were slipped in some turnips, the latter leading a couple of lengths for first turn, which was the only point he could make, as Jane went on with her hare, and finished with a meritorious kill, Hermione was beaten at all points by Marquis, the latter appearing to like the fine going of Ashdown compared to that of Baldock. Attaché on leaving the slips led for a short distance, but Behemoth raced past and ran straight into his hare, but did not hold her, and Attaché killed: a short unsatisfactory trial. Czarowitz was led and cleverly beaten by Clio in a short trial. Lady Jane was three lengths faster than Bomp Farewell; and if I state the latter could not succeed in adding a point to his score, it will save me the trouble of enumerating all the beautiful work done by her ladyship; the hare escaped, although very tightly pressed. Cap-a-pie and Confederate ran a short undecided, in which I thought the latter had much the best of the course. Cap-a-pis was afterwards drawn. Sal was two lengths faster than Arkansas to a racing hare, driven from Knighton Bushes, and wrenching three or four times brought her game round, when some exchanges took place, but the decided superiority of Sal was soon manifest as she raced past, and, driving her hare in grand style up the down, was any number of points in front of her opponent when puss was killed at the top of the hill. This clever performance of Sal's put the backers of Saucebox for the Waterloo Cup on good terms with themselves. Sal Volatile was two or three lengths faster than Princess, and secured the first four points, but the superior working and staying powers of the Princess enabled her to wipe out the score and win with a lot in hand. Cluny and Ate ran their course as near in the dark as possible, the latter showing the pace, and winning cleverly. The dinner party on Tuesday evening, at the Red Lion, could only muster some ten or twelve, and the cloth being removed, three eight-dog stakes were made up for the following day.

WEDNESDAY.—Met at the Rubbing House; the morning was again fine, but windy, and there was a large attendance of horsemen and pedestrians. The second day's sport is generally considered superior to the others; but upon this occasion the visitors were disappointed, as they had a long dreary day for twenty-seven courses, commencing at ten and leaving off when it was quite dark. The trials during the day were first-class, and not too severe, as is often the case at Ashdown. None of the house party were present, the family having left Ashdown for London on the previous Saturday.

Uffington Cup.—First Tie: Liberty and Seaweed ran a short scrambling undecided, in which it was a puzzler to know which had the best of it. Next time Liberty, upon the outside, gradually drew in front for first turn, and, sticking to her game very determinedly, gave Seaweed but little opportunity of gaining a favourable verdict. Love Apple and Solomon went wide from slips, the former for a time being unsighted; they, however, got well together, Love Apple at the commencement having much the best of it; but Solomon in the middle and at the finish completely outworked him, and the wise man, staying much the longest, finished an extraordinary long trial with a kill of merit. Sybil, evidently unsighted in the long grass, was led any number of lengths, and for some time was unable to get near her opponent; when she joined in, Streamer and the hare were both much faster, puss beating them both to Knighton Bushes. Leila went away from Rebecca with a good lead, which she maintained from beginning to end, a good hare beating her pursuers in a long course from Compton Bottom to Ashdown Park. Ceres, after getting badly from slips, raced past Vision, and, reaching her hare several lengths in front, maintained her position all through, not once allowing her opponent to get next her game to Compton Close covert. Beverage and Aggravator ran a very pretty give-and-take undecided. Next time Aggravator again led, and took first turn; he then let in Beverage, who kept greedy possession until nearing covert, when Aggravator spurred past, but too late to alter the flat, which was against him. Buttered Gammon was a shade faster than Miss Hap to the hare; exchanges out of number followed; the former, always having the early point in his favour, won with this and a little more, when puss escaped to Compton Close. Circe, upon the outside, was faster than Earwig, and, in a beautiful working trial, cleverly disposed of her opponent, Mr Clemiston's bitch finishing with a meritorious kill.

Craven Cup.—Second Tie: Explicit, at the commencement, was outpaced by Hasty Jane, the latter very cleverly securing the first five points; the hare then came short round to Mr East's bitch, who made the most of the opportunity by sticking to her game and knocking puss about in her well-known style, until she had more than balanced the account of her opponent; Explicit wound up with a splendid kill close to the covert side. Marquis and Behemoth were let go to a clinking hare, driven from Compton Close, and in a well-contested struggle it was difficult to decide which was going the faster; the hare, however, came round to Marquis, who went on with her for at least half a dozen points before Behemoth could succeed in adding three weak points to his score; Marquis, again getting possession, put in some more beautiful work on the hill side, where Behemoth got in, but Marquis raced past and killed very cleverly. Clio and Lady Jane were slipped to a dodging hare, beaten from Knighton Bushes; the former took a lead of a couple of lengths in the run up, making first and second turn, serving herself for two more wrenches; bending puss to Lady Jane, she went on scoring rapidly, and looked like rubbing off the score; Clio, however, soon came again, and, gradually drawing to the front again, used her hare two or three times, when both tumbled over together, very tired; the hare then went on, taking it very easily to the covert from whence she was driven. Confederate, all through a good working trial, was faster than Sal, and equally clever; the latter had evidently not forgotten her severe course of the day previous, and a trimming hare beat them both to Compton Close. Princess got best from slips, but long before the hare was reached Ate raced clean past; they then disappeared from my sight, but Mr Warwick informed me that Mr Allison's bitch was infinitely superior at all points.

Uffington Cup.—Second Tie: Liberty ran an unlucky course with Solomon, as the hare, the moment the dogs were slipped, came short round, which enabled him to reach his game many lengths first, and, puss being a weak one, he wrenched once, and cleverly killed. Streamer went a cracker from slips, but his opponent Leila became unsighted, and could not get upon equal terms before Streamer picked up his game; the result was undecided. Leila had the misfortune to get on another hare, and had a long pumping course to herself. Next time, Streamer, who was much the fresher of the two, took a commanding lead for first turn, and serving himself, wrenched strongly four or five times, and then fell a cropper; Leila went on with the hare and used it three or four times, when Streamer came again, and killed. Ceres and Beverage were slipped close to Wayland Smith's Cave; the former, slightly favoured, reached her hare a shade in advance, and served Beverage, who got possession, and handling his game in grand style, soon ran up a respectable score; some exchanges afterwards took place, but the superior pace of Beverage was very apparent, as he again came to the front and drove his game to covert. Buttered Gammon and Circe were going very even from slips, when the former tripped, then pricked up her ears as if unsighted; Circe went on and wrenched strongly three or four times, when her opponent, having recovered from her mishap, joined in, and several exchanges followed; Mr Clemiston's clever bitch, having a little the best of the work, finished a prettily run trial with a meritorious kill.

Craven Cup.—Second Ties: Explicit was led a couple of lengths by Marquis inside, and the latter, bringing his hare round, served himself, and finished a short but decisive course with a brilliant kill. Clio scarcely gave Confederate an opportunity of scoring during any part of a fair trial; the former took a good lead, and knocked her hare about several times in grand style, then finished with a kill of merit. Ate ran her bye with Kangaroo.

Ashdown Stakes.—Heir-at-Law, getting badly out of slips, was led two or three lengths by Conspiracy, the latter being unable to score another point in a good struggle to Knighton Bushes, where puss escaped. Lucifer had not the least difficulty in well beating Anemone, the former, so far as I could see, being always in front. Alice completely ran round Mystery several times during a pretty trial to the end of White Horse Hill, puss making her escape to covert. Emperor was several lengths faster than Maiden; the latter found she had different quality to meet to what she found at Southminster, and only succeeded in scoring a few weak points previous to the hare effecting her escape into covert at the back of Maddle Farm.

Swinley Stakes.—Alloa Ale was well beaten by Sir Joseph, who led, and rattled his hare about in beautiful style, receiving no assistance whatever from his opponent; Sir Joseph finished the course with a capital kill. Coppers scarcely allowed Miss Try to score a single point in a short but decisive trial, puss beating both her pursuers to Maddle Farm Plantation. Calista raced clean away from Prima Donna to a good hare, which would not allow either to do much with her before making her escape to Maddle Plantation. Eyesore and All Fours ran a short circular undecided, and were instantly put into the slips again; but after walking a long time, and darkness coming on, there was no alternative but to take them out, as neither dogs nor hares could be seen.

THURSDAY.—The weather was delightfully fine, the sun shining with the warmth of summer—a great contrast to the keen wind of Wednesday. Met at Maddle Farm. The company were more numerous than on either of the preceding days. After three courses had been run, Earl Craven, accompanied by the Hon. Oswald Craven and Lady Emily Craven, came on to the downs. Their presence at once gave a spirit and prestige to the meeting which it had sadly lacked previously. As if in honour of the distinguished visitors, the sport was much superior, hares being more quickly found, and the trials generally of the true Ashdown character. The beat extended from Maddle Farm, round by Compton Bottom, and on to Kingston Warren, thence to the round covert, where a halt was made for luncheon. The sport terminated about five o'clock at the Great Belt, situated at the further side of Kingston Warren, affording just time for the visitors to depart by the evening trains from Shrivensham and Hungerford. I will now proceed to briefly give the details of the running.

Swinley Stakes.—Eyesore and All Fours, after being in slips for half an hour on Wednesday evening, were compelled to be taken out. They were this time slipped to a good hare beaten from Man Down; the former led over the breast of the hill, and when they again appeared Eyesore was still leading, knocking her hare about in grand style for several points; the hare then left the downs for some fallow, the fawn still in front; she, however, came round to All Fours, who wrenched twice, and killed.—First Ties: Sir Joseph seemed to hang in the slips, which enabled Coppers to lead him three lengths; the hare then came short round to Sir Joseph, when he wrenched twice and struck at his game, removing some of her flock; but puss went on, and Sir Joseph turning very cleverly, he again got on good terms, and this time was successful in killing his hare and winning the course very cleverly. Calista and Eyesore ran a very long undecided, the former having the early points, but the latter cleverly balanced them at the Round Plantation, where the hare escaped. Eyesore was afterwards drawn in favour of Calista.—Deciding Course: Calista was leading several lengths when they disappeared from my sight, and Mr Warwick informed me that Sir Joseph was scarcely ever in the hunt.

Rubbing House Stakes.—Princess Royal and Birdlime ran a short merry undecided, the hare making her escape. Next time Princess Royal led three lengths, and, keeping possession, admitted of no assistance from Birdlime, the Princess finishing with a brilliant kill. Attaché was much faster than Mocking Bird, and all through a good working trial had much the best of it, puss beating them to a small covert on Man Down. Cluny led from slips, but in a long stretch Lady Isabella drew past, and in going down the hill took a good lead for first turn, and, serving herself two or three times, wound up with a meritorious kill. My Belle of Bygrave and Cantata were in the slips a long time before a hare was found for them; she was, however, worth waiting for, as she afforded a splendid trial; the former, going away with a long lead, scarcely allowed her opponent to make a good point in any part of a long trial, puss getting chopped.—First Ties: Princess Royal was led by Attaché for first and second turns; four or five exchanges then followed, when the hare broke. Attaché's fine speed again served him, as he raced clean past for another turn, and Princess Royal killed, no merit being attached to the same. Lady Isabella went badly from slips, and could not succeed in getting near her hare before My Belle of Bygrave had secured the run up and four more turns; they then exchanged points and disappeared off the hill, My Belle winning with a lot to spare. The stakes were then divided.

Uffington Cup.—Third Ties: Solomon and Streamer were let go to a trimming hare, the latter taking a commanding lead for the first turn, and, going on with his hare in beautiful style, quickly run up a long score of near a dozen points; puss then took to the hill, and Streamer being blown, Solomon, a very game little dog, got in, and all over the hill, and a long way towards Ashdown, remained in front, but was not doing much with his hare; he, however, did not allow Streamer to get in before he had effected a clever kill. Another grand course was in store for us between Beverage and Circe; the latter, showing the pace, led quite three lengths for the first bend, and, handling her game in beautiful style, took six more points; Beverage, in trying to get up, fell, Circe again going on with a long lead, driving her along the hillside; Beverage, having recovered from his fall, joined in, and several exchanges followed, but the untiring Circe would not be denied, and again went to the front, rendering an adverse verdict an impossibility, as puss escaped.—Deciding Course: Streamer went a cracker from slips, and before they had gone two hundred yards was leading four lengths, by which distance he gained the run up, and, driving his hare in grand style, looked like walking in for this nice little stake; but, previous to the Round Clump of Kingston Warren being reached, Circe got in, and Streamer having shot his bolt, he could not make another effort, as Mr Clemitson's clever and good staying bitch won all the remainder of a long, punishing course, which she finished with a meritorious kill.

Craven Cup.—Third Ties: Marquis was last to leave the slips, but before the hare was reached he raced past Ate two lengths for first turn; serving himself, he secured two more good points; three or four exchanges then followed, but the extra speed of Marquis continually brought him to the front, and in going up Kingston Warren Hill he finished with a kill of merit. Clio ran her bye with Ceres, the latter having the best of it.—Deciding Course: Marquis seemed to get rather badly from slips, and Clio was soon leading three lengths, but Marquis was gradually drawing upon her, and at the time of puss going to Clio was exactly level with her; they then took one turn and a wrench; the hare then came slightly to Marquis, who shot in, used his hare strongly four or five times, and looked all over a winner; but puss getting disappointed at the end of the Long Belt, Clio again got possession and drove her hare a long way by the side of the belt, the hare escaping, and Clio gained the flat of this exciting course.

Ashdown Stakes.—First Ties: Heir at Law and Lucifer got a real Kingston Warren traveller put up for them, Lucifer by favour getting the run up, and two more wrenches; they then exchanged point for point, and puss broke for the Warren Hill; they each in turn gave a go-by, but over the hill Mr Warwick informed me that Heir at Law had it all his own way, winning with plenty to spare. Alice was led several lengths for first turn by Emperor, after which he was cleverly outworked, the former finishing with a good kill. The stakes were divided.

Middle Stakes.—Earwig never gave Malcontent a chance in any part of a good trial, with a rare hare that escaped to the Round Plantation. Monarch was too slow to contend successfully with Hasty Jane, the latter quickly killing.—Deciding Course: Earwig very cleverly beat Hasty Jane in a short dodging trial, after losing the run up, Mr East's bitch finishing with a brilliant kill.

REMARKS.—The meeting just concluded is perhaps the most unimportant and uninteresting that has been held upon these famed downs for many years. The dogs generally were not up to Ashdown class, although there were some very useful greyhounds amongst them. In the first round of the Uffington Cup the best dogs that went down were Colonel, Bouquet Royal, You Can, Emperor, Conspiracy, and Heir at Law. In the second round Earwig was perhaps the best put out, particularly in down country, as she is a wonderfully clever worker, with fair pace. Love Apple (late Thorn Apple) who now fell to Solomon, was purchased for a large sum by Mr Wm. Long at the Ashdown October meeting, where great expectations were entertained of him, but he was beaten by Ventre St. Gris, the ultimate winner of the stake. Great excuses were then made for his defeat, but for my own part I consider that he met a better greyhound, and that his overthrow was not from any fortuitous circumstances; and I cannot but regret that so staunch an upholder of the sport should have made such an unfortunate purchase. Seaweed ran an undecided with Liberty, but in the next spin Mr Lethbridge's bitch was decidedly superior. Sybil met in Streamer a greyhound with too much pace, in addition to being quite as good a worker. Rebecca, by Calabaroono or Regulus out of the celebrated "double second" Waterloo Cup bitch Rebe, came from Herefordshire with a high reputation, but she fell an easy prey to Leila, who, in turn, was as easily beaten by Streamer. Ceres well beat Visien, by Patent out of old Benedictine Nun. Beverage and Aggravator ran an undecided; but Mr Burton's bitch well beat the son of Beckford and Bessow in the run off. Buttered Gammon showed himself a much superior greyhound to Miss Hap; and although he was afterwards beaten by Circe, he was not disgraced. In the third round Solomon (who, by the way, is own brother to Mr Mould's Michael) put out Liberty, and Beverage beat Ceres after a hard fight. The number of the dogs now left in was but four, and I have no hesitation in saying they were the best in the stake. Streamer had too much pace for Solomon, and Circe was too clever and lasting for Beverage. A better hare for a deciding course is seldom found than that to which Streamer and Circe were slipped. The dog went off at a rare pace, and, had the hare been a weaker one, he would have won the course very easily, as he worked close and well for a time; he tired, however, to nothing, whereas Circe improved the further she went, and, after a tremendous lot of work all to herself, she killed with a brilliant dash, winning the stake very easily. I next come to the Craven Cup; but as this is an all-aged stake, it is useless my reviewing it lengthily. As with the Uffington Cup, the best dogs were left in at the finish, as I saw nothing go down who could compete successfully with either the winner, Clio, or with Marquis, the runner up. If there was one that had any bad luck, it was Mr Butler's Sal, by Little Wonder out of Lily, consequently own sister to Saucebox. She had a long bucketing course with Arkansas in the first round, and was easily beaten in the next by Confederate, who was left in the stake after a short undecided with Cap-a-pie, Lord Craven's dog being drawn in his favour. Lady Jane ran remarkably well in her first course when she met Romp's Farewell, but had no chance whatever when opposed to Clio. The deciding course was a lucky one for Clio, as the hare continually favoured her; she never lost an opportunity of scoring, and won in the most clever manner. Old Marquis has had so much of it that he has evidently lost some of his dash and fire at starting, and I have little doubt to this cause his defeat was mainly attributable. The remaining eight-dog stakes call for no comment, more than to say that Mr Clemitson's luck stood him in good stead throughout, as he won the Swinby Stakes with Calista, a fast and clever bitch by Brewer out of Perseverance. Mr Smyth, of Baldock, who divided the Rubbing House Stakes with Attaché, showed in good form with Marquis as second for the Craven Cup. The treble victory of Mr Clemitson was highly gratifying, more particularly as it was his first appearance in the coursing field this season, having for some time past been suffering from ill-health. With a word of praise to Mr Warwick, whose decisions throughout were excellent, and also to Metcalfe, who slipped extraordinarily well, I may now close my remarks on the Ashdown Meeting. LEWIS.

Heeketh Cup.—Joseph, slightly favoured by the hare, got first turn, and just won a short trial. Camilla and Sir William had an undecided course, and when slipped again Sir William led about a length and turned, serving Camilla, but went past, wrenched, and killed. Architect went first from slips, but the hare bending placed Uncle Sam; the former, however, having commanding pace, soon took the lead, and won easily to a covert close at hand. Alice had a close run up with Campbell, which she won, and soon finished the course with two turns and a kill. Crown Imperial led Nicholson's Gin three lengths, and had all the points to himself in a short course. Mam Gurloch led Happy Jane to a drain, where the former, pulling up a little, was passed by Happy Jane, who got command of the hare, and secured the early points;

Mam Gurloch, coming up again, was evidently the faster of the two when they came together, but, running on the outside, lost the course by her ignorance of drain-jumping. Referee and Alice were unsighted; the former, catching first view, just won a short spin. Wauchope and Champion had an undecided course, Champion getting the bend in his favour, and having a little the best of it as the course appeared to me. In the next slip the hare favoured Wauchope, who, running with more fire than his opponent over some heavy fallow, won undisputedly.—First Ties: Joseph led Sir William six lengths, and beat him in the most hollow manner. Alice led Architect, and came round with her game, when the hare soughed. Crown Imperial, rather favoured by the hare, gained the first turn, and, wrenching twice, served Happy Jane, who killed. Wauchope had the speed of Referee, and beat him well. Lord of the Manor raced away from Hearty Fellow to a fence, where they soon lost. Silver Star led at first, Lynus being unsighted; but the latter soon passed, and had the early points all to himself; the hare, however, being a good one, Silver Star did some good work at the finish, scoring two slashing go-byes and a kill. This was a well-contested course, and there was not much to choose between them; but Mr Nightingale evidently considered the early points the most meritorious.—Second Ties: The hare favouring Alice, she scored first; but as soon as the game went straight the superior stride of the black told, and he won well. A dog joined this trial with his clothes on, but did not affect the decision. Crown Imperial just led Wauchope, and in a short and merry-run course soon killed; Crown Imperial and Joseph agreeing to divide.

Rufford Stakes.—Lord of the Manor cleverly defeated Cobnut, being about a length the faster greyhound in a course of ordinary length. Hearty Fellow showed the speed and turned, but, stumbling, was passed by Trade Wind, who made use of his hare twice, when the hearty one came again and won easily. Lynus and Florida had an undecided course, the former showing the pace, and the latter getting in and balancing the early points. In the next run, however, Lynus won without dispute, leading four lengths to the hare, and doing the major part of the work. Merry Carlisle and Silver Star had a scrambling run up; but in the trial, which was a good one, the latter ran evidently much the stronger, and won well.—Deciding Course: Lord of the Manor, going fast, never allowed Lynus a point.

Match.—The first run resulted in an undecided course, the fawn leading, the white killing. In the second slip, the white got best out of slips, but was passed by the fawn, who used her hare twice before reaching covert.—Second Course: The fawn commenced proceedings again, and, taking two turns, killed, and won the match.

Tarleton Stakes.—Magpie, in a long course, easily defeated Cashier. Excelsior and Sunflower had an undecided course, the latter leading to a sough. When slipped again, Sunflower led about two lengths, wrenched, and killed. Beeswing, in a long slip, went first a little, and soon drew out of my sight, the hare soughing, I understood. Keyhole beat Lucretia all one way in a short course.—First Ties: Sunflower and Magpie were unsighted in the run up, and ran wide; the latter catching view first, used his hare twice, when Sunflower joined issue, and won cleverly with a fast hare. Keyhole, going the smartest, led a couple of lengths, and soon killed.—Deciding Course: Keyhole was several lengths faster than Sunflower, and killed after wrenching twice.

Mawdesley Stakes.—Longrange, having the speed of Garibaldi by several lengths, won at all points. Get Along, a little favoured by the hare to commence with, gained the first score, and cleverly defeated Northern Light, finishing with a good kill. Briton lost the run up by the hare bending from him, but afterwards won with a little in hand. Rosetta was faster than Heresy, and won well.—First Ties: Get Along and Longrange had an undecided course through being unsighted, they got together for a few scrambling wrenches at the covert side, and the judge took his hat off. When slipped again Get Along led to a fence, and just won. Briton led four lengths, and won at all points.—Deciding Course: Briton, being on the outside, was led by Get Along, but went past and drove the hare across a road, when the latter stopped for some time; Briton, getting all the amusement to himself, was joined by Get Along when nearly out of sight. This, with a few trials, finished the Bufford Spring Meeting.

The running was principally over heavy fallows, and, the hares not being well driven by the beaters, an unnecessary quantity of ground was gone over. Mr Nightingale gave satisfaction by his decisions, and Wilkinson slipped in his usual painstaking manner. ALPHA.

THE spring meetings here when the club existed were generally on a larger scale than the one now about to be commenced, and it was at first resolved that this meeting should only consist of two sixteen-dog stakes; but the secretary, finding the applications so numerous, resolved to extend it to two twenty-four-dog stakes; and on Monday night it was found that all the nominations had been taken up. It was therefore the pleasing duty of the acting hon. secretary to take the entries in the Star Inn, Netherton, and proceed with the draw about five o'clock, which was correctly got through, after which Mr J. T. Clark, of Ilderton, presided over a company of about forty gentlemen, faced by Mr Shortreed, of Otterburn, as croupier; the worthy landlady, Mrs Nicholson, as usual serving up a most excellent dinner. After the cloth was drawn and the usual loyal toasts given, the chairman, in feeling and animated terms, thanked Mr Clewell of Harbottle Castle and Mr Foster of Burradon, in the name of the coursers, for the very great privilege they bestow on them in protecting the hares and granting the privilege to course over their lands. In days gone by betting was a great element in the Coquet gathering; now it has greatly subsided, and on the card being read over very little headway could be made—so little, indeed, that it is not worth mentioning, the musical powers of the chairman and vice having decidedly the call, and with the assistance of some volunteers, a happy evening was spent.

On Tuesday morning a beautiful full moon looked down upon us as we wended our way up the Alnwick moor; this pleasant but rather sharp mornning in Pike's capitally-horsed break, tooled by "Tom," a most civil and excellent coachman, equal to a great many of the old style (who as a class must be very nearly extinct), and arrived at Netherton at nine, after a drive of some sixteen miles. The secretary and company were awaiting us (as we had the slipper and cards), and at once proceeded to the large pasture of Mr Foster's behind the tile sheds; but, contrary to what has ever before happened in this field, although several hares were seen to steal away, not a course was run in it. As the stakes had not been advertised, the company was much smaller than generally at Coquet meetings; but we noticed the Hon. Capt. Ellis, P. C. Clewell, Esq., of Harbottle Castle, Wm. Foster, Esq., of Burradon, T. Forster, Esq., of Scramwood, Dr Richardson, Wm. Foster, jun., Esq., Capt. Atkinson, Capt. Wadilove, Mr Shortreed, Mr Fair, Messrs W. and T. Thompson, Mr T. Ord, &c. Mrs Clewell and friend, the Misses Foster, and other ladies also favoured us with their presence, and happily, the day being fine, the coursing was most delightful; hares were not plentiful to begin the day with, and were not easily driven from the fallows; but shortly after the order, unfortunately, had been given that the dogs in the Harbottle Stake might go home, as they would not be wanted a second time, hares were found in abundance on the outlying old pasture fields, and had they been at hand that stake might have been run down again.

Harbottle Castle Stakes.—After a short no-go, in which neither reached their hare before it gained covert, Allegro, on the outer circle, went round; Wife's Fancy made first turn, and in a short working trial just won. King Charming and Polly Hollin also ran a short undecided spin, in which the King made first turn, Polly the death. King again showed the pace, and made first turn outside, but Polly, after getting in, decidedly outworked him. Moorcock, on the inner circle, reached puss first, turned two or three times, and killed very cleverly as the hare was gaining a road. Comus drew away five or six lengths from Blink Bonny, turned several times, and led to covert. Hatchment got quickest out of slips, but before he could reach his game Notoriety stole past, scored the first three turns before the black could get an opening; when she did she was very clever, and had nearly balanced points, but put her chance out by killing a little too soon. Lord Soulis was very superior in pace to Deadwater, and all through a good trial had very much the best of it. The hare bending twice in the run up, no true pace was shown, El Soudan getting the first turn; but in an excellent trial Mr Forster's old favourite went both the faster and cleverer; and although El Soudan got a bad fall near the finish of the trial, I do not think it interfered materially with the result. Marquis, on the outer circle, led Rob the Robber, and made first turn, but fell, which let Rob get away and put in a few points before the Marquis could right himself, when he was much the better in a long course. Kangaroo, very much favoured in the run up, brought puss round as Topper was about to draw past, and working the best, won—an unfortunate trial for Topper. Rose of Baby showed very great speed to the hare, as well as immense superiority over Queen of May, in a rare long trial. Robin Hood, getting quickest out of slips, led and made first turn; but was out-worked and beaten by Spend, till she stopped at a fence; Robin, going through, went on and won. Dan M'Cann, on the outer circle, ran round Bull's Eye and picked up his hare.

Burradon Stakes.—Barchamp, rather on the inside, led Aldershot, made first turn, put him in, turned, and led into covert. Prentice Boy and Blanche ran a short no-go, which I did not see. In their second slip the Prentice ran like a journeyman, as he took a strong lead, and won all the way. Black Sea was two or three lengths faster than Change a Sovereign, made first turn, kept his position, and led through a fence and won. Evelyn displayed very superior pace over Thunder, turned three times, and made a splendid kill down hill. Don Carlos was quickest from slips, and scored three turns to his credit before Annie Mars could begin; when she did, a well-contested trial took place, considerably in favour of Don. Norna was beat for first turn by Redcar Stag, but afterwards, in a short working trial, beat him smartly. Royal Rake and Chaf ran a rambling trial, in which the Rake showed decided pace, made first two turns, and finished with the best of the course and a good kill. Queen Charming outpaced Young Spanker, and in the longest course of the day beat him in the most hollow style. In consequence of Dick o' the Wood being unsighted, he and Igo ran a short no-go. Their next trial Dick was much the superior dog, both in pace and working, in a pretty long race. Polly Mars and Tattoo were unsighted for some short time; when they got together, Polly, in a good trial, was much the faster and superior animal. Gipsy, in a shortish trial, showed the early points, and beat Aunt Kate pretty cleverly. Cherry Brandy was greatly superior to Blue Gown, and won a very long course nearly all one way.

WEDNESDAY.—Another lovely morning, and it continued fine all day. Met at Burradon Mains, two miles from Netherton, at nine, when shortly afterwards the first brace in the Harbottle Castle Stakes for the second round were handed to Phillips; the ground crossed over was old pasture land, and, although a little rough, was fair good running ground, and very safe for the dogs; it was all on the Harbottle estate. The ladies again graced the field with their presence; and hares being rather scarce, they had a good deal of walking, which they undertook ungrudgingly. Mr Charlton, I am most happy to say, rode well, and gave the very greatest satisfaction, as I saw not the smallest mistake, nor heard the slightest grumble. Phillips, who has been poorly for some time, did not slip quite so well as I have seen him do before; but, taking the nature of his complaint (lumbago) into account, he did wonders.

Harbottle Castle Stakes.—First Ties: Polly Hollin was favoured in the run up, but was too slow to get first turn, as Allegro went on the outer circle and made it; in going away again he got a bad fall, which annihilated his chance, as Polly, in a very long trial, beat him very much. Moorcock, in his usual clever style, jumped first out of slips, and getting inside scored a good many points, till puss broke away, when Comus, in a stretch, drew past, and had all but won, till he fell, when the white turned, and puss was chopped, putting Comus out. Before any pace was shown the hare favoured Lord Soulis, who made first and second turns; Notoriety the next; his lordship then legged puss, but did not hold her, and the blue, getting best through a fence, led to covert. Marquis, contrary to expectation, led Albert, and made first turn, but the fawn and white very soon after got in, and completely outworked the Marquis in an excellent trial. Rose of Baby's trial with Kangaroo I only partially saw; the part that I did see was in favour of Rose, who worked the closer, and got the flat. In a no-go Dan M'Cann showed pace to covert; Bull's Eye, however, fencing best into it. In their next slip Dan again showed speed, made first turn, and in a bad trial on a bank face just managed to win.

Burradon Stakes.—First Ties: It was a near thing to the hare with Marchioness and Prentice Boy; the former, however, was the cleverer, and the Boy's getting a fall decided the matter in favour of the fawn. Shortly after being slipped Evelyn lost sight; but falling in with the hare on favourable terms and running with great fire, would not admit of any assistance for a long time, and, although Head Sea did some work, she finished with a kill and a good win. Don Carlos was much too fast for Norma, and throughout a very good trial had it all his own way. Royal Rake led out of slips, and brought his game round; Queen Charming and he then ran neck and neck into a brook side out of our view, Rake gaining the decision. Dick o' the Wood was of no use to Polly Mars in a long course to covert, where she was found dead, it being supposed she had unfortunately killed herself against a tree. Cherry Brandy was equally superior to Gipsy, but in a shorter course, Brandy making a fine kill.

Harbottle Castle Stakes.—Second Ties: Polly Hollin, having had a very severe course this morning, seemed exhausted, as she was of comparatively little use to Moorcock, who ran his hare in good style throughout a long course to covert. Albert and Lord Soulis had a very long slip, in which they seemed unsighted for a little, but got on on very equal terms, the latter drawing out a couple of lengths till he got again unsighted, when Albert passed him and led to a rail, which they both took together into a road, where puss was lost, causing the hat to come off. Having to leave the field at this time to catch the train at Alnwick, I saw no more of the running.

On reaching the Washington Hotel on Monday everything was very quiet; hardly a courser of note had arrived, and not a bet took place in our hearing. With the exception of Fringerette having broken her leg in a trial with Fanatic, and the breaking down of Young Roseberry and Syndic, together with the rumour that Lobelia had lamed herself in a trial at home, there was no news to chronicle; and it was only late on in the evening, when the Scotch and Irish division arrived, that things began to wear a business look.

TUESDAY.—A beautiful morning caused a good many of the owners and their friends to visit Formby and High Town by the morning trains, returning in time for the sales at Lucas's, which were well attended; but many of the lots went at a ridiculously low figure, as will be seen by the return of the sale.

In the afternoon the National Club held their half-yearly meeting as usual at the Waterloo Hotel, the Earl of Sefton in the chair. There were also present Lord Lurgan, Lord Garlies, Hon. W. C. Ellis, Colonel Goodlake, Colonel Conyngham, Capt. Bruce, Capt. Jebb, Messrs C. Randell, G. Blanshard, Neville, Brocklebank, J. Dunlop, A. Graham, J. Hay, Dean, Trinder, Mallaby, W. Barden, Wise, Edleston, Deighton, R. Patterson, Massey, J. Gibson, and Mr Bake the secretary. The minutes of the last meeting having been read, Mr Bake announced that the following new clubs wished to be enrolled under the National Coursing Club rules—viz., the Caithness, the Three Counties, the Wigtownshire, and the Watford; while the Border, Diamor, Jed Forest, and Coquetdale clubs had ceased to exist.

The next business was "to receive a letter from Mr W. Barden, of Dublin, asking for a decision of the club relative to his dogs not being guarded in accordance with Rule No. 6, in the St. Leger at the Leinster meeting, on the 19th and 20th of November, 1867." The question to be considered was, was this a produce stake or not? When discussed and put to the vote, it was decided to have been so. Another question then arose as to whether the three last courses were not void; and this, when put, was carried in the affirmative without a dissentient, and the stake was ordered to be divided between the four dogs left in.

Mr Barden also asked for a decision of the club as to whether a greyhound put in slips and taken out again, and being disqualified by the stewards under Rule 9, is to be considered a beaten dog, and bets to go accordingly as against a beaten dog. The original rule was adhered to, and all bets declared off.

On the motion of Mr Barden, Rule 14 was strengthened by making it compulsory on the part of secretaries to enter once on the card of running the late as well as the present names of dogs which have been re-named.

Mr Bake withdrew his proposed motion respecting the alteration of rule 13 relative to byes on an amendment proposed by Mr Randell, which was carried unanimously, to add to the rule words to the effect that "if a puppy or sapling could not be found on the field in reasonable time, a bye should be run, the stewards having the discriminating power to allow an all-aged dog to run the bye."

The next notices on the paper were—"By Mr James Bake: 6. To hear and determine an application by Mr R. Edleston, for a rehearing of the case which was brought before the club at their last meeting, on the following amongst other grounds: 'That I was taken by surprise;' 'that I had a good answer to the claims on the merits;' 'that the club had no jurisdiction;' 'that the decision was not in accordance with coursing law.' 7. To hear and determine an application by Mr R. Edleston, that Mr W. P. Hammond be ordered to refund the sum of £25, received by him in respect of the running of the saplings Combermere and Scythian the Second, at the Sundorne Spring Meeting, 1854, in accordance with Rule 22 of the National Code, on the ground that the slipper, Mr Warwick, was an interested party."

It was moved by Mr Brocklebank, and seconded by Col. Goodlake, that the above case be not reopened, and the amendment was carried by sixteen to nine. After a long and somewhat animated discussion on the 7th notice, Lord Garlies proposed, and Mr Patterson seconded, that the question be set aside. An amendment was proposed by Mr Brocklebank, and seconded by Lord Lurgan, that the question be postponed for twelve months; and, on the vote being taken, nine appeared for the amendment, and seven against it.

A vote of thanks was then passed to the noble chairman, and the meeting broke up shortly after five o'clock.

Previous to leaving for dinner, some few bets were laid at the following prices:

BETTING AT THE WATERLOO HOTEL.—Tuesday, 5.30 p.m.

100 to 6 agst Lord Lurgan's nomination (off, t 20 to 1)	25 to 1 agst Mr Blanshard's nomination (t)
100 to 6 — Mr Brocklebank's nomination (t)	28 to 1 — Mr Bland's nomination (off)
25 to 1 — Mr Spinks's nomination (t f)	100 to 3 — Lord Stair's nomination (t)
	40 to 1 — Mr Mallaby's nomination (t)

As last year, there was a general dulness in the betting, and, with the exception of Mr Spinks's nomination being backed at 25 to 1, there was no change worthy of note.

The dinner took place, as usual, in the large room of the Law Association, Cook-street, and precisely at 6.30 Mr A. Graham took the chair, and with commendable punctuality the turtle made its appearance. The company was much larger than last year, and upwards of one hundred and fifty sat down to dinner, everything being in abundance. As soon as possible the chairman proposed the usual loyal toasts, followed by the health of the Earl of Sefton, which was warmly received. The following gentlemen were appointed field stewards: Lord Lurgan, Colonel Goodlake, Mr Randell, and Mr Brocklebank. The lists being handed round, the draw was proceeded with, and was got through in excellent time. The meeting of Brigade and Jane Anne, Spiced Ale and Gelachossa, Just Coming and Innkeeper; the fact of three of the Irish dogs, Hawk, What's the Tip, and Crumbs being drawn close together; and the meeting of the kennel companions Sir John and Mosstrooper, were the most noticeable features of the draw. The batch of favourites that fell together in the last sixteen gave the bookmakers a rare turn, at the same time showing the folly of backing many nominations before the draw, as a gentleman of my acquaintance had eight dogs in the bottom sixteen following close on one another. There were but few alterations in the list of probable runners from what appeared in last Saturday's FIELD, the only changes being in Mr Clarke's two, Royal Seal and Marionette, the latter running for her owner in place of Mr Bake, Sir Capel Molyneux substituting Mallet for Mrs Vance, Capt. Wyndham Bishop of Oxford for Hecate, and Mr Reed Maid of Tees for Young Roseberry, the latter having lamed himself. On the list being read over the betting was duller than usual, and the only courses that carried any amount of money were those between Innkeeper and Just Coming, Stonewall Jackson and Jesuitess, Weasel and Barren King, Ronald and Letitia, Brigade and Jane Anne, and Spiced Ale and Gelachossa, the two last-named courses causing the outlay of several hundreds. After Mr Graham had read through the list, an attempt was made to wager on the event, but the chairman gave it up after calling over three or four names, and the company broke up. The following is a return of the betting:

Shortly after ten o'clock rain began to fall heavily, with every prospect of a continuance of bad weather. There was, as usual, a full muster at the Albion, but speculation was very dull, the Washington Hotel, with its spacious billiard saloon, appearing to have more attractions for the visitors.

WEDNESDAY.—The prospect on leaving Liverpool was anything but promising, for rain fell in torrents as we drove to North End, the appointed rendezvous. In accordance with the announcement of the chairman on the night of the draw, the first brace was slipped on Little Altcar, the usual beat at North End, and the Big Marsh was for the first time left untouched. Owing to the wretched weather, the crowd was the smallest seen at a Waterloo meeting for many years past. Fortunately for the company present, the rain ceased about noon, and, with the exception of a cold wind, there was nothing to prevent the sport, which was quite up to the average, being thoroughly enjoyed. From Little Altcar, where only nine courses were obtained, we crossed the road; and the fallow opposite the Vicarage, holding only one hare, a piece of plough on the Formby side of the road was driven, from which several good trials were obtained. The usual beat across Church House meadows was then taken, and, as generally happens on this ground, many of the courses were of short length, owing to the dogs being slipped so close to the soughs. From this portion of the estate we crossed over in the direction of the Big Eyes, close to which we finished the day's sport at 5.30. On the whole the running was quite up to the average, and the crowd (thanks to the energy and tact shown by Mr T. Green) was kept in admirable order throughout the day. In running through the Cup the first time, the Newmarket crack, Saucebox, was put out in a near course by old Julia; and so was Weasel. Dark Ritornella, Jesuitess, Justitia, Jane Anne, and Just Coming had short courses, but were fairly beaten. The second round saw Royal Seal and Marionette going fast and well. The unexpected defeat of Innkeeper by Cock Robin was a sore blow to many, as also was the victory of Belzoni over Strange Idea, 3 to 1 being laid in several instances on the last-named. The sensation course of the day was the clever defeat of Improver by Brigade. The Earl of Sefton and a large party from Croxteth were present during the day, and the company, although more select than usual, embraced our principal coursers from all parts of the United Kingdom.

Waterloo Cup.—The first brace handed to Raper were Hawk and Symphony, and this pair ran no less than three undecideds before Mr Warwick could satisfy himself. In their final spin Hawk led two lengths for first turn, and, keeping his position, scored thrice, serving Symphony, who began to be busy, when she fell in striking at her hare; this mishap appeared to put her all abroad, and Hawk won a moderate trial very cleverly, winding up with a good kill. Royal Seal, moving in fine form, drew out three lengths in front of What's the Tip, who was showing well in front when he tripped, and Mr Clarke's bitch put in three strong consecutive wrenches; the Irish dog, getting placed by the drain side, used his hare, but in coming round lost his place, and the black put in two more points; after they had exchanged twice, the hare broke across the fallow, and Royal Seal, racing up well in front, went out of my sight with a commanding lead, and won very easily. Cock Robin, after running a few strides, drew clear away from Trife, turned, and went wide; the latter, well placed, then wrenched twice, but, after an exchange, Cock Robin drew past on the outside, brought puss well round, exchanged points, and fell into the drain; this mishap left Trife with a commanding lead, but she was unable to do much with her hare before Mr Lister's dog joined in, and puss was chopped. Innkeeper and Just Coming, to the consternation of their backers, were seen sailing away with the slips round their necks, but a friendly ditch, into which they went headlong, fortunately released the pair, and they were soon taken up. In their final spin—whether owing to the cold bath or to some injury received at the drain I am unable to say—Just Coming made a poor fight of it, for Innkeeper went off with a good lead to the hare, and in a short and merrily run course never gave his opponent a chance, winding up with a good kill. From the very clever manner in which Innkeeper won this course he was strongly fancied for the stake, and backed at a short price. Crumbs was no sooner slipped than she showed in front of Bethell, and, widening the gap to several lengths on nearing the hare, went over the bank out of my sight; at this point Mr Borron's Belzoni joined in with his sheets on, having broken loose from his trainer, but he did not interfere with the course, as Crumbs had far too much pace for both her opponents, and won an average trial most decisively, winding up with the kill. Patent Lever had a considerable advantage from slips, and Peer of the Realm losing ground at the first drain, Mr Jardine's dog reached the sluice bank an immense distance ahead; here he topped the bank, but overshooting himself, Peer of the Realm got placed; before, however, the Peer could use his hare, a very fast one, Patent Lever again came to the front, and led to the road; the fawn then got in and led from view, but puss was too good for Mr Patterson's dog, who could do nothing with her: as the course was run, it was an unlucky trial for Peer of the Realm. Belzoni, notwithstanding his pipe-opener a short time previous, scored the first and second turns from Bedlamite, who, after an exchange, got well placed, and looked like a winner; but the hare bending round, Belzoni scored a fine go by, and used his game several times, until reaching the centre of a big grass piece, where he suddenly pulled up in a most unaccountable manner; Bedlamite then went on in pursuit of the hare, but, like his opponent, he was too fagged to reach her, and consequently lost. The only way I can account for Mr Borron's dog stopping with the hare before him is, that at the first Alcar Club he got into the midst of a drove of hares, and was run to a complete standstill. Strange Idea went off a good pace from slips, reached his hare several lengths in front, and turned twice; going wide, the next point was taken by Tak' Tent, who, however, being outpaced, had no chance, and Strange Idea won very easily. Dreadnought, after running head and head with Mallet for a short distance, gradually left him in the rear, and, going both fast and cleverly with his hare, won a course of average length all one way. Stonewall Jackson, on the inside, stole away about a length in front of Jesuitess, and picked up his hare. The meeting of Julia and Saucebox, as might be expected, caused a vast amount of excitement, as 2 to 1 was freely laid on the Newmarket crack. Saucebox, after showing the pace, suffered a go-by in crossing some fallow, and was never quite able to recover the points she lost; the course, however, was only just won by Julia, whose chance was greatly jeopardised by a fall in the middle of the course. Shy Girl and Ventre St. Gris had two undecideds, in each of which Capt. Vyner's dog showed the pace: Shy Girl was afterwards drawn. Sunbeam, on the extreme outside in a circular run up, ran right round Dark Ritornella, wrenched strongly, and then picked up his hare. Gipsy Jack, in a pretty race, was two lengths faster than Tees Maid for first turn, and, continuing to show most pace, as well as working closely and well, Mr Green's dog won a smartly run trial easily. In a long slip Wellington had the foot of Justitia, and bringing puss round served his opponent, who had hardly time to score when Wellington again went to the front, and effectually settled matters by racing into his hare. Ebony had the pace of Charming May, and for a long time the course was in his favour, but towards the close of a working trial Mr Lister's bitch proved the best stayer, and received the award. Sir John went away with a clear lead from Mosstrooper, who, as far as I could see, never had a chance in a course of fair length. Ghillie Callum, going fast and in good style, was not long before he began to show in front of Great Go, and, in a short working course, won very easily. Weasel, from where I stood, showed the pace for first turn, and at the finish she, in fair stretch, again drew past, turned, and killed: the flat, however, was in favour of Peruvian, who was very handy in the middle of the course, which secured him the flat. A fast hare started for Master Ivo and Royal Letters, which just suited the Irish dog, who, after scoring the first turn, always had the command of pace in the racing stretches, and won very easily. Lobelia, running quite in her last year's form, raced away from Bishop of Oxford for first turn, and, afterwards keeping beautifully to the scut of her hare, beat her opponent pointless in a short trial. Christmas Day and Champion had two no-goes before Mr Warwick could separate them. In their final spin Christmas Day, who had showed the pace on the two previous occasions, was again first to score; a rattling trial ensued, which was well and evenly contested by both, Christmas Day eventually winning cleverly, through the superior pace he had shown at the commencement. A clinking hare got up for Bab at the Bowster and Whiz and Fiz; the former, running in grand style, never once gave her opponent the slightest chance in a long course to a sough; Mr Blanshard's bitch gained a host of friends by her brilliant performance. Fanatic, in a straight slip to a weak hare, drew out a good two lengths from Callirhoe, turned, cleverly serving himself, then went on with his hare for a short distance, and killed. Master M'Grath and Belle of Scotland had a short undecided to a sough, the former showing the pace, and, if anything, having a shade the best of it. Next time Lord Lurgan's dog again showed the pace, and in a beautifully run trial won very cleverly. Kalista, going in rare form, drew out two lengths, and turned, serving Attila, whom she instantly deprived of the lead, and then quickly ended the course by racing into her hare. Ronald had far too much pace for 'Letitia, but the latter worked so closely in the middle of the course that Mr Warwick had to take off his cap. Their final tussle resulted in a long working course, Letitia winning cleverly. Marionette, notwithstanding that the hare went right to Abyssinian, ran round her opponent for first turn, and, keeping her place, monopolised nearly the whole of a good trial; Marionette in this course ran with all her juvenile fire and cleverness. Improver and Action ran a magnificent course, and the pace shown by the former in the run up just pulled him through, with nothing to spare. Brigade and Jane Anne were started close to one of the soughs on Church House Meadows; the former, after an exciting struggle, drew herself clear for first turn, and again showing the pace in the next stretch, drove puss into the sough. Crossfell, going a good pace, reached his game some distance in advance of Rustic Charms, and for a time looked as if he was going to make the course all one way, but, getting disappointed, he let in Mr Haywood's bitch, who, taking advantage of her opponent running slack, never afterwards allowed him an opening, Crossfell being well and deservedly beaten. A clinking hare got up for Spiced Ale and Gelachossa, who had a very long course; Mr Gilmour's bitch, staying the longest, left off a very meritorious winner. After Gelachossa was taken up, the man who had hold of her allowed her to get away to another hare, and she in consequence was run to a complete standstill.—First Ties: Hawk and Royal Seal were started some three hundred yards from the sough in Church House Meadow; Royal Seal no sooner left slips than she raced away a good half-dozen lengths for first turn, and, keeping her place for a couple of strong wrenches, served Hawk; the latter then wrenched, and the course terminated by puss escaping. Cock Robin, going in good form, was nearly a length faster than Innkeeper, and in a smartly run trial of short length to the sough Mr Ingleby's dog was very easily beaten. Crumbs and Patent Lever, after a short no-go, were slipped to a fast hare; Crumbs again showed the pace for some considerable distance, but before puss was reached Patent Lever raced past, turned, and, keeping well to the scut, made a course of moderate length all one way. Belzoni, to the surprise of the whole field, was seen leading Strange Idea for first turn; keeping his place for the next wrench, he then let in his opponent, who turned, when Mr Borron's dog again took possession, and drove puss into the sough. Stonewall Jackson showed the pace for first turn, and served Dreadnought, who put in a couple of smart wrenches and killed: no-go. Next time Stonewall Jackson, after running head and head with his opponent for some distance, drew out a clear length, turned, served himself, and killed. Ventre St. Gris had the pace of Julia, and consequently beat her in a poor trial to the sough. Sunbeam, in a long slip, was leading a good four lengths, but in crossing one of the hare bridges he struck the rail and was thrown out; this mishap let in Gipsy Jack, who wrenched, and puss then escaped: no-go. Next time Sunbeam again showed in front, but the hare went from him to

Gipsy Jack, who made the best of his position, and won a short course cleverly. Wellington had the pace from slips, but Charming May, getting up inside, turned, handling her hare very cleverly, and won a short course with plenty to spare. Ghillie Callum again went away from slips in good style, and on reaching puss kept well to her scout until he killed, never once letting Sir John get next the hare. Master Ivo, as soon as puss went straight, began to draw away from Peruvian, but at the drain he came against a rail, which threw him out of his stride, and he had no sooner got clear away from the ditch than he stumbled in attempting the death; Peruvian then raced past, killed, and received the award: this was a very unsatisfactory trial for Master Ivo, who deserved a better fate. Lobelia and Christmas Day had a merry undecided, the latter nearly putting out the crack; in their next slip Lobelia, although lame, made a hollow example of her opponent, who in a short spin had only the kill to his credit. Fanatic, from where I stood, led, and made a gallant fight of it with Bab at the Bowster, who saved her bacon by a clever kill at the finish: this course must have been a desperately near thing. Master M'Grath went off at a great pace to the hare, and had no sooner swerved her than he stumbled and fell; Kalista then turned, serving the black, who wrenched and killed. Marionette, again going in rare form, led and ran round Letitia, who in a short course never had the ghost of a chance. Brigade, in a slip of fair length, raced clean away from Improver, who was outpaced throughout and well beaten; during this course Brigade ran a little unsteady in the middle, but worked more closely towards the end, and finished up with a dashing kill. Gelachossa, as might have been expected after her previous gruelling, had no chance with Rustic Charms, and the only point scored by Mr Gilmour's bitch was the death. This finished the day's sport, and, owing to the long distance from head-quarters, Liverpool was not reached until half-past seven o'clock.

THURSDAY.—Met at Hill House. After the wretched weather of yesterday a fine morning caused a general turn-out from Liverpool, and, on the arrival of the Earl of Sefton at ten o'clock, there were already several thousand people present. The crowd were immediately taken down to the river bank, and, after a dozen courses had been decided on the meadows below the plantation, and from the seeds to the left of Hill House, the order was given for Peter Darwin's Farm at Gore Houses. At this time it was raining heavily, and, to add to our discomfort, the route was intersected by ditches and strips of fallow. Nearly an hour was lost in reaching the appointed rendezvous; and, as the crowd had by this time got past control, it was some time before order could be restored. The hares, as usual on this portion of the estate, were driven from fallow, but the weather made them wild, and a vast number kept stealing away; so that after a long and dragging day the Purse only was run through a second time, leaving the third ties of the Cup, and first ties of the Plate untouched. This was in some measure caused by the crowd, who towards the latter part of the day broke all over the ground disturbing the hares in all directions. The beat extended from Hill House down to Gore Meadows, and round by the river Alt to the place of meet—a good day's work at any time, but especially trying on the present occasion, owing to the wretched weather. Rain fell heavily more or less all day, and it was again seven o'clock before we reached Liverpool. The great features of the day's coursing were the easy defeat of Bab at the Bowster by Lobelia, and the clever victory of Cock Robin over Royal Seal.

Waterloo Purse.—Symphony, in a fair average slip, was three lengths faster than What's the Tip for first turn, the Irishman taking the next; a rattling trial followed, the latter part greatly in favour of Lord Sefton's bitch, who won handsomely. Trife, inside, was somewhat favoured in the run up, but Just Coming, being a shade the faster, as well as equally clever, won a short course most meritoriously. A clinking hare got up for Bethell and Peer of the Realm, to which the former led a long distance, and scored five before letting in his opponent; a long working course followed, in which Bethell showed a decided superiority of pace, and won handsomely. Bedlamite and Tak' Tent had a no-go, the latter appearing to have the best of it. Their next slip met with no better result, as the pair separated after two hares. Their final spin was a short affair, and an easy win for Tak' Tent, who led four lengths and turned, then raced past for the next, serving Bedlamite, who wrenched to a sough. Jesuitess was a good three lengths faster than Mallet, and at the commencement of the course the black ran up a long score before giving her opponent a chance; after a time Mallet got well placed, and put in some short work, but the early points scored by Jesuitess enabled her to leave off an easy winner. The course between Shy Girl and Sancebox caused a great deal of excitement, as a large amount of money was depending on the result. In a good race, Sancebox was first up by favour, but a short-running hare did not suit the Newmarket crack, and Shy Girl, getting well placed, outworked her opponent and won very cleverly, the Irish bitch finishing with a brilliant kill. Tees Maid showed in front of Dark Ritorrella, and, leading over the road, raced into her hare. Justitia, after losing the first and second turns, outworked Ebony, and through the remainder of a long working trial beat her opponent very handsomely. Mosstrooper and Great Go ran their course over a very bad bit of ground, and the result was a no-go. Another undecided followed; and in their final spin Mosstrooper led, turned, wrenched, and killed. Weasel being drawn lame, Royal Letters ran a bye of moderate length. Champion and Bishop of Oxford ran a long trial, the hare leading her pursuers through several fences, by the aid of which and his extra pace Champion was enabled to leave off a clever winner. Whiz and Fiz and Callirhoe ran an undecided, after which the former was drawn. Belle of Scotland went off with a good lead from Attila, who in a long trial never had a chance with Mr Blackstock's bitch. A trimming hare got up for Ronald and Abyssinian, the pair running head and head for first turn; a long and severe course followed, the early points being in favour of Ronald, who wound up with a kill of merit, and won very cleverly. Jane Anne came on with a good lead from Action, and in a merrily run course beat her opponent very easily, Action causing the death. Spiced Ale showed in front, and led through the crowd; a working course followed, and from where I stood the red dog appeared to have the best of it, but the verdict was in favour of Crossfell; and as Mr Warwick was well placed to see the course, his decision was no doubt correct.—First Ties: Just Coming drew clear away from Symphony, and, knocking puss off her legs, picked her up. Bethell went away with a clear lead from Tak' Tent, who for some time had the worst of the course; in crossing a drain Tak' Tent cleared it so very cleverly that he was well placed on landing, and, running well with his hare afterwards, soon had the points in his favour, and wound up with a good kill. The decision was in favour of Bethell. Shy Girl, in a long slip, had the foot of Jesuitess, and scored four; the latter then got in, but from the distance the course was run it was impossible to distinguish the colours, and I can only state that the flat was in favour of Shy Girl. After an undecided, Justitia again showed the pace over Tees Maid, and, drawing out two lengths, wrenched and killed. Mostrooper, in a long slip, raced away several lengths in advance of Royal Letters, and won a short course easily. Callirhoe lost the run up owing to Champion changing sides, but Mr Smith's bitch, afterwards getting well placed, won a short course very easily. Belle of Scotland and Ronald ran an undecided, and the latter was then drawn. Jane Anne, going in rare form, led Crossfell three lengths, and throughout a course of average length won all one way.

Waterloo Cup.—Second Ties: In a beautiful slip Cock Robin gradually drew clear of Royal Seal for first turn, and, coming smartly round, scored the next two points; Mr Clarke's bitch then getting in, turned and drove puss a short distance, when she put out her chance by whipping up her hare. The winner showed fine pace and cleverness in this course. A good hare came straight away for Patent Lever and Belzoni, the former of whom gained the first turn, and, keeping his place for the next two, served his opponent; a trial of fair length ensued, the points being in favour of Patent Lever, who wound up with a good kill. Stonewall Jackson and Ventre St. Gris came away very wide to the hare, and the latter getting unsighted, the Irish dog went on and killed: no go. Next time Ventre St. Gris had slightly the best of the pace for first turn, and served Stonewall Jackson; the latter then swerved puss to Capt. Vyner's dog, who shot across and killed: an unlucky trial for Stonewall Jackson. Gipsy Jack, in a pretty stretch, drew away from Charming May for first turn, then wrenched strongly, and let in his opponent for a couple of points; as the hare broke they scored alternately until nearing the crowd, where Gipsy Jack made a rather wide turn, placing Charming May, who put in three smart wrenches in succession, turned, and killed. In a long race to the hare, Ghillie Callum was slightly led by Peruvian for first turn, and the latter, keeping well to the scut, put in three wrenches in succession; from this time a good trial followed, the points in favour of the white until they had crossed the second ditch; Ghillie Callum then got well placed, and Peruvian tiring, the black began to put in points very thick, when he unfortunately knocked up his hare. After an undecided, Lobelia led Bab at the Bowster, by favour, for first turn, and keeping her place, never allowed the Scotch bitch a chance throughout a course of fair length. On the flag being hoisted for Lobelia, a loud cheer arose from the crowd, and deservedly so, for Mr Legh's bitch never ran a better course in her life. Marionette was showing in advance when Master M'Grath came right round on the outside, and, reaching his hare three lengths ahead, turned and served himself, when puss was chopped. In a beautiful race Brigade gradually left Rustic Charms, and, increasing her lead, she was five or six lengths in front; on nearing the hare, keeping her place, Brigade put in three or four fine points, and then served her opponent, who began to be desperately busy as puss kept dodging between the drain and gateway; the course, however, was never in jeopardy, and Brigade wound up with a good kill.

Waterloo Plate.—In a very long slip Hawk got up inside, and killed his hare before Innkeeper had a chance. Strange Idea went off a cracker from slips, and although he went wide twice, his superior pace enabled him to beat Crumbs very easily. Dreadnought, in a long struggle, gained the turn a length in front of Julia, who, in an average working course, was cleverly beaten. A rattling hare got up for Sunbeam and Wellington, and the pair had such a dressing that they will not forget it in a hurry; Wellington scored the early points, but his opponent stayed the longest, and easily won the longest course of the meeting. Sir John being drawn lame, Master Ivo ran a bye, which he made short by quickly killing. Fanatic drew away two clear lengths from Christmas Day, turned, served himself, and killed. Kalista, going in good form, led, and beat Letitia all through a working trial, Mr Kay's bitch winding up with a good kill. Improver ran a bye of moderate length with Scapegrace, in which he did not show to any great advantage.

FRIDAY.—We again met at Hill House, and a beautiful morning gave every promise of fine weather, which was happily fulfilled, while the trials were of a first-class description. The crowd (about an average number for the last day) were at a few minutes after ten conducted by Mr T. Green along the slope of the hill, and, to their credit be it said, they behaved admirably. After several hares had been driven from the fallows at Hill House on to the meadows, we crossed over to the Withies, and got through the card close to Church House. The day's sport finished shortly after two o'clock.

Waterloo Cup.—Third Tie: In a long stretch Patent Lever and Cock Robin alternately led; the former on nearing the hare drew out nearly two lengths for first turn and kept his position for the second, his opponent scoring the next; a long working course followed, Patent Lever showing most pace, but towards the end of the course Cook Robin put in such a lot of good work that the points became evenly balanced, and the cap came off. A long consultation then took place between the owners, and as Mr Lister had Charming May still left in, Mr Jardine was in a regular fix, and could not do otherwise than agree to draw his dog, the Scotch division standing in at the long odds with Messrs Randell and Lister. Ventre St. Gris went away with a commanding lead for first turn, when Charming May drew well to the front, wrenched, and killed; no go. In their next slip Ventre St. Gris again went a cracker from slips, but ran wide as puss doubled back, and Charming May then got so well placed that she never again let in her opponent, but scored point after point in beautiful style, and wound up with a brilliant kill. Lobelia showed in advance from slips, but was gradually collared by Peruvian, who eventually drew clear away for first turn, and after the bitch had taken the next point Peruvian scored the third; a smart exchange followed, when Lobelia, well placed, kept close to the scut for two or three pretty wrenches, killed and won: this course was exceedingly well run by both greyhounds, and, considering that Peruvian had a long single-handed course in the morning with his sheet on, his performance was a very creditable one. A hare crossing the fallow for Master M'Grath and Brigade, the excitement was intense as the Irish dog, well on the line of his hare, was seen going on in advance of Brigade; the latter, running wide on the right, looked as if she would gain an immense advantage, but was considerably thrown out by the hare whipping suddenly to the left, and Master M'Grath consequently was first up four or five lengths; steadying himself very cleverly at the turn, he wrenched smartly twice, and as he was in the act of bearing his hare half round Brigade shot past and killed: the course, as run, was an unlucky one for Brigade; still the Irish dog showed the pace, which decided several heavy bets on speed to the hare.—

Fourth Tie: Cock Robin was declared to stand, Charming May being drawn. The pair, however, ran their course together, and Cock Robin, after showing in front to the drain, lost his place, and Charming May, in a prettily-run trial, beat him handsomely; from the clever course made by Mr Lister's bitch, the backers of the nomination were more chagrined than ever at her withdrawal. In a long slip Raper got Lobelia and Master M'Grath well laid on; the latter, gradually drawing away several lengths, cleared the ditch in grand style, came smartly round on the road, and, Lobelia overshooting herself, the Irish dog turned; he, then drove his hare back into the meadow, and nailed her at the gateway: this course was most cleverly run by Lord Lurgan's dog, for, had he made the slightest mistake, the ditch and road being as nasty a place as could well be imagined, a clever bitch like Lobelia might easily have beaten him.

—Deciding Course: After the patience of the spectators had been tried for some time, owing to Raper being unable to get a slip, as many hares were on foot, Master M'Grath and Cock Robin were started; the last-named had some advantage in the race up by having the inner circle; nevertheless, Master M'Grath's fine speed brought him to the front, and he turned his hare a good three lengths in advance; then again shifting puss, he served Cock Robin, who, being well placed, got exceedingly busy, but missed a good attempt to kill; the black then again got in, and, although the hare continually went from him, the Irish dog was "all there" whenever an opening presented itself, and eventually left off a very meritorious winner, ending the course with a good kill.

Waterloo Purse.—Bethell on the inside was five lengths first to his hare, and, keeping his position, scored three; Just Coming then placed a couple of turns to her credit, after which they exchanged, and Bethell, racing to the front, won an average trial easily. Justitia, going in rare style, was several lengths faster than Shy Girl to the hare, and, holding her own at the turn, kept selfish possession for a considerable distance; nearing the river bank the Irish bitch got placed, and for a brief period was looking formidable, but Justitia soon raced past, and in a long working trial left off the easiest of winners. Mosstrooper showed in front to the drain, where he bungled, and Callirhoe, passing him, turned, but missed killing her hare, although she sent the down flying; keeping her place for the two following points, she then let in Mosstrooper, took the next two, after which the course was all one way, and Callirhoe, handling her hare in grand style, finished the cleverest of winners with a good kill. Jane Anne led from slips, but, the hare going from her, the first turn was made by Belle of Scotland, her opponent taking the next two; a short working course followed, the white killing; the flat was in favour of Jane Anne, who won with nothing to spare.—Third Tie: Justitia raced away four lengths in advance of Bethell, wrenched strongly three or four times, and turned; puss then came right back to Bethell, who killed. A hare was driven on to Church House Meadow for Jane Anne and Callirhoe; the former led up and scored the first and second turns, her opponent taking the next; the hare then made for the drain, Jane Anne having the best of the work until she killed.

—Deciding Course: Justitia went away from slips at a good pace, and was soon leading several lengths, but Jane Anne gradually reduced the gap, and, puss favouring her, she was the first to turn; keeping her place, Mr Saunders's bitch had much the best of the work, until she fell into a drain, when Justitia got so well placed that she looked like winning; Jane Anne, however, spurred past, killed, and won.

Waterloo Plate.—First Tie: Strange idea came on with a clear lead from Hawk, and, coming smartly round at the turn, kept his place for the next two; after an exchange Hawk got well placed, and soon began to be very busy, but the early points scored by the black landed him eventually a clever winner. Sunbeam, although reported dead amiss, was three lengths faster than Dreadnought, who in a smartly run trial never had a chance, the Irish dog giving his opponent a hollow beating. Fanatic and Master Ivo ran pretty evenly together until the hare went to the right, which gave the Scotch dog first turn; Master Ivo then took possession, wrenched, and killed; undecided. In their next spin Fanatic held a slight lead till nearing the road, where Master Ivo raced past, but made an unfortunate bungle at the drain; the red then put in two or three strong points and brought puss half round, when the Irish dog put out his chance by killing. Improver showed in front two lengths, made first and second turns, served himself, and killed, never giving Kalista a chance.—Second Ties: Sunbeam, on the inside, led Strange Idea a length, and, being again favoured, took the next point; the black then raced up well in front and killed: no-go. Next time, a fast hare just suited Strange Idea, who gained the turn, and held possession for some time; and as soon as Sunbeam got in, he extinguished his chance by picking up his hare. Fanatic, owing to Improver being unsighted, was some lengths first to the hare, and, dusting puss about in fine style, had scored several points before his opponent joined in; a course of fair length followed, which ended in the cap coming off. Next time, Improver was first to show in front, but was eventually passed by Fanatic, who turned; a working course followed, which again ended in the cap coming off. Fanatic was then drawn.—Deciding Course: In a course of moderate length, Strange Idea had the foot of Improver, and all through the spin beat Mr R. Jardine's representative easily.

REMARKS.—The Waterloo Cup has of late years been gradually rising in the estimation of the sporting public, and is now a leading feature of speculation throughout the winter months. Within my recollection there have been many eventful and exciting anniversaries, but on no previous occasion has speculation been so brisk on the Derby of the leash, for it was the general opinion, owing to so many good puppies being engaged, that it would be a very open race. The result, however, has turned out to be the most disastrous Waterloo Cup on record for the bookmakers; and such was the eagerness of the public to get on Lord Lurgan's nomination, that several of our leading speculators had to return the money sent, and, with but few exceptions, laid over their books. As I anticipated, a puppy has won, and, for the first time since the Waterloo Cup has been established, two dog puppies have run first and second. Out of the last eight left in only two, Patent Lever and Lobelia, were amongst the old ones. It is rather a remarkable coincidence that out of the last four left in three were puppies, and that the same thing occurred last year, when Lobelia and Royal Seal ran first and second, Bettelheim third, and Trovatore fourth. The old dogs were, with one or two exceptions, decidedly below the average of previous years; whilst, on the other hand, a better class of puppies never came to slips for the great event. The draw was one of the most disastrous to the backers that has taken place for some years, as in the top thirty-two there were only three prominent favourites, Saucebox, Patent Lever, and Innkeeper, and they were well apart. In the last sixteen a lot of the favourites came together all of a heap; and as Master M'Grath was also in the lower thirty-two, it made Cock Robin's party uncommonly sweet on his chance. Lobelia was considered well drawn, and the Scotch and Irish dogs fortunately escaped the usual perversity which attends the drawing, Great Go and Ghillie Callum being the only two representatives that clashed.

The present anniversary is the first time the Cup has gone to Ireland, although the sister country has been well represented on several occasions—Blue Hat and Reliance, for example, having each run into the last four, Barney Williams, Golden Hair, and Shy Girl having been winners of the Purse, and Othello winner of the Plate. The weather on the first two days proved a great drawback to the successful management of a large meeting like the Waterloo; but, beyond this, the policy of changing the old beat was to my mind by no means a good one. However, all was no doubt done for the best, and, but for the wet, which caused hares to lie very tickle, the change might have proved successful. The field stewards (Mr T. Green, as last year, ably assisting on horseback) kept very good order; and the excellent plan of allowing no one to go with the slipper but the beaters had the desired effect. Before commencing a review of the running, it is worthy of note that, of the sixty-four competitors, the puppies were five in excess of the all-ages, and that out of the lot which put in an appearance last year ten went to slips on the present occasion —viz., Lobelia (the former winner), Royal Seal (second), Shy Girl (winner of the Purse), Strange Idea, Ronald, Attila, Hawk, Marionette, Belle of Scotland, and Belzoni. The Cup, as previously mentioned, has fallen for the first time to an Irish dog; the Purse and Plate both go to Cumberland. The Altcar Club, as will be seen from our return, were well to the fore, Cock Robin, Lobelia, and Charming May belonging to three of their members.

Master M'Grath (named after an orphan boy who reared him) is the property of Lord Lurgan, and was two years old the day when he commenced running for the Waterloo Cup. His full pedigree, extending back to five generations, is as follows:

MASTER M'GRATH	Derreck (Gardiner)	St. Clair	Figaro (Fyson)	King Cob (Daintree)	Ion Kate
				Frederica (Fyson)	Damon Daffodil
			Black Fly (Fridmore)	Marquis (Webb)	Rocket Stella
		Erin (Douglas)		Kirtles (Webb)	Kouli Khan Knavery
			Lightfoot (Howie)	Sam (B. Robinson)	Hilcoole Old Whisky
				Empress (B. Robinson)	Bennett's Rocket Easterby's Empress
	Lady Sarah (Lord Lurgan)	David (Long)	Jenny Lind (Jones)	Seythian (Edleston)	Fox Warwick
				Syren (Lord Sefton)	Sadek Sanctity
			Motley (Jardine)	Sam (Gibson)	Traveller Tippitywitchet
		Lady Watford (Willis)	Wanton (Wadham)	Tollwife (Jardine)	King Cob Matilda Gillespie
				Senate (Lord Sefton)	Sadek Sanctity
			Larriston (Sharpe)	Coquette (Webb)	Kouli Khan Knavery
		Liddesdale (Sharpe)	Bowhill Lady Seymour
		Hannah (Saunders)	Buff Catlowdie
	Consideration (Willis)	Kentish Fire (Daintree)	King Cob Knab
		Linnet (Thomas)	Easterby's Emperor Old Linnet

It will be seen that Master M'Grath is inbred four times to King Cob, through Figaro, Tippitywitchet, Tollwife, and Kentish Fire; to Sadek and Sanctity through Syren and Senate; to Ball's Bugle twice (through his sister Knavery); and to Kouli Khan through Kirtles and Coquette. He has also the Emperor (Easterby's) blood in him through Linnet, and that of Waterloo (Lord Eglinton's) through Bowhill. It is a curious fact that Brigadier, the winner of the Waterloo of 1866, also comes from Lady Watford, and combines the Larriston blood with that of King Cob and Emperor; both have the Figaro blood likewise, and they each have another strain of King Cob—Master M'Grath through David, and the other through Weapon. Master M'Grath, besides the strains of King Cob, has double strains of Senate and Knavery blood, and Brigadier has double strains of Waterloo blood through Ruby, by Moses, a brother, and Bowhill from Bessie Bell, a sister of that dog.

Master M'Grath is a small dog, weighing about 54lb, with a plain short head, good neck and shoulders, stoutly built, and standing on rare legs and feet. One remarkable point about him is his short and excessively fine tail. The following are his performances in public, and as yet he is undefeated. Master M'Grath's first appearance was at the Lurgan meeting in October last, when, having been little more than a week in training, he won the Visitors' Cup (32 dogs), beating, amongst others, S. S. and What's the Tip. His second appearance was at the Creagh meeting the week following Lurgan, when he divided the Moneyglass Purse (32 dogs) with his kennel companion, Master Nathaniel. His next appearance was at Altcar, when he won the Waterloo Cup. His first course was with Belle of Scotland, whom he outpaced both in the no-go and final spin, beating her very cleverly indeed. His second trial with Kalista might have ended unfortunately for him, as he got an ugly fall in the run up; but his great cleverness saved him, as he was on his legs again, and had puss in his jaws, before Mr Kay's bitch had a chance of putting him out. His third course with Marionette was such a hollow as well as clever victory, that there was immediately a rush to get out by those who had taken a liberty with the nomination. His coming against Brigade in the next round was quite the event of the meeting, and, although the trial was not A 1, the speed and cleverness exhibited by Lord Lurgan's dog justly entitled him to the award. His next course with Lobelia he made short by his extreme cleverness; and when finally he met Cock Robin, it was, bar accidents, "Lombard-street to a China orange," and 4 and 5 to 1 was offered in vain. The deciding course was run under great difficulties, and had not Master M'Grath been one of the cleverest greyhounds that ever went to slips, he in all probability, as the course was run, would have been put out. The announcement of Master M'Grath's victory was the signal for a tremendous outburst of enthusiasm, such as has seldom if ever been seen at a Waterloo meeting, showing how the public appreciate a good greyhound and straightforward owner. The following are his measurements, carefully made by an experienced courser, with the aid of Mr Jackson, veterinary surgeon, of Lurgan:

MASTER M'GRATH.

HEAD.—From tip of snout to jointing on to neck, 9½ in.; girth of head between eyes and ears, 14 in.; girth of snout, 7½ in.; distance between the eyes, 2½ in.

NECK.—Length from joining on of head to shoulders, 9 in.; girth round neck, 13½ in.

BACK.—From neck to base of tail, 21 in.; length of tail, 17 in.

INTERMEDIATE POINTS.—Length of loin from junction of last rib to hip bone, 8 in.; length from hip bone to socket of thigh joint, 5 in.

FORE LEG.—From base of two middle nails to fetlock joint, 2 in.; from fetlock joint to elbow joint, 12½ in.; from elbow joint to top of shoulder blade, 12½ in.; thickness of fore leg below the elbow, 6 in.

HIND LEG.—From hook to stifle joint, 9½ in.; from stifle to top of hip bone, 12 in.; girth of ham part of thigh, 14 in.; thickness of second thigh below stifle, 8½ in.

BODY.—Girth round depth of chest, 26½ in.; girth round the loins, 17½ in. Weight, 54 lb.

The Irish division win a large stake, and those who were late in getting on were kindly put on the winning side by a countryman who had backed the nomination heavily. I may here mention that Master M'Grath's success was foreshadowed in THE FIELD so far back as Oct. 30, where, in "Hibernia's" remarks on the Creagh meeting, the following passage occurs: "I consider he (Master M'Grath) wants none of the essentials of a first-class greyhound, and if reserved for the Waterloo Cup, I venture to predict that he will be the best representative the Emerald Isle has yet sent over. The nomination has already been supported for next year at 1000 to 30, and if Lord Lurgan's dog keeps well he will again take an immense amount of beating."

Cock Robin, the runner up, in his first course met Trifle, whom he led several lengths, but his chance was nearly annihilated by his falling into a ditch in the middle of the trial. His next spin was with Innkeeper; and as the latter was considered to have a very rosy chance after his clever performance at the late Ridgway Club Meeting, the result was looked forward to with the keenest anxiety. The course, however, was never in doubt, and Mr Lister's dog won handsomely. His third spin was productive of some heavy betting, as he met Royal Seal, who had the call, but she also had to succumb to the white's superior speed. The meeting of Cook Robin and Patent Lever in the fourth round resulted in an undecided of great length, and Scotland's hope had to be drawn, owing to the Messrs Lister, who had a second string in Charming May, refusing to come to any terms. The fourth ties saw Cook Robin and Charming May fall together, and the latter, who had run each of her courses beautifully, was drawn. Comments were freely passed on the above proceeding, and it was, to say the least of it, hard luck for the backers of Mr Lister's nomination to see their dog withdrawn in favour of Mr Randall's representative; and then, as if to add fuel to the fire, Charming May in the bye easily defeated her opponent. In Cook Robin's final spin he showed a better style of running than in his previous course, and worked a short-running hare very cleverly indeed.

Lobelia's appearance was anxiously looked for, owing to so many rumours being afloat about her being lame, &c. That Lobelia had her fore legs bandaged (taken off, however, each time she went to slips) was a fact, and she also had a cut on her hind leg; still she did not show any symptoms of lameness when going to slips, and last year's winner looked, to all appearance, as fresh and well as ever she did in her life. Her first course was with the Bishop of Oxford, whom she beat in hollow style, at the same time handling her hare quite in her old form. In her next slip she had a near squeak of being put out in a no-go with Christmas Day, but in their final spin she beat him easily enough. Her hollow defeat of Bab at the Bowster, after a no-go, was a staggerer for the Scotch division, and people began to ask themselves, "Is Lobelia going to win?" In the third ties Peruvian met her on very unequal terms, as he had got on to a hare in the morning when at exercise, and had a long single-handed course. In her last course she was outpaced by the winner, but, nevertheless, her performance throughout was a very creditable one indeed. We have also been favoured with the dimensions of this clever animal, which we append:

LOBELIA.

HEAD.—From tip of snout to jointing on to neck, 9½in.; girth of head between eyes and ears, 12½in.; girth of snout, 6½in.; distance between the eyes, 2in.

NECK.—Length from joining on of head to shoulders, 8½in.; girth round neck, 11½in.

BACK.—From neck to base of tail, 21½in.; length of tail, 17in.

INTERMEDIATE POINTS.—Length of loin from junction of last rib to hip bone, 8½in.; length from hip bone to socket of thigh joint, 7in.

FORE LEG.—From base of two middle nails to fetlock joint, 2in.; from fetlock joint to elbow joint, 11in.; from elbow joint to top of shoulder blade, 11in.; thickness of fore-leg below the elbow, 5½in.

HIND-LEG.—From hock to stifle joint, 10½in.; from stifle to top of hip bone, 10½in.; girth of ham part of thigh, 15in.; thickness of second thigh below stifle, 7½in.

BODY.—Girth round depth of chest, 25½in.; girth round the loins, 15in. Weight, 44lb.

Charming May met Ebony, Wellington, Gipsy Jack, and Ventre St. Gris, each of them leading her; still, her great cleverness when in possession of her hare saw her the vanquisher of her opponents. Her withdrawal, as mentioned above in my remarks on Cook Robin, was a sore blow to the backers of the nomination, a great many having supported it under the idea that Cook Robin would be the representative. In the fourth round Patent Lever, although reported so very much inferior to Improver, ran further in than any other of the Scotch division, and I consider he was very unlucky in getting such a long undecided, as, had the course been one of moderate length, he would have won. In Ventre St. Gris the only thing that surprised me was his getting so far into the stake as he did, and, when fairly tackled by Charming May, he cut up just as I expected he would do. Brigade, I must confess, did not quite run up to my expectations, as in each course that she ran there was a certain amount of unstead-ness which she did not show on her first appearance in public. She, however, was put out by the winner, and as the course was run, caused in great measure by her going wide of Master M'Grath in the run up, it is hard to say how it would have terminated had the hare gone away straight, in place of running in a circle. Peruvian ran quite up to his trial, and showed plenty of pace in each of his courses. There is no knowing how much he had taken out of him by having a course previous to meeting Lobelia, and I fully expect this dog to render a good account of himself next season. The third round saw the clever defeat of Royal Seal, Ghillie Callum (who proved, after all, he was a good stayer), Rustic Charms, Gipsy Jack, and Stonewall Jackson, the last-named of whom ran the unluckiest dog at the meeting; he was in grand condition, going fast and cleverly, knocking up his hares before running any distance, and when put out it was such a wretched trial that even Mr Swinburne's adversaries must have felt for him. It is my firm opinion that had he met with a fair trial Ireland would have been first and second for the great event. In the second round both Innkeeper and Crumbs ran widely different from their previous spins. Strange Idea must have disappointed the Cumberland division very much when opposed to Belzoni. Fanatic ran Bab at the Bowster so very closely, that at the finish it was anybody's course, a good kill on the part of Mr Blanchard's bitch just turning the tables. Letitia was very easily beaten by Marionette, who ran this, as well as her first course, in quite her puppy form. Improver's chance was effectually settled by Brigade, who beat him very easily indeed. Gelachossa's defeat everyone was prepared for after her long course with Spiced Ale, when she had an extra spin single-handed. This bitch, as well as her kennel companion Ghillie Callum, if put by until next season, will, I am inclined to think, repay their plucky owner for his several disappointments. Sunbeam went fast, and, if I am not much mistaken, is a very useful dog. The first round settled the pretensions of several whose chance for the prize was considered second to none. Of these the following went down: Saucebox, Just Coming, Spiced Ale, Crossfell, and Ronald, each having good trials. The celebrated Jane Anne, Belle of Scotland, and Dark Ritornella were also among the knock-outs, the two first having but short spins for their nominators. In the Purse Jane Anne was more fortunate than in the Cup, and won her purchase money the first time of asking. Justitia, who ran up, proved herself the good greyhound I have always predicted she was. Just Coming has quite gone off her running, which at this meeting was not her true form. 'Tak' Tent I consider was unlucky in not receiving the award in his course with Bethell. Of the others, Belle of Scotland proved she is still an awkward customer to dispose of.

The Plate was won by Strange Idea, who had a near squeak of being put out by Sunbeam in the second ties. Fanatic ran all his courses fast and cleverly, and was drawn in favour of Improver, whose running must have sadly disappointed his partisans, whose names were legion.

All things considered, the Waterloo Meeting of 1868 was a great success, and both Mr Warwick, as judge, and Raper, as slipper, gave every satisfaction.

Dr Hitchman's HOWARD beat Capt. Watson's WILLIE WYLIE (1).

THE Tamworth meeting was judiciously fixed for the week following the Waterloo, and, the place being on a line of railway easy of access from all parts of the United Kingdom, has become so deservedly popular in the short space of two years, that it may now be fairly classed in the foremost rank of our coursing réunions. Since my visit last year Sir Robert Peel has caused several important alterations to be made, and some half-dozen fences have been taken up in the meadows. As further improvements are contemplated before next season, Tamworth will undoubtedly continue to increase in popularity. On arriving at Tamworth on Monday last there appeared every prospect of a first-class meeting, and among the entries for the Drayton Manor Stakes were the following dogs, who ran last week for the Waterloo Cup, viz.: Marionette, Royal Seal, Moostrooper, Dreadnought, Belle of Scotland, Gipsy Jack, Stonewall Jackson, and Shy Girl. The following gentlemen were on a visit to Sir Robert Peel at Drayton Manor: Lord Sefton, Lord Garlies, Hon. F. Stonor, Col. Goodlake, Capt. Hawthorn, and C. F. Allison, Esq. The dinner and draw took place on Monday evening, at the Peel Arms, where upwards of seventy gentlemen dined, under the presidency of G. W. Mould, Esq. The two vice chairs were occupied by F. Ruff, Esq., Mayor of Tamworth, and J. Shaw, Esq. Among the company present were Dr. Hitchman, Messrs C. E. Marfleet, C. Marfleet, T. Green, Hole, Watson, J. Taylor (Ireland), S. Swinburne (Ireland), C. Morgan, J. Dunn, E. W. Stocker, Trevor, Hicks, Page, Kay, B. Smith, M'Lean, Strutton, Carter, Leighton, Theyer, Todd, Hornby, Shaw, Watton, &c. After the removal of the cloth, and the usual loyal toasts had been drunk, the chairman, in an excellent speech, proposed the health of Sir Robert Peel, which was received with three times, as also was that of Lady Emily Peel, whose interest in the sport is well known to all frequenters of the Tamworth meeting. To the Drayton Manor Stakes Sir R. Peel gave a pair of handsome and elegantly chased silver goblets, in the form of deerhound heads; and to the Victoria Stakes Mr F. Warwick and Mr Addison added a valuable prize in the shape of a silver goblet. The entry, as last year, was at Mr F. Warwick's, the Tweeddale Arms; but, as the dinner was held at another house, this would hardly remunerate him for all the trouble incurred in getting up a large meeting.

The following is a return of the betting:—Drayton Manor Stakes—Individual Courses: 6 to 4 on Commodore v. Miranda (off), 6 to 4 on Little Monkey v. Crown Imperial (t), 6 to 4 on Othello v. Achievement (t), 7 to 4 on Cymbal v. Trentham Lass (t), 2 to 1 on Clio v. Havelock (t), 6 to 4 on Lisette v. Joseph (t), 3 to 2 on Wild Thyme v. Beestroot (t), 2 to 1 on Royal Seal v. Moostrooper (t), 5 to 4 on Midlothian v. Lancashire Lass (off), 2 to 1 on Jolly Green v. Be Fair (t and off), 25 to 10 on Marionette v. Master Hearne (t), 6 to 4 on Solomon v. Dark Patent (t), and 7 to 4 on Belle of the Lodge v. Melrose (t).

Tweeddale Stakes.—5 to 4 on The Thorn v. Howard (t), 2 to 1 on Spiced Ale v. Lichfield (t), even on Pompey v. Willie Wylie (t), and 6 to 4 on Circe v. Nautilus (t).

TUESDAY.—Met at Fisher Meadow Bridge, Drayton, and beat the same ground as last year, lying between the river Tame and canal. Several important alterations have taken place since my last visit, and the objectionable fence a little beyond the canal bridge has been grubbed up, so that the meadow now allows of more scope, and several good trials took place there. On the large pasture adjoining the river, the awkward ox fence in the centre has also been entirely removed, and there is now ample room for a fair test of speed. Raper worked wonderfully hard, and by dint of great perseverance succeeded in getting nearly all his dogs well laid on. The beautiful weather brought together an immense company, who (thanks to the energy displayed by Mr T. Green in keeping order) behaved extremely well. It is seldom that so many of our leading coursers are seen together at any but the Lancashire meetings as on the present occasion. Tamworth was represented by coursers from all parts of the United Kingdom; and amongst the company on the ground we noticed Earl Sefton, Lord Garlies, Sir Robert Peel and Lady Emily Peel, Hon. F. Stonor, Lieut.-Col. Goodlake, Capt. Garnett, Capt. Hawthorn, Dr Mould, Dr Hitchman, Messrs C. F. Allison, W. G. Borron, C. E. Marfleet, C. Marfleet, C. Morgan, Watson, Hole, J. Taylor, and S. S. Waterhouse (Ireland), Leighton, Theyer, Watton, Trevor, Twigg, M'Lean, Dunn, Hicks, Page, Fuggle, B. Smith, Punchard, Harris, G. Garnett, C. Randell, E. W. Stocker, Mallerby, Hammond, Fisher, Page, &c. The coursing during the latter part of the day was not so good as in the morning, owing to the hares, which had been driven about all day, running tired and weak. Sir Robert Peel took an active part in the proceedings, which were brought to a close a few minutes after six o'clock.

Drayton Manor Stakes.—Commodore and Miranda had a fearfully long slip, in which the latter was unsighted for some distance, and Commodore, being in full view of his hare, was first up any number of lengths; puss going through the fence, I saw nothing of the course, which must have been an unsatisfactory trial for Miranda, the loser. Little Monkey came on with a clear lead from Crown Imperial, made first turn, and raced past for the next; the course from this point was in favour of Mr Cunningham's dog, but a kill by Little Monkey at the finish just pulled her through, with nothing to spare. Achievement led for some considerable distance, when Othello put on the steam, raced past, and turned half a dozen lengths in front; some short work followed to the hedge, where Achievement got thrown out, and Mr Morgan's dog consequently won a moderate trial easily. A good hare came away for Trentham Lass and Cymbal, and the former, being fastest throughout a long course, won easily. Clio, in a long slip, drew away from Havelock, and reaching her hare at the fence, nailed her as she attempted to smeuse. Joseph and Lisette were slipped in the large meadow by the river side, the former showing the pace to a grip, where Lisette drew past inside, turned, wrenched twice, and served Joseph; the latter then had the best of some dodging work to a fence, but the early points scored by Lisette pulled her through the winner, though there was no great merit shown in the course. Wild Thyme, after being in the rear for some distance, passed Beetroot in the run up, turned cleverly, kept her place, then wrenched strongly several times and killed: a smart performance of the winner's. Moses was a great deal favoured in the run up, owing to the hare coming right round to him, and for some time Mary Monica had no chance whatever of getting in; at last a stretch presented itself, but Moses still had the command of pace, and the Scotch bitch was beaten pointless, the black killing. Royal Seal got up with a long lead from Mosstrooper, who in the first field had the worst of the course; a long trial followed, which I could not see, the flat being in favour of Mr Clarke's bitch. Lancashire Lass, after a long pace, drew out half a length from Midlothian for first turn, the latter taking the next; a long working course followed, well and closely contested by both, the Lass killing and winning cleverly. Wee Bob, going in good form, took a strong lead from Mayfly, turned, served himself, and, maintaining possession to the fence, legged puss as she attempted to smeuse: a very meritorious performance of the Irish dog. Jolly Green, running the outer circle, was several lengths faster than Be Fair, who, up to the fence, was never once in front; I saw no more of the course, which quickly ended by puss being chopped in the ditch. Master Hearn, in a fair race, led for some distance, when Marionette drew clear past, turned, and kept her place; in a working course that followed she showed a decided superiority over her opponent, and wound up with a fine kill. Enterprise, going in good form, drew out two lengths, turned, and served himself; after an exchange Solomon suffered a go-by, and in a course of moderate length to the fence Enterprise won most decisively. The course between Apology and Ate was all one way, the latter leading, and beating her opponent pointless. Master M'Fadden and Mazeppa ran a long working and slovenly-run course, in which the cap came off. Next time Master M'Fadden showed the pace, turned, kept his place for the next, and fell in striking at his hare; Mazeppa, who was close on him, came a purler over his prostrate opponent; but, again getting on to his legs, Lord Lurgan's dog scored and won. Just Right was favoured in the run up by being inside, and puss continually going from Blanche, she never had a chance until the hare broke for the hedge; a fine struggle for superiority then took place, in which Mr Punchard's bitch drew clear away, but the course terminated at the fence too soon for her chance. Ceres and Hermit had a short undecided, after which the former pulled through a very clever winner. An undecided took place between Lady Elizabeth and Lusty Miller, in which the latter had the best of it. Next time the tables were turned, and Lady Elizabeth won cleverly. Gabrielle and Horniblow came on pretty evenly together to where a hedge had been grubbed up, and puss running down the side, Gabrielle got a good lead for first turn; cleverly keeping her place, she went back in command, through the post-and-rail fence, and won an average trial very cleverly. After going some distance Syndic drew clear away, and turned four lengths in front of Stonewall Jackson, who was outpaced throughout a smartly run trial, and cleverly beaten. There had been more money laid out on this course on the night before than on any other, and it was some satisfaction to the losers to know that they were beaten on their merits. Hermione had the foot of Safrano from slips, and having the inside also, she went up first several lengths, and kept her position for the next point; Safrano then got placed, and was just in the act of equalising the score, when a kill put out her chance; this course, although fairly won, was an unfortunate trial for the loser. Dreadnought came away with a lead of two lengths from Billy, turned, kept his place, and after an exchange drove his hare through the fence; still retaining the command, he had the best of the exchanges that followed in the next field, and won handsomely; Dreadnought, before being taken up, unfortunately got on to several fresh hares, and was severely run. After a short halt for luncheon, during which Sir Robert and Lady Emily Peel were loudly cheered, Belle of Scotland and Daniel were started on the big meadow; the latter showed in front to the old fence, where Belle of Scotland drew out and turned two lengths in front; keeping her place, the Cumberland bitch made the trial nearly all one way, winning handsomely. Attaché soon drew out from Merry Maid, and keeping cleverly with his hare, won a short and merry course most decisively, Mr Allison's dog finishing with a good kill. Gipsy Jack and Well I Never had a short undecided, the former showing the pace, and also having the best of the course. Next time Gipsy Jack again showed the pace, and had much the best of his opponent in a short working course, which he wound up with three wrenches and a good kill. In a long slip to a good hare Grace Darling came on with a clear lead from Anemone, who in a trial of fair length was far too slow to have any chance with her opponent. After a neck and neck race for some distance Gipsy Bob drew slightly in advance of Rocket, and in a merry trial won very cleverly. Shy Girl and Comet ran a flukey and moderate course, in which puss continually ran in circles, and the Irish bitch got put out rather unsatisfactorily. Carmelite in a pretty race was first up by favour, served Minnie, quickly deprived her of the lead again, and in a short spin won easily. Nice Ale, in a fair stretch up the meadow, drew herself clear of Belted Knight, turned, wrenched a few times, and killed. Confederate came on with a long lead from Morning Dew, who was unsighted, but on nearing the hare Mr Marfleet's bitch raced clean past her opponent and whipped puss up. It was now getting late, half-past three, so it was decided to send home the dogs in the Tweeddale Stakes.

Victoria Stakes.—Horace and Camilla had a short no-course. On being placed in slips again, the latter led by favour, until Horace drew past inside and killed; undecided. Their final trial ended in the victory of Camilla, who won a moderate course cleverly. Wizard had an immense advantage in the run up by the hare coming to him, but Symphony getting in outworked her opponent, and received the award. Jolly News, to a weak hare, came on with a slight lead from Bessie, turned, and served herself, when the latter instantly put out her chance by picking up her game. What's the Odds drew away from slips, and also taking the inside from Land Shark on nearing the hare, turned, scored thrice, and killed cleverly. Happy Home, moving in very pretty style, came on with a clear lead from Ratazzi, turned, and cleverly maintained her place; puss then doubled back through the fence, but Happy Home still kept possession, and in a smartly run trial won nearly all one way. Bel Demonio was showing in front on the outer circle, until puss went from him, and Guido going on with the lead turned, keeping his place for the next point; an exchange ensued in favour of Mr Borron's dog, who wrenched strongly twice; but the hare going right to Guido, he, being well placed, killed and won. This was an unlucky trial for the loser. Good Security and Animosity ran a short working course, the latter at the finish just gaining the award by drawing past and effecting the kill. Master Frederick had the foot of Falling Spray, and, bringing his hare round three lengths in front of his opponent, turned; he then scored twice, and pressed his hare to the white, who wrenched slightly, and killed. Jolly Surprise came on with a good lead from Nancy, turned, kept her place, and drove puss to the fence, where the course ended. Boy of the Trent and Mexican Ranger: the former was first on to his legs, and, keeping his position as the hare bent round, increased his lead to two lengths, and knocked up his hare—a very smart performance of the winner's. Michael and Surprise were slipped at a hare, which doubled at a tree; the former, holding the lead at the time, came so cleverly round that he had scored several points before giving the black a chance; Surprise, in possession, was getting very busy, when a wide turn let in the blue again, who wound up with a good kill. Bit of Blue had the pace of Dark Patent, and, in a long race up, turned; after an exchange, Bit of Blue again drew well in front, and then shifting puss, the course terminated at the hedge. Lady Selina got a long lead to the hare, but afterwards was beaten by Activity—how, I cannot say, as I was badly placed for seeing the course. After two undecideds, Momus beat Daniel Quilp cleverly. Teesdale, after a no-go, led and beat Peter Simple very easily, and the day's sport ended by Belle of the Lodge scoring every point from Melrose, who cut up wretchedly in a short spin.

There was only a small party to dine in the evening at the Peel Arms, G. W. Mould, Esq., in the chair. After the withdrawal of the cloth it was announced that the list would be read over, and the room became instantly filled. There was a good deal of betting, and commissions on Attaché and Clio for their respective courses were executed to the extent of several hundred pounds. The following is a return of the business done.

Drayton Manor Stakes.—5 to 4 on Little Monkey v. Commodore, 6 to 4 on Trentham Lass v. Othello, 100 to 80 on Lisette v. Clio, 2 to 1 on Royal Seal v. Lancashire Lass, 5 to 4 on Wee Bob v. Jolly Green, 7 to 4 on Ate v. Master M'Fadden, 6 to 4 on Ceres v. Just Right, 5 to 2 on Syndic v. Hermione, 2 to 1 on Belle of Scotland v. Dreadnought, 5 to 4 on Gipsy Jack v. Attaché, 5 to 4 on Comet v. Carmelite, and even on Morning Dew v. Nice Ale.

Victoria Stakes.—7 to 4 on Symphony v. Camilla, 6 to 4 on Jolly News v. What's the Odds, 6 to 4 on Guido v. Happy Home, 6 to 4 on Master Frederick v. Animosity, 6 to 4 on Jolly Surprise v. Boy of the Trent, 6 to 4 on Belle of the Lodge v. Teesdale.

WEDNESDAY.—Met at Drayton Lane End, and a fine morning again drew together a goodly company. We commenced at half-past nine in some old grass pasture on Mr Butler's farm, and worked round by Messrs Jackson and Rowbottom's occupations to the Park farm. The trials up to this time had been very superior to those of yesterday, hares running much stronger; still fur was not sufficiently thick on the estate to insure a good day's sport. The result was that, after the company had been taken down to the meadows, only one hare was slipped at before darkness came on, and consequently two courses were left on the card. Several ladies were on the ground during the greater part of the day, Lady Emily Peel remaining until the close. Lords Charles and Alexander Paget and the Hon. Colonel Curson also joined the house party to-day. Commenced with the

Drayton Manor Stakes.—First Ties: A rattling hare was started for Commodore and Little Monkey, the latter of whom gained the run up; a good trial across two or three fields followed out of sight of the spectators, the flat in favour of Little Monkey. Othello, going a good pace, led several lengths, and overshot himself at the turn; Trentham Lass then went on and killed: undecided. In a very long slip to a fast hare Othello, after running head and head with Trentham Lass, began to steal away, and on reaching a gap at the end of the field he was a long distance ahead; as soon as the pair got together in the next inclosure a cannon took place, and Othello getting the best away from the collision won easily to the road. Lisette and Clio being slipped across a meadow, the former took the lead, and, gradually leaving her opponent, reached the hedge first by a good length, but in attempting to smouse she got her head fast, and struggled hard for some time to disengage herself; Clio, who was more successful in getting through, then went on with her hare, and had a long trial all to herself; this course was not only unfortunate, but shows the folly of investing heavily on greyhounds in an inclosed country, Lisette having been backed for upwards of £300 to win this course. Moses, in a very pretty race, showed in front from slips, and turned his hare; coming well round he kept his place, again scored, and then led through the fence, where Wild Thyme was thrown out, and the flat was given in favour of Moses. In a fine race up Royal Seal soon left Lancashire Lass in the rear, and increasing her lead to four lengths turned; maintaining her position, she kept clever possession of her hare to the road, and only allowed her opponent to score once in the course. Wee Bob, on the outer circle, had the foot of Jolly Green until rounding the edge of a quarry hole, where the Irish dog fell a cropper; Mr Jones's dog then came on with his hare, and Wee Bob again falling, Jolly Green went on and won. This was a very unlucky course for the loser. The next hare led Marionette and Enterprise through the same quarry hole, and both got unsighted; the former, running on, held a strong lead on reaching her hare, and drove puss to the fence, Enterprise never having a chance. This was also a bad trial for the loser, as Enterprise had little or no chance of getting in. Ate, coming on with a good lead from Master M'Fadden, turned by the fence side, and the Irish dog getting first through led to covert: undecided. Next time Ate, going in her very best form, reached her hare three lengths in front of the Irishman, then came beautifully round, and kept selfish possession until she killed: a very clever performance of the winner. Just Right had the pace for first turn, Ceres taking the next; after an exchange the latter put in a couple of smart points by the hedge side, when Mr Jones's dog again went to the front in a good stretch, and turned to the black, who scored twice; Just Right, getting best through the fence, led down the next field, wrenched twice, and killed. Gabrielle, in a long race up, had a shade more pace than Lady Elizabeth, who, as soon as the hare went straight, drew clean past her opponent, but before she could reach her game Gabrielle scored a go-by, then led through the hedge, and kept in front to covert. In a long slip on wheat, Syndic gradually drew ahead, and was two lengths in front on reaching the hedge at the top of the field, but in attempting to smouse he stuck fast, and Hermione, flying the fence, had the remainder of the course to herself. From the pace shown by Syndic in his course yesterday, with Stonewall Jackson, it looked a good thing for Lord Sefton's dog, and it was very unfortunate that the dog should thus get put out by bad luck. Dreadnought and Belle of Scotland were slipped under the hill, and the former, taking the lead, drove his hare through the fence; still keeping command, he made the course all one way until the hare made for covert, when Belle of Scotland scored a go-by, and, repeating the dose twice, eventually won a good trial out of the fire. Gipsy Jack and Attaché were started on wheat, and the latter led for first turn; after an exchange, Gipsy Jack took the command, and, handling his hare very artistically, scored half a dozen beautiful points, and winding up with a fine kill, won cleverly. Gipsy Bob, to a good hare, went off from slips with a clear lead, and, bringing puss round, handled her so very cleverly that he scored no end of points; they reached a gate, which Grace Darling flew, and at once ended the course by killing her hare. Comet had too much pace for Carmelite, and in a fair average course beat his opponent all one way, winding up with a magnificent kill. Nice Ale and Morning Dew had a short no-go, run under the hill out of sight. Next time, Morning Dew had the pace, and won very cleverly a prettily run course, Mr Marfleet's bitch finishing with a good kill.

Victoria Stakes.—First Ties: Symphony, in a moderate course, had too much pace for Camilla; I saw, however, but little of the spin, at the close of which Lord Sefton's bitch wrenched and killed. Jolly News showed the speed over What's the Odds to a hedge, where puss was lost, and the cap came off. Another no-go followed, well and closely contested. In their final attempt Jolly News was half a length first to the hare in a splendid race up the field, and came well round with her game; a finely contested give-and-take course ensued, Jolly News, who wound up with a good kill, winning two-thirds of the course. Happy Home, going in very pretty style, drew out a length from Guido, turned, and served herself; after an exchange, Happy Home, in a pretty stretch, drew to the front, then turned to Guido, who went on and killed: this course was magnificently run by the winner. Animosity, in a rattling race up, showed a shade in advance of Master Frederick for first turn, and, running both faster and cleverer than his opponent throughout an average trial to the fence, finished up with a rattling kill. Jolly Surprise and Boy of the Trent had a short no-course, owing to their losing their hare at the hedge. In the race Boy of the Trent, after a long struggle, gained the turn and served his opponent; an exchange followed, and Jolly Surprise was going on with the lead, when Boy of the Trent drew straight past his opponent as they neared the hedge, and both dogs refusing to smouse, the course terminated. As run it looked a clever win for the brindled, but the cap came off. Boy of the Trent was afterwards drawn, which was almost a pity after showing the pace. Bit o' Blue had a great advantage from slips by being on the lower ground, and from puss going to his side, and although Michael showed the pace, he looked like being thrown out a long way, until the hare doubled right back; after an exchange, Bit o' Blue was leading, when Michael shot past and wrenched his hare; after each had scored Michael again drew past his opponent, and thereby won the course, as the exchanges that followed were equal. Momus and activity had a long undecided, the latter being the fastest to begin, and up to the time that a third dog joined in I thought Momus had the best of it: the cap, however, came off. Momus was then drawn by arrangement. Teesdale got best away from slips, and gradually drawing away from Belle of the Lodge, shifted puss a couple of lengths in advance and killed.

Tweeddale Stakes.—In a rattling race up, The Lubber passed Gipsy Sal, turned the hare cleverly, and keeping his place, drove her before him in good style along the headland into the next field, where he left off a very clever winner. Marcus came on with a strong lead, and turned; Luther, being well placed behind, then went on, wrenched, and killed; the flat was in favour of Luther, but I expected the cap to come off. Howard came best through the grip, and reached his hare several lengths in front of The Thorn; some short exchanges followed, and the hare would not have Mr Boote's bitch, who, at the finish, killed cleverly; this was another unlucky course for Mr Boote. Abyssinian, in a rattling race up, drew out three lengths from Teeswater, and went wide at the turn; the bitch scored the next, and as the hare came round Abyssinian shot across and made a flying kill. Spiced Ale almost immediately drew away from Lichfield, turned and raced past for the next; the next turn he ran out a little, but his superior pace again took him to the front, when an exchange took place, and puss was chopped. Willie Wylie, in a grand stretch, drew out two lengths from Pompey, and went wide; the latter then went back down the field with a strong lead, but after a magnificent struggle Willie Wylie raced past and scored the second turn; puss then made for the corner of the field, the course being still in favour of the fawn, who beat Pompey very decisively. No more hares being forthcoming, the company were taken down to the swing bridge, and after an undecided between Circe and Nautilus it got so dark that the order was given for home.

The dinner party in the evening was but poorly attended; on the list being read over the room became crowded to excess, and some heavy betting took place at the following prices:

Drayton Manor Stakes.—5 to 4 on Little Monkey v. Othello, 6 to 4 on Chio v. Moses, 2 to 1 on Royal Seal v. Jolly Green, 14 to 8 on Marionette v. Ate, 2 to 1 on Just Right v. Gabriella, 2 to 1 on Belle of Scotland v. Hermione, 10 to 8 on Gipsy Jack v. Comet, 12 to 8 on Gipsy Bob v. Morning Dew.

Victoria Stakes.—6 to 4 on Symphony v. Jolly News, 6 to 4 on Animosity v. Happy Home, 6 to 4 on Michael v. Jolly Surprise, even on Activity v. Teesdale.

Tweeddale Stakes.—2 to 1 on The Lubber v. Luther, 6 to 4 on Abyssinian v. Howard, 6 to 4 on Spiced Ale v. Willie Wylie, 2 to 1 on Circe v. Nautilus, 2 to 1 on Belle of the Hall v. General Jackson.

THURSDAY.—Met at Drayton Lane End, and coursed over the same ground as on the first day. Considering that fifty-three hares were killed over these meadows on Tuesday, it was good work to get through the card and finish by four o'clock. Such, however, was the case, and the weak hares having been killed off, a succession of rattling trials took place, and, thanks to a continuance of the beautiful weather we have been enjoying during the week, this popular meeting was brought to a highly successful termination, and finished in such good time that the visitors were enabled to catch the express trains north and south. The attendance was again large and fashionable, and, in addition to the visitors from the Manor, Colonel Inge, of Thorpe Hall, and several local gentlemen were present. Commenced with the Tweeddale Stakes (continued).—Circe, on the outer circle, drew out a length from Nautilus, turned, and went round the hedge corner with the lead; an average course followed, the result being the defeat of Circe, who was very unlucky, as she got thrown out at some post-and-rails, and her opponent, going on alone, scored half a dozen points and killed. General Jackson and Belle of the Hall had a regular steeplechase over some half-dozen post-and-rail fences, the former leading and wrenching her hare out of sight.—First Tie: In a good race up The Lubber was a length faster than Luther, and cleverly keeping his place he scored half a dozen rattling points and killed. Howard, going a good pace, raced away several lengths in front of Abyssinian, stuck close to the scout, and wound up with a fine kill, never once having let in his opponent. Willie Wylie, to the surprise of the talent, stretched away a good length in front of Spiced Ale for first turn, and kept his place for the next; after an exchange he rushed in and killed. Nautilus, to a weak hare, came on a couple of lengths in advance of General Jackson, and, keeping his place at the turn, won two-thirds of a moderate trial to the fence.—Second Tie: Howard, going a cracker from slips, came on with a clear lead from The Lubber, and handling his hare like an artist, scored point after point to the drain; this he cleared in good style, and puss had not proceeded many yards before she was chopped in the crowd. Willie Wylie, moving in grand style, drew out four lengths from General Jackson, and cleverly keeping his place, made a short trial all one way, winding up with a kill of merit.—Deciding Course: After a short no-go, Willie Wylie soon showed in front, and, clearing the ditch in advance, led several lengths until the hare bent, when Howard drew past, and getting first over the hedge gained a good lead in the next field, then wrenched strongly thrice, and killed: a very clever performance of the winner.

Drayton Manor Stakes.—Second Tie: Othello came on with a commanding lead from Little Monkey (unsighted), and, going through the fence a long way in advance, turned; a working course followed, which ended in the cap coming off. This trial was run on the other side of the hedge, and, as it could only be seen at intervals, I have not attempted to describe it. Next time Othello came on several lengths in front to a post-and-rail fence, which he struck and fell; this mishap allowed Little Monkey to go on at least a dozen lengths in front, and dashing at her hare she fell over, with puss in her mouth: a very unfortunate trial for Mr Morgan's dog. A clinking hare got up for Royal Seal and Jolly Green; the latter, gaining the turn by three lengths, served the black, and raced past for the next: keeping his place, he then wrenched twice, when Royal Seal got nicely placed, and, after putting in three or four smart points, led over the hedge, and turned; after an exchange puss escaped her pursuers to a sough, just too soon for the black's chance. Unfortunately for Jolly Green, a fresh hare jumped up, and he got a fearful bucketing. Marionette, to a weak hare, drew clear away from Ate, wrenched twice, and killed: a short but decisive win. Gabrielle, in a straight slip, drew out a couple of lengths from Just Right, turned, and nailed puss on the side of the ditch: a bad trial for the loser. Belle of Scotland, after a good race, came on three lengths in front of Hermione and turned; a rattling trial followed, Hermione for a time looking very dangerous, but the Belle came in again at the finish, killed, and won cleverly. Comet, although his style of galloping was not much admired, had the pace of Gipsy Jack several lengths, and, bringing his hare round, he kept his place and made the course all one way to the fence; here Mr Green's dog fell, and Comet went on alone with his game. A clinking hare getting up on the meadow for Gipsy Bob and Morning Watch, the former led three lengths for first turn, and, cleverly keeping his place, scored seven before his opponent got in; several exchanges ensued until puss broke away, when Morning Watch got well placed, and for a time was very busy, but on nearing the second fence she suffered a go-by; a long course followed to a sough, still in favour of Gipsy Bob, who won handsomely.—Third Tie: In a grand struggle to the hare, Little Monkey just managed to get up for first turn, Moses taking the next; a rattling trial ensued, Little Monkey, who ran in her very best style, winning a long course with a strong balance of points in hand. Marionette, laying down beautifully to her work, reached her hare four lengths in front of Jolly Green, and, keeping close to the scut, rattled puss about three or four times in grand style, and killed: from the severe course Jolly Green had this morning, it was not to be expected he would make much of a fight with the Lincolnshire crack. Belle of Scotland immediately showed in front from slips, and, increasing her lead to three lengths, turned; Gabrielle then assumed the command, but the Cumberland bitch immediately drew past and turned, kept her place, wrenched twice, and knocked puss over; the hare got away again, but was nailed by the fawn almost immediately. After some time a hare was started for Gipsy Bob and Comet; the former showed momentarily in front, but in a few strides Comet drew away, and, getting best over the bank, stumbled; he still kept his place, however, and was first up by three lengths, turned, and served himself; after an exchange Mr Carter's dog went on with the lead, wrenched, and killed. Comet ran this course fast and cleverly, but Gipsy Bob had had too severe a trial to meet his opponent on level terms.—Fourth Tie: Marionette, after being in the rear for a short distance, drew clear away from Little Monkey, and, reaching her hare a couple of lengths in advance, turned; coming smartly round for the next, she served Little Monkey, who scored a point, but going wide, Mr Clarke's bitch again got in, wrenched, and killed. Comet got best away from slips, and, increasing his lead to four lengths, turned; keeping his place, he again scored, then wrenched strongly, and slipped up in trying to kill; Belle of Scotland, being well placed, had the best of some exchanges until the hare broke away, when Comet again went to the front, and had won easily when the death took place.—Deciding Course: After some time a hare was driven from the river side for Marionette and Comet; in a very long slip the latter showed in front for the first fifty yards, but on crossing some uneven ground Marionette raced straight past, and, as puss reached the hedge, was many lengths ahead, and the flat was given in her favour. Although the hare was never turned, the race past and long lead fairly entitled Marionette to the award.

Victoria Stakes.—Second Tie: Symphony, in a long race to the hare, passed Jolly News for first turn, and, after an exchange, led through the fence; a working course followed in favour of Lord Sefton's bitch, who left off a clever winner. Another of the right sort came away for Animosity and Happy Home; and, although the former fell twice in the run up, his superior pace carried him well to the front for first turn; a long and severe trial followed to the sough, Animosity always having the command of pace, and winning handsomely. Jolly Surprise, in a fine race, had the foot of Michael for first turn, then kept her place, and, the blue being twice disappointed through the hare going from him, Mr Jones's bitch, who handled her hare very cleverly, won a good trial decisively. Activity, in a very pretty race, led across the ditch, and brought puss round three lengths in front of Teesdale; the latter, who was well placed, handled his hare artistically for a succession of strong points, then killed, and won.—Third Tie: Animosity came on with a clear lead from Symphony to the ditch, where the latter drew ahead and raced into her hare: a short but decisive win. Jolly Surprise, in a fine race, drew out a length and a half from Teesdale, turned, and served himself; after an exchange Teesdale wrenched twice, and then destroyed his chance by making a good kill.—Deciding Course: Symphony was two lengths faster than Jolly Surprise in the run up, and, sweeping well round, he turned and wrenched to Mr Jones's bitch; after shifting puss, the latter lost her place, and Symphony effectually settled matters with a grand kill. Lord Sefton's success was hailed with loud cheers.

REMARKS.—Three days' beautiful weather, and excellent management in every department, tended to make the outing one of a most enjoyable character. As will be seen from the return, England, Ireland, and Scotland were well represented, and, considering the lateness of the season, as well as the heavy calls made of late on the different kennels, it is seldom a better lot of greyhounds has been got together at the spring of the year. The Drayton Manor Stakes fell to Marionette—always a special favourite of mine—and, the speed and cleverness she showed in each of her courses at this meeting, point to Master M'Grath's defeat of her as a wonderful performance. Marionette was fortunate in having short courses, but they were made so entirely by her own great cleverness; and Mr Clarke is at last rewarded with a really good stake for his plucky outlay, he having originally bought Marionette from Mr Bartholomew for 200 guineas. Comet, the runner up, is by Beckford out of Lady Solway—a big, raw dog puppy, only 20 months old, and weighing close on 70lb. This dog was much harder run than Mr Clarke's bitch, otherwise I think Marionette would have had a deal of trouble to dispose of him, for the dog showed great pace in each of his courses, as well as being a very clever worker. In his last spin he ran a very tired greyhound. Comet was sold to Mr C. E. Marfleet, previous to going into slips for the deciding course, for £120—a large sum to give, but he is undoubtedly a first-class greyhound, and if his new owner will only give him time Comet will, I fancy, turn out a very formidable opponent next season. Little Monkey appears to go quite as fast as she did on her first appearance, but she did not work so closely as I have seen her. Belle of Scotland met her match when opposed to Comet, but she is still a very dangerous bitch to meet. Mr Jones sent a very useful team to contend in the different stakes, and, but for the unfortunate event that happened to Jolly Green in his having a fearful pumper, after defeating Royal Seal, he must have been handy at the finish. Clio won and lost her party a good deal of money, and they may consider themselves lucky in landing the first event when Lisette got fast in the fence. Mr Morgan was signally unfortunate all through the meeting, and the grand climax was Othello, after an undecided, falling head over heels at the fence, while Little Monkey, his opponent, before he was well on to his legs again, was away and had her hare killed. Royal Seal must have lost her pace. Mr Green's two, Gipsy Bob and Gipsy Jack, were both very footsore on Thursday, and the latter's chance was annihilated by having a long, pumping course before meeting Comet. Moses ran an exceedingly clever course with Clio, but Little Monkey had just too much pace for Mr Marfleet's dog. Wee Bob came over from Ireland with a great reputation, and, but for his bad luck in falling during his course with Jolly Green, he would—from what little I could judge of him—have given his opponent a lot of trouble. Dreadnought was dead amiss; still he led and very nearly beat Belle of Scotland in the second round. Syndic, in his first course, met Stonewall Jackson, and as the Irish division warmly supported their dog, while the Lancashire lads stuck to the Earl of Sefton's representative, the pair carried a deal of money. After having several bad trials, this brace fortunately met with a good hare, and Syndic beat his opponent well; in his next trial a low fence saw Syndic pull up, and lose his course in consequence. Crown Imperial went well, and was within an ace of upsetting a great pot in Little Monkey. Lusty Miller, as well as his kennel companion Safrano, had anything but a good trial, but that was the case with a great many slipped on the first day. Ceres was unfortunate in getting thrown out at a fence, the same thing occurring to Lisette in her first course. The Victoria Stakes saw the victory of Symphony, which was hailed with great applause, and Lord Setton, who was present, was loudly cheered on his success. This bitch ran through the stake like a good greyhound, and the way in which she steals a march on her opponents at the ditches is something remarkable. Jolly Surprise ran fast and cleverly, and there was no disgrace in being beaten by a bitch like Symphony. Animosity, who was only purchased last week at Mr Spinks's sale at Liverpool, ran fast and cleverly in each course; but for his ill luck in losing ground at the ditch, it is quite on the cards he would have won the stake. The meadow land of the midland counties appeared more suited to Animosity (late Sea Cable) than the plains of Altcar, and I should not be at all surprised to find that Mr Allison has got a bargain in Mr Spinks's cast-off. Michael, as well as Mr Mould's other dogs, are out of form, but, considering the many times they have been sent to slips during the present season, the Doctor's team have done wonders. Boy of the Trent struck me as being a very useful, good-looking puppy; he has only seen six hares, and is still young (19 months); and from what I saw of his running here, leading and beating, as I thought, Jolly Surprise, I feel certain he will turn out a good greyhound. Momus was another in the same round who went fast, and, I thought, might have received the flat with Activity, but the cap came off. Surprise was put out in an unlucky trial. The Tweeddale Stakes fell to Dr Hitchman's Howard, who, from the fast and clever style in which he ran each of his courses, must have surprised even his owner. It is related of this dog that, when in possession of Lord Gifford, he ran hares all the year round; nevertheless, he ran here as true as a puppy. Willie Wylie, who ran up to him, appears to have a good turn of speed. I have now said all that is necessary about the dogs running at the meeting.

At the conclusion of the coursing, Sir Robert Peel made a speech, in which he thanked the spectators, on behalf of himself and Lady Emily, for the excellent order which had been maintained throughout the meeting; and he also thanked Mr T. Green and the stewards for their conduct of the meeting. The judge, the slipper, and the secretary were also complimented on the manner in which they had performed their duties; and on calling up the trainer of the winner of the Drayton Manor Stakes to receive the prize, Sir Robert expressed his regret that Mr Clarke was not there in person to accept it from his hands. In the course of the speech, which was loudly cheered, Sir Robert expressed his intention of removing some more fences to improve the running ground, and said that he should be glad of any suggestions which would tend to improve the coursing over his estate. Before concluding, mention ought not to be forgotten of the well-laden luncheon cart that was each day brought upon the ground from Drayton Manor, and from which the creature comforts were dispensed both far and wide with no sparing hand.

At six o'clock on Wednesday evening the acting secretary commenced operations by taking the entries for the different stakes, and about half-past seven concluded, when it was found that thirty had been entered for the Longhirst Cup, thirty-eight for the Tenants' Cup, and sixteen for the Bothal Cup—a very excellent entry, taking into account the season of the year, and that it is confined to members. After the entry an adjournment was made to a large hall, where the draw was at once proceeded with and got correctly through. The card was also read over, and, contrary to what is usual at meetings in this district, produced little betting. What was done indicated that Igo, Numa, Elzevir, Elsie Swift, Bit o' Blue, and Land Agent were favourites for their courses as well as the stakes. El Re, Allegro, Timothy, Elvet, Windlass, Weary Weed, Working Woman, and Moorcock were also best favourites for their courses as well as for the long shot in the Tenants' Cup. The Bothal Cup was not mentioned, as it is intended not to touch it till Friday.

THURSDAY.—The meet this morning was Quarry Bank at 9, and at half-past the first brace of dogs were put into the slips on the farm of Peggy-wood, tenanted by Mr Sharpe, over which and Butterwell (in the possession of Mr Jobling) we coursed during the day. The weather was fine, but a little too blowy, which caused the hares, who are a good deal on the move just now, to sit lightly, and, not being over numerous, our proceedings were not so rapid as anticipated, and we only got 27 decided courses run; besides two no goes, before it was considered advisable to give over, as if but two or three courses more had been got, it would have put the lowermost dogs on a great inequality with their opponents. The trials, with a few exceptions, were extremely good, and the best dog had a good chance to win.

Longhirst Cup.—Ellyl, after leaving slips, got best placed, but Cruel Fate went up outside, wrenched, and then brought puss round to the white, who wrenched and led through a fence; Cruel Fate then in a stretch gave a go-by, led out of sight, and won. Cutty Sark lost the run up, and, except making the third turn, hadn't a point in a good trial, which Igo finished with the death. Numa completely outpaced his sister Ellinor, as he led her five or six lengths, and, with the exception of a few short points, had the whole of a long trial. War had inside position, but Not Guilty nevertheless reached puss first by three lengths, and won a long course all the way. Speck, on the inner circle, was a couple of lengths first to the hare, and, being much sharper than El Samsamah, completely outworked him in a moderate length of course. Elzevir was unsighted after being slipped, and "The Coquetdale Ranger," being at hand, very quickly picked him up, but Polly Graham had a single-handed course of moderate length to herself. When slipped a second time they had just changed ground, and, beyond seeing Elzevir lead out of slips, I saw nothing; but from the pace "The Ranger" was following up, it was evident Elzevir was winning well, which proved to be the case, as I learned that all through a long trial he was always the faster and better. Puddler was of no manner of use to Barrister, in rather a long course. Steam Engine was equally bad as his brother, as Harlequin led him four or five lengths, and won an average length of course without letting him make a point. Lawgiver laid down the law in showing the Abyssinian how to do it, and then let him practise, as, except the first point, El Shoho had all the rest of a long and working course. Elsie Swift had the foot of Bella Thompson by three or four lengths, turned, wrenched, and killed a poor hare. Hatchment was a couple of lengths faster than Bit o' Blue, made three turns, the last one wide, and although she continued to dash as she turned, the white and blue could not manage to make up her leeway in a pretty long trial. Lazzaroni, on the outer circle, went around Annie Lyle for first turn, and, in the longest course of the day as yet, beat her most thoroughly till just the end, when she made a few points. Tom King, in a very capital trial, was of no use to Bill Sykes, as William was faster, a better worker, and better lasser than the long-pedigreed Thomas. Worcester Sauce and Stolen Kisses were unsighted after being slipped, but got together afterwards, when the former won a short trial near a covert side. Land Agent outpaced Templar by five lengths, turned, served himself, and rolled over with puss in his mouth, but didn't hold; Templar, however, immediately picked it up.

Tenants' Cup.—Whalebone, on the outer circle, led Siberia, and made first three turns, but in striking at his hare fell, which let the white collar make a point or two till he regained his legs; when he did he got thrown out at a fence, but the other could not score sufficient to balance or make up her lost ground. El Re showed pace from slips, and, the hare going clean from him, he had to run round Lizzie Brown for first turn, and in the course, which was a pretty long one, he had it all his own way. In a very awkward slip Neat Knave had the beginning, Robin Hood the finish, of a pretty stiff undecided trial. Next slip Robin led, and had first three turns, and Neat Knave, when he got placed, made a point or two and fell, which gave the white collar a farther advantage, and he won well. Allegro was a little faster than Royal Artillery, but in the trial the latter outworked and beat the black. Gosforth Maid got best out of slips, and, being faster than Sir Charles, led him a good way, and also being superior to him in every respect, vanquished him with great ease. Scotch Express, a little faster on the inner circle, brought puss round, and led through a fence, but before it could reach covert Timothy gave a go-by and wrenched: no go. Next slip Express again showed pace, and made first turn by a couple of lengths, when Timothy made the second, wide, and Express led into covert and won. Annitsford lost the run up, Percy leading and making first turn, and the former scoring the next two; Percy, however, regained possession, turned twice, and led to covert. Butcher Lass was also faster than Black Sea, and, in a short trial to covert, beat him rather cleverly. After Willow and Elvet were slipped the hare whipped round, and endeavoured to regain the fallow field she had been driven from, which gave Willow a great advantage, and, being faster than Elvet and quite as clever, he outworked and beat her in a short trial, finishing with a kill. Miss Gibson, having three or four lengths more pace than Wansbeck, made first turn, placing the latter, who scored next; Miss G. afterwards wrenched several times to covert. Windlass was a little faster than Modest Meg, and, being particularly clever, kept the hare to herself till she made a mistake at a gate, which Meg led through, and the course ended shortly after. One of the Lot served Right Out in a similar manner, with the exception that she did not make a mistake as long as in view. After a consultation it was considered advisable to give over for the day.

After the coursing was over, some eighty gentlemen sat down to a very excellent dinner at the Queen's Head, presided over by Major Ellis. On the table were a great many cups won at past meetings, and to be won at this. Conspicuous amongst them was a chaste and elegant one of large size, from the combined winnings of Elsecar; and from this poured an unlimited supply of champagne, and in which the lord of the manor's health was toasted with all the honours.

FRIDAY.—Met at the cooper's shop, Ashington, at nine, and very punctually at the hour the dogs were put into the slips to finish the first round of the Tenants' Cup, which was not run out the previous evening. The day was again windy and cold, unfavourable for finding hares, and for them laying, but good for the dogs running. We coursed over the farms of Coneygarth and Newmoor, where hares were not at all plentiful, and our proceedings were slow in consequence. Commenced with the remanant of the Tenants' Cup.—Weary Weed showed pace, but the hare bending from her, Tanner led through the hedge into a road; a long course ensued, in which Tanner was the cleverer, and won an unsatisfactory trial. Charity had a length or two more pace than El Senor, and made first and second turns, the latter wide, which let El Senor get placed, and he won a long trial afterwards very well. Working Woman drew out from Blair Athol four or five lengths, and, acting up to her name, she, in a very merrily run course, decidedly settled Athol's pretensions. Peggy Taft slightly showed the pace over Lisdale, and, getting the first run at a fence, landed ahead, which gave her possession, and, being a little faster and equally clever, she won a long course easily, the hare bending round into the field from which she was driven. Serenity and Bella got badly laid on, and they ran a no-go in consequence. Next slip Bella led on the inner circle, and the hare hesitating, Bella got best placed, and puss going through a hedge had the best of it afterwards. Moorcock and Willie also ran a no-go, in which the former led by a bare length, shifted the hare to the black, who killed. When let go a second time Willie led for some time, but was passed by Moorcock, who led through a fence and had nearly the whole of a very long course. Dean Swift was very superior in pace to Queen of the Meadow, and, going in his old style, won an average length of course as he liked.—First Ties: Whalebone led, El Re made first two turns, El the third, but the superior pace and working of the red collar carried him through a good winner. Robin Hood being a little unsighted after leaving slips, Royal Artillery got away with a good lead, and made a point or two, but immediately Robin got rightly sighted, he won very easily. Gosforth Maid led Scotch Express, and beat her anyhow in a short trial. Having to leave the field, I did not see the few courses that remained to be decided.

Longhirst Cup.—First Ties: Igo, on the outer circle, led Cruel Fate by three lengths, and made first turn, Fate scoring the second, and Igo the third, when puss escaped. Numa was several lengths faster than Not Guilty, and made first turn; a scrambling trial in the corner of the field afterwards took place, in which Numa had the best of it. Elzevir outpaced Speck five lengths, and made the first four turns before Speck thought proper to try; the hare breaking back to a whin fence, she began, and was very merry, but did not make up her lost points. Barrister, much favoured, led on the inside, turned three times, and placed Harlequin, who turned twice and killed : a very near shave. Hatchment was some three lengths first to the hare, turned twice, and El Shoho killed. Lazzaroni and Elsie Swift ran two no-goes, the first long and the other short. In their third trial the former led rather on the inside, made three turns; Elsie then wrenched twice and turned, when puss escaped. All that was seen of the trial betwixt Worcester Sauce and Bill Sykes was a strong lead made by Sauce, who got the decision. Land Agent ran a very long bye.

SATURDAY.—With the intention of running out the stakes to-day, an early hour was appointed for the meet, and at half-past eight the village of Hebron was astir with coursers; and a little before nine the first brace of dogs were placed in the slips for the Bothal Cup. Although the weather was more favourable than on either of the two previous days, the hares were scarcer, which necessitated us to get on very slowly; and it was found, after once running down the card, that a postponement to Monday would be necessary. This was very annoying to Major Ellis and the officials, who spare no pains in having everything done as it ought to be; and, in securing the services of Mr Moor as secretary, and Mr Landers as manager, Major Ellis has shown the greatest discrimination, as two gentlemen more thoroughly up to their business could not be found. Mr Hay rode and judged remarkably well.

Bothal Cup.—Tak' Tent had the 'pace of Linchpin by fully a couple of lengths, wrenched, and turned rather wide; Linchpin then turned, after which Tak' Tent turned twice and killed. In a no go Hard Times led, but made a mistake; Romulus, in the meantime passing, brought puss round, when Hard Times killed. Next slip Romulus led several lengths, turned twice, and blundered; Hard Times then turned and led through a fence, where puss was lost. Rob the Robber led into a hollow, from which he emerged with a good lead, turned puss over, and Glorious Jack lifted her. Elspeth (with 2 to 1 agst her) led Marchioness a couple of lengths, turned three times, placing the latter, who led through a hedge, but was very soon dispossessed and well beaten by the non-favourite, Elspeth. El Sondan had to run round Jess for first turn, which he made, as well as four or five others, but the hare being a clinker he gave way, and was outlasted and beaten. Warlock, although lame and not up to the mark, was a bit faster than My Nelly, and made a good few early points; but condition failed him, and he had to succumb to Nelly's staying and working powers. With the advantage of inside ground, Walnut got first to the hare and made the turn, came cleverly round with it, and made the next two turns, placing Marquis, who turned, led through a fence, and, in a steeplechase sort of a trial, won; the latter part out of my view. Swiftsure had the pace of Mindrim, but in a trial which was also partly out of view, and in which there was a good deal of fencing, the latter got the flat in his favour, but how I was not so well placed as the judge to see.

Longhirst Cup.—Second Ties: Numa was a length or two faster than Igo, and made first turn; but, in not a very long trial, managed to balance matters by his close working, which caused the hat to come off. In their second slip Numa again led and made first turn; but was afterwards out-worked and beaten by Igo. Barrister had the pace of Elzevir by a couple of lengths, and cleverly picked up his hare. Hatchment and Lazzaroni ran a no-go, in which neither of them got on to terms with the hare. In their second slip Hatchment led the tired Lazzaroni two or three lengths, wrenched a time or two, and picked puss up. Land Agent, who did not seem any the better for his very long bye yesterday, was easily defeated by Worcester Sauce, who beat him for pace as well as working.

Tenants' Cup.—Second Ties: Whalebone led Robin a very little to a thick fence, where they got unsighted: no course. Next time the former was too good for Robin, both in pace and working, throughout an average length of course. Having to leave the ground to catch the train, I did not see the other trials that took place this afternoon.

NORTH BARROW.

[Our correspondent "North Briton" not being able to be present on Monday, an accomplished amateur has kindly supplied the following account of the conclusion of the meeting.]

Bothal Cup.—First Tie: On a fine level grass field, in a long and bad slip, Tak' Tent and Romulus ran about the same pace, but the crowd turning the hare, Romulus got first turn; afterwards, in a long and distressing course, Tak' Tent, running with great fire and cleverness, beat his opponent: they both were run to a standstill. Rob the Robber and Elspeth were slipped on wheat; the former, throughout a merrily run course, had always the foot of Elspeth, the latter killing. A hare was found on the same wheat field for My Nelly and Jess; the latter led, and put the hare round to My Nelly; a very close contest ensued, and Jess failing in a good attempt at the hare, My Nelly got best placed, and won the course out of the fire by a good kill. After a change of beat to the east of Longhirst station, a hare was found for Marquis and Mindrim, after a long search; Marquis had it all his own way, the rough one evidently content with the wisdom he displayed on Saturday, in stopping immediately the judge had given the decision in his favour.—Second Tie: Tak' Tent was leading, when the hare whipped round to a gateway; but the red collar cleverly kept his position, and made two turns, putting in Rob the Robber; the hare, however, was shifted by the crowd to Tak' Tent again, who pressed her strongly, and drove her through the crowd; she took the fence, and Tak' Tent hanging a little, Rob the Robber got a good lead, turned twice, and killed at the fence: undecided. This was perhaps the only course where the spectators differed from the judge. I learned afterwards that, from his position, he thought Rob the Robber got the first turn. In running it off, the hare whipped right back to covert, and it seemed to me Rob only swerved her once, and Tak' Tent gained rapidly on him, but the hare escaped to covert: a short and unsatisfactory trial. Marquis and My Nelly had a long slip, in which the hare made straight away, Marquis leading; at the back of the fence he turned the hare, and they both went through together; nothing more was seen by us till the hare came back through the same fence, and was killed.—Deciding Course: Marquis beat Rob the Robber easily, leading several lengths, and having it all his own way, Rob seeming to run stale.

Longhirst Cup.—Third Tie: After an undecided, Barrister led Igo several lengths, but, in a slovenly run course on both sides, the former was beaten, seeming to lose all heart. Hatchment showed the pace all through, and Worcester Sauce the cleverness; the hare, running short, and turning twice or thrice of her own accord to reach home, made some people think the fawn had won: with excellent judgment, Mr Hay gave it an undecided. In running it off Hatchment again was fastest, and, though she ran as wild as in all her previous courses, the fawn could never shew her cleverness with a fast hare.—Deciding Course: Hatchment was much faster than Igo, never allowed a doubt of the result, and at last, steadying down to a fast hare, worked puss beautifully, and finished with a capital kill.

Tenants' Cup.—Third Tie: Gosforth Maid and Whalebone had a short undecided, after which, in a prettily run course, Gosforth Maid showed the pace, and, though Whalebone did his best, the Maid left off with a fair balance of points. Dean Swift beat Willow easily, running as cleverly and truly as in his puppyhood. Peggy Taft ran a bye with Hard Times, and the judge, riding the course, took his cap off.—Fourth Tie: Dean Swift, after a good struggle with Peggy Taft, took first turn, and had much the best of the course. Gosforth Maid, running her bye with El Re, was let go when the hare was 150 yards off, El Re having got his head out of slips. After a long race they reached the hare at the bottom of the field, and quickly lost sight of her in the fence.—Deciding Course: Dean Swift had the lead and everything in a very clever course, the hare being killed in the crowd.

REMARKS.—After three stormy days, during which the hares which had not sought the shelter of the coverts were very wild, and consequently the progress made was slow, the meeting was brought to a successful issue on Monday. We were favoured with a fine day for the finish, and again, in the morning, the progress was tedious, and the scarcity of hares in the open threatened a fifth day. However, at midday a move was made to a whiny covert close to Longhirst station, whence the requisite number of hares afforded good trials as fast as the dogs were ready. During the meeting the excellence of the sport compensated for the rarity of the hares, very few weak ones affording the inevitable disappointment to the loser. The dogs engaged were of a fair class on the whole, considering the youth of the club. Dr. Richardson's two were probably the best in their respective stakes, 'Tak' Tent running with great fire and cleverness, though not a flier. Hatchment led everything; but, going wild, often put her chance in jeopardy. It was not till the deciding course that she showed how she could steady herself. Marquis was lucky all through—in the first round having a scrambling course, and stopping at some rails, but the judge not being able to get up in time to see Walnut show her quality. He then met Mindrim and Rob the Robber, neither having any pretensions. 'Tak' Tent, after being run to a standstill, had his old Waterloo luck in having his course given undecided, when in our opinion he had clearly won, which luck was followed up by his being put out in no sort of trial. Igo was lucky in meeting two such faint-hearted brutes as Numa and Barrister. Lazzaroni was most unfortunate throughout; he was run to a standstill the first day; the second and third days he had two no-goes each with Elsie, Swift, and Hatchment, yet he ran with unflinching gameness, and showed himself a worthy grandson of Clansman and Lady Mary. In the Tenants' Cup, Whalebone and the two sisters, Gosforth Maid and Peggy Taft, were very clever when there, but not in the same class with that son of Ewesdale, Dean Swift, who surprised everyone by his pace and honesty. In the list of casualties Moorcock broke his shoulder when looking well for the stake, and Peggy Taft and Warlock both were bitten severely by other dogs, and had their chance put out. The riding and judging of Mr Hay were the theme of general admiration. The slipper did well at first, but fell off at the finish, being perhaps too anxious to use as many hares as possible. Considering the want of sport, the behaviour of the crowd was admirable; but the suavity and energy of the worthy secretary would command success under more adverse circumstances, while the willing labour of all the club officials during four fagging days afforded an earnest of their anxiety to afford sport which was highly appreciated. There was general satisfaction that the cups should fall, one to Mr Sample, the agent, who has always tried to facilitate the sport, and another to a good old courser, Dr Richardson, who has taken much interest in the progress of the club.

THE South Lancashire meetings have long been famous with the lovers of the leash, and Mr E. W. Stocker, encouraged by the success of his previous efforts, was determined to issue a programme for his patrons second to none in the country. The circulars were no sooner issued than the applications for nominations poured in so fast that the Cup, as was announced in these columns, received its full complement of 128 members several weeks ago. With the exception of the monster meeting run for in the neighbourhood of Southport in 1838 (174 runners), when Mr Read's Sultan won the Cup, there has been nothing approaching to the present great gathering in the North of England, although in the South, in the spring of 1862, 150 started for the Ladies' Challenge Cup at Ashdown Park, won by Mr S. Smith's Swallow. The entry for the Scarisbrick Cup embodied so many cracks, that the running promised to be full of interest; and such was the demand for nominations on Monday afternoon, that we heard of £2 premium being given to get a dog entered. Among the celebrities in the Cup were Cock Robin, Bab at the Bowster, Meteor (late Comet), Lobelia, Sea Rocket (late Master Ivo), Crossfell, Jolly Green, Shadow, Royal Seal, Strange Idea, Lion's Share, Lisette, Michael, Charming May, Right Idea, Bethell, Gownsmen, Thalberg, Justitia, Joan of Arc, Jolly Lark, Hawk, &c. Besides the above there was a whole host of good public runners; and, as if to give additional interest to the meeting, there was a lot of dark candidates, several of which were reported good enough to win.

On Monday evening a party of 120 dined at the Scarisbrick Hotel, Mr J. Cunningham presiding, Mr C. R. Saunders occupying the vice-chair. These gentlemen were supported right and left by Messrs B. H. Jones, W. G. Borron, C. E. Marfleet, G. W. Mould, J. Spinks, S. C. Lister, T. T. C. Lister, Hornby, E. Kaye, E. Booth, Bateman, Dunlop, Carruthers, J. R. Thompson, Dawson, Carruthers, Clarke, J. J. Thompson, Capt. H. Smith, Capt. W. O. Walker, Capt. Gandy, Major Cunliffe, Messrs W. Gordon, C. W. Wilson, Partridge, M. Thompson, J. Fisher, W. Eltringham, D. Bateman, Twigg, Evans, Knowles, Hyslop, Stenhouse, Foulkes, Staples, J. Johnston, &c. Mr Stocker had a very good arrangement with the dinner tickets, as, in order to keep the room select, no one was admitted without one; but anyone coming late had the chance of taking a ticket which did for the next evening's dinner. This plan gave general satisfaction, as it prevented the apartment being crowded by people whose room was preferable to their company. As soon as the dinner was over and the usual loyal toasts had been drunk, the chairman announced that Mr Stocker was in readiness to proceed with the draw; and, under the able management of this gentleman, it is almost needless to say this portion of the business was quickly and carefully got through. The list was then read over; but betting was far from being brisk, Shrewsbury races having more attractions for many, and had not a gentleman amateur started a book, there would have been no betting at the long odds. The following will be found a correct return of the business done, most money being laid out on the courses between Charming May and Crown Imperial, Lisette and Kalista, and Rambling Hoppicker and Knight Errant.

TUESDAY.—Soon after leaving Southport there were strong indications of a change in the weather, and, by the time Jane Taylor's was reached rain had commenced falling. The meet, for the first time since the establishment of the South Lancashire meetings, was (by the kind permission of Lord Lilford) at Mere Brow, and the first brace for the Great Scarisbrick Cup were slipped on that nobleman's estate at 9.30. The early part of the morning was anything but pleasant, owing to the wet, but towards noon the rain fortunately cleared off, and the afternoon was beautifully fine. The ground coursed over was principally plough, and, owing to the uneven surface, and the fallows being also very holding, the running was anything but good; the hares, however, ran strong and well. The favourites went down in a manner that inflicted great dismay on their backers, who could only solace themselves by laying it to the badness of the ground. The extent of walking gone through during the day was a caution, and nine hours on foot, across fallows, made everyone glad when Mr Warwick came down from his ladder, and said he could see to judge no longer. We commenced on the Tarleton Estate, and worked round by Hesketh Bank to Banks, where the last brace were slipped. Owing to some mistake on the part of the cabmen, who had their conveyances at the wrong place, our return to Southport was not accomplished until nearly half-past seven.

Champion Cup.—Candidate, to a fast hare, had a shade more pace than Little Monkey, and made first turn, when the latter, getting well placed, scored five clever points in succession, and led into covert; the winner ran this course very well, the holding ground appearing to suit her. Crown Imperial, in a straight slip, was two lengths the faster for first turn, and served Charming May, who then scored, but lost her place immediately, and Mr Cunningham's dog went on with a good lead, and killed as puss came round. Deansgate and Camellia had a long undecided, in which I thought the former won. Next time a clinking hare got up, and after the pair had run a long distance Deansgate raced past his opponent for first turn; this was the only point he scored, as Camellia afterwards took the hare to herself, and maintained possession to covert. Croton Oil, on the inside, had a shade the best of the run up, but afterwards, in a smartly-run course, he was outworked by Hearty Fellow, who won cleverly, but with nothing to spare. Michael, going a good pace, was four lengths faster than Lizzie Lindsay, and, coming smartly round, received no assistance from his opponent, who at the finish shot across and killed. Another good hare got up for Dalby and White Fawn; the former led two lengths, turned, and, went wide, when they scored alternately to the drain; this the white got best over, and then put in some good work on landing; some mutual exchanges followed, and the course ended by White Fawn shooting past and killing, but without affecting a just decision for Dalby. Lisette showed the pace, until puss went right from her to Kalista, who got well placed, and kept selfish possession until she killed; this course was a sore blow to the backers of the favourite, who lost their money through sheer bad luck. Carbineer went off a cracker from slips, and had the hare to himself until he fell, when White Rose got in, and equalised the points: undecided. Next time White Rose passed her opponent (who stumbled at the drain), and, leading to covert, won: a bad trial for Carbineer. Mimas, going in good style, had the foot of Melrose for first turn, and, keeping his place at the drain, ran up a succession of points until nearing covert, where he suffered a go-by; Melrose then had the best of a couple of exchanges, but the early points scored by the black pulled him through an easy winner. Perseverance came on with a slight lead from Bannockburn, and scored the first and third turns; after an exchange the latter got well placed, and put in five smart wrenches in succession ; each then took a point, and, the hare making for covert, Bannockburn had the best of some short work until puss escaped. Fasteranza and Sea Water were in slips a long time before puss was started, and, when they were let go, the early part of the course was run behind some potato heaps ; what I saw of the spin was at the close, when Sea Water got in for a couple of wrenches and the kill ; the flat was in favour of Fasteranza, who, I suppose, had won the beginning of the trial. Blowing Engine got best from slips, and, reaching his hare a couple of lengths from Ramble, turned ; after an exchange Ramble took the lead, and, scoring a succession of points, killed and won. Safrano was showing the pace in the run up, when she unfortunately fell, and Go it Spy, taking the furrow, reached her hare a long way in advance, kept her place, scored several strong points, and killed. A rare hare was started for Knight Errant and Rambling Hoppicker, and for a long time the course (a very long one) hung in the balance ; but Knight Errant eventually pulled through a clever winner. In a runaway course Lion's Share took a strong lead from Genuine Article, and made an average trial all one way to covert. Strange Idea had the foot of Mariner in the lead up, and, keeping his place at the drain, won two-thirds of a trial of moderate length. Royal Seal was four lengths faster than Bulrush, and, retaining her lead at the ditch, kept selfish possession until she killed : this course was cleverly run by Mr Clarke's bitch. Randolph immediately showed in front from slips, but after running fifty yards he fell ; this mishap left Whiff with a commanding lead, of which she availed herself, and ran up a long score before she relinquished possession ; at the finish Randolph was doing some good work, when they went out of my sight, and the flat was given in favour of Whiff. The course between Clitheroe Lassie and Sam I saw only at intervals, and then Sam was having the best of it, but the flat was in favour of Mr Cunningham's bitch. After waiting a long time for Cavendish and Running Water, the pair were started ; the latter immediately showed in front, and, increasing the distance at every stride, led round some potato heaps and received the flat. Dark Patent, to the horror of the backers of the favourite, was seen drawing away on some rough fallow from Lobelia, and, keeping his place at the turn, he led down the plough, where he stumbled, but cleverly recovering himself, he again scored ; as the black was going away, Lobelia got her head a shade in front, but only for an instant, as Dark Patent immediately shot out, and, increasing his lead to two or three lengths, put out whatever chance the favourite might have had by racing into his hare. Rob Roy had the run up and kill from Dan M'Cann, who equalised the points by some good work in the middle of the course : undecided. Next time Rob Roy passed Dan M'Cann in the run up, and, handling his hare very cleverly, drove her for a succession of fine points until he killed : a smart performance of the winner. I saw nothing of the course between Luxemburg and Ventre à Terre, owing to the crowd being between me and the dogs. Bonnington took a commanding lead from Alice, but, losing his place as puss doubled round a potato heap, he never could regain his position, and Mr Mould's clever bitch beat him handsomely. In a very good race Brutus showed a length and a half in front of Hawk, and, coming round with his hare, was leading down the headland, when he suffered a go-by, and the Irish dog, going on, turned ; keeping his position, Hawk wrenched smartly twice, and then killed : a clever performance of the winner's. Euphrates and Rackety Hoppicker the Last ran a closely contested working course ; the latter at the commencement showed the pace, but fell into a drain, and a long trial ended in favour of Mr Evans's dog. Wonder and Goblin were slipped across some wheat, and the hare continually going from Mr Knowles's representative, he was very cleverly beaten in a rattling trial, Wonder killing. Treason Felony and Shadow ran a merry and well contested trial, the latter's cleverness pulling her through a meritorious winner. Ask Mamma showed in advance to the drain, where she was passed by Right Idea, who led down the furrow, turned, then came smartly round, and led back over the ditch ; still going on, the black turned, kept his place, wrenched, and drove up his hare : a clever performance of the winner's.

Wauchope and Jolly Green were no sooner slipped than they unfortunately divided after two hares. Next time, after running head and head for a few strides, Jolly Green drew out and picked up his hare. Florida and Cock Robin were slipped on plough; but as soon as the pair reached some good sound going across wheat, Mr Lister's dog raced away several lengths for first turn, and, keeping well to the scout, he made the course nearly all one way, and finished with a good kill. Three to one was laid on this course; but Cock Robin never caused his backers the slightest uneasiness. Nicholson's Gin and Blue Line had an undecided, owing to the former losing sight in the run up. A clinking hare got up for their next spin, and Blue Line, going the fastest as well as the cleverest, won two-thirds of a long distressing trial. Prodigious and Simon Hayes alternately showed in front until crossing the second drain, when the latter drew away, turned, and led from view, winning, I understand, cleverly. Crossfall, in a very pretty stretch on wheat, drew out two lengths from Red Rover, and scored first and second turns; they then exchanged points for some distance, until the latter ran out; then Crossfall took the hare to himself, and had won handsomely, as the course ended at the ditch, Rosetta and Hasty Jane ran a short and merry no-go, in which the former led up and turned; but going wide, her opponent got in and scored several times, until Rosetta shot by and killed. Next time Rosetta again showed the pace, brought her hare round, and, having the best of the work that followed, won very cleverly. Ringbuck and Theodore ran a working course (which the crowd prevented my seeing), and eventually the cap came off. In their final spin Theodore raced up three lengths from his opponent, and, keeping his place at the edge of the drain, scored nearly every point of merit throughout a beautifully run course. Another undecided followed between Marchioness and Rocket, in which the latter led over the drain, but puss was lost at the wood. In their final tussle Marchioness drew out for first turn, and, racing past her big opponent for the next, won a smartly run trial all one way, finishing up with a brilliant kill. Clanronald showed in advance to a drain, where he was thrown out by the hare going off to the right; Neat Jenny thereby got well placed, scored several strong points, and killed: an unlucky trial for the loser. A clinking hare got up for Spendthrift and Sing along Banjo, the latter for a time having the best of it; but Spendthrift eventually secured the award through being the closer worker. Billy, going in good style, was several lengths faster than No. 5, and for some time kept clever command of his hare; in going down the fallow the black shouldered out her opponent, and scored point after point until she killed, winning as I thought. Mr Warwick, however, was placed a long way back, and could not see the course so well as those who stood on the road. Duncan had some advantage for first turn, May Flower the next; the hare then broke for some seeds, and Duncan, racing up well in front on the inside, flew the drain and nailed puss at the gateway. Cashier had the foot of Howard, and for some distance looked as if he was going to win easily, but Dr Hitchman's dog, sticking close to his opponent, took advantage of the first opening, and, handling his hare with all his accustomed cleverness, put in four strong wrenches in succession, serving his opponent, then immediately took the hare from him, wrenched several times in succession, and ended a clever winner by making a fine kill. The course between Regent and Elliptic I was too far off to offer any opinion about. Gownsmen showed the pace in the run up, when the hare went from him, and from this point the Newmarket dog appeared unable to act over the rough ground, and Bethell beat him well. Champion soon showed in front of Morning Dew, and, although he had the command of pace, he dwelt so at the drains that it lost him the course. Delight and Just Right I saw nothing of, but I understand that a short course was cleverly won by Mr Jones's dog. Jolly Lark ran round Alluring, who in a short course never had a chance; the former ran as fast and cleverly as any greyhound during the day, and finished a short spin with a rattling kill. An undecided between Trade Wind and Contractor finished the day's sport, as darkness prevented Mr Warwick distinguishing the colour of his dogs.

There was again a large attendance at dinner, upwards of sixty gentlemen sitting down under the presidency of Mr C. E. Marfleet. On the list being read over the following betting took place:

The most money was laid out on the course between Dark Patent and Rob Roy.

WEDNESDAY.—The morning was wet and stormy as we drove to Jane Taylor's, the place of meet. We commenced on Lord Lilford's estate, where hares were plentiful, and, being of the right sort, a dozen good trials over fair ground were soon run off. The land afterwards coursed over until luncheon time was very indifferent, large pieces of broken-up fallows being continually run over. The first round of the Cup saw the defeat of Royal Seal (with 3 to 1 on her) through bad luck; and in the first ties Jolly Lark, a warm favourite, was beaten by Contractor, the land run over being half covered with water, and so soft that the slipper got bogged. The trials, on the whole, were, generally speaking, of good length, but the least said the better as to the state of some of the land the greyhounds were slipped over. Commenced at 9.30 sharp, with the courses left over from yesterday in the Champion Cup.—The first brace were Trade Wind and Contractor, who had a no-go last night; but an arrangement having been come to, the former was drawn. A good hare got up for Thalberg and Camilla, to which the former soon showed in front, and, bringing puss round, he scored thrice; the fawn then took a couple, after which a long course followed, ending at the ditch, and Thalberg, outpacing his opponent all through, won most decisively. Rob Roy, over the same heavy plough, raced away several lengths from Lucy, maintained his place at the turn, and, driving puss down the headland, ended the course with a rattling kill. Barometer raced up four lengths in front of Witch of Endor for first turn, and throughout a long pumping trial, which extended across the road, won two-thirds of a well-run course. Joan of Arc came on in advance of Bedlamite, cleared the drain in advance, led over the road, and, catching puss in mid-air, fell headlong with her into the ditch. Sea Rocket, after running neck and neck with Water Witch for a hundred yards, drew clear of his opponent, and, increasing his lead to half a dozen lengths at the drain, turned, kept his place when in, and killed. Campbell had the foot of Tormentor, and looked like winning until he made a mistake at the drain, when the latter, getting well placed, soon put a score to her credit, and won. A long undecided took place between Dark Regan and Bridesake, caused principally by the latter being unsighted in the run up. In their final trial Bridesmaid showed in front for a considerable distance, but pulled up suddenly, and the dark 'un then raced past, and kept possession to covert. On Mr Borron's bitch being taken up she was found to have ripped open her side, and had to be destroyed.

Fluke, with a trimming hare, showed the pace to the drain, which Architect got best over, and, racing up, made first turn; a long working trial followed, but, owing to the haze that hung over the ground, as well as the similarity of colours, I could make nothing of the course, which was decided in favour of Architect. Meteor strided away half a dozen lengths in front of Juggler, and, reaching his hare, kept well with her for a long time; at last puss, being unable to make covert, broke back, and Juggler, getting well placed, began scoring very fast, but in crossing some seeds Meteor made a rattling go-by, and, afterwards having the best of the exchanges, left off a very meritorious winner. This course was a severe test of Meteor's game-ness, but he proved quite equal to the occasion. Black Douglas showed in front to the road, and, increasing his lead to a dozen lengths in the next field, made a long course all one way, Rosetta hardly ever being in. The winner appeared to me to go very fast. Blaize showed in front for a few strides, when Lord Nelson passed him, and the former falling, the course was afterwards nearly all one way, Lord Nelson driving his hare to covert. Justitia and Mosstrooper had not proceeded far before they both fell heavily; on regaining their feet some exchanges took place to a garden, where Mosstrooper put in three or four smart points in succession, but on reaching the headland Justitia scored a fine go-by, which point secured her the flat, when the course ended. Yellow Boy came on with a good lead from Bandmaster, kept his place at the turn, and led through a post-and-rail fence; he then maintained the command through some rough grass, and the course, as far as I could see, was all in favour of Yellow Boy. Bella and Trifle ran their course across some fallow, but a knoll prevented my seeing, and Bella, wholed from view, won. Babatthe Bowster, in a fair stretch, had the inner circle, but on nearing the hare Get Along crossed in behind her opponent, and then, putting on a fine spurt, gained first turn; a close and well contested course followed, both bitches showing great cleverness, until at last Babatthe Bowster nalled puss at the turn and received the award; a desperately near thing. Odd Trick went away in advance of Joseph (lame), and won an average trial all one way.—First Ties: A rattling hare got up for Little Monkey and Crown Imperial, and after the pair had run together for about a hundred yards, Mr Cunningham's dog drew out, and, leading across the ditch, was soon a dozen lengths ahead; a long trial followed, in which Little Monkey appeared unable to act on the fallow, and was beaten pointless. This was turning the tables with a vengeance, as it was only the week before last, at Tamworth, that Little Monkey (on grass) led and beat Mr Cunningham's dog. Camellia and Hearty Fellow ran an undecided out of my sight. Their next slip was across some fearful ground, and Hearty Fellow led for some time, when Camellia passed him, but before she reached her hare Mr Hudson's dog again took the lead, wrenched strongly thrice, and killed. The beat was now changed on to a large field of plough, with seams wide enough to break a dog's leg, and over this Michael and Dalby were slipped; the latter, a big-striding dog, drew out a couple of lengths, and, coming round with his hare, killed: an unfortunate trial for Mr Mould's dog. White Rose being drawn, Kalista ran a bye over the hill out of sight. Mimas, to a good hare, had too much pace for Bannockburn, and the heavy going suiting the Cumberland dog, he won pretty well all one way. Ramble drew out three lengths, and, keeping her place at the turn, made a short course with Fasteranza all one way, finishing up with a good kill. Go it Spy and Knight Errant ran an undecided of moderate length. Next time Go it Spy drew out four lengths, and in a long pumping trial hardly received any assistance from Mr Kaye's dog. Lion's Share being drawn, Strange Idea ran his bye in grand style with Hearty Lass, who was never in the hunt. Royal Seal (with 3 to 1 on her) led for some time, but stumbled, and Whiff then shot past, drove puss strongly for three strong wrenches, and bringing puss round, Royal Seal shot out and killed. This course was run over some rough fallow—no wonder that a dog should stumble on such ground. Running Water, in a long lead up, drew out a couple of lengths from Clitheroe Lassie, and, dusting puss about several times, wound up with a good kill. Bob Roy, in a fair stretch, raced away several lengths from Dark Patent, and coming smartly round at the turn ended the course with a fine kill. Ventre à Terre went up four lengths in front of Alice, turned, and scored four, when he fell heavily, and Alice getting well placed rubbed off the points and just won, the fawn killing. Hawk, going in good style, came on with a clear lead from Euphrates, and clearing the drain, turned on the headland; the hare then dodged among some peat stacks, and as soon as she broke Hawk, clearing the drain in grand form, drove her for several strong points over the wheat and killed: a smart performance of the Irish dog. Shadow, in a long race up, led Wonder four lengths, and, cleverly keeping command, never left the scout of her hare until she killed. Jolly Green, on fallow, showed in front until reaching some wheat, where Right Idea shot instantly to the front, brought puss half round, and kept his place until reaching some rough grass, where he tripped his hare and puss died. Cock Robin, going in good form, led on the outside to his hare, brought her round, and, keeping close to the scout, scored several points in succession, until he shifted her to Blue Line, who killed. Simon Hayes showed in front, but at the moment that puss went from him he tripped, and Crossfall, going on in command, drove his hare for several strong wrenches, and then brought her round; they then exchanged, after which Simon went headlong into a ditch, but they got together again almost immediately, and after another exchange the course terminated at the drain. Theodore soon took the lead from Rosetta, and, jumping the ditch a couple of lengths in advance, shifted his hare on the grass road, and then went headlong into a drain; Rosetta from her opponent's mishap, was left with the lead, and, after going a considerable distance, she scored thrice before Mr Thompson's dog joined in; a rattling set-to ensued, the work in favour of Theodore, who won by racing past and killing. Marchioness and Neat Jenny had a short no-go, the former showing the pace. In their final spin Marchioness drew out a length, turned, and served Neat Jenny, who took point for point until her opponent shot out and killed: a smartly-run course, and from where I stood on the road Neat Jenny appeared quite as clever as the fawn. Billy showed in front of Spendthrift to a ditch, into which both went headlong; the former, getting first out, went on with a long lead, and placed a good score to his credit before Spendthrift joined in: a long pumping trial ensued. Billy, who ran in rare form, winning handsomely. Duncan, after being in the rear for some distance, passed Howard; but in a few strides further he fell, and Howard then went on with the lead, but puss escaped without being used: undecided. Next time the pair were started across some very bad ground, and Duncan having the pace, and ditching also the best, scored the early points; but in a fair stretch Howard made a fine go-by, and was beginning to be busy when the death took place. Bethell, in a straight slip, drew out a length from Regent, and picked up his hare. Before being taken up, the pair got on to another hare, and Regent followed his opponent to covert, carrying the game in his mouth. Morning Dew had the foot of Just Right, and, keeping well to the scout of her hare, won an average trial very decisively. This course was well run by Mr Marfleet's bitch; the talent laid 5 to 2 on the loser. Jolly Lark and Contractor were slipped across a piece of land so wet and mossy that it was totally unfit for the purpose; the pair commenced by going head-first into a drain, and, although the course was only of moderate length, the land run over caused both dogs to be pumped out; Jolly Lark took the lead, but his opponent proved the best stayer. Thalberg, over the same ground, showed in front for some distance, but was finally passed by Bob Roy, who quickly ended the course by nailing puss as she was attempting to cross a sheet of water. Joan of Arc, going in good form, was first up several lengths, and scored five; Barometer then put in three or four smart wrenches, but Joan of Arc, not to be denied, struggled on through the dirt, drew past, and had much the best of the course to the drain, into which she plunged. Sea Rocket was showing in front, when the hare whipped right from him to Tormentor, who made the best of his opponent's mishap, and won. As the course was seen from the road, blue appeared to be beaten through sheer bad luck. Architect, on the inside, gained the run up from Dark Regan, who, throughout a working course, had no chance with his opponent. Meteor, owing to his severe course in the morning, was wisely drawn, and Black Douglas ran a bye, which he made short by quickly killing. Justitia, running in her usual style, raced away from Lord Nelson several lengths, turned, kept her place, drove her hare for five or six strong wrenches, and stumbled in trying to kill; Lord Nelson then drew past, wrenched several times, and killed just in time to make a tie of it. Next time Justitia showed the pace, but a short-running hare kept continually going from her, and the flat was against her: this course was hard luck for Mr Johnston, whose bitch was deserving of a better fate. Yellow Boy went over the road with a strong lead from Bella, and, dusting puss about a few times, received the award. Bab at the Bowster, going in her very best style, went away several lengths in advance of Odd Trick, who, in a rattling trial, was of no use to Mr Blanchard's clever bitch.

This finished the day's sport at 4.30, the return to Southport being accomplished in a perfect hurricane of wind and rain. At the dinner in the evening upwards of sixty sat down, under the presidency of Mr G. W. Mould, and on the withdrawal of the cloth the Southport (32) and six Sapling Stakes were entered for. The reading over of the list caused some heavy betting to take place at the following prices:

CHAMPION CUP.

7 to 4 on Crown Imperial v. Hearty Fellow	7 to 4 on Crossfell v. Theodore
5 to 4 on Dalby v. Kalista	5 to 4 on Billy v. Marchioness
6 to 4 on Ramble v. Mimas	7 to 4 on Bethell v. Duncan

THURSDAY.—Met at Bonny Barn, Hundred End, and commenced at 9.30. The first brace were slipped across some wheat at the back of the farmhouse, and produced the only bad trial of the day. The ground coursed over was infinitely superior to what we had been over on Tuesday and Wednesday; and hares being plentiful and running strong, a very good day's sport was finished shortly after five o'clock. The weather was delightfully fine, and brought together a much larger company than usual. Commenced with the Champion Cup—Second Ties: Crown Imperial and Hearty Fellow ran their course before I reached the ground. Dalby had the advantage of inside ground and puss at the same time going from Kalista, the white reached the drain first, cleared it a length in advance, and nailed puss on landing. This course was an unfortunate one for Mr Kaye's bitch, and at the time puss went from her she was showing the pace. Mimas went off with a strong lead, and scored five before relinquishing possession; Ramble then raced past, and, after an exchange, again took the hare, drove her a short distance, and killed: undecided. This course, from where I stood, appeared in favour of the black. Next time Mimas went off a cracker from slips, and, reaching his hare a long way in advance, turned, served himself twice, and Ramble killed at the drain: a good performance of the winner's. Strange Idea went the best across some rough fallow, and, leading over the drain, he was a dozen lengths first to the hare; keeping his place, the black, still in possession, drove puss over the hill, and never gave a chance to Go it Spy whilst in my sight. Whiff showed in front from slips, and brought puss round to Running Water, who had barely used his hare before Whiff raced clean past, and kept selfish possession to covert. Rob Roy went away from slips at a great pace, and, reaching his hare a dozen lengths in front, went wide at the turn; Alice then got possession, but before she used her game a tumble put out her chance; the black then passed her, wrenched twice, and turned, when Alice swerved her hare, and killed. Hawk immediately showed in front from slips (Shadow being partially unsighted), and, increasing his lead across some grass, led over the drain; leaving Shadow at every stride, he crossed some fallows many lengths ahead, and raced clean into his hare: a grand performance of the Irish dog. Cock Robin and Right Idea went wide to the hare, and the latter, being unsighted in the run up, was at one time a long way in the rear, but when the white turned he had reduced the gap considerably; the course was one of good length, and well and closely contested, but I was too far down the field to offer an opinion, as the dogs were most of the time running from me, but Cock Robin seemed, if anything, to have the best of it. Crossfell and Theodore came on together to the turn, where the former took the lead and ran up a succession of fine points to a gateway; here Theodore got in, and was fast rubbing off the score when the hare escaped to covert. Billy immediately showed in advance of Marchioness, who, losing sight, was some time before she joined in; when together Billy immediately took the hare from his opponent, and, scoring a go-by at the edge of the covert, led from view. Bethell was coming on with a strong lead from Duncan, when he fell head over heels, and the latter got up first a long way in advance, but had done little with his hare before the fawn joined in; after one exchange Bethell took possession, and, handling his hare very cleverly, ran up point after point to the ditch, and, as I thought, won, but the flat was against him. Mr Warwick was a long way from his dogs, and being right behind them he could hardly see the meritorious work done by the fawn. Contractor and Morning Dew alternately led to a drain; the former, who was first up, bungled at the jump; and Mr Marfleet's bitch, coming down the headland with a strong lead, turned, but got thrown out by puss dodging round a soil heap; she got in again, however, on her opponent making a mistake at the next ditch, and eventually pulled through cleverly. Joan of Arc, in a long race up on fallow, had the foot of Rob Roy for first turn, but the hare favouring the latter, he kept possession for some distance until nearing the wood, when Joan of Arc shot past, made a brilliant kill, and won: a smart performance of the winner's. Tormentor, inside, took the lead from Architect, reached her hare, and killed. Black Douglas and Lord Nelson had a short no-go, the former showing good pace and having the best of it. Next time a clinking hare got up, and both went wide from slips, Lord Nelson, who was greatly favoured, being first to score; a long course followed, Black Douglas showing a decided superiority all through, and winning handsomely. Yellow Boy and Bab at the Bowster came on together to a bank, where both cannoned and fell; the former, getting best away, went on with the lead, but again came to grief, and Bab at the Bowster going on, turned, drove puss a short distance, and knocked her hare over: a win, but nevertheless a bad trial for Yellow Boy.—Third Ties: Crown Imperial and Dalby were no sooner started than the hare began twisting about, first to one side and then the other; at last Dalby showed in front, but on nearing his hare he fell head over heels, and Crown Imperial, going on with a good lead, scored twice and killed: a slice of bad luck for the loser, who was greatly fancied for the stake. Strange Idea was showing in front, when he also fell head over heels in crossing some rough fallow, and left Mimas with the lead; the latter, running very strongly and resolutely, scored all the early points, and, having also the best of the work afterwards, won easily: a very good performance of old Mimas, who is now in his fourth season. Rob Roy, although he appeared to labour a good deal across the fallow, was first up by three lengths; after serving himself he fell, but was up again before Whiff could pass him, and, knocking puss about a few times, led into covert. Right Idea being drawn lame, Hawk ran his bye with Brutus, whom he beat well in a long pumping trial, in which the Irish dog showed great gameness, and at the finish killed. Crossfell and Billy came on together for a few strides, when the former showed in advance; but in crossing some broken-up stubble, Billy drew in front; when close to his hare, however, she went from him, and Crossfell gained the turn. The course was run across some heavy fallow, and it was give and take until the finish, when Crossfell shot past inside, and killed cleverly, thus securing the award by this last point. Duncan and Morning Dew were unsighted from slips, and although the pair got together, Mr Warwick could not satisfy himself, and the cap came off. Morning Dew was afterwards drawn by arrangement. Joan of Arc and Tormentor met with a clinking hare, and ran the prettiest and best contested course of the day, Mr Johnston's bitch always having the command of pace; at the finish of this rare trial, Joan of Arc, taking the hare to herself, put in five or six grand points in succession, and after a couple of exchanges Tormentor killed. Bab at the Bowster on nearing the ditch showed in front, and, leading over, drew out two lengths and turned; still keeping her place, she dusted puss about merrily before serving Black Douglas, who got in for a couple of points by the drain side, but lost his chance by falling, and Bab at the Bowster, going on with the lead, rattled puss about in grand style until she killed; this course was exceedingly well run by Mr Blanchard's bitch, but Black Douglas had previously been too severely run to have any chance. It seems Mr Borron's fate, go to what meeting he will, to have his dogs run to death; such has been the case some half-dozen times this season.

Southport Stakes.—Delight, to a fast hare, had the inside turn, and, keeping his place, drove puss to covert, Merry Heart never once being in. Little Boy, although he had to go right round No. 1, was first up any number of lengths, and, keeping his place, he gave his opponent a hollow beating throughout a long course. Charming May, although slightly outpaced in the run up by Perseverance, soon got placed, and, in a long pumping trial, she evinced endless superiority over her opponent, and won handsomely. Rob Roy and Chief Justice had a long undecided, the former leading, and falling at the first drain; Chief Justice was afterwards drawn by arrangement. The course between Brutus and Wizard I saw but little of, the latter, who won, appearing to go a good pace. Lord Soulis was outpaced to the hare by Lightfoot, who turned, and the latter getting placed by the hare doubling back from the crowd, he again scored, and then bungled at the ditch; Lord Soulis, getting first over, led down the wheat, and then cut his throat by killing. Black Bess and May Fly had a long and severe working trial, the latter part in favour of Black Bess, who pulled through a clever winner. Hecate had a shade more pace than Marquis, and in another rattling trial beat her opponent easily. Moses and Jeremiah ran head and head for a short distance, when the former drew out and turned, keeping his place for the next; several exchanges followed, still in favour of Mr Marfleet's dog, who left off a clever winner, and ended the course with a good kill. Enterprise, from what I could see of the course, appeared to handle his hare in grand style, and gave Little Wonder a hollow beating. London Swell and Cobnut had a fearfully long slip, in which the former got to the hare first, and for a long time had the course to himself; the latter end was in favour of Cobnut, but when Mr Warwick decided, London Swell had won easily. Royal Flag, in an average trial, beat Bessie Bell very cleverly. Melrose had no difficulty in disposing of Ask Mamma in a working course. Leda got a long lead to the hare, owing to Gentle Bess being unsighted; but when the pair got together Leda still had a shade the best of the pace, and won a good trial easily. Lizzie and Jolly News ran their course right away from the crowd, and I saw nothing of it. Lady Mary passed Belle of Southport to the hare, and, keeping her place, won an average trial all one way. First Ties: Delight was four lengths faster than Little Boy, and, keeping well to the scent of his hare, never once allowed his opponent to score in the course, which ended at the drain. Wizard and Charming May had a no-go, but a fresh hare getting up, Mr Warwick again mounted the ladder, and the pair had a fearfully long course; the similarity of colour, however, and the great distance the course was run from the crowd, prevents my giving a true description of the run. Another fast hare getting up for Lightfoot and Rob Roy, the latter drew out a length for first turn, kept his place, and scored several points, until he fell; Lightfoot was then busy, until he also came to grief, and a fearful "pumper" ended in the easy victory of Rob Roy. Hecate, in a good stretch, had the foot of Black Bess, who, in a long working course, was outpaced in the racing stretches and cleverly beaten. Moses, in a long race to the hare, had the pace of Enterprise, and led round some potato heaps for a considerable time; the course was only seen by the crowd at intervals, but when the hare broke down the field Enterprise came on in command, and, up to the time a third dog joined in, had run up a long score. The flat was in favour of Moses, which caused a good deal of dissatisfaction; Mr Warwick was better placed than I was to see what points were scored at the commencement, but from where I stood it looked an easy win for Enterprise. London Swell came on with the lead, and in an average trial beat Royal Flag cleverly. Leda, after running some distance, drew clear of Melrose, when a fresh hare jumped up, and the pair separated: no course. Melrose was afterwards drawn. Lizzie raced away in good style, and, from what I could see of the course, beat Lady Mary handsomely.

Six saplings' stakes were run through, and several of the youngsters promise well. One of them unfortunately broke its leg.

There was again an excellent company to dinner, upwards of 70 sitting down, under the presidency of G. W. Mould, Esq. A new stake, the Talbot, sixteen dogs, was added to the card, after which the chairman commenced to read over the list, when speculation was brisk, the most money being laid out on Crown Imperial v. Mimas, and Rob Roy v. Hawk. The following were the prices laid:

FRIDAY.—Met at Crossens, and commenced shortly after ten o'clock with the Talbot Stakes. The ground coursed over during the day was quite up to the average. This great meeting was brought to a satisfactory conclusion at Banks in very good time, and a large company enjoyed an excellent day's sport, thanks to the fineness of the weather. Commenced with the new stake made up on Thursday night, viz., the

Talbot Stakes.—Howard, in a fair stretch, drew out a length from Merry Heart, drove puss round a manure heap, and turned, then, cleverly keeping his place, he increased his lead to two lengths, wrenched strongly thrice, and whipped up his hare: a smart performance of the winner. Get Along came on with a clear lead from Trife, turned, and kept his place to the drain, where he bent puss round to his opponent, who shot across and killed, thereby destroying whatever chance she may have possessed. Abdul Aziz raced up two lengths in front of Red Rover, turned, and scored four; Red Rover then got in, and was beginning to be busy; but, as he brought the hare round, Abdul Aziz again raced to the front, turned, wrenched, and killed. Black Bess went away with a strong lead from Port, and, knocking puss about in rare style, won an average course very decisively. Lord Soullis and Lord Nelson ran a trial of moderate length, neither dog showing anything like brilliant form, and the latter, who ran slack in the middle of the course, was deservedly beaten. Queen o' Lyne and Achievement ran a very close and properly-given undecided. Next time the Queen showed the pace, and won an average trial very cleverly. Enterprise, in a fair stretch, raced past Telescope to the hare, and, keeping his place at the turn, made the course all one way to covert. Gownsmen immediately showed in advance from slips, gradually increased his lead to four lengths, and turned; maintaining his advantage, he led down the grass road, but before he again used his hare Odd Trick scored a go-by, and when puss escaped to Sugar Stubbs covert, Mr Oldham's dog had won cleverly. — First Tie: Howard, going both fast and cleverly, went off with a good lead from Get Along, who, in a fair average trial, never had a ghost of a chance. Abdul Aziz went up two lengths in front of Black Bess and scored three, the latter making the next point; a rattling trial followed, in which Black Bess was outpaced from beginning to end, and easily beaten. Queen o' Lyne being drawn, Lord Soulis ran a bye, which most people thought was of short length, and terminated at the cottage garden; it appears, however, he took his hare across the road, and was run to a standstill. A trimming hare got up for Enterprise and Odd Trick, and puss ran her pursuers until they could not raise a gallop; the course was very decisively won by Enterprise, who had all the first part of the trial to himself, and ran throughout like a game and good greyhound. — Second Tie: Howard soon showed in advance of Abdul Aziz for first turn, and in a prettily contested trial beat his opponent very cleverly indeed, Dr Hitchman's dog finishing with a rattling kill. The meeting of Enterprise and Lord Soulis was looked upon as a moral for the latter, who, it was generally supposed, had got off on much easier terms than his opponent. 5 to 2 and 3 to 1 were freely laid on the black, but, after running some fifty yards, Enterprise was seen to gradually make up the ground he lost from slips, and, passing his opponent, won a trial of fair length all one way. It coozed out afterwards that Lord Soulis in his bye, as previously mentioned, had been run to a standstill. — Deciding Course: Enterprise, as might be expected after his severe running, had no chance whatever with a clever greyhound like Howard, who went up an immense distance in advance to the hare, and, although Mr Emery's dog struggled gamely to the end, Howard won a good trial very decisively.

Southport Stakes. — Second Tie: Delight and Wizard had two no-goes, in each of which the former showed the pace. Wizard was afterwards drawn by arrangement. Hecate took the lead from Rob Roy, and, in a trial of average length, won all one way. A precisely similar course took place between London Swell and Moses, the former maintaining the lead to covert. A game, close, and well-contested trial ensued between Leda and Lizzie Lindsay; the former, after having a near squeak of being beaten, eventually left off a clever winner. — Second Tie: A trimming hare got up for Hecate and Delight, the former scoring four to begin with; Delight then passed his opponent on the sea bank, and Captain Wyndham's bitch was not again in the course; Delight, throughout the remainder of a long pumping trial, winning easily. Leda had the foot of London Swell, and in a nicely-run course won cleverly. — Deciding Course: Delight, as might be expected after his previous long spin, had no chance with Leda, who was first up several lengths, and won an average trial easily.

Champion Cup. — Fourth Tie: Crown Imperial and Mimas were slipped across some fallow, and puss bending in favour of the former, he led three lengths over a grass bank, and turned, serving himself; the fawn then put the hare to Mimas, who was unable to hold his own, and Mr Cunningham's dog, again going to the front, made a short trial all one way, finishing with a kill. In a fair race up across fallow Rob Roy was a length and a half faster than Hawk for first turn, the latter taking the next; a rattling trial followed, the points being so equally balanced for a time that it was impossible to say which would win, until Rob Roy threw a chance away by going wide; Hawk then got a point ahead, which he retained to the end, and a kill on the part of the Irish dog effectually settled matters in his favour. Crossfell and Duncan had a short no-course, owing to a weak hare being instantly chopped. In their next slip Crossfell immediately showed in advance, and, reaching his game several lengths first, maintained selfish possession all through a course of good length, which terminated at the drain. Bab at the Bowster, to a weak hare, was greatly favoured in the run up, but she made such a grand point by taking the hare from Joan of Arc for second turn, that it was soon evident what must be the result; and, after Mr Johnston's bitch had scored, Bab at the Bowster instantly raced to the front, wrenched strongly, and killed before puss could gain the road. — Fifth Tie: Crown Imperial and Hawk had a closely-contested no-go, in which the former led three lengths to the hare, but the latter would undoubtedly have won, had he not unfortunately killed just too soon. The next slip was a short affair across grass, and, Crown Imperial again showing the pace, led up, scored twice, and puss escaped at the sough. Bab at the Bowster had the inner circle when slipped, and, puss reaching some grass, the going just suited Mr Blanshard's bitch, who was first up several lengths in advance, but went wide at the turn; Crossfell then went on with the lead, but the sough was too near, and a fast hare escaped without the Cumberland dog getting up to her.—Deciding Course: Bab at the Bowster instantly showed in front of Crown Imperial, and, leading over the ditch, turned; the hare then made for the bank, and Mr Blanshard's bitch, still retaining the lead, drove puss from view and received the award.

REMARKS.—Bad weather is at all times a decided drawback to the success of a meeting, and on the present occasion the two opening days were sufficient to damp the spirits of the most ardent followers of the leash. Fortunately, however, for the success of Mr Stocker's great undertaking, Thursday and Friday saw a change for the better, both in the elements and in the ground coursed over, and the result was that the meeting was finished with considerable éclat. The general attendance was far below what I expected to see, but the weather doubtless deterred many from coming, and, in addition to this, Shrewsbury races being on prevented the betting men from Manchester and Liverpool attending in anything like their usual force. Owing to the heavy floods the previous week, 1800 acres of grass ground were entirely spoilt for coursing purposes; and, with a monster programme like the present, it was doubtless wise on the part of the lessee to avail himself of the courtesy and kindness of Lord Lilford by running over his estate on the first day. But here the fallow land was so very much broken up that it would have been more satisfactory to confine the coursing to the Scarisbrick Manor, where hares were not only plentiful, but the land, generally speaking, afforded excellent trials. The meeting, as well as being the largest, was the last great gathering of this season, and it shows the puppies, taken as a lot, to be a better class than we have seen for several years past. But, although this meeting was the biggest of this and many previous seasons, it was surpassed by one which took place thirty years ago on Birkdale Moss, near Southport, with Mr Nightingale as judge; and, as the facts will be known to very few of the coursers of the present day, it may be as well to devote a few lines to the following particulars, taking up the running from the fifth ties. Out of the 178 entries, five were absent.

MARCH 8 to 14, 1838.—LANCASHIRE GOLD CUP, value 100 sovs; winner to receive the Cup and subscription of 3 sovs each, less expenses; runner up 80 sovs, third 20 sovs; 178 subs.—Fifth Ties: Mr A. Bennett's r d Rocket beat Mr Slater's bk d Chancellor; Mr Clayton's bk d Sultan beat Mr Houghton's f b Erico; Mr Swainson's w bk d Smuggler beat Mr Robinson's r b Empress.—Sixth Ties: Rocket beat Smuggler (1); Sultan, a bye.—Deciding Course: Mr Clayton's Sultan (by Wilson's Tramp out of Wilkinson's Nettle) beat Mr A. Bennett's Rocket (by Robinson's Streamer out of Bancroft's Mars). The winner was run to death five seasons afterwards at Tarleton. In his second course for the Gold Snuffbox, which he won in grand style, Sultan met with so long and severe a trial that he was afterwards found at his last gasp, holding down the hare with his fore feet, but without the power to kill her; and so he died!

But it is time that I should quit the gallant old winner of the Lancashire Gold Cup in days gone by, in order to speak of the clever bitch who has now carried off the Great Scarisbrick Cup. Bab at the Bowster is by Boanerges out of Mischief, and on the Monday before running weighed 46lb. Her performances during the present season have been most creditable, and are as follows: Sept. 20, divided the Scottish National St. Leger with Master Ivo (52 runners); Altcar Club November Meeting, divided the Croxteth Stakes with Brigade (58 runners); Waterloo Cup, won two courses, beating Whiz and Fiz and Fanatic; beaten in the third round by Lobelia, after an undecided, in which she had the best of it. Her next and last appearance was at the present meeting, where she landed the Cup (128 runners) in grand style, proving herself every inch a first-class greyhound, showing good pace in each of her courses, and, as usual, making them short by quickly killing. Bab at the Bowster has now been out four times, and has won nineteen out of twenty courses in public. A word of praise is due to her trainer, Lees, who, as usual, had his dogs in superb condition; and, although his having trained the winner entitles him to the silver watch given by Mr Stocker, he will no doubt receive in addition a handsome recognition from Mr Blanchard, who was fortunate, after losing his old trainer, Sandy Anderson, in getting a man so fully qualified to look after his kennel.

In glancing over the running, I may remark that Bab at the Bowster in the first round had a desperately near shave of getting put out by Get Along, and in the second ties Yellow Boy cannoned against her in jumping a drain, and both fell heavily. It may be said that Bab at the Bowster was lucky in having to meet opponents much harder run than herself; but it is generally found that the winner of a big stake gets off pretty easily. This is mainly due to the fact that it is by their own superiority, and not through a run of luck, that good greyhounds make short courses. Crown Imperial, the runner up, commenced his first course in grand style, beating Charming May very decisively, and this he followed up in the next round by an equally clever victory over a good south-country performer in Little Monkey, who never had a chance with Mr Cunningham's dog. His third course with Hearty Fellow caused some discussion, as many people said the latter killed his hare in the drain, and that his opponent went on with a fresh one. Mr Warwick's account of the course (and the judge was well placed for seeing it) was, that Crown Imperial showed slightly in advance of Hearty Fellow to the ditch, where a fresh hare jumped up and the latter nailed her, while Crown Imperial, sticking to the one originally slipped at, led back to covert. In Crown Imperial's next spin with Dalby, the latter, who was going uncommonly well, fell when leading, a short course ending in favour of Mr Cunningham's dog at the ditch. The fourth ties saw him beat Mimas cleverly, and Hawk had to succumb after a no-go to his superior pace. In being defeated by a clever bitch like Bab at the Bowster, Crown Imperial was not at all disgraced, and the £120 which fell to his share for running second would in some measure act as a consolation to his owner. Crossfell, who ran third, evidently likes the Southport ground, for it was over the same country last October that he won the Scarisbrick Cup, 64 runners. Had he not been so hard run in his course with Duncan, it is quite on the cards that the winner would have had some trouble to beat him, as the dog was showing plenty of pace, and, at the same time, handling his hares in good style. Hawk's performance at this meeting I consider second to none, and it was hard lines for Mr Barden to have his dog run to death, mainly through meeting with a clinking hare, and, at the same time, having with him in his bye a greyhound who was of no earthly use. The Irish dog is not only a good worker, but can evidently stay for a month, and over the downs of Wiltshire I should not know where to pick his conqueror. Bob Roy has evidently a fine turn of speed, and with a racing hare will always take a vast amount of beating. Mimas, considering his age, ran very creditably indeed. Joan of Arc was much too severely run before meeting Bab at the Bowster to have any chance of success. Duncan, I consider, was lucky in getting as forward as he did, and Mr Spinks, who offered £75 for him on the evening of the third day's running, was in my opinion very fortunate in not completing the purchase. In the fourth round Dalby, whose size and strength were gradually helping him into the front rank, had his chance annihilated by an ugly tumble when meeting Crown Imperial; and the same fate befel Strange Idea when opposed to Mimas, Mr Hyslop's dog, after his fall, having apparently all the fire knocked out of him. Right Idea, another from the same kennel, got so severely out (as is supposed, with a broken glass bottle), that he had to be drawn in favour of Hawk—which, all things considered, was hard luck for the brothers Hyslop, as Lion's Share, going great guns, was previously drawn in favour of Strange Idea. Whiff, a broken-haired bitch, more like a Scotch deerhound than a greyhound, won three courses, beating Randolph, Royal Seal, and Running Water—three formidable opponents—but the first-named fell, and Mr Clark's bitch also met with a mishap in the run up, which she never fairly got over; when put out, it was across some rough ground, but Bob Roy's extra pace saw him fall and even get up again before Whiff could join in. Billy went fast and cleverly each course he ran, and, when defeated over some wretchedly bad ground by Crossfell, the flat was only just gained by the Cumberland dog; across good land, I think the tables would have been turned. Morning Dew, after showing great cleverness when in possession, was drawn in favour of Duncan, owing to both getting on to fresh hares. Tormentor ran a beautiful course with Joan of Arc, and there was no disgrace in her being beaten by Mr Johnston's clever greyhound. Black Douglas carried out the ill luck that has stuck to Mr Borron during the whole of this season, and was run to a standstill before meeting Bab at the Bowster. The third round was chiefly noticeable for the defeat of Cock Robin, whose opponent, Right Idea, got just the best of the course at the finish, receiving the award; but it must have been a desperately near thing. Still, as Mr Warwick was much better placed than the spectators for seeing the course, there was no room to find fault. Kalista had a short unsatisfactory spin when put out by Dalby, and Bethell, I consider, was unlucky in his course, as I stated at the time. In the first ties Little Monkey had no chance with Crown Imperial, the ground run over being evidently unsuited to the south-country bitch. Michael's defeat took place across a very rough piece of fallow, over which the dogs had no business whatever to have been alipped, and the consequence was that Dalby, being a big striding dog, had an immense advantage over his lesser opponent, and, going away with the lead, quickly killed a weak hare. Royal Seal's defeat by Whiff was owing entirely to bad luck, and Mr Jores's three—Jolly Green, Just Right, and Jolly Lark—went down one after another, each meeting with more than a fair share of bad luck. Howard made a good fight of it with Duncan, but the latter's extra pace pulled him through. Blue Line stuck closely to Cock Robin during a short spin, and Justitia was beaten entirely by the hare continually going from her. Meteor (late Comet)—who, it will be in the recollection of our readers, was bought for £120 at the late Tamworth meeting by Mr Marfleet—went a great pace, and his owner, I consider, acted wisely in withdrawing him; as Meteor is a young dog it would have been asking him to do too much, after his severe gruelling in his first course with Juggler, to have let him run on; and, besides, there was little or no chance of his seeing the end of the stake. Had he run two or three more courses, there was every probability that a good greyhound would have been spoilt. In picking out a few that suffered defeat in the first round, I notice that Croton Oil was only just beaten in a poor trial. Lisette gave her backers a facer by losing the odds of 2 to 1 laid on her. Bannockburn ran a long course cleverly and well. Safrano fell in the run up, as also did Randolph, which materially contributed in the defeat of both. Cavendish was another of the stumblers, and his opponent, Running Water, had his hare killed before Mr Lister's dog had a chance to get in. To the surprise of the plungers—3 to 1 being laid—and I may also say everyone else, Dark Patent was seen leading Lobelia, and, being favoured by puss going to the right, he won a course of moderate length very cleverly; the crack was evidently out of her element over the soft fallow land, and could make no sort of fight with her opponent. Clanronald had the foot of Neat Jenny, but lost his place at a gateway, which materially assisted his defeat. Carbineer went fast, but had bad luck in his course. Blue Line got a fearful pumper, and Go it Spy fared no better. Cashier went fast, but was outworked in a near thing, and Gownsmen was evidently unable to act over the Southport ground. The Southport Stakes was cleverly won by Leda, and, from the style in which she ran each of her courses, her forward position was justly gained. Delight was hard run, and the way he struggled to the end of his course with Hecate shows him to be a good fair dog. Wizard, I consider, was as smart a greyhound as anything that ran in this stake, and he must be a thorough game animal to come again as he did, considering the fearful dressing he got in his course with Charming May. The Talbot Stakes saw Dr Hitchman's Howard again to the fore, and, as it was only at the late Tamworth meeting that I had to speak of this dog's cleverness, it was with great pleasure I again saw him run through another stake as honest as true as a puppy. Enterprise ran a game, good greyhound, and, if none the worse for his severe running at this meeting, should render a good account of himself next season. Abdul Aziz acquitted himself very respectably, but the sooner Lord Soulis is shieved the better, both for the sake of his owner and also his owner's friends, who lost a hatful of money when he went down before Enterprise, 3 to 1 being laid freely on the black. The Sapling Stakes brought together some very promising youngsters; but, to my thinking, the ground is much too severe to run a sapling across, as several of them got fearfully hard run. Jem Mace promises well as a stud dog; his progeny acquitted themselves brilliantly in three of the Sapling Stakes; and, as will be seen from our advertising columns, he is now at the service of the public at 5 guineas. Mr Eltringham had two youngsters running by Samuel, who went in good form; and Mr Mould's brace, Money Taker and Maid of Orleans, appear to have a fine turn of speed. Among the remainder, Mr Barden had a very smart bitch in Wild Irish Girl, whose trainer acted wisely in coming to terms and dividing, as the Girl had been fearfully hard run.

To carry successfully through a monster meeting like the above required an energetic man like Mr E. W. Stocker, who, from the way in which he enters, both at home and in the field, is fully deserving of that large amount of patronage which he deservedly receives every year from the coursing public. Considering the large number of hares (319) slipped at during the four days' coursing, the quantity killed was below the average, which speaks well for the quality of the fur on the estate. We understand it is the wish of several of Mr Stocker's patrons to have the value of the stakes increased for the next March Champion Meeting, and if this meets with the approval of a majority of the subscribers the following programme will be issued:—
 "The Great Scarisbrick Cup (128) at £10. 10s. Limited to two nominations, guarded throughout. The winner £500, second £200 &c."

Wilkinson slipped admirably throughout the week, and Mr Warwick, on the ladder, never got through a meeting better, hardly a single decision being called into question. A word of praise is justly due to Mr Green, of the Visitors' Office, Southport, for the well-printed card issued each day, and its correctness, both as regards colours and pedigrees. Mr J. Bell, as flag steward, was the right man in the right place.

THE entry and draw for this club meeting took place in the Eglinton Arms, Ardrossan, on Wednesday afternoon, between three and four, when thirty-two put in an appearance for the Seafeld Tower Stakes, with an entry of £2. 10s. each, and a very handsome piece of plate presented by the president, W. G. Borron, Esq. There being no public dinner, the card was not read over, and consequently no betting took place. The meet on Thursday morning was at Sharphin, at ten, and punctually at that hour the first brace were put into the slips, and prospects of a good day's coursing looked promising, as scarcely had Richmond taken the dogs in hand before a brace of hares sprung up; but it proved a delusion, as during the day, although a good many hares were seen running about, they were difficult to get at, and our progress was in consequence slow.

Seafeld Tower Stakes.—Before it could be said whether Jessie or Duke Archie was the faster, the latter changed to another hare, and each had a good course. In their second slip Jessie drew out some four lengths, and made first two turns; Archie then got in, when a working trial took place, ending in favour of Jessie. On the inner circle First Attempt made first two turns; Hie-I-Obby the next, and led to covert: a poor trial. The hare being too fast for Bijou, she could not keep pace with Raglan, who won a long course all one way. Bonny Glen led Bonnington to a fence, which she dashed through very resolutely, and picked puss up. Largs was about four lengths faster than Ptolemy, and made first turn, but wide; a race to a fence then took place, which the former got first through, the hare being quickly killed on the other side the fence, but by which I didn't see, Largs getting the decision. Wee Glen and Black Douglas ran the greater part of their trial on the other side of a high fence; what I did see was in favour of Wee Glen, as also the decision. Belle of Avon had much the best of a very long trial with Clear Idea. Duke of Edinburgh turned badly, Clearborough fenced badly, and both ran badly, Clearborough the worst. Grey Hen, a couple of lengths faster than Mischief, made first two or three turns; the latter then did a little, but the Hen coming again won a good trial well. Shamrock so Green was faster to a fence, but which Blue Line took best, got the lead thereby, and thoroughly outworked and beat Shamrock in a very long course. Blantyre showed the pace, and led out of sight; on reappearing it was evident that he had lamed himself, as he could scarcely trot, and Clydewater went on and won: on being taken up, Blantyre was found to have broken a small bone in his right foreleg. Driver drew past Speculation, flew a wall best, made first and second turns, then tripped in attempting to kill, and before he could get fairly on to his legs the white went past and killed. Sport was a little faster than Hebe, but worked wide, and got beat in consequence, in a pretty long course. Bel Demonio was also faster than Dragoon, but, like Sport, worked wide, and was thoroughly beaten in a very long and severe course. Rainbow being drawn, Babylonia ran a bye. Jessie, in a scrambling short trial, beat First Attempt, after which Bonny Glen and Raglan were placed in the slips; but, in a long and fruitless search, puss could not be found, and coursing was dropped for the day.

In the evening the entry and draw for the Ardrossan Castle Stakes of eight dogs, three four-dog Sapling Stakes, and a Veteran Stake of three dogs, took place in the Eglinton Arms, Ardrossan. These stakes, it was expected, would be run out in good time on the following day, as hares were represented to be very plentiful on the ground to be coursed over; but unfortunately it turned out that they were even scarcer than on Thursday, and Saturday only saw us finish the meeting about four o'clock. At this season of the year hares don't sit well, but there was an undoubted scarcity on all the three days.

FRIDAY.—Raglan and Bonny Glen being again handed to the slipper, the former led, and made first two turns; the other then got in, and did as much, but very little more than gained her the flat before puss reached covert. Largs led Wee Glen to the hare, after which they had a badly run working trial in a corner of a field, which ended in a no-go. Belle of Avon had the pace from slips, but the Duke of Edinburgh drew past and made first turn; and although the Belle was the cleverest throughout a long trial, the pace of her big brother brought him through the winner. Grey Hen, on the low side of the brow, led Blue Line a couple of lengths and made first two turns; in going through a hedge they cannoned; the Blue, getting best away, wrenched twice; they then exchanged, and in a lead to covert the Hen gave a go-by and gained the flat. Clyde Water was much favoured in the run up, and got well placed, but before he could score Driver raced past, wrenched his game very cleverly two or three times, and knocked it over, the other picking it up. Dragoon, being very severely run yesterday, was drawn, and Hebe ran a bye with Miss Patrick, and beat the aged spinster cleverly. Belmontine had the foot of her kennel companion Babylonia, led her on the outer circle, wrenched twice, then brought her game fairly round to the latter, who wrenched and killed.—Second Tie: Jessie and Bonny Glen were slipped in a rushy piece of ground, and got unsighted in the run up, the latter making first turn; but afterwards old age told, as, except a shoot now and again for a kill, she had little more in a good working trial. Wee Glen led from slips, the Duke of Edinburgh evidently unsighted; but the hare bearing to him, and it being a racing one, he was enabled by his pace to well win a long course. Grey Hen was leading Driver a couple of lengths when puss took a hedge and ditch, which the Hen could not fly, and came to grief, thereby letting Driver away with a good lead, of which he took advantage, turned two or three times, and led out of sight. Immediately Belmontine and Hebe were slipped, the latter took a fresh hare, and Belmontine joined her and ran it; Hebe, however, was so well placed that she very soon turned, and killed it going through a fence: no go. Next slip Belmontine was faster and very superior to her in a rather long trial.

Ardrossan Castle Stakes.—Speculation beat Go It, but, the course being run behind some high beech hedges, I did not see how. Hie-I-Obby ran a short no-go, also behind a hedge, which had the judge seen he would have given to Obby. He, however, in his next trial made matters all right, as, except the first turn, he had all the others in a long trial, a great deal of it, however, very much to the chagrin of his trainer, out of sight of the crowd. In a fine race to the hare Sport drew away from Bijou, made first turn, and in a nice trial back to the covert from which puss had been driven, beat her cleverly. Bonny Edith was a little faster than Drama, and made first turn, but was well beaten in a long trial afterwards, which wound up a remarkably poor day's sport.

SATURDAY.—Seafeld Tower Stakes.—Third Ties: Jessie, on a piece of ground very much suited to her, completely outworked the awkward, long-striding Duke of Edinburgh, who could never place himself on the bare knoll on which the course was run. Belmontine was a couple of lengths faster than Driver, made first turn, and was going on for second, when the latter gave a go-by, turned, and made the next four or five, but lost his position in going through a fence, which placed the white collar, who did a good bit of short work till puss broke away, when Driver gave another go-by, turned, and went away again with the lead out of my view, puss shortly afterwards being killed; this, from my view, was a remarkably clever win for Driver, but "Geordie," very much to my surprise, was not at all pleased with the decision.—Deciding Course: Mr Wardrop informed us in the morning that Driver was amiss, and it seemed so in this course, as he was led a long way, and was never in the hunt with Jessie, who won the stake with great credit.

Ardrossan Castle Stakes.—First Ties: Speculation, favoured in the run up, made first turn, but afterwards was thoroughly well beaten. Sport also had a turn to commence with, but on Drama getting placed she outworked and beat him well.—Deciding Course: In a long course Hie-I-Obby was a little faster and very superior to Drama throughout.

Sapling Stakes, No 1: Maid of the Mill was a little faster than the Beckford pup, but in the trial, which was a stiff one, the latter had a great deal the best of it. The Cauld Kail sapling was superior in pace to Maid of Burnbank, and, throughout a very long and severe course, did not once let her get her nose first.

Sapling Stakes, No. 2.—Barney Williams pup, on plough, led the young Rainbow through a fence on to lea, whereon the latter was gaining ground, and looked like passing young Miss Barney, when she fell; the black thereby got away with the lead, wrenched a time or two, when a third dog joined, who was better than both, and the course ended in favour of the Rainbow pup: a very poor trial. Rainbow dog had a good deal more pace than the Cauld Kail pup (who is said to be the slowest of the litter of seven now alive), and throughout a rather long trial had much the best of it.

Sapling Stakes, No. 3.—The pup by Linton took a good long lead from the Cardinal York pup, and made a long score to commence with, which the other could not rub off before the course finished. Barney Williams dog easily defeated the Marshal Forward pup in a short trial. Very properly, none of the Sappling Stakes were run out.

Veteran Stakes.—Balblair Girl, in a short working course to covert, easily defeated Black Swan. Rainbow ran a pretty stiff course with Sport.—Deciding Course: The long bye had taken the steam out of Rainbow, as Balblair Girl very easily defeated him.

After such a tedious meeting, at which so little took place, my remarks must necessarily be few. The dogs that contested for the Seafeld Tower Stakes, as well as the Ardrossan Castle Stakes, were probably as moderate a lot of greyhounds as ever ran for such a good prize, as, with the exception of a few, and these were as stale as old post horses, the others were only potters, and Mr Inglis was lucky in placing his clever little Jessie in such company; she, although slow, is game and a good worker, and was brought out by Tom Gaunt in first-rate condition. Mr Springall was well mounted, rode remarkably well (too well sometimes for our fancy, as we are of opinion that a judge can see better by placing himself properly than riding furiously at the heels of the dogs), and gave the utmost satisfaction, as I did not see a decision that I would have differed with him in. John Richmond—although a contemporary of (as he is termed in this country) Auld Nightingale and the celebrated Waterloo—walked and slipped as well as if he had belonged to the present day. Long may he continue to do so! Mr R. Gardiner, the secretary, is young at his business, but a more active, obliging gentleman you cannot meet, and when he has conducted a few more meetings the Ardrossan Club will be able to boast of a secretary second to none in the three kingdoms.

THE last meeting of the season of the Worcester club was held over the beautiful estate of Croome, by the liberality of the Earl of Coventry, the president, and two finer days for the sport have never been met with. This popular club now musters nearly one hundred members, and on Monday evening a party of forty met and dined at Mr Fuggle's, the Crown Hotel, Worcester; G. Grainger, Esq., in the chair. Ten stakes for saplings, in addition to an open one for all ages, formed the programme issued, and Mr East furnished no less than eight of the youngsters.

TUESDAY.—After a beautiful drive of seven miles we reached the place of meet—the Boar's Head, Severn Stoke—and a move was immediately made to Clifton Meadows, where four rattling trials were obtained. We then went round by Mr Mytton's farm and on to the Old Park for only seven courses, after which a beat was taken across Cubs Moor, and along the Park to Mr Butt's at Burton, and then back to the lawn in front of Croome Court, where the last brace were slipped at 6.30. The day's sport was long and wearying, but the beauty of the scenery, coupled with the delightful weather, made ample amends for all shortcomings.

The meet on Wednesday was at the Coventry Arms, and the same ground was gone over as yesterday, the deciding course for the All-aged Stakes being run off in the Park. The Countess of Coventry was present in her pony carriage on the first day, and, as usual, entered con amore into the sport. There was also a good sprinkling of coursers, amongst whom were Messrs J. East, W. Long, C. Randell, Cottle, Leighton, Deighton, Chesshyre, Codling, Burton, Grainger, Fuggle, Hodson, Kaye, Hicks, Southam, Garlick, Nicholls, Dr. Hitchman, &c. As I intend to give my notes on the two days' running of the saplings together, I shall commence with the

Coventry Stakes.—A clinking hare came away for Eyes so Wicked and Polished Steel; the former was up first eight lengths, and leading through the fence had all the course to herself, Polished Steel being thrown out at the hedge. King Theodore showed the pace to the fence, where he stuck fast in attempting to smouse; Earwig then went on with a long lead, and scored several points before the black joined in; after a few exchanges puss again threaded the hedge, and King Theodore refusing, a long course was very decisively won by Mr East's bitch. Wrenchwell II. went off with the lead, and, jumping the ditch cleverly, turned three lengths in advance of Gentle Mungo, then kept his position, and won very easily to the fence. Deerhurst and Playaway II. had an undecided, owing to the fence throwing both out. Next time Playaway II. led a length and scored two, Deerhurst taking the next point; a working course of short length followed, which Deerhurst wound up with a good kill, but was well beaten. A clinking hare got up for Nice Ale and Wild Thyme, and the latter, who was slightly favoured, gained the turn; keeping her position, she set merrily to work, and put a good score to her credit as puss reached the fence; leading through, she maintained the command across the meadow to the next hedge, and won a long pumping trial very decisively. This course was exceedingly well run by the winner, who, although opposed to a clever bitch like Nice Ale, beat her well. Kalista, on nearing the hare, showed in front, but jumping short as puss was in the act of smousing, she fell back into the field; Fly by Night then went on with the lead, and had the course to herself: a very unlucky trial for Mr Kaye's bitch. Christmas Day and Danish Patent were slipped in the old park, and a long working trial resulted in a no-go. Next time Danish Patent again showed the pace, but, going wide at the turn, Christmas Day proved the cleverer worker, and won handsomely. In a long slip across the park Honesty showed in front for a considerable distance; but puss bending right from her, the lead was immediately taken by Howard, who turned, and, outworking his opponent throughout a prettily run trial, won very cleverly. Before being taken up they were led a long dance by the hare, and Howard was very hard run.—First Ties: Eyes so Wicked, on the upper ground, drew out two lengths from Earwig, and scored first and second turns; the latter then got in, and was fast equalising the score, when the death of puss put out her chance. Wrenchwell II. was showing in advance, when Playaway II. got well placed by the hare bending right round, and, keeping cleverly to the scut, ran up several strong driving wrenches up the hill, the only point the black scored being the kill. Wild Thyme and Fly by Night had a short dodging trial by the covert side, and the extreme cleverness shown by Mr Watton's bitch landed her the winner. Howard was slightly in the rear of Christmas Day for a short distance, but, taking the drain in his stride he gained the turn, and commanding his game afterwards in his well-known clever style, he drove puss to covert; but unfortunately Dr Hitchman's dog got a regular bucketing before being taken up.—Second Ties: Eyes so Wicked was a length and a half faster than Playaway II., but going fearfully wide at the turn, the last-named put in several smart points in succession, and led to covert. Wild Thyme was three lengths faster than Howard, who started very stiff, but got placed as puss came round, wrenched strongly, and then made a tie of it by a rattling kill. Next time, in a good straight race across the field, Wild Thyme gained the run up three lengths in advance, serving Howard, who was going on in possession when his opponent drew clean past and turned; Dr. Hitchman's dog then wrenched and made a fine kill. As will be seen from my description of the course, it looked a clever win from where I stood for Wild Thyme, but the cap came off. An arrangement was then wisely come to, and Howard was drawn on the usual conditions.—Deciding Course.—A trimming hare was started in the park for Wild Thyme and Playaway II. In a grand race up, the latter was nearly two lengths the faster, and, keeping her position at the turn, scored two more before giving the black an opening; as soon as Wild Thyme got in, she put in three smart wrenches in succession, and, fortunately for her chance, missed a good attempt to kill; she thus momentarily lost the lead, but almost immediately getting into her stride, she again set resolutely to work, drove puss past a tree, then dusted her about a few times, killed, and won. This course, which was beautifully run by both, was quite a treat to witness, and the victory of the Worcester bitch, who certainly snatched the course out of the fire when it looked any odds against her, was hailed with loud cheers.

Amongst the dog saplings were several promising youngsters, the pick of the lot being Mr Kay's Kilkenny, who went fast and handled his hares beautifully. The same gentleman had also another useful youngster in Lapwing. Among the bitches Harmonia, Eleonora, Mr Long's by Fiddlestring, Mr Southam's by Patent, and Lizzie appeared to have a good turn of speed. The following is a short description of the running in each stake:

Dog Sapling Stake, No. 1.—Delara was many lengths faster than Esher to the hare, and during the course raced past twice; the flat, however, was in favour of Esher, who certainly ran the steadiest; but how he won I am unable to say, and from where I stood I certainly thought Delara had achieved an easy victory. Kilkenny, going in good style, was first up, a length and a half in front of Electric, and, keeping beautifully to the scut, made a short and smartly run course all one way, finishing up with a kill.—Deciding Course: Kilkenny, in a short slip, came away with a clear lead from Esher, and, cleverly keeping his place at the turn, scored a succession of rattling points to the hedge; the hare then made for a wheat field, in crossing which Esher got well placed, and was beginning to be very busy; but puss escaped to covert too soon for Mr East's dog to rub off the early score made by his opponent.

Dog Sapling Stake, No. 2.—Lapwing ran clear away from Woodbine for first turn, and, showing great superiority of pace throughout a working course, won handsomely. After an undecided, Excealsior was several lengths faster than Daddy Gray, and the latter going fearfully wide as the fawn brought the hare round, Mr East's dog led back several lengths to covert, winning decisively.—Deciding Course: After a no course, owing to a bad slip, Lapwing had too much pace for Excealsior, and won very easily.

Dog Sapling Stake, No. 3.—Disraeli had too much power and pace for Mr Southam's youngster, and beat him cleverly. Eastley went past Ninety in the run up, and scored all the early points, the latter only getting in for some short work at the finish.—Deciding Course: After a no-go Eastley had the foot of Disraeli, and keeping possession in a short spin to the hedge, puss smeused and was lost.

Dog Sapling Stake, No. 4.—Knight of the Garter, going in good form, led, and beat Dante handsomely. Mr Southan's Patent and Coronella puppy went away in grand style from Captain Kidd, whose chance was hopeless throughout.—Deciding Course: A close and well-contested trial took place between Knight of the Garter and the Patent and Coronella puppy, the latter, the best worker and stayer, winning handsomely.

Bitch Sapling Stake, No. 1.—A good hare got up for Eleonora and Mr W. Long's Fiddlestring puppy; the former showed the pace all through a working trial to the road, and won easily. Delia and Leah ran a prettily-contested trial, the former, who went twice round her opponent on outside ground, winning decisively.—Deciding Course: A clinking hare got up, and, after a long race, Eleonora turned two lengths in advance, and, keeping her place, she gained a couple more points, but not without difficulty, as Delia was close up, and on the first chance shot to the front and scored; some work was alternately done by both to the fence, at which point Mr East's bitch had won; but Delia, keeping possession down the next field, eventually left off a clever winner.

Bitch Sapling Stake, No. 2.—Emerald took the lead from Sally, who, in a trial of moderate length, was of no use whatever to Mr East's bitch. Bathsheba was outpaced and outworked by Mr Long's fawn, who won very easily.—Deciding Course: Emerald, to the dismay of her owner, was seen struggling in the rear of Mr Long's Fiddlestring puppy, a position she retained to the end of the course.

Bitch Sapling Stake, No. 3.—Harmonia showed good style and cleverness in her course with Diana Gray, and won. A clinking hare started for Conceit and Esprit, the former winning a long course cleverly; but I was too far off to offer any opinion upon it.—Deciding Course: After an undecided between Harmonia and Conceit, in which the former led and scored all the early points, the stake was divided.

Bitch Sapling Stake, No. 4.—Mr Burton's St. George and Blue Bell puppy, as soon as the hare went straight, raced past Lady Elizabeth, turned, and lost his place at the hedge; the latter then went on, but failed to reach a fast hare. Elmira went off a fair pace, turned, led through the fence, and, as far as I could see, was always several lengths in front of Nancy.—Deciding Course: A hare was driven from covert for Elmira and Mr Burton's blue, the former gaining the run up, then passing his opponent, who fell; in the next stretch Mr East's bitch wrenched and killed.

Bitch Sapling Stake, No. 5.—Mr Southan's Patent and Coronella puppy had the foot of Mr Long's Fiddlestring and Lady of the Manor bitch, but, injuring herself at the first fence, from thence took no further part in the course. Belle of the Fens, I understand, beat Mr Burton's St. George and Blue Bell puppy cleverly.—Deciding Course: Belle of the Fens lost her position in the run up, and Mr Long's Fiddlestring and Lady of the Manor puppy, racing to the front, maintained the lead throughout a circular run course back to covert.

Bitch Sapling Stake, No. 6.—Lizzie in the run up passed Brisk and won easily. Hortensia had no difficulty in disposing of Dew o' the Morning, Mr Hodson's bitch handling her hare very cleverly.—Deciding Course: Lizzie, immediately she left slips, sailed away in advance of Hortensia, who was never next the hare in a short circular course back to covert.

Before another season several important alterations are in contemplation, which is very desirable now that the club has increased the number of its members. The hospitable abode of Mr J. Pratt was, as usual, the rallying point for luncheon; each day that gentleman, with his accustomed liberality, had open house for his friends. Mr Warwick, like ourselves, has finished his coursing labours for the season, and has judged 2708 courses since the Brampton Meeting in September—the number of days he has been in the saddle being one hundred and one.

Mr Dick's COLLEEN DHUVÉ beat Lord Lurgan's MASTER FREDERICK.

THE ground at Carass, where this meeting was held, was kindly placed at the disposal of the Limerick Coursing Club by Sir David Roche, the popular master of our county hounds, and was everything that the most ardent courser could desire. Large well-cleared inclosures, abundance of hares, and well-disciplined beaters, admirably directed by the keeper, Mr Allen, who is a model of his class, with an orderly well-conducted assemblage of spectators, combined to bring the meeting as near perfection as the most fastidious could expect. With few exceptions, the trials were very satisfactory, and both slipping and judging unexceptionable. I must now, with telegraphic brevity, give you my notes of the trials.

The Lubber led Grand Warden, and won the early part of a fair course cleverly, but was counted out in the end. Wee Bob beat Simon Hayes without exchanging a point. Sam beat Master Frederick in a short sharp course, with little to spare. Lady Meta too fast for Hair Spring, who was very busy in some short points, but outpaced throughout. Rachel, too fresh and fast for The Bishop, won at all points. Sea Sail led Fair Maid of Perth, who struggled gamely to win, but was beaten by a point or two in a moderate course. Madam Lancia made short work of Mail Train, who seemed to run slack and stale. Fabulous beat Nubian cleverly. Carmelite beat Matterhorn in a short scrambling trial, most of it through the crowd, but after her colour went up they got on a fresh hare, when Matterhorn turned the tables, and seemed to be the fastest and cleverest by far. Gorsoon beat Sweetbriar in a poor bad trial with a short-running, dodging hare, after an undecided, in which she made every point unchallenged out of the judge's sight. Blue Cap beat Blarney, showing most pace in a short trial. Crown Imperial too fast and clever for What's the Tip. Master Nathaniel just pulled through a poor trial with Maximilian. Master Herne raced away from Colleen Dhuv, and won cleverly.—Second Tie: Wee Bob led Grand Warden, and never gave him a chance in a short trial. Sam too fast for Rutheen. Rachel, after an undecided, and much favoured, beat Lady Meta in an unsatisfactory trial. Sea Sail outpaced and outworked Madam Lancia. Fabulous, racing clean away from Carmelite, made a brilliant kill in her first rush. Gorsoon, too clever for Blue Cap, won a good course with plenty to spare. Crown Imperial led Master Nathaniel well, and, running most brilliantly, won a fine course throughout. Master Herne beat Banner Blue cleverly. As the last brace of the cup dogs came to slips Mr Westropp was unfortunately seized with sudden illness, and unable to continue his duties, but Mr Spaight took his place for the last two courses. Before the meeting broke up, Mr George Wise, in eloquent terms, tendered the thanks of all the public coursers present to Sir David Roche, for the splendid day's sport he had given them, and the trouble he had taken to make their first meeting on his splendid grounds such a complete success. Sir David, in his reply, expressed his great gratification at the result of their first meeting at Carass, and said the ground should again be at the service of the coursing club in the coming season. After such a charming day as this, I may safely prophesy the next meeting at Carass will be a bumper.

FOLLOWING up the beautiful weather that has prevailed all over the country, there was every prospect of a most successful meeting, and on arriving at Lanark we found the Douglas Cup had closed with its full complement. The entry and draw took place previous to the dinner, which was held, as usual, at the Clydesdale Arms Hotel, John Gibson, Esq., in the chair; and after the withdrawal of the cloth, the list was read over and some spirited betting took place at the following prices:

DOUGLAS CUP.—Individual Courses.—6 to 4 on Fanatic v. Joan of Arc, even on Cromwell v. Sir John, 12 to 8 on Gelachossa v. London Swell, 10 to 5 on Belle of Scotland v. Sarah, 6 to 4 on Ronald v. Tormentor, 6 to 4 on Sky-lark v. Hasty Jane, 6 to 4 on Balzoni v. Duncan, evens between Spendthrift and The Knave, 2 to 1 on Lobelia v. Fire Brigade, even between Justitia.

and Billy, 14 to 8 on Rob Roy v. Cairngorm, 12 to 8 (afterwards 10 to 5) on Ghillie Callum v. Falcon, 6 to 4 on Lochinvar v. Michael, 2 to 1 on Elsecar v. Haggis Jock, 6 to 4 on Crossfell v. Ebony, 10 to 8 on Joseph v. Ventre-à-Terre, evens between Trife and Petunia, 2 to 1 on Bab at the Bowster v. Brightness, and 2 to 1 on Hawk v. Blackthorn.

Long Odds.—100 to 8 agst Lobelia (t & off), 100 to 6 agst Bab at the Bowster (t & off), 100 to 6 agst Belle of Scotland (t), 100 to 4 agst Peruvian (t), 100 to 4 agst Crossfell (t), 100 to 3 agst Fanatic (t freely), 100 to 3 agst Gelachossa (t), 100 to 3 agst Ronald (t), 100 to 3 agst Rob Roy (t & off), 100 to 3 agst Elsecar (t), and 100 to 2 agst any other.

Douglas Cup.—Fanatic ran a short no-go with Joan of Arc; in the second slip he was the faster, and won the course decisively. Sir John, in a long course, led Cromwell, and beat him very well all through. London Swell and Gelachossa ran two short no-goes, in which the former always showed pace; in the third slip he also showed pace, but was outworked and outlasted by Mr Gilmour's bitch. Blister was not quite so fast as Burns in a short trial, and in consequence got beat. Belle of Scotland, who evidently is now stale from the hard work she has undergone throughout the season, was led by Zarah, and rather cleverly defeated by him. Ronald was a little faster than Tormentor, and made first turn, but was outworked and outlasted in a not long course by the latter. Mavourneen was a little faster to commence with, but Buckthorn throughout the trial was the cleverer; but, as a third dog joined in the course, it was not so satisfactory as could be wished, Buckthorn getting the decision. Trade Wind had the foot of Geargatherer, and in an average length of trial beat him very well. Skylark led Hasty Jane downhill, and in making a savage attempt to kill brought the hare round to Jane (at the same time throwing herself out), who wrenched twice and killed. In a short trial Belzoni led Duncan, and beat him rather cleverly. Peruvian led from slips, but before reaching the hare Gipsy Jack went past outside, and appeared to make first turn; Peruvian, however, being on the line of his hare, brought it round, and won a short course with nothing to spare. Spendthrift was faster than The Knave to begin with; he then had a little chance, but was well beaten by Spendthrift at the finish. Fire Brigade was led on the outer circle by Lobelia, who, throughout a good working trial very decisively beat him. Fluke, in a very long course, decisively beat Selim. Go it Spy, on outside ground, led Rob Roy, made first two turns, and fell; Rob then got in and led out of sight; the course almost immediately finished in favour of Go it Spy. Belle of the Lodge, in a short and cleverly-run course, had a little the best of Harry Clifton. Billy, in a long course, outpaced and thoroughly beat Justitia. Gipsy Bob ran a long bye, his opponent, Rob the Robber, being absent. Cairngorm had not the pace of Rob Roy, and in a long course was well beat by Bob. Ghillie Callum was led from slips by Falcon, but drew past him and made first turn, also a second, and won a short course rather easily. Bethell, on the outside ground, led Black Bess, and smartly defeated her. Michael got well away from slips, but before he could reach his hare Lochinvar drew past and made first turn, putting puss round to Michael, who made next two; Lochinvar then drew past, turned, and killed. Romeo had the pace of Julia, and rather well beat her: which, taking into account that Julia beat Saucebox at the late Waterloo meeting, must be a great performance on the part of Romeo. Go was faster than Gilderoy, and, in an ordinary length of trial, beat him. I understood the latter had broken a toe. Elsecar showed considerable pace over Haggis Jock, and throughout a rather long trial we thought Jock had the worst of it, but the judge, who had his eye on the dogs all the way, decided in favour of Jock. Crossfell very cleverly outpaced and beat Ebony in a short pace. Black Boyd—who has not the pace, I think, he once had—was led by Maggie Lauder, and after a long course was defeated by her. Ventre à Terre was faster than Joseph, and beat him in a short course. Petunia had very little chance with Trife in a short course. Delight, on the outer circle, led Naseby, and, contrary to our expectation, cleverly defeated him. Bab at the Bowster led Brightness out of our view, and, we understand, wrenched twice and killed.

Hawk and Blackthorn ran a short undecided, after which the latter was withdrawn.—First Tie: Sir John could not go the pace with Fanatic, and, of course, was rather cleverly beat in a short trial. In the run up, Burns and Gelachossa had not a chance to show which was the faster, but in the course the latter particularly distinguished herself. Tormentor, after a no-go, cleverly beat Zarah in a short trial. Trade Wind had not nearly the pace of Buckthorn, but in a long trial had all but wiped off the early points made by Buckthorn. Belzoni led, made first turn, and had the beginning of the course, but, in his rather peculiar way of doing business, cut it; although he did not return back to his trainer, as at Waterloo, he stopped too short to let him have the decision in his favour. Peruvian was a little faster than Spendthrift, but could not keep up steam, and was afterwards well beaten. Lobelia, in a circular run up, lost her position, did not get well placed, and in consequence ran a no-go with Fluke. Next trial she beat him cleverly. Belle of the Lodge had a good bit the best of the trial with Go it Spy, the owners of the latter evidently thinking that she had been spying, and not going it, as at the late Southport Meeting. Gipsy Bob outpaced and very cleverly beat Billy. Ghillie Callum reached his hare first inside, was afterwards the cleverer, and beat Rob Roy tolerably well. Bethell led and made first turn, after which he was outwrought and well beaten by Lochinvar. Ventre à Terre outpaced and beat Maggie Lauder well in a long course, the latter seemingly not inclined to try. Delighted Trife, and made first couple of turns; Trife the next two; Delight after that went to work, and won very cleverly. Bab at the Bowster led Hawk about four lengths, turned, brought her hare well round, and kept her position, but in attempting to kill went heels over head twice; the Irish dog, being quite "convanient," went to work, and put in a great many strong wrenches before he brought puss round to Bab, who wrenched and killed, which, in the judge's opinion, balanced matters: as I saw it, I should have inclined to give Hawk the decision. In the next trial Bab led five or six lengths out of our view, and, we learned, wrenched and killed.—Second Tie: Fanatic led and beat Gelachossa, but, the judge not being in a proper position to see the trial, the hat came off, and Gelachossa was afterwards drawn. Tormentor was a very great deal faster than Buckthorn, and had the whole of a good trial. Spendthrift, throughout a fair length of trial, easily beat Hasty Jane. Lobelia was a little faster than Belle of the Lodge, but increased her superiority as she went on, and won an average length of trial with great merit. Gipsy Boy was faster than Ghillie Callum, but the hare so favoured the latter that he gained the decision. Go led Lochinvar, and made first turn; the latter afterwards got in, and, working very cleverly, beat her decidedly. Ventre à Terre had a good bit more pace than Crossfell, and won all the way. Bab at the Bowster outpaced Delight, and beat him in the most meritorious way: not a very long trial.—Third Tie: Fanatic was faster than Tormentor, who got in after the first turn, and for a time had rather the best of the course, when puss got on to plough, and Fanatic, going the front latterly, won well. Spendthrift, on inside, led, and made first three turns from Lobelia, who afterwards settled down to her work, and managed to square matters before effecting the death. Ghillie Callum was some four or five lengths faster to a racing hare than Lochinvar, and won a long trial all one way. Ventre à Terre, having lamed himself in his course with Crossfell, was drawn, and Bab at the Bowster ran a rather long bye with her sister Brawley.

Bigger Stakes.—Joseph was faster than Pendennis, and so long as in my view beat him well. Running Water led Belle of Avon, and from what I saw had the best of the course; but the decision resulted in favour of Belle of Avon. I did not see the course between Gold Dust and Gaberlunzie, but Gaberlunzie got the decision. Rose Water, on the outer circle, led Safrano, made two or three strong wrenches, and put the hare to the latter, who was equally industrious, but killed too soon. Harry Clifton was too fast for Rob the Robber, and his owner blamed the steep hill for his defeat. Ronald led, and, as I thought, beat Contractor in a no-go. The next trial he also led, and won I did not see how. Flying Mist outpaced and easily defeated Duncan. Belle o' Petteril also outpaced and easily defeated Moravian. Lizzie Lindsay slightly outpaced Campbell, and had a little the best of the course. Duncan Gray, in a very long trial, which he ran from beginning to end like the breed from which he has come, finished in gallant style. Wild Charlie ran round the back of a wall, and beat Polly out of my view. Falcon and Ayesha got unsighted in the run up; Falcon, getting second sight, ran on after his game, while Ayesha, who had not seen, was taken up, and Falcon had a long course by himself; the consequence was, that in the next slip he was well beaten by Ayesha.—First Ties: Joseph beat Belle of Avon, as did Gaberlunzie Bolina, both in changing ground, and thus very little of either course was seen by any but the judge. Harry Clifton ran wide in going down hill, and the hare favouring Rose Water, she got well placed, and beat the unfortunate Harry in a short trial. Ronald and Flying Mist had a bad trial on rough ground, in which the dog seemed the best, and got the decision. Belle o' Petteril led Lizzie Lindsay, who tripped in the run up, and was never in the course afterwards. Mermaid easily disposed of Bella in a moderate length of course, which she finished with a kill. Duncan Gray led Gipsy Jack, turned, wrenched, and killed.

Caledonian Stakes.—Vacation, on the inside, led, wrenched, and killed: a poor Gratification for Mr Gilmour. Gift ran round a knoll and beat Capt. Arbuthnott's dog, but how I did not see. Carbineer was a length faster than Brawley, led her down hill, made first turn, but overshot himself, which placed the latter, who wrenched two or three times and killed. Elzevir had more pace than Blue Wave, and generally throughout the trial had the best of it, finishing up with a good kill, which he seldom accomplishes. Treason Felony and Lord Binning's dog: this course was run after I left, but I understand was gained by Felony. Spoilt Boy had superior pace over Elsie Swift, who maintained his superiority till the finish. Merry Monarch outworked and cleverly beat Dragoon. Having left the ground to catch the train, I understand that May Blossom won her course, but got disqualified in consequence of one of Mr Martin's dogs joining in the trial. Blandon Lass, I am told, cleverly beat Berkeley. Proserpine also beat London Stout.—First Ties: Vacation, favoured by the hare, made first turn, and was still in front when the hare fell, and Gift picked her up: a poor trial for the latter. Elzevir had the beginning and finish of the course with Brawley. Treason Felony made first turn, wrenched, and killed, Spoilt Boy not being in the course. Great Go made first turn, but was not in the course afterwards. Merry Monarch handling his hare in good form, and winning cleverly. Bladenoch Lass was faster than Proserpine, and in a give-and-take course rather easily beat her.

Lanark Stakes.—Buda was faster, and beat General Knowledge at all points. Blarney beat Mr Forrester's Nameless Animal as cleverly as Buda did her opponent. Marchioness led and beat Grist of the Mill in an average length of trial. Bianca beat Grenadier in a good trial; Bianca had a little more pace. Pioneer beat Cairngorm very thoroughly. Bismarck was a little faster than Madame Clicquot, had the early points; the bitch secured the latter, but not enough to gain the division.

FRIDAY.—The meet this morning was at Pepper Knowes, and shortly after ten we commenced by putting the dogs into the slips at the foot of the hill lying on the right-hand side of the road betwixt Sandlands Station and Carmichael, and then worked our way to the top; after which we had some most excellent trials up the fine grass slopes, driven mostly from the fallows below. The weather was fine, and the coursing, without much walking, was most enjoyable; and, as there were only twenty decided courses and two no-goes run, the sport was got over early in the day. There was a fair attendance on the field for a fourth day; for, although not much coursing was to be seen, the cream of the competitors were to take part in the contests.

Douglas Cup.—Fourth Ties: Fanatic, on the outer circle, led Lobelia, made first turn, but the little white afterwards in a good trial outworked and beat him. Bab at the Bowster led Ghillie, wrenched, and killed.—Deciding Cowes: Bab, on the outside circle, was three or four lengths faster than Lobelia, and made the first five turns, when they exchanged a time or two, and the latter killed: a very clever performance on the part of Bab.

Biggar Stakes.—Second Ties: Joseph, on the outer circle, and on the lower side of the hill, led Gaberlunzie, made first turn, but could not keep his place, as the latter had a great deal the best of the trial till nearing a whin covert, when Joseph gave a go-by and led into it, but too late to gain the flat. Rose Water led from slips, but stumbled, when Ronald, on the lower side of the hill, shot past, wrenched a time or two, and killed. Some moor having been set on fire, the smoke from it prevented my seeing part of the next two trials. Mermaid led Belle o' Petteril into the smoke, and I understand did a good deal of work before they returned into view; on their doing so, Belle made the death, but it was of no avail to her. Ayesha led Duncan Gray also into the smoke, and I understand, beat him pretty well. —Third Ties: Ronald showed pace over Gaberlunzie, and in a good long trial ended the victor, but not by very much. Ayesha led Mermaid, wrenched two or three times, and killed.—Deciding Course: Ayesha led Ronald across the brow face, turned twice, and put puss to the latter, who led up hill, and also turned twice; but he failed to keep his place, as Ayesha got in, did a good deal of clever work by herself, killed, and won.

Caledonian Stakes.—Second Ties: Elzevir and Vacation ran an undecided, in which they each alternately had the best of it. Next time Vacation got the run up on the inner circle, and just managed to win a moderate length of trial. Had the slip been a straight one in place of circular, it is quite possible the hat might have come off again. Bladnoch Lass, although she was very lame, led, and rather easily defeated Treason Felony. Merry Monarch had a good bit the pace of Flora M'Donald, made first two turns, and in a give-and-take trial had a little the best of it at the finish.—Third Ties: Vacation and Merry Monarch ran a short no-go, in which the latter was the faster. Bladnoch Lass being lame, but entitled to a bye, the owners of Vacation, Merry Monarch, and the Lass considered it advisable to divide, and they did so, each receiving an equal share of the first, second, and third money.

Lanark Stakes.—First Ties: Blarney, on the outer circle and on the low side of the hill, went round Buda, and very cleverly beat her in a short course. Marchioness took the lead from Bianca over the crest of the hill out of view, and won a short race. Pioneer and Bismarck ran their course down hill out of sight, and Pioneer got the decision. Joan of Arc, on the outer circle led, wrenched twice, and brought puss round to Bliss, who put in a great deal of strong work, and had well won, when Joan again drew past, wrenched, and killed, but it failed to give her the flat.—Third Ties: Marchioness had a little more pace than Blarney, and, in a good working course, she won very meritoriously. Bliss was faster than Pioneer, and in a nice trial beat him well.—Deciding Course: Marchioness was three or four lengths faster than Bliss, and in a good average length of trial beat her very cleverly.

REMARKS.—The Scottish National Meeting inaugurates the coursing season in the north as well as finishes it, and in the present season both meetings have been most successful, particularly the spring one. The weather had a considerable share in contributing to its success, as owners were not afraid to take out nominations, having little fear of frost interfering with the sport, and the weather during the meeting was all that could be desired. The celebrity of the competitors also helped to draw a larger company than usual to the scene of action. The ordinaries at the Clydesdale, Lanark, were also well attended—probably the now wide-spread celebrity of the club wines, catered by Mr Cannon, tending to this result. The dinners were presided over by the Earl of Stair, Lord Binning, and Mr Gibson, of Woolmet, on different nights. Betting was carried on very briskly, and the short price taken about Bab at the Bowster and Lobelia enabled the friends of the others to get on good terms, which, however, availed them but little, as the two favourites landed first and second. Although neither Mr Barden nor any of his friends from across the Channel put in an appearance, a strong muster of coursers of the genuine sort were present, amongst whom were the Earl of Stair, Lord Binning, Hon. A. B. Hamilton, the Master of Arbuthnott, the Hon. Capt. Arbuthnott, Major Ellis, Messrs Gibson, Blanshard, Gilmour, Johnston, Ingleby, Briggs, M'Haffie, Vans-Agnew, Proudfoot, John Dunlop, R. Pattison, J. Swan, Hyslop, Martin, Fisher, Whitehead, Forster, &c. With the true love of sport, and a view of bidding his old friends good bye for the season, Mr Warwick was on the ground during the meeting, and took a lively interest in the proceedings. The Earl of Home, although no courser himself, protects the game, and places his most extensive grounds at the use of the club; and on the first night of the ordinary Mr Gibson, in most appropriate terms, proposed a vote of thanks for his lordship's great kindness in granting such favour, and it was most genuinely responded to. The club is also very fortunate in his lordship selecting Mr Amos his head keeper, as he is not only a most efficient game preserver, but possesses in an eminent degree the tact of managing a field of beaters, as well as of satisfactorily placing the slipper and the crowd. Mr Hay rode fearlessly, but with great judgment, and gave the greatest satisfaction. Few of his decisions were in the least cavilled at, and where there was a difference of opinion it may be attributed to difference of position. He was well horsed by Mr Rayner, who for years has supplied horses to the satisfaction of the club. Of the greyhounds engaged, Bab at the Bowster first claims notice from her performance here, which was a brilliant one, as in no course was she in difficulties, except in her second one, ending in a no-go with Hawk, which arose entirely from her falling in attempting to kill her hare at the second turn. Her winning the Great Scarisbrick Cup of 128 dogs at Southport, winning two courses in the Waterloo Cup and being beaten after a no-go with Lobelia (which defeat she wiped out with interest at this meeting), dividing the Croxteth Stakes at Altcar with Brigade, and dividing the Scottish National St. Leger at Abington with Lord Lurgan's Master Ivo, all in her first season, make up a performance, I should say, unequalled by any greyhound that ever ran. Lobelia is also a wonder, as last season she ran second to Mr Dunlop's Queen Emma for the South Lancashire Stakes at the Ridgway meeting, won the North and South Lancashire Stakes of fifty dogs also at Ridgway meeting, won Waterloo Cup, and divided the Members' Cup at Altcar, in consequence of frost, with Rather Improved, Lumpy, and Black Topsy. This season she ran third for the Waterloo Cup, and now runs second for the Douglas Cup. It may be a long while before we find two such bitches run the deciding course for any stake. Ghillie Callum is a fair performer, and ran well here, as well as at Waterloo, Altcar, and the Scottish National St. Leger; being a young dog, he will doubtless improve. Fanatic also ran well, as he has often done across the Channel in the south and in his native land. Lochinvar, Spendthrift, Ventre-à-Terre, Crossfell, Delight, and others, also ran most respectably. Mr Barden's old Hawk, who had very nearly (and I thought had), from her mishap, beaten Bab, had he not met her might have run forward; but the many calls that have been made on him through life have stiffened him, and he cannot get away with his more juvenile opponents; the determination, however, is still there in the good old dog. Ayesha, the winner of the Biggar, although she has not first-class pace, is of more than ordinary speed, a good worker, and lasting. Ronald I thought I had seen go faster, but he ran stout, strong, and close. Rose Water, old Duncan Gray, Mermaid, and Gaberlunzie, with several others, ran very creditably. Vacation, Merry Monarch, and Bladnoch Lass ran well in the Caledonian Stakes, which they divided; so did Elzevir, but he was a little unfortunate. Marchioness, winner of the Lanark Stakes, is a little short of pace, but very honest and game, of the Cardinal York stamp, but with not his pace. Bliss also ran well, but a little slow, like her sisters and brother. I had nearly omitted to mention our old friend Tom Raper—not that I intended to make any remark about his slipping, but simply to say that he is most wonderfully fresh after his severe work during the season, and I hope to find him equally efficient next season, as also to find all our old friends at the slips, with a host of new ones, next September.
